Will Sample Pickerel in District Waters

The pickerel, or walleye has been introduced and re-stocked in Tweed district waters over a period of about 30 years, says the Department of Lands and Forests.

Little was known about the effect of stocking in many lakes and streams in the district, however the fish caught were a protect of the hatchery, or whether they were naturally produced.

In order to test the measure of natural re-production that exists in district waters it was necessary to discontinue stocking pickerel completely for a number of years so that fisheries management personnel of the Department would have the opportunity of testing natural re-production by trap-netting pickerel and aging them, and thus determine their origin.

Stocking was discontinued in the year 1954, when the last plantings from a district hatchery were made.

Annual sampling of pickerel in district lakes was begun in the year 1955 and will be continued through the summer of 1959.

Pickerel were taken in trap nets and scale samples for age determination were collected with measurements of the fish. By this method biologists are able to determine the year in which the pickerel was produced from the egg, and by comparing the age with the last planting made, determine if was possible that the fish came from hatchery stock or was produced through natural re-production in the lake itself.

Since practically all previous plantings of pickerel up to 1954 were made in the eyed egg stage, it was not possible to mark or tag the planted fish in any way so that it could later be distinguished from other fish in the lake that were produced through natural re-production. Thus the necessity to discontinue stocking during the period of study.

To date, although the study is not complete, it appears that a small number of our waters do not have natural re-production of pickerel.

The fact that lies ahead is the sampling of all district pickerel waters, and to establish from those that require stocking if pickerel populations are to be maintained, and to exclude from stocking those that have natural re-production.

When the task of sampling is complete it will be possible for fisheries management personnel to direct a positive plan for re-stocking, and in this connection direct plantings in their proper respective places, lessening the burden of unnecessary ineffective planting of this game fish species.

Management stocking of waters that have now been surveyed, and are found lacking in natural re-production can commence at an early date, it is expected.

Minor Soccer Assoc. Forms 8-Team League

Teams and the schedule for the coming season of the minor soccer league were arranged yesterday evening at a meeting of the Bay of Quinte Minor Soccer League held in the Recreation Centre. Representatives of the Minor Soccer Association and the Trenton Minor Soccer Association met together under the chairmanship of Alderman Les Digby to form the new league schedule.

Over 330 boys will participate in the new league whose first game is to be played on October 3rd. Coaches were arranged for the teams, which will be going under the names, Rovers, Trenton United, Wanderers, Argyle, Albion and Athletics.

Officials for the league were obtained by a canvass of most of the towns in the area with the exception of Trenton. Boys in that town may still join the league, according to Mr. Frank Robinson at Exeter 3-7821.

It is expected that a juvenile league will be formed shortly, according to Don Wilson, Secretary of the Association. Three organizations have indicated their readiness to form a league composed of teams from the Bee Cadet Corps "Quinte," the Legion, the Army and Navy. It is anticipated that there might also be entries from Canadian Legion and Wellington Continuation School if these cadet arrangements are expected to be completed by next week.

Triplets Don't Stop Mother From Enjoyment

HAMILTON (CP) — There are five dozen diapers in the wash every day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen L. Townson of Hamilton.

The diapers are for the Townson's year-old triplets—two sons, Ronny and Tommy, and a daughter, Tammy.

Coping with the youngsters has been a happy chore for their petite mother.

They aren't any trouble, she says. There are four older children as well: Virginia, 13; Ricky, 7; Cathy, 5, and Terry 4.

Seven children haven't stopped Mrs. Townson from enjoying social life as well as her homemaking job. She and her husband, who is in the insurance business, attend dances and home and school club meetings and this year plan to resume bowling. Mrs. Townson also plays bridge one night a week while her husband takes care of the children.

The Townsons have had a time night in low circles in a semi-circle and she crouches in the middle. Each triplet get a bite in turn, no matter who cries.

Between m e a l s, crying is treated differently. Here the first to cry is the first to be picked up. Combined weight of the trio is 63 pounds. They weighed less than four pounds each at birth.

Mrs. Townson says the children are good because they are company for each other. Right from the start they were fed together.

"If one woke up hungry they all got a bottle whether they wanted it or not," she explained. This method often saved her from getting up at three different times during the night.

The babies spent two months after their birth in hospital. This was a big relief to Mr. Townson because he could visit in hospital hours after their birth with a heart condition. He had feared that the triplets might be sent home before his wife recovered.

Mrs. F. Weaver Dies in Kingston General Hospital

TRENTON — F/L Bill Clarke of Belleville, a pilot with 139 Acceptance and Ferry Flight based at 6 Repair Depot, will be in charge of a flight of five T33 Silver Star jet trainers which will be flown to Lisbon from 1 Fighter Wing RCAF, Marville, France, for delivery to the Portuguese Air Force under a mutual air aid plan. These aircraft are part of a total of twenty-two jets flown from Trenton Tuesday on operation Western Wear.

TRENTON — Mrs. Weaver was in her 72nd year.

She was the wife of the late William W. Weaver, known as the first man to sell the horseless gas buggy in this area. He later established Weaver Motors, now operated by his son, Gerald.

Widowed and respected by all as a truly gracious lady, Mrs. Weaver had always taken an active part in community affairs and her death will be a great loss to the town. Indicative of this are the many tributes extended by civic officials on learning the first to offer condolences to the respected lady.

Said Mayor Ross Burtt: "I learned of Mrs. Weaver's death with very deep regret. She was one of Trenton's grand ladies in every sense of that term and she will be sorely missed in this community in which she has lived so long and played such a distinguished part for so many years."

Surviving Mrs. Weaver are three sons, Gerald and Dr. W. W. Weaver of Trenton, and Dr. H. G. Weaver of Vancouver; three daughters, Mrs. Clifford Filman and Marion, (Mrs. W. J. Spencer,) both of Trenton, and Evelyn, (Mrs. F. R. Sharp) of Ottawa. There are also numerous grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The late Mrs. Weaver will rest at the home of her son, Gerald, 25 McColl Street, Trenton, where a memorial service will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon by the Rev. R. Irwin of King St. United Church.

Interment will be in Mount Evergreen cemetery.

Depts. Quiet During Night

TRENTON — Trenton police and fire department experienced and extremely quiet night last night. Not one accident or fire was reported to city officials of either department.

Unusual for the town of Trenton, this was the second night in a week's time that no calls, major or minor, were received by the respective departments.

Fire Chief Cecil Ellis reported today that while the department experienced a quiet time last night, he himself was busy attending a Mutual Aid meeting in Brighton. Purpose of the well-attended meeting concerned an interesting demonstration of the fog method of fire fighting.

Hope to Take Hurricane Photo From Rocket

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Gracie moved today about 340 miles east of the missile centre at Cape Canaveral, the United States Navy planned to fire a Nike-Cajun rocket with a small TV camera designed to photograph the hurricane at altitudes ranging from about 10 to 85 miles.

Length and Cost of Judicial Enquiry Opening on Monday Causes Speculation in City

Speculation as to the possible length and cost of the judicial enquiry looking into Belleville's financial affairs is rife in the city this weekend with the enquiry scheduled to get underway Monday morning at the City Hall.

The enquiry is being held before Cunningham Currie, Judge A. R. Willmott of Cobourg with S. E. Fennell, Q.C. of Cornwall acting as commission counsel.

Length of the enquiry and also its cost will be governed by the number of persons who have been called to testify at the hearing. Forty-four subpoenas have been issued but Hastings county municipal county officials say they have no way of knowing how many will be served within the Hastings.

The enquiry will commence in the city hall council chambers at 10 a.m.

Just what public interest the enquiry will hold is an unknown quantity but the fact that Belleville taxpayers will be called upon to pay for the city deficit is almost certain.

In any event, it will be "standing room only" if any great number of city residents expect to attend at city hall to listen to the enquiry. Seating accommodation in the auditorium section of the council chambers is not much more than 20 persons.

Members of the present city council, along with several ex-members of council, heads of municipal boards and department heads at city hall have been summoned to testify at the enquiry.

REQUESTED BY COUNCIL

The enquiry into the city's finances was requested by council after it was learned early last May that taxpayers' money had been used to finance the city-operated world champion Mc-Farlands Senior "A" hockey team. This was learned when the city auditor presented the 1958 audit to Mayor Gerald Hyde.

At that time Mayor Hyde, in a public statement, said city funds had been "illegally misspent" in connection with the hockey team operation.

A complete audit of city affairs, bringing books up to date as of May 5th, later revealed the overall deficit of the city was in the neighborhood of $255,000, of which $143,500 was attributed to the Belleville and Memorial Arena and the McFarlands hockey team.

The hockey team deficit over the three - year period in which it was operated by the city was given as $110,000.

Mayor Hyde noted at the time the balance of the overall city deficit outside that of the Arena commission and the hockey team had been caused through the provision of services which resulted from wage and salary hikes which had not been budgeted for.

MANAGER SUSPENDED

A direct result of the announcement that city funds had been misspent in connection with the hockey team was the suspension of City Manager Drury Denyes. Mr. Denyes has acted in the triple role of city manager, city treasurer and also manager of the McFarlands hockey team.

The judicial enquiry, ordered by W. J. Warrender, minister of municipal affairs, takes in not only the Arena commission and the city operated hockey team, but also all phases of city finances.

With possibly over 50 witnesses to be called, speculation is that the enquiry will at least last four weeks, possibly longer, and will cost the city $20,000 or more.

Little Girl of Six Found by Motorist

Six-year-old Brenda Blight, who lives with her grandmother at 3 Ridley Street in this city, apparently got lonely yesterday for her parents, who live north of the city. She went to school as usual yesterday morning, returned to her grandmother's for lunch and then left at about 12.30 p.m., but went for school. At 4.30 p.m. a motorist, Keith Reid of Cannifton, saw her on the 3rd concession of Thurlow township, east of the oil tank farm. He picked her up and brought her to the police station here. Police returned her to her grandmother's home.

Flashing his famous smile and sporting the inevitable polka-dot bow tie, Lester B. Pearson, leader of the Liberal party, is shown above with Liberal candidate for Hastings-Frontenac riding in the by-election to be held October 8th.

Hastings-Frontenac Voters Urged by Pearson to Rebuke Govt. for 'Unguided Muddle'

MARMORA — Lester B. Pearson, chief of the Liberal party, called on voters of Hastings-Frontenac to use their vote in the coming by-election to express disapproval of the present government's "unguided muddle." The Liberal chief was addressing a meeting in the town hall here of supporters of William Shannon, the Liberal candidate for the coming bye-election in Hastings-Frontenac. Speaking in a voice that proved powerful, but forceful manner, the former Minister of External Affairs accused the Conservative Government of refusing to accept the responsibility for its misdeeds and stated that the forthcoming bye-elections were a chance for Canadians to show a "vote of non-confidence" in current federal policies.

"The government says there is no tight money policy," said Mr. Pearson, drawing a ripple of laughter from his audience as he continued, "Perhaps might not be a tight money policy, but there certainly is tight money." Comparing the light money times of the Liberal administration to those which are currently being experienced, Mr. Pearson stated that the Liberals had their tight money policy and a flexible preventative during a time when the economy was booming. In contrast, he said, the present government incurs its deficits during a time when there is unemployment and when the Canadian economy is just starting to pull its way out of a recession.

SPENDING HEAVY

The high cost of interest which the government has to promise on its coming issue of bonds reflects a lack of confidence in its fiscal policies, continued the Liberal leader, adding that this high interest rate, which has sent up interest rates on other forms of borrowing, is required to obtain the capital necessary to cover the deficits due to the greatest expenditure of government funds in Canada's history. This was done, he commented, by a government which promised to decrease government spending.

The Diefenbaker government's defence policy appears to be conspicuous by the very fact that no one seems to know what it is, said the former Canadian representative to the United Nations. With the advent of the intercontinental ballistics missile, previous defence policies became obsolete, stated Mr. Pearson.

Although the opposition has begged for a committee of experts to study Sir Canadian defence program, the present government has given "the brush off" to all such proposals, stated Mr. Pearson. The defence budget which will be called on short notice to assemble the chief Liberal workers in the riding.

son, stating that the Avro Arrow, which was dropped by the government when it was three-quarters completed, had been replaced by aircraft which were rendered obsolete by the Arrow than according to Mr. Pearson.

This decision and those to use American missiles, planes, and atomic warheads were made without going to the Parliament, said the Nobel Peace Prize winner, adding that this sort of "performance regarding extremely important actions was quite irresponsible." "Are we to live in this type of arms race?" asked Mr. Pearson. "We now require sound and stable government and careful examination of problems irrespective of party politics".

TRADE PROBLEM

Commenting on Prime Minister Diefenbaker's proposal to divert 15 percent of Canada's trade with the United States to the United Kingdom, Mr. Pearson noted that there had been a notable change in the trade balance which was very close at the shift had gone to the United States not the United Kingdom. "Now he doesn't care to remember that promise", commented the leader of the Liberal party in reference to Mr. Diefenbaker.

Mr. Pearson said that Liberalism has served Canada well, having introduced most of the progressive legislation and has based its actions on the policy of "reform with responsibility". He described his visit to Marmora to speak in favor of Bill Shannon, the Liberal candidate for Hastings-Frontenac, as a "hit and run play", adding with a smile that "it sometimes pays to jump on one's beau".

In support of Mr. Shannon, the Liberal leader noted the distribution of members of the House of Commons commented that a Conservative member would "be in a position of speaking up" for his riding. "There would be 107 others ahead of him," said Mr. Pearson, promising that a Liberal leader would not be a back-bencher but would be in the front line actively representing his riding.

William Shannon, the candidate, stated that some people have asked why he decided to be a Liberal candidate in a riding with a strong Conservative background. He stated that he had accepted the nomination because he felt it was a Canadian opportunist and strongly believed that the best way to support the Liberal ideals of the human dignity of man and to join those who hold to these ideals in the Red Papers Say Mr. K. Has Won American Hearts

MOSCOW (AP) — Today's Soviet newspapers picture Premier Khrushchev as going to his talks with President Eisenhower with the hearts of the American people in his pocket.

As the premier's United States visit came to its peak, the Soviet press could hardly find strong enough words to describe the Soviet leader's impact on the American people.

Reporting on Pittsburgh Mayor Thomas Gallagher's presentation of the keys of the city to Khrushchev, the Communist party newspaper Pravda says "it is not always given to every statesman to open the hearts of the people and to light the fire of enthusiasm in their minds."

"If, S. Khrushchev was not given the key to the hearts of Americans in America. He brought it with him from Moscow. The working people of America opened their hearts to him because they saw before them the leader of a powerful, peace-loving country, a man supremely devoted to the cause of peace and convinced of the justice of his cause."

DETAILED ACCOUNT

On Thursday, Tass, the official Soviet news agency, carried a detailed account of Khrushchev's visit to Iowa, which it called "America's biggest agricultural centre."

Tass kept up with the fast-moving premier, reporting his activities in his visits to industrial cities in Pennsylvania.

Other signs of the current display of good feeling toward the United States in Moscow were hailed in a display of books by a group of American authors in the Lenin Library. Newspapers of the Soviet capital said the display and a big crowd attended the opening on Wednesday.

The Literary Gazette said many new publications by American writers have been issued.

An exhibition of American painting, sculpture and engraving was opened in the Pushkin Museum in Moscow. The works were gathered from other Russian museums and from other centres in the country.

Tass also reported that a special newsreel called America welcomes Nikita Khrushchev has been released in Moscow.

Three Injured In 2-Car Crash At Intersection

Three persons were injured, one seriously, as result of a two-car collision at the intersection of Bridge and George Streets.

In Belleville General Hospital with a fractured skull, lacerations to the face and a bruised hip is Bo-year-old Joseph Vieau, of 238 Byron St., Trenton. Diane Phillips, 20, of 95 Victoria Ave., Belleville, suffered bruised legs and a sprained back, while Carla Ray, 18, of 197 1-2 Station Street, had lacerations to the face and legs.

All three injured persons were passengers in a car driven by Thomas M. Woodward, of 304 Bell Street, Trenton.

Police said the Woodward car was south-bound on George St. when as it crossed the intersection it was in collision with an east-bound car driven by Patrick Black, of 40 Chatham Street. Following the accident the Woodward car went out of control and crashed into a hydro pole.

WILD BUFFALO, 1925 — A startled wild buffalo heads for the bush in a remote Northwest Territories area where back in 1925 a previously unknown herd was located. The above picture was taken by retired Federal engineer Fred V. Selbert of Edmonton, who located the wild buffalo herd in the area where the only wild buffalo hunt of the twentieth century was permitted this year.

Brother of Belleville Man Discovered Herd of Buffalo Now Being Shot by Hunters

The first wild buffalo hunt of the 20th century which took place early this month in the Northwest Territories, has recalled memories for a retired Federal Government engineer now living in Edmonton and indirectly for his brother, living in Belleville.

The retired Edmonton engineer, Fred Victor Selbert, was the first white man to locate the nucleus of the buffalo herd in the far northern area where public hunting was recently permitted by the Canadian government for the first time since before the turn of the century.

Mr. Selbert located the herd of buffalo on an exploration mission back in the 1920's. Later buffalo from Wainwright Park were shipped north to interbreed with the bigger wild buffalo.

The incident was recalled today by Mr. Percy (Pete) Selbert of 177 William Street, brother of the retired Edmonton engineer, as he read today's account of the first 20th century buffalo hunt in the morning Globe and Mail.

Mr. Selbert kindly loaned to the Ontario Intelligencer a picture of one of the buffalo found in the far north in a remote game basin. The picture is possibly one of the few ever taken of a wild buffalo on the run — frightened by the appearance of unknown man with a camera in his hands. Mr. Selbert's brother sent him the picture over 30 years ago.

DETAILED BY CROWN

The previously unknown herd of wild buffalo in the far-off Northwest Territories was located by Mr. Selbert after he was detailed by Ottawa to track down rumors that the herd existed.

As the Belleville Mr. Selbert recalls, it was about 1925 that his brother obtained the services of a group of Indian guides and started in search of the rumored herd. The party proceeded up what he thinks was called the Nierling River, when their way was blocked by high falls and roaring rapids.

The Indian guides felt the roaring of the river was an evil omen and they retraced their steps homeward leaving Mr. Selbert alone.

Undaunted he continued on his way and beyond the falls and rapids came onto a big river valley about 100 miles long. In the valley, living on luxurious vegetation of the unknown river valley was found the rumored herd of wild buffalo. They had apparently escaped the hunters' guns by reason of sheer inaccessibility of the area.

HERDS INTERPRED

The herd of wild buffalo were found to be bigger and more vigorous than park bred animals of the buffalo from Wainwright Park were later shipped north to interbreed with their huskier cousins.

As an engineer with the Department of Interior, Mr. Selbert also assisted in the survey leading to the development of the Fort Norman oil wells. He also was a member of the first Yukon survey party at Jasper Park where the Edmonton man owns one of the few private cottages in the celebrated park area.

EXCHANGE WITH NIXON

Vice-President Richard Nixon, a guest at the reception, inquired about the premier's health.

"Fine," snorted Khrushchev in Russian. "Did you think I had succumbed?"

"No," replied Nixon, "you have too much energy for that."

Khrushchev promptly announced he had plenty of energy in reserve, illustrating this remark by patting an ample middle fortified by the enormous meals which have become legend during his American trip.

Those Price Spreads

In a recent issue of the Christian Science Monitor, which is published in Boston, Mass., there appeared a letter from a man in Bolokow, Missouri, which will appear to many a man living in Nova Scotia, or in Ontario, or out in British Columbia as a startling revelation of his own thoughts.

"It may be hard to believe by many people in large cities what happens to prices as they pass through so many middle men handling farm products," writes Earl L. Russell from the state where, traditionally, men have to be shown.

In his letter he cites a report in the Monitor that housewives in Washington, D.C., were buying eggs at three dozen for a dollar or two dozen for 80 cents. These prices will not strike the average Canadian housewife as exorbitant, but they seem high to Mr. Russell because, out in Missouri, he is selling eggs for 17 cents a dozen, a price which he believes, quite understandably, to be too low.

There does seem to be something wrong when it costs over twice as much to get the eggs from the farm to the frying pan as it does to get the eggs out of the hen in the first place.

But most critics are too ready to suggest that what is wrong is the draining off of exorbitant profits by those people who handle the eggs, or other farm produce, during their trip from the farm to the consumer. In some cases this may be true, but there is an alternative explanation which ought to be examined. Perhaps it is the people who produce and sell the merchandising system but the system itself that is at fault. In other words, are some of our farm products handled in an unnecessarily expensive fashion?

There can be little doubt that this is true in many instances but the remedy is not always simple. For instance, if Missouri eggs were sold in Washington, it would be reasonable to expect that marketing them would be much more expensive than would be the case if the hen's home base was in Maryland. Hens are found in every state of the union and every province in Canada, but with respect to some other produce there has been a degree of specialization which, while understandable, may perhaps not always have proven satisfactory economically as well as geographically.

Over and above these avoidable lengthy hauls of farm produce from farm to consumer, there are countless other goods which, though in common use, ought to be properly regarded as luxuries, because they are demanded by consumers living so many long miles away from the place where they are, of necessity, produced. One of the reasons why the spread between prices received by farmers and those paid by consumers is so large is that city dwellers have ceased to live exclusively off the produce produced by the surrounding countryside. Speedy transportation, by emphasizing that this is a small world, has deceived us into forgetting that it nevertheless costs quite a lot to get about it.

This, of course, is not the complete explanation of price spreads. Unnecessary middlemen, exorbitant profits and expensive marketing procedures may all play a role—but a lot of things we eat cost a lot because they are hot, in any sense of the word, home-grown.

A Pleasing Reaction

One of the editorial writer's most coveted rewards, albeit of infrequent occurrence, is when he discovers that something he has written has produced concrete results.

Such a happy experience has just been ours. A short time ago we wrote an editorial regarding the issuing of summonses to two members of The Ontario Intelligencer editorial staff for alleged parking violations in Peterborough, on days in which they were not even in that city. We have since had communications from Judge J. C. Anderson, a member of the Peterborough Police Commission, and from the Peterborough Chief of Police. Both accepted the editorial in the spirit it was written, an effort to draw attention to the possibility of motorists being unjustly penalized, although in both the incidents quoted the explanation of the recipients of the summonses was readily accepted. It is pleasant to report that it is evident the Peterborough officials are anxious to do anything within their power to prevent a recurrence of these errors, although since the source of the error could easily lie with the Motor Vehicles Branch in Toronto a repetition of such instances may be unavoidable unless greater care is exercised there, too.

WORTH WHILE
By EDGAR A. GUEST

Don't care what the others think;
They can laugh and sneer at me,
Call me failure, if they choose,
Say that I will never be
What men term a great success;
If my wife and babies smile,
It is they only proud of me,
I am doing things worth while.

If they laugh when I'm about;
If they're glad to see me come
At the close of every day,
Life will never find me glum.
It is they fondly cling,
Though the whole wide world condemn,
I won't care at all, because
I'll be making good with them.

U.S. Reaction Pitiful

Ottawa Journal—

It is discouraging, pitiful, to read the pretty general comments in the U.S. press, and indeed in many of our own press, on the Khrushchev disarmament proposals. With only a few exceptions they are ill-tempered, irresponsible, ignorant and irrelevant.

It is said that we can't trust Russia, that too often she has shown bad faith. But if we are going to take that position, tell ourselves that because Russia has shown bad faith in the past we must reject with scorn everything she proposes now and in the future, what is the sense of even a summit meeting? What, in the last day of infamy." We treat with both of them now.

Oh but, it is said, this Khrushchev plan is only propaganda. Thus the New York Times said:

"It was magnificently designed for propaganda effect and for that effect only. The idea is to trap the free world into giving up its armaments of strength with no guarantee whatever that there will be a corresponding move on the Communist side."

The New York Times could be right, but we know it is right without first hearing Khrushchev further, without trying to have him explain, amplify, spell out, his proposals. To spell out in the concrete, for example, what he means by "control?"

Let us look again at what Khrushchev said:

"We are in favor of strict control over the implementation of disarmament measures when it is reached . . . We are in favor of general disarmament under control, but we are against control without disarmament."

How in the world can we accept anything here, surely it was this refusal

Special Training Session Held For Girl Guides

About 130 Girl Guide leaders and commissioners from this part of Ontario attended a special training session in Trenton last Saturday. The day-long event was held at the Community Gardens under the direction of two training instructors from Toronto.

Those present received instruction on the handling of Girl Guide packs and companies prior to the opening of the Fall session of the Girl Guides, which opens this week.

During the summer a total of 103 Girl Guides from Belleville enjoyed camping. Split into four groups, two of them held camp at Crowe Lake while the other two groups camped at Presqu'ile Park. Ten local Guide leaders and eight senior Guides were responsible for the operation of the camps.

An additional group of nine Belleville Guides attended the August Provincial Camp at Doe Lake where a training course for advanced Guides was held. Those who completed this course were Pat Courtemanche, Deidra Doran, Trudy Haig, Jane Lattimer, Lynne Meagher, Ellen McCreary, Rosemary Tanner, Margaret Van Stone and Donna Walt.

Special programs are planned for the forthcoming Guide year which is the Jubilee Year for Guiding in Canada. With a constant demand for more Brownie, Girl Guide and Ranger companies in this district this year will require more and more interested adults to join the movement to provide leadership, according to Mrs. D. Diamantides, local Divisional Commissioner.

Registration for the local Guide groups has already started and dates are as follows:

U.S. Makes Effort to Catch Russia in Missiles Race

By HAROLD BIGGERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The United States is apparently preparing for a massive effort to overtake Russia in the missiles race.

And it would appear, on the basis of the existing continental concept of defence, Canada may also have to plunge deeper in the costly and complex business of rocket operations.

The stepup in U.S. effort and efficiency is seen in the bold step by Defence Secretary Neil McElroy to reduce interservice rivalry and bickering and designate the air force as the master service power not only for launching of all military space rockets but also for development and production.

This move may be a bitter pill for the army and navy to swallow, but it could open the way to a greater central concentration of effort and funds to find ways of catching up and moving ahead of Russia in space rocketry.

Coupled with the move is the decision to cancel a multi-million-dollar program of production of the 2,000 - miles-an-hour F-108 jet interceptor, a decision seen by some observers as signalling the end of the line for manned interceptors.

That is to provide more money for space rockets; less for manned aircraft. The emphasis appears definitely on increased development of the automatic processes of defence and less on the use of manpower for sky fighting.

For this awakening to the increased possibilities of push-button warfare, Russia rather than its hit the moon with a rocket two weeks ago. Shocked by Russia's brilliant effort, some U.S. military officials predicted it would be two or three years before the U.S. could close the missiles gap, providing Russia made no further progress.

And there is no indication Russia will be content with just hitting the moon. Both it and the U.S. want to get men into space, perhaps last not to the moon, when atomic weapons may not be land-based but directed at some enemy country from an earth satellite orbiting in space.

It is also undoubtedly true that in taking the step to concentrate military space effort in the air force, the Eisenhower Republican administration is also looking to the 1960 presidential election.

The Democrats already have indicated they will wage a major battle against the Pentagon. Nine months ago, Senator Stuart Symington (Dem., Mo.), air secretary in the Truman administration, accused the Eisenhower administration of allowing Russia to pull away in the missiles race.

Thatcher to Use CCF Methods to Get Finances

REGINA (CP) — The new leader of Saskatchewan's Liberals set out today to rebuild the party organization from the ground up. He took a leaf from his opponent's book for the purpose.

With an election expected in 10 months, the party needs money, W. Ross Thatcher said after his election Thursday that he's going to get it. His first moves will be to try and sell party membership on as wide a scale as possible at $2 and $5 each.

That's what the CCF party has done successfully for years and Mr. Thatcher told a press conference that while he is opposed to almost everything the socialist government has done since it came into power in 1944, its membership policy is one thing the Liberals can use to advantage.

ONCE CCF LEADER

Mr. Thatcher, once a leader in the CCF party, broke away from it in 1953. He became an independent MP and then a Liberal and he cited prominent politicians Sir Winston Churchill among those who switched from one party to another without being considered renegades.

A former Moose Jaw hardware merchant and now a ranch operator at Caron, Mr. Thatcher, 42, succeeds A. H. McDonald of Moosomin who retired because of ill health.

PAUL MARTIN HEARD

The closing banquet Thursday night heard former health minister Paul Martin criticize Prime Minister Diefenbaker for his frequent absences from Ottawa.

The Liberal MP for Essex East said:

"The prime minister as leader of a party is entitled to travel and visit with the Canadian people. The latter, however, elected him to direct the affairs of the country and this cannot be done by almost continuous absence from the seat of government."

Mr. Martin took the Progressive Conservative government to task on the existing tight-money situation. Restrictions on credit were affecting all classes of the Canadian community "and this is particularly true in the case of farmers."

New Autumn Series Of Instructions Starts

"What Do Catholics Believe and Why?" This is the theme of a new fall series of instructions for non-Catholics and those interested in knowing more about the Catholic Church, Beginning next Tuesday night a series of non-denominational lectures will be given on each Tuesday and Thursday night at eight o'clock at St. Michael's Academy, 273 Church Street. The series will be conducted by a priest of St. Michael's Parish.

The topics covered will give facts about the doctrine of the Church on such matters as the Creed, the Sacraments, the Mass, and the Commandments. During the course, which will be given free of charge, all participants will be able to visit St. Michael's Church, and there have explained for them the significance of the Altar, the Tabernacle, the church furnishings, including the confessionals, the vestments and sacred vessels.

Interesting books on the pressing questions of our day will be made available to all, through the Belleville Catholic Lending Library in the church, and this effort will be made to answer the questions which may be in the minds of non-Catholics. St. Michael's Parish extends a cordial invitation to all interested persons to attend these lectures. Registration will take place on Tuesday.

New Unemployment Insurance Act Effective on Sunday

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — One of the most controversial pieces of labor legislation in many years goes into effect Sunday.

It consists of amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act, boosting contributions to the recession - depleted insurance fund and raising the wage ceiling of eligibility for coverage.

Liberals and the CCF fought it tooth and nail at the last session of Parliament, and kept up a near-filibuster for so long that its implementation was delayed for three months up to now.

It also lacked the endorsation of the government's unemployment insurance advisory committee, an employee - employer group of unpaid consultants.

Labor Minister Starr had to skip an international labor convention in Europe to pilot it safely through the Commons.

THREE MAIN FEATURES

Main features of the measure are these:

1. Contributions into the insurance fund by employers, employees and the federal government are increased by an average of 30 per cent.

2. The maximum period for drawing benefits while unemployed is extended from 36 to 52 weeks.

3. The annual wage ceiling for coverage is raised from $4,800 to $5,460, and two new classes for contributions and benefits are added around the top.

Hoisting the ceiling will bring about 80,000 more persons under insurance protection. There now are about 4,000,000 insured workers in the labor force of 6,400,000.

The additional contributions should increase revenue going into the fund by about $96,000,000 for an estimated average annual intake of $337,000,000. On the new basis, the benefit total should increase an average $24,000,000.

NATURAL GROWTH

Apart from this, the fund should grow naturally by some $15-$16,000,000 a year in interest on its investments in bonds of the cash put into it. This interest should go up, assuming the economy continues to rise.

Meanwhile the fund has been making a recovery on its own from the massive 21 suffered during the recession.

From well over $900,000,000, it had plummeted in about two years to $432,800,000 by May 31. With the drain eased as employment picked upp. It had come back to $448,000,000 by the end of September.

Canadian Mother and Child Edition Read by Thousands

By CAROLYN WILLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — One of Canada's most-thumbed books is a paperbound edition titled The Canadian Mother and Child.

A companionable text before and after baby is born, its 143 pages are packed with frank facts, helpful information and everything from pre-natal exercises to first aid for junior and line drawings in color.

Prepared by the health department's child and maternal welfare division, the handbook has been around in one version or another for 38 years. More than 3,500,000 copies have been distributed since 1921.

CHANGED WITH YEARS

The book has changed, of course, since the pioneer publication. The Canadian Mother's Book, prepared.

The original edition has been called a collection of soapy sentimentalities.

Illustrated with photographs, its paragraph headings spelled out such maternal suggestions as "Be glad, be brave. No baby — no nation."

Knitting patterns were included and the book told father he would be more of a man as a father and admonished him to take care of his presence.

The first edition with the title The Canadian Mother and Child was published in 1940. It gave father few paragraphs and left mother on her pedestal.

REWRITTEN IN 1947

In recent years, after annual revisions and in 1947 a completely rewritten edition, mother is placed solidly on earth, father is realistically fitted into the picture and editions reflect the modern theory of shared parenthood.

Current editions cover a baby's first 21 months and treat maternity—and paternity—as a natural event.

The department annually prints 112,000 copies but is quite enough to go around to the number of first babies born each year.

In 1957, for instance, of 453,778 births 123,263 were first babies. Department officials say they always run out of each year's edition.

Copies are distributed free through provincial health departments and to expectant mothers in Ontario, which has a mother's book of its own. Mothers get their copies from public health nurses, clinics and sometimes from their doctors.

IN ENGLISH, FRENCH

Published in both English and French, the book is also available at 25 cents a copy from the Queen's Printer.

As a standby for the first pregnancy, the book often is re-read for confirmation.

The book often serves a circle of neighbors and friends. It is particularly important in areas isolated from doctors and hospitals.

Although 88.4 per cent of Canada's babies were born in hospitals by 1956, compared with 17.3 per cent in 1926 and 34.5 per cent in 1936, modern editions still include a chapter on home confinement.

Department officials estimate that more than one baby has been ushered into the world with the aid of the chapter for midwives.

A.C.W.W. to Set up Leaders International Scholarship Fund

RAWDON — The public relations representative of West Hastings District Women's Institutes received an almost message on Saturday from Miss B. Reardon, press secretary of the Associated Country Women of the World, with headquarters at Denbighton, High St., London, England.

Miss Reardon is an elected member and attended the annual Triennial Conference of A.C.W.W. held in Scotland in August.

She said in part: "The conference was a very happy affair and the delegates spoke their minds without fear or favor and they also argued without rancour. Secondly it was a well run conference and the Scots rate the highest praise for their organization. Registration, mail, messages, catering, all the different that it so essential, worked smoothly and efficiently, and the combined staff of Scottish Rural and A.C.W.W. co-operated in great harmony, coping with crises, and rejoicing together".

DESCRIBES OPENING

Miss Reardon gave a vivid description of the opening of the Triennial when women from all over the world rose to the tune of the flags of their countries were carried in. The standard bearers were Scottish girls and pipers from all the Scottish Federations and were charming in white blouses and tartan skirts. They carried the banners proudly to the platform and set them behind the speakers and this made a lovely line of color.

Mrs. Shaw, the Scottish president, extended the welcome, and since this was Scotland, all sang the Old Hundredth, the metric psalm of Scots' life.

The delegates were colorfully garbed — the saris of Asia, the vivid patterned skirts of Africa, and the bright cotton frocks of the West.

The Provost of Edinburgh gave a garden party at Lauriston Castle, where the women sat down and the waters of the Firth of Forth were as blue as the Mediterranean.

There were many important matters discussed. However, one seems to have far-reaching effects, was a joint resolution of the Dutch Countrywomen's Association and the National Farm and Garden Association of America, for an International Scholarship fund to train leaders in home economics and rural community welfare be set up.

Malnutrition is the source of many ills in the world. Poverty, poverty, ignorance and superstition. The key to progress in any community, it was acknowledged, is a local woman who speaks the language, knows the customs and lives in the district.

MANY OBSERVERS ATTEND

One of the outstanding features of the conference was the number of observers from countries not yet affiliated. Four women attended from Japan, and others came from Burma, Greece, Sierra Leone, British Guiana and Nepal. All were tremendously interested in the A.C.W.W.

Miss Reardon said: "More than ever before did I feel convinced that we are leading the way in a real international understanding, based on practical knowledge of ourselves and each other."

Lady Binney opened the executive meeting with 128 voting members in attendance. Mrs. Graham Spry of F.W.I.C. was elected chairman.

A small committee was set up to consider improvements to "The Countrywoman", as many suggestions and ideas had been received.

A resolution was passed that a memorial to Lady Aberdeen, one of the founders of A.C.W.W. be a permanent international scholarship to enable leaders to study in other countries.

The 10th Triennial Conference will be held in Australia and delegates will be warmly welcomed by their care to visit Mackay either before or after the conference.

Mrs. Berry, the retiring president, expressed appreciation of all the kindness and recognition she had received in her six years term of office.

A.C.W.W. has made great strides as an international organization and even more opportunities lie ahead, members concluded.

Mrs. Allyn Finkle gave a paper on "Citizenship," saying in part, good citizenship goes hand in hand with Christianity. To live a good life, to keep in mind the well being of our neighbors and the community in general, makes for a well rounded out life. Citizenship is doubly useful.

"We take for granted so many things in our everyday life that it is well for us to stop sometimes and consider our relation to them. We are fortunate to live in a country protected by laws of our own making and yet we often forget our own responsibility to meet with their teachers on a social footing.

Following the opening exercise with Mrs. H. Tompson at the piano, the reports were read and adopted; correspondence was also read, and the members requested to bring their

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible ministers and counsellors.

Betty R. — Did I make a mistake in telling my husband?

Joe R. — And I thought he was the salt of the earth!

Betty R. — My husband and I are in our early 30's and we are very close to a middle-aged couple. Joe lived as a foster child in this couple's home for several years during his mother's serious illness.

Naturally, I assumed that both of them took upon us as their substitute children. They have none of their own. I was very warm and friendly with both of them, but now I see it was a mistake.

The man, Warren, recently started getting fresh with me. He made all sorts of shocking proposals. I just couldn't believe that it was happening and I ran out of the room. When I told my husband, he was ready to murder him. He says he'll have nothing further to do with them. But this will break his wife's heart.

I wonder if I made a mistake in telling my husband.

Joe R. — When Betty said she was ready to murder Warren she wasn't exaggerating. I felt like strangling him with my bare hands. Then, could a middle-aged man do a thing like that — and with my wife, no less. He doesn't even have the excuse of having been drunk.

I don't want to ever see Warren again. Of course, I feel sorry for his wife, I guess. I can't see that we can do except tell her the reason we can't seeing them. She'll be upset, but I just hate to leave her think I don't care about her.

At one time I thought this man was the salt of the earth. I felt closer to him than my own father and I wanted to be like him when I grew up. He certainly was very good to me when I was a boy and I don't want to be ungrateful, but what else can I do?

The Council: The first thing both Betty and Joe can do is cool off a bit. We don't think Betty was necessarily wrong in telling her husband, but she was wrong in telling it to him the way she evidently did.

Probably Betty was frightened at the unexpected turn of events, but she should have given herself a little time to absorb the situation. A little more thought would have told her that this man was somewhat unbalanced emotionally at the moment. Certainly she must avoid him for a time, but she didn't have to tell her husband and ring in a fire alarm — unless she was in real physical jeopardy.

She needs to simmer down and recognize that Warren may still be "the salt of the earth" in many areas of his life and the man who protected a homeless boy.

An incident like that is too isolated, however. There must be other signs that Warren is upset emotionally. Probably he has been indulging in other incidents of this nature in imitation of his wife must be more or less aware of what is going on.

If the wife is told the full story she may feel forced to defend her husband and this could cause an irreparable break in this relationship. The wife may feel so ashamed that she'll want such a break. We think the best policy in this instance may be to have contacts with this couple, but to remember them with gifts, at times, and calls on special occasions. It is very likely that this wife will surmise the reason for the rift.

Eventually Warren may regain command of himself and may indicate it in some way, perhaps in a direct answer to Betty or by some indirect sign. Betty and Joe should consider the present a break partial and temporary.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

ANNOUNCEMENT OF MARRIAGE OF, CONSERVATIVE WIDOW, WIDOWER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a widow, 64 years of age, and next month I am to be married to a man only two years older than I. My prospective husband is extremely conservative, and I am, too, and we want to make all our plans in the best possible taste. We both live practically always have lived, in this large city, and we each belong to two important social clubs. I have three married children. We would both like to include the names of our parents, all deceased. We are to be married in the chapel of my church. With these details, will you please tell me exactly how I should word the announcement to be sent to the newspapers, to be published the day after the wedding? (What form for my name, please?) — Reader

A correct form for this newspaper announcement is: Announcement is made of the marriage of Mrs. Paul Blake, of Oakville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Leighton, to Mr. Robert Peter Delafield, also of Oakville, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Delafield. The ceremony was performed on October (date) in (name of church) by the Reverend (name of clergyman).

Note 1: You should use your formal name: Mrs. Paul Blake.

DOES BRIDE'S FAMILY SUPPLY WEDDING PHOTOGRAPH?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are just "coming up for air" after meeting the expenses for our daughter's recent wedding, and now we are faced with another financial problem. Our daughter's formal wedding photograph is very lovely (if I do say so!), and now many of our relatives are friends, as well as intimate friends of the couple, have expressed the wish to have one. This expense would swamp us, for these wedding photographs are quite expensive. We had not even thought of this situation arising, and so we have no idea how it should be handled. Are supplying the photograph really our responsibility? —Mother

No, this is not at all your responsibility, and you will have to make up your mind to explain as graciously as possible that, although you would be most happy and proud to give a photograph to every relative and friend who would like to have one, you really cannot afford to do this. Then gently lead up to the information that if they would like to have a photograph, the photographer would be happy to take their order (and, if you wish, it would be a good and practical idea to mention the price).

"SECOND HELPINGS"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When my husband and I are doing the serving at our simple, informal dinners — we have no help in giving our dinners — which one of us asks a guest if she or he would like a "second helping" of anything? — Anon

Either of you may ask this. (1) The guests should be asked individually. (2) The words "second helping" or "more" should not be used; instead say, for example, "Margaret, may I give you some roast beef?" or "Mrs. Thomas, please let me give you some chicken — do you prefer white or dark meat?" (This merely takes the emphasis away from the "more.")

HORSE DOCTORS

Veterinary science was a specialized occupation as long ago as the days of the ancient Egyptians.

BRAIN-CHILD AND MOTHER — How does seven-year-old Charlie Cairns of Oakville, Ont., like to spend his time? Physical science, history or helping his sister with her Grade 13 homework. Charlie, who started school at two and began reading at three, has been acclaimed a prodigy by education officials. Mrs. Cairns holds a powered model aircraft built by Charlie, shown at right with a $300 microscope his family had to buy when he started studying zoology. (CP Photo).

Child of 7 Likes to Study Science, History and Help Sister, 13, With Homework

TORONTO (CP)—When Charlie Cairns was a baby his mother read his books by A. A. Milne.

Now, at seven years of age, Charlie likes to study science, history and help his sister with her grade 13 homework. He's the son of Mrs. Dorothy Cairns, Oakville, Ont., veterinarian. His mother is a former school teacher.

Charlie was recently acclaimed as a prodigy by education officials. He started school at two and began reading at three, has been skipping grades and is now in Grade 3.

Now, at seven years of age, Charlie likes to study science, history and help his sister with her grade 13 homework. He's the son of Mrs. Dorothy Cairns, Oakville, Ont., veterinarian. His mother is a former school teacher.

Charlie was recently acclaimed as a prodigy by education officials. He started school at two and began reading at three, has been skipping grades and is now in Grade 3.

The next year he moved into grade 3 and now he is in grade 4.

Mrs. Cairns says her son has been brought up in the same way as any other little boy. "The only difference is that I can't sing so instead of lullabying him to sleep, I read to him."

She didn't have to read for long. At the age of three, Charlie decided to read by himself. He was bored with the primers his mother purchased so he read Black Beauty instead.

PREFERS PHONICS

As a former teacher, Mrs. Cairns doesn't believe in interfering with her children's education, but she does advocate the phonetic system of learning to read. She says her 11-year-old son Ronnie, preferred the "word-guessing" system and cannot read well.

Having a prodigy in the family is expensive. Books alone cost about $250 a year and Charlie needed a microscope when he started studying zoology. Recently he has indicated an interest in music and will soon need some type of an instrument.

Charlie has talked about becoming a rocket engineer but his mother is attempting gently to steer his course to other fields by praising the arts and others like him "I try to impress on Charlie that he must try to improve things, to make the world a better place," she said.

QUESTION:

Could you please send me a good recipe for Spanish Sauce, such as for Spanish Omelette? — Vera M.

ANSWER:

Sometimes the vegetables only in the following Spanish Sauce are saute in the pan first and then the omelette mix is poured over, thus incorporating the vegetables in the omelette.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

FRIDAY

Homemade Vegetable Soup; Baked Halibut Smothered in Vegetables (see Tuesday); Relish While Sauce; Steamed Potatoes; Stewed Tomatoes; Cole Slaw; Bread Pudding (see Tuesday); Tea.

SPANISH SAUCE:

Simmer together 1 cup peeled and chopped fresh or canned tomatoes, 1 small green pepper, chopped, 1 tablespoon chopped sprigs parsley, chopped, 1 stalk celery, chopped, 24 tablespoons olives, chopped, 1-2 cup mushrooms, chopped, salt and pepper to taste, until vegetables are tender, (about 15 minutes). Heat together 2 tablespoons each butter and flour and 1 tablespoon dry mustard, stir in blended stir in cooked vegetables and cook until thickened. Pour half of this amount over the one side of the omelette before folding and remainder over top when omelette is folded on hot platter.

QUESTION:

Some advice please about making frozen fruit pies. Mine are always soggy after baking. Recipe for Chili Sauce making only about four pints. Most call for six quart basket. That is too much for us. Like it good and thick and hot. M.C.

ANSWER:

Write to Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, Canada for Bulletin 504 "Frozen Foods" and consult page 66, and write also for Bulletin 681, "Preserved Foods" Dept. of Agriculture, Ottawa. These will be of inestimable help in freezing your pies and other foods.

HOT, THICK CHILI SAUCE:

Note: Measure all vegetables after pealing and chopping.

3 pints peeled and chopped tomatoes, 1 cup chopped onions, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 1-2 teaspoons each celery and mustard seed, 1 1-4 cups vinegar, 1 cup sweet red peppers, chopped, 1 pod red hot pepper, chopped, 1-3 tablespoons salt, 1 1-2 tablespoons mixed pickling spice.

Measure the vegetables into a large kettle and add the pepper, salt and sugar. Cook over low heat. Tie spices in a cheesecloth bag and add after vegetables have cooked for 1-2 hour. Continue to cook over low heat until thick. Stir occasionally as the sauce thickens or it will burn. Then add vinegar and boil until there is no more "free" liquid. Taste, and add 1-4 teaspoon of cayenne pepper, if desired. Bottle while boiling hot in hot sterilized jars and seal.

The Experts Say

Your Hair Style Reflects Personality Says Designer

By EDNA BLAKELY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Take a close look at your hair style. It reflects your personality.

"A person with a vibrant personality will wear a more pronounced style," says James Keeler, a member of the Guild of Hairdesign, a group of leading Canadian hair stylists.

A shy person will have a subdued style, and will not use color.

Green or blue hair is definitely for extroverts.

CUT AND COLOR

A good cut is the most important part of hairdressing and should fit the contour of the face, person's dress style and personality, he says.

Hair coloring is definitely established, Mr. Keeler estimates, at 30 to 85 per cent of his own customers use some type of color.

The newest trend, he says, is toward a "popular color which is worn well by most women."

"Some people think of red as a decorator's color of paint, but there are a dozen shades which can be used according to the individual skin tone."

Streaks and tipping shades are still popular, and are especially flattering to the current short hair styles.

One of the two main styles for this year is the high crown look, cut short and close to the ears. The other, slightly longer, is turned up at the ends with very little curl. It covers the ears but does not touch the shoulders. This is to keep the hair off the high necklines of this winter's fashions.

The day of the crisp curl has gone, he says. Twenty years ago Canadian women got a permanent once a year. "Now many women get their hair set twice a week," which he says is the result of the influence of the casual, loose style, and a soft permanent perhaps three times a year.

Girls have started to visit hairdressers at a younger age, Mr. Keeler says "many girls of 15 use peroxide. Older women, too, are among the best customers.

"While hair, which used to be a sign of old age, has become fashionable when it's natural. Women, who used to cover up the grey and white hairs, now are using rinses to accent the flattering shades."

Hold Crystal Shower for Bride-to-Be

RAWDON — On Friday evening the home of Mrs. Don Drewry was decorated with pink and white streamers and bells in honor of Miss Ruth Mumby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mumby, who is an October bride-to-be.

About 25 guests were in attendance and the evening was spent in playing games and contests, and in compiling a recipe book.

The co-hostess was Mrs. Morris Morrison.

During the evening Mrs. R. B. Murray read an appreciation address to Ruth and the two hostesses presented her with a large array of crystal.

Ruth expressed her thanks to the group for their kindness, after which the hostesses served dainty refreshments.

Sunday School Lesson

Degrading Holy Things

By ROY L. SMITH

Once in a while we come upon a sentence, or a statement, in the Old Testament that has much of the sound of modern slang. In this week's Sunday school lesson there is an illustration, when the prophet tells the Jews that they make God tired. It is plain talk, and it is in the language of that the people understand, and those are two of the first elements of good preaching.

TIMES WERE BAD

Under the inspiration of a great hope and a great promise, several thousand Jewish families had pulled up stakes in Babylon, to return to Judea, the land of their fathers. It was a heroic thing they had done. In the land of their exile they had been well situated. Business was good, all doors were open to them, culture lay all about them, and livings were relatively easy. But they were exiles, aliens, strangers, and a minority group. Something deep stirred within them. They longed to feel the ancient soil of their sires under their feet.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for September 27, "God's Call To Faithfulness", Book of Malachi.

With bitter invective the prophet argued the case with the people. He reminded them that they were offering to the God of their fathers such offerings as they would not dare to offer to a governor or a king. He assured them that they were fooling no one but themselves. The favor of the Almighty could never be expected in return for such worship.

WORSHIP AND DIGNITY

There is something very seductive about the promise of easy money, and it is never more seductive than when it gets into the field of religion. Again and again it has happened in a community that the name and work of God and the Church have become matters of contempt, because of the undignified and indefensible methods used in poaching religious activities.

Back in the land from which their fathers had been carried off into exile they found the living difficult, the land impoverished, their neighbors unattractive, and their ancient shrines in ruins. The task of rebuilding was going to call for a hundred years of sacrifice. And the hours were to be long, the labors exhausting, and the environment uninspiring. It is little wonder that a spirit of discouragement grew up among them.

SHORT CUTS TO GOD

Among the returnees there developed a disposition to look for short cut of all kinds. The crops were planted in haste, for there was never enough time for anything. Every man had more work than he could possibly do. The houses they threw together were makeshifts and unconformable. The temple and the altars were shabby and unimaginative. The choir was probably pretty bad and the music, generally, was poor.

It had been all-fancient law that the finest of the flocks should be offered on the altars as sacrifices, but the returnees had developed the habit of bringing the culls, the seconds, and the unmarketables to the Temple, instead of the lambs. Anything was good enough for God.

There is no exact record in the case, but they probably developed the habit of depending on rummage sales, "finnecent lotteries", and various other tawdry devices as means for supporting the religious structure. The support of the Temple degenerated into something very shabby and contemptible.

VOICE OF PROPHET

The worst aspects of the cases the fact that the people thought they were doing very well. They could not see that they had degraded holy things, and that they were treating God as though he were a scoundrel. And it was to such a generation that the prophet Malachi preached.

Wallbridge

WALLBRIDGE — Mr and Mrs. Ed. Spencer accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ben Acker and family to Kitchener where they spent a recent weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Acker, at Stratford.

Canadian Canners at Foxboro finished with their canning of corn on Monday. It was a busy season as no rain fell and so they were able to work night and day, and was the earliest getting it done in many seasons as it generally runs late October.

The weatherman took a decided change from the 90 degrees of heat down to near freezing point and oil burners on duty.

W. A. of Wallbridge held the meeting on September 9th with a good attendance. Plans were made to hold the bazaar on November 25th also to canvas from each family for donations instead of a chicken supper.

On Sunday morning Frank Lodge A.F. A.M. No. 127 held in church service in Wallbridge United Church with a good attendance. The Rev. W. McMullen gave an inspiring sermon on "Brotherhood."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pound, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Pound, and children, Dale and Cheryl, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langabeer and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Langabeer, and children Larry, Nancy and Brenda were callers in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Acker called on Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Spencer on Sunday evening.

Next Sunday is rally service and the superintendent, Mr. Art Carleton, invites all to attend.

DESERONTO

Agreement Made To Test Ground For Spring Water

DESERONTO — At the regular meeting on Monday night the town council approved a by-law authorizing an agreement between the town and Reginald Dawson for the purpose of testing to see if sufficient spring water can be obtained from the ridge north of the highway to supply the town. The condition of the water supplied to the town has been causing considerable concern and council is taking this means to see if a good grade of drinking water can be obtained without the heavy expense of a filtration plant.

According to the information supplied, some digging will be done at an area where, in the past, a considerable amount of water flows through the spring. There are several veins converging on the area and it is hoped that the flow from them will supply the natural needs of the people. Work is to begin immediately and be completed before the end of next month. The cost of this endeavor will be negligible.

CROSSWALKS

Considerable discussion from the members present centred around the request from the school board regarding the children crossing the highway at Center and Fourth Streets. Council has endeavored to have crosswalks painted at these intersections and it turned the matter over to the police committee to discuss with the school principal.

Two resolutions from other municipalities were filed and accounts to the amount of $1,066.26 were ordered paid.

The property committee reported on its investigation of the piece of property which the Metcalfe Canning Co. had offered to buy. As a result council agreed to offer the land to Metcalfe's for the sum of $100.

A. E. Burley spoke briefly to the council on the flooding of the basement of his garage and the house next door on Brant Street. His contention was that the street drain was too small and in wet weather the back pressure forced the water into the basements.

Councillor Lott thought that the council should have more definite assurance as to the cause of the flooding before taking any action. However, the streets committee is to submit an estimate of the cost of installing a larger street drain for some 200 feet on Brant Street.

BEGIN CHANNEL PROJECT

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — The Neebish Island west channel in the St. Mary's River was closed-off to all shipping Tuesday in preparation for the construction of a cofferdam. The project, which may take three years to complete, calls for the removal of the Neebish rock-cut, a hazard to shipping.

MANSLAUGHTER VERDICT

MONTREAL (CP) — Tavern waiter Robert Miron, 26, was found guilty Tuesday of manslaughter. Sentence will be passed Oct. 2. Miron had been charged with murder in the death of Gilles Petit, 32, a bystander who was hit in the head by a bullet during a fight between Miron and the five Dubois brothers—Jean Guy, Normand, Raymond, Rene and Claude—outside a downtown tavern. The brothers are to be tried for murder soon.

Queen Will Not Appear on TV Christmas Day

LONDON (AP) — The Queen, expecting a baby early in the new year, will not make her usual television appearance on Christmas Day, Buckingham Palace announced Thursday.

Instead, she will record a Christmas message to the Commonwealth in advance, for sound broadcasting only. This will be sent to radio stations throughout the Commonwealth. The announcement said it will be a message rather than a speech, and will be shorter than usual.

The royal broadcast linking the Commonwealth has long been part of the Christmas tradition. It was started by the Queen's grandfather, King George V.

A court source said the royal message probably will record her message when she returns to Buckingham Palace from her Scottish residence, Balmoral Castle, next month.

The baby is expected in January or February.

The Queen appeared in good health when she visited a movie studio with her 13-year-old son, Prince Charles, this week.

HOT RODDER — Al Ramsey, 21, of Toronto, built this hot-rod in less than a year. It cost him $2,000 and took 600 hours of his spare time. The 1934 coupe is powered by a 1938 engine and wheel discs came from a 1936 model, the windshield from a boat. Note the roll bar behind the driver's seat—a safety measure to protect the operator in case of accident. (CP Photo).

Members of Idlers Hot-Rod Club Never Have Had Any Traffic Violations or Tickets

By KEVIN BOLAND
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Here's how hot-rodder Allan Ramsey describes the way he raced against time:

"I dropped the stick into first and left about 100 feet of rubber behind me. Then I threw it into second and laid another 30 feet of it . . . tramped it, then threw it into third."

Translated, it means he shifted his streamlined car into first gear, raced ahead leaving 100 feet of rubber behind, shifted into second gear and left another 50 feet of rubber, then pushed the accelerator to the floor and put his car into third gear.

CLOCKED AT 105

"Ramsey adds: "The timer clocked me at 105 when I hit the quarter-mile." In 440 yards the young speedster had attained a speed of 105 miles an hour from a standing start.

Ramsey, 21, president of the Idlers Hot-Rod Club of Toronto, and one of a fast-growing group of young Canadians who like to turn old cars into speed-wagons, says he "first got the bug for speed" after buying a 1929 Model A Ford for $6.

"I drove it around in stock condition (the way it came off the assembly line) for about 20 years or about six months and then one of my friends read an article on how to put a V-8 motor in a Model A. I was hooked right then and there."

After eight months work on the job, he says "I wasn't satisfied. I wanted more speed."

He then purchased a damaged 1935 Ford coach and fixed it. A real hot-rod enthusiast by now, Ramsey replaced the original motor with one he had earlier installed in his first attempt at hot-rodding. A few months later he sold the car for $70, one-quarter of the total cost.

MADE THIRD "ROD"

With $2,000 and approximately 600 hours of his spare time he now has completed his third "rod." His biggest expenditure was $350 he paid for a 1938 motor from a wrecking yard.

Ramsey leased on the side of his garage — turned — workshop as he talked. Six feet tall, his blonde hair spattered with grease and oil, he represents some of post-war Canada's youth. He often speaks the words that have become almost a slogan among hot-rodders: "Never Satisfied."

The Idlers, as eight-member organization, started in 1938 with about 25 participants. Ramsey decided to reduce the number because of members who had no apparent interest in hot-rodding other than to boast of a hot-rod membership.

"I want members who will build rods, not idiots who are interested in making noise," he said.

"A little bit of trouble has cropped up with the neighbors, but most of them understand," says Grant Fleming, 19, a member of the Idlers. "There is the odd one who does a little complaining."

Chief complaints have concerned the rumble of loud mufflers and the excessive squealing of car wheels.

In Toronto there are some 20 hot-rods. Don Codere, owner of a 1957 Corvette, estimates there are about 250 car clubs across Canada and 10 times more in the United States.

The vocabulary of the hot-rodder is often baffling for enthusiasts have their own language. Here are some of the terms:

Channelling — removal of motor body from the chassis and welding it to the frame; chopping — removal of from five to 10 inches from the centre of the roof and then welding it back together again making it more compact and giving it the desired sleek look; drag race with another car; bucket — bolts — automobile; slicks — specially made racing tires manufactured for traction; treads three inches wider than normal tires; peel — burn rubber; push — fast car; goodies — speed equipment; tunnel-tools; furnace — welding torch.

In their short history the Idlers have had no traffic violations, not even a parking ticket.

Restaurant's Staff Attacked Two Customers

TORONTO (CP) — Detective Leonard Simpson said in magistrate's court Wednesday two restaurant patrons were attacked by the restaurant's staff because a spoon was missing.

Tietong Wong, 36, is charged with wounding Gillies Bergeron, 26, and his brother Claude, 20, both of Sudbury. Charged with assault are Frank Wong, 40, Kenneth Wong, 36, and Lang Wan, 23.

Gilles Bergeron suffered a fracture of the skull and needed 25 stitches to close his cuts after the brawl in a downtown restaurant. His brother had 18 stitches in his head.

Gilles testified that as he and his brother were leaving they were asked about the spoon. They turned out their pockets and left the premises.

He said he was struck after he looked over his shoulder and saw one of the men waving Him back.

Det. Simpson, who witnessed the fight, said he saw Tietong Wong repeatedly hitting Gilles with a metal object about an inch long.

The case was remanded until Sept. 30.

Premier Roblin Says Canada Needs U.S. Help

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canadian patriotism and American capital can live and work together in partnership, Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba told a group of American business writers who Thurs. concluded an 11-day Canadian tour.

Mr. Roblin, speaking at a reception for the visitors Wednesday night, said Canadians feel strongly that they wish to remain Canadian, but this does not indicate any serious incompatibility between Canada and the United States.

"We need and welcome American investment, know-how and initiative," he stated. "And we want you to think that you have a friendly and co-operative country to live north."

All Canada asks of American enterprises establishing here is that they act like "good Canadians" and this, said Mr. Roblin, is something American capital does very well.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

It's a far cry from the immaculate dinner jacket, black tie, pumps, etc., of a boxing ring announcer to the sweat-impregnated top habiliment of a softball manager, but it seems that is the dual role which Marse Robert Temple has found himself occupying of late.

While he did not use the flower-embroidered verbiage of the late Harry "May the Better Participant Emerge Triumphant" Balloch, the main tiger of the ball-throwing Bengals acquitted himself quite ably from ring centre the other night. He had poise, pronunciation and personality. He added a certain dignity to that somewhat undignified profession of monotone-moaners, boxing and wrestling announcers.

Tomorrow he slips back into the more familiar role of brain-trusting a bevy of softballers who for the second time in the archives of the Belleville Bobcats have worked their way to the provincial finals.

The Cats, who have been handpapering their talons for the past week, tangle with the Niagara Falls squad, champions of western Ontario, who, it is reported, have a decided yen for eastern catmeat. The game is slated for the CNEA Park and will get under way at four o'clock sharp.

Let's hope the chief Keeper of the Kats has been feeding his felines with the same brand of catnip that swept them through foreign opposition from Peterborough and Toronto, and these stubborn country cousins from Cobourg.

Strangely enough they had extraordinary tough opposition from that gallant young clan from Trenton, a team they should have defeated much more easily, with all deference to Charlie Drake's fine corps.

It could have been a don't-give-a-damn attitude, temperament, involuntary let-down or a skull-infiltrated idea that "we can beat 'em any time", but the fact remains the Cats were never closer to elimination than when they were playing the team from the edge of the western suburbs.

But, as subsequent events have proved, put 'em against a team of "furriners" and they come up with heads-up softball that sent the foemen into elimination before they could show their passports.

They went into Peterborough with fangs bared. Fine clutch clouting and flawless fielding backed up the superb hurling of Bobby Green, who southpawed the Petes into some sort of a coma. At least the story that reached here was that the Petes could muster but one base in the second game and as a result defaulting the conflict —and series.

Toronto's East York never recovered from the Cats' first-game onslaught and fell victims to the Tigers' prowess in the second game, thus hoisting the Temples into the provincial finals against Niagara.

But make no mistake, these Falls guys won't be any fall guys. Up in Rex Silmers' neck of the softball woods, they have more softball teams than a goose has pimples. You have to be "some punkins" on a diamond to reach the finals of any OASA classification, and this "Niffles" squad won't be any exception.

So get out that catnip Marse Bob, sub, Youah sure goin' t' need it. Those Cats hadn't better leave any of their claws at home, and while you're at it, see that their shoulders are sighted right.

It should be the biggest test of the season for the Bobcats, and for Niagara too, for that matter. All of which makes for a thrilling battle tomorrow afternoon. In a short series like this, a first-game home-diamond victory breeds confidence. A foul creates a sort of backs-to-the-wall -desperation that has resulted on not a few occasions in ultimate series victory. But it is always a lot nicer to visit the foeman pasture for the second game with the first-tilt win tucked under your belt.

The Cats will be minus the services of Bobby Hull, now with the Chicago Black Hawks. However, they have fine reserves and on Bobby Green will fall the bulk of the pitching. He is in popular demand and in the form that swept him to victory over Peterborough and Toronto, the Fallsers may be in for a tough afternoon.

THIS IS IT!

The curtain rings down on the season's wrestling tonight with what should be the greatest brawl of all time. Don Leo Jonathan and Hardboiled Haggerty combine their evil tactics against Whipper Billy Watson and Sam Steamboat, "the good and the clean." No doubt the heavies will be aided and abetted by one Bunny Dunlop, a member of the same lodge while keeping a weary eye, and using force if necessary on the cauliflowered Benny will be the Whip—Sam buddy—Paiso O'Flanagan. All six will be in the ring at the same time, so it should be "swing-when-you-meet" and down-with-'em-all affair. It will be a wild and wooly cheese-your-partner affair with no quarter given or taken. And before it's over you might see Thumy Gonbagon, the Mighty Uruss and Jack Laskin in there for a final curtain-dropping free-for-all. Should be a dilly.

Lew Burdette Faces Phillies, Dodgers Battle Hot Cubs; Giants Cling to Hope Shred

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

It's Don Drysdale, working in a jiax park, for Los Angeles and Lew Burdette, facing a club he hasn't been able to beat since May, for Milwaukee as the National League pennant race barrels into the final weekend looking like it'll never end.

Drysdale, the big right-hander whose side-arm stuff made him the pitcher of the half - season, faces the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field today for the Dodgers, deadlocked with Milwaukee for first place with three to play.

The Braves play a night game against last-place Philadelphia at Milwaukee.

COULD MEAN PLAYOFF

The race could end in a tie between the Braves and the Dodgers. They then would meet in a best-of-three playoff, opening at Milwaukee Monday, to settle which one will meet Chicago's American League champion White Sox in the world series.

The San Francisco Giants could make it a three-way tie for first. Chicago's other final three games at St. Louis tonight, the Giants are bobbling with a five-game losing string, their longest of the season. To gain a tie, the Giants will have to sweep the Cardinals then pray the Dodgers and Braves do lose twice.

Chicago's Cubs, who crashed the Giants' party with a three-game sweep, could be just as chilling for the Dodgers. Drysdale (17-13) has only a 2-3 season record against the fifth-place Cubs.

And he's managed to win just one of five decisions at Wrigley Field in his four-year career.

The Cubs will start Glen Hobbie (14-13)

Milwaukee, knocked off a fourgame streak Wednesday at Pittsburgh, has a well-rested Burdette ready for the Phils. Burdette (21-14) hasn't worked since Sunday.

The Braves, a 5-8 pick to win the flag (you have to bet 58 on them to win $1), probably will start the man from the day off each of the contenders had Thursday. The extra day of rest may have lifted centrefielder Billy Burton (twisted ankle) and shortstop Johnny Logan (infected toe) back into the lineup for tonight's game against Don Cardwell (9-10).

The Giants go with Sam Jones (15-15), who has been beaten in a row, against the Cardinals' Vinegar Bend Mizell (13-9). The odds are 2-5 that San Francisco won't make it.

AMERICAN CLINCH-UP

In the American League, Chicago manager Al Lopez will be scouting the Dodgers while his White Sox run out five games in Detroit. The Tigers are struggling with New York for fifth money.

The Yankees, playing Baltimore, need just one more victory to nail it—their lowest finish since 1945.

Cleveland's Cal McLish shoots for his 20th victory in the season's game of a tie - night pair with Kansas City. Washington is at Boston.

Gamblers Pick Braves for Flag Series? Not Sure

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)— The way the gamblers see it, the Milwaukee Braves will win the National League pennant. But they're not so sure about the world series.

Milwaukee was 5-8 on Thursday's betting line and Los Angeles Dodgers were 6-5.

This means you would have to bet $8 to win $5 if you were going with Milwaukee, or $5 to win $6 if you liked Los Angeles.

The Braves and Dodgers are tied for first place, but the gambling bookies say the schedule favors the Milwaukee. The Braves have three games at home with last-place Philadelphia, while the Dodgers have three on the road with fifth-place Chicago.

The world series is 10-11 and pick 'em. This means the bettor can put either Chicago White Sox or the National League winner and put up $11 to win $10.

Ti-Cats Tangle With Riders, Larks Flutter With Argos

By BEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Bernie Faloney has a cold and not one for sounding off, had this Bobby Simpson is battling with to say:

Hamilton Tiger-Cats, leaders in the Big Four race, go to Ottawa seeking to cool off the third-place Rough Riders who came out of nowhere last week to stalk up two impressive victories.

In their last meeting a month ago Tiats humiliated Riders 34-10. But since then the Ottawa club has come alive.

Saturday's other Big Four action has Montreal Alouettes at Toronto Argonauts.

Ticats lead with 12 points on a 6-1 record. Ottawa has eight points and Toronto and Ottawa are tied with four each.

MISSES WORKOUT

Faloney, the ex-Maryland all-American who handles most of the Ticat ball-carrying, came down with a cold this week and had to skip Thursday night's workout. He complained to Dr. Jim Charters, the club physician, about missing it.

It's expected, however, that Faloney will be his usual self Saturday. He hasn't missed dressing for a game since he came to Canada to join Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union in 1954. He came to Hamilton in 1957.

Coach Jim Trimble gave no indication of changing his original plan to use Faloney. The Tiats' spare quarter, Tom Dublinski, is slated for spotter duty.

The Rough Rider camp was jumping with enthusiasm Thursday, the players freely predicting they'll whip quiet Hamilton.

Simpson, the veteran passcatching Canadian who is the Rider captain, told a quarterback club meeting: "Hamilton had better be in perfect mental and physical shape because they're in for a beating Saturday—a good one."

'Adios Butler' Wins Harness Triple Crown

By FRITZ HOWELL

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Adios Butler, with a habit of winning the hot ones, did it again in the 14th annual $76,582 Little Brown Jug for three - year - old pacers.

The bay son of Adios-Debby Hanover, handled expertly by Clint Hodgins of Clandeboye, Ont., grabbed the pole in straight heats Thursday over the Delaware County Fairgrounds half-mile track. He's the owner of records along the way and also wrapped up pacing's triple crown.

Except for a short jaunt to the quarter-mile post for the deciding heat of the two-division scrap, he was never headed or pressed. He toured the first mile in 1:59 3-5 to set a new track, jug and world record for a three year - old sidewheeler over a twice-around course.

The old Jug mark was a flat two minutes set by Tar Heel in 1951, and it also was the world standard. The track record was 1:59 3-5 set by Sampson Hanover in 1951. Adios Butler, in picking up $28,335.34 for his 4:00 1-5 minute of fame, also established his 1959 bankroll to $150,003.34—far over the three-year-old record of $124,583 set a year ago by O'Brien Hanover.

Adios must be a proud pappy today, for another of his sons—Bachelor Al, driven by Bruce O'Brien, a native of Alberton, P.E.I., finished second for $16,062.

The 53-year-old Hodgins was making his first start in the Jug after Adios Butler's Ohio driving harness horses for 35 years.

Meadow Al, the winner, took favorite, took the first heat of the divided field in 2:00 2-5, roaring from eighth place at the three-quarter mark to nip Culver Pick by a head.

In his first heat, Hodgins moved Adios Butler to the front within 50 feet of the starting post and stayed there to win by four lengths over Ohio Time. His whipping finish gave him a length edge over Meadow Al in the finals.

The two Jug heats were only the eighth and ninth this year

Win Senior Baseball Title

BRANTFORD (CP) — Brantford Red Sox won the Inter-County Baseball League senior championship Thursday night when they defeated Galt Terriers 8-1.

Red Sox won the best-of-seven series in five games, taking four in a row after losing the opener.

They broke up Thursday night's game in the ninth inning, rallying for five runs on three hits, two Galt errors, a walk and three stolen bases.

Until then southpaws Ron Stead and Basil Curry were locked in a 1-1 pitchers' duel. Stead, winning his 13th game of the year and sixth in tve playoffs, held the Terriers to five hits.

The Red Sox collected only six hits off Curry, who was flown in from Ithaca College for the game. Curry struck out seven and walked three. Stead—fanned five and walked one.

Stan Lipka, with a double and single, was the only Brantford player to get more than one hit. Wray Upper and Bob Brain had two hits apiece for Galt.

It was Galt's home game but was played in Brantford because the Terriers were unable to get their own park this week.

For Adios Butler, but he's won more and fattened more purses in his conquests were the Case Futurity and the Messenger Stakes—the first two legs of the triple crown.

Adios Butler was a prohibitive 1-5 favorite in each of his heats.

B[illegible] Scores Twin Wins Over Moira

By PETER CARVER
Belleville Collegiate Institute racked up twin victories in an inter-city sports games yesterday, the seniors shading Moira 8-7 and the juniors taking their tussle by 13-1 score.

SENIOR GAME

The BCI seniors went into an early lead when Jack McMahon's touch went for a single. They got away with a dating play later in the quarter when McMahon faked a punt on a third down and tossed a pass to Jim Davies in the end zone. Garry Hill converted.

There was no score in the second quarter but Moira made dangerously close when "Red" Kellar intercepted a BCI pass and galloped to the ten-yard line. Fine defensive play by the BCI squad held the Moira team scoreless.

Moira went into the offensive in the third quarter and reached through to the BCI three-yard line. They were helped by a long yardage penalty and a fine ground-gaining by Boomhour.

Garry Bowerman ripped through from the three-yard line for the touchdown on the third down but Moira's convert was no good. The score at this point was 8-6 for the Church Street gridders.

Moira threatened in the match the game out of the bag in the fourth quarter when Bowerman intercepted a BCI pass and ripped through to the 25-yard line. BCI stopped the rather sore threat and Moira was content with a single when Bowerman kicked for the point.

JUNIOR GAME

The junior squads of both schools battled to a scoreless tie in a hard-driving first quarter. Play was fairly even in the second quarter but Moira took a point lead when John Peoples booted a single from the BCI 70-yard line. That's the way the half ended.

BCI's ground attack paid off in the third quarter when a double hand-off sent John Grisham through to the Moira four-yard line. On the next play Jim Dahl went over for the touchdown but the convert was no good.

BCI had a 6-1 lead going into the final quarter but a fumble and a penalty threw them back on their 10-yard line. BCI held them scoreless and it took over on the same line.

On the first play Barry Roberts shook the Moira tacklers and galloped to their 35-yard line. A successful pass and run put Jeff McG on the Moira seven-yard line and on the next down Barry Simpson went over for a quarterback sneak.

It was one of the best plays of the afternoon, BCI scoring in three plays from their own 10-yard line. The final score, BCI 13, Moira 1.

Stamps Battle Frisky Lions On Saturday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Calgary Stampeders were a powerhouse in the early schedule of the Western Interprovincial Football Union. They won four of five games.

Then they lost four straight and dropped to fourth place. Now Calgary must win five of its seven remaining games to make the playoffs.

The Stampeders take on the frisky British Columbia Lions in Saturday's only WIFU game.

In Monday's Grandstand Classic Calgary journeys to Regina to tackle the winless Saskatchewan Roughriders and Edmonton Eskimos are at Winnipeg to battle the Blue Bombers.

Calgary is six points behind the leading Winnipeg Blue Bombers Edmonton and B.C. are tied two points behind Winnipeg. The first three teams make the WIFU playoffs.

Coach Robinson of the Lions is giving his team light workouts hoping the rest will help them Calgary Saturday night in their fourth game in 12 days.

KRISTOPAITIS OUT

Guard Vic Kristopaitis, second ranking WIFU scorer, again is a doubtful starter. Kristopaitis, who has an ankle injury, missed Monday's game in Edmonton which Eskimos won 29-20. Furey, cut by Calgary, replaces Kristopaitis on defence then and would do all kicking.

Coach Eagle Keys of Edmonton says he expects to start Don Getty at quarterback again and Jackie Parker at half against Winnipeg.

"Don has been playing really well," says Keys, "but he can play better yet, and undoubtedly will."

Getty, inactive most of last season, was at quarter when Edmonton won its last four starts.

Bay of Quinte Golfers Close Season Over Weekend :

If you're a stranger and happen to drop in the Bay of Quinte Country Club Sunday evening, you might think you were having a political convention.

For golf-wise the boys and gals of this popular summer links rendezvous will be tingling down Saturday and Sunday as one of the most successful seasons in years.

The agenda for the official season final calls for three separate events.

Tomorrow, Saturday, the males of the species hold their annual club field day. Sunday the distaff side does likewise. There will be no draws. Players tee off as they arrive, starting at 8 a.m. Whew!

Sunday afternoon comes the most enjoyable event of the club's fall season.

The club's Sam Sosads and Patsy Berry will "choose your partner and promenade all" to well appointed tables where they will enjoy a delicious banquet served as only that master of the smorgasbord, Mrs. Berry, and her committee can serve it.

Then comes the presentation of prizes and awards. Champions of both sexes will be crowned. Worthy winners of special events will receive their "just desserts." There will be back-slapping and handshaking with possibly a bit of cavilation between those entitled so to do.

The general consensus of club enthusiasm is that 1959 was a "highly successful season."

"It was a very good one," said President Jim Walker. "We had 150 of the finest golfers play in the annual field day, and that's the biggest turnout on a record. We expect over 100 will turn out for tomorrow's field day."

Men's games captain Steve Bowerman echoed the prexy's remarks. Steve, who has been one of the club's "old faithfuls" all summer taking care of his duties excellently, besides adding his odd touches, said, "It was fine all round. We had a splendid summer, one of the best I can remember."

Mrs. Joy Bowerman (she's Steve's better half especially on the links) president of the ladies division said "The ladies had a very successful season. They played excellent golf on the club and not a few came home with top awards from other district clubs' tournaments. We had 150 ladies playing this year, and while the club can be proud of that, I think is something of more."

A new champion flashed across the ladies' golf horizon this season, taking double honors at the club and not by a fingrum, a five-year golfer, won the club ladies championship and added the Beamers Girl Trophy and title.

Mrs. Bowerman repeated his 1958 feat and won the club men's title while junior club champion Jack Berry McKenzie. Gary Bowerman won the George Wales trophy emblematic. The Lazier Trophy was won by Mrs. Mary Haig.

Mrs. Bowerman was won by Mrs. Vera Fairman and Mrs. Helen Wilson while Mac and Heather White claimed the Jewellers' Cup.

Commenting on the success of the season in no small measure was the co-operation of the greens. Many tributes have been paid to the club pro Georgie Lucas and his assistant Bob Well done.

"Make a tough summer" commented the pro, "and while the greens were good I thought they could have been in a record. We expect over 10c will turn out for tomorrow's field day."

Leafs Blank Hull-Ottawa

HULL, Que. (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League broke loose for three goals in the final period to blank Hull-Ottawa Canadiens 3-0 over an exhibition Professional Hockey League 4-0 in an exhibition game Thursday night before about 2,800 fans.

The Canadiens stayed close to the Leafs in the first six minutes for two periods but wilted under Leaf pressure and didn't get top mid-period scoring chance as Ed Chadwick and Jerry McNamara, Bob Bailey, Bob Solinger, Gilles Bert Olmstead and Tim Horton scored the Leaf goals.

Gary Edmundson threw four of six Toronto penalties, two in the final minute for a brief altercation with Jean-Marc Picard of Canadiens who drew four minor penalties.

It was the first game of the season for Hull-Ottawa which played last year in the OHA Senior A division.

Rangers Shade Vancouver 3-2

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New York Rangers defeated Vancouver Canucks 3-2 Thursday night.

Canuck lineman Bennie Nichkid became embroiled in a fight with Leo Postiaucki, Ranger defenseman when Postiaucki claimed the second Canuck goal came on a stick check. There was no damage.

Jerry Toppazzini, Dean Prentice and captain George Sullivan tallied for the Rangers, and goalie Marcel Paille was a standout for the Canucks. He was credited with 30 saves.

Miteff Favored Over Hunter

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Alex Miteff, the ambling Argentine heavyweight contender, is a 6-to-5 favorite to beat tall Billy Hunter of Detroit and rack up his fourth straight victory in the unbeaten division bout tonight.

The burly butcher boy has disposed of Harold Carter, Wayne Bethea and Alonzo Johnson in rapid succession and now is ranked seventh among the heavies by the National Boxing Association.

Hunter, a lanky, 26-year-old counter - puncher, will give 10 pounds to the 29-pound Miteff but his reach could cause Alex trouble.

Phils Rehire Eddie Sawyer, Blame Players

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia Phillies constituted a record-breaking zero to the major league baseball scene Thursday. They blamed the club's last-place finish on the players and rehired manager Eddie Sawyer for another year. Terms of the new contract were not disclosed.

General manager John Quinn said weak hitting, poor fielding and playing mistakes mired the Phillies in last place in the National League, not the 63-year-old Sawyer.

"We should be improved next season," said Sawyer. "We played much better ball over the last half of this year in spite of some crippling injuries. We finished only .500 in the last half."

Both Sawyer and Quinn agree that while the team may be improved by off season deals, the big task lately has been to come from the farm system. The champion Buffalo team of the International League and player finalist Williamsport of Eastern League have some "live" prospects.

Sawyer will have in the spring from Buffalo Frank (Pancho) Herrera, International League batting champion, who can play first or third base. Herrera batted .321, hit 27 home runs and drove home 122.

Other Buffalo products include infielder Rubin Amaro, who hit .253; outfielders Mickey Harrington (.301), Don Demeter (.278) and Bobby DelGreco (.286) with 21 homers and 72 RBIs), catcher Jim Coker (.290), and pitchers Chris Short (12-9), Dallas Green (9-5) and Jack Lindsay (8-5). Mc-Lhaffey also won eight without defeat at Williamsport.

Frick Commends Phil Hurler For Reporting Bribe Effort

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick commended pitcher Humberto Robinson of Philadelphia Phillies for reporting an attempted bribe.

"Robinson acted immediately in reporting the attempt," Frick said in New York. "He is innocent of any wrongdoing because of his prompt action."

The incident recalled the Chicago White Sox scandal of 1919 in which eight of the so-called Black Sox were banned from baseball for life for accepting bribes to throw games against the Cincinnati Reds in the world series.

OTHER ATTEMPTS

Robinson's action was the first report of a bribe since 1944 when Emil (Dutch) Leonard of Washington Senators told of being contacted by gamblers. Other reported bribe attempts were made in 1922 and 1924, the latter reported by Heinie Sand, also of the Phillies.

Robinson testified in municipal court Thursday in a case involving a $200 or $300 on the side as a deterrent which Robinson was washing.

"It fell in the water," Robinson told Judge Sidney Hoffman. "I told-him to take it out. He said he did.

"Did it anger you?" Robinson was asked.

"Sure it did. I told him no. I said it was my profession and I would lose my job forever and can't do it."

$1,500 OFFER

Robinson said that Harold Friedman, 42, came to his hotel room Tuesday and offered him $1,500 to throw the second game of a two-night doubleheader that night against Cincinnati.

Friedman refused to bet $3,000 to $4,000 on the game, the pitcher testified.

Robinson, a Panamanian, pitched seven innings of the first game and was tied for the Phillies 3-3. He gave up three hits, scored his first run after hitting a double, struck out five and walked none.

Friedman was released in $15,000 bail on a charge of attempted bribery of an athletic contest.

TRYING DAY

Earlier in the day, Judge Hoffman had held Friedman in $5,-000 bail on charges involving prostitution and vice at the Moore Glow Cafe. An 18-year-old girl testified against him. Friedman is a part owner of the cafe.

Robinson said he ate in the cafe a lot and knew Friedman slightly.

Robinson, obtained from Cleveland Indians last May, formerly pitched for Milwaukee Braves and before that was with Montreal Maple Leafs in the International League.

The 37-year-old Fleck shot 35-32 over the 6,626-yard Harding Park course.

At 68 were Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., and Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio.

Rudolph, former national junior and western amateur champion from Clarksville, Tenn., shot a 34-33.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver and 15 other golfers were tied at 72 for 28th position. Leonard shot 36-36.

Soo Signs Three Unknowns

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Sault Thunderbirds have signed three more players for their entry in the new Eastern Professional Hockey League.

They are goaltender Dennis Dejordy of last year's St. Catharines TeePees of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series; Milton Marretta, who played centre for Buffalo of the American Hockey League, and Spokane of the Western Hockey League last season; and Ted Wright, a left winger from St. Catharines.

It brought to seven the players signed for this season. The others are Benny Woit, 31, who played for five seasons on defence with Detroit and Chicago in the National League; Joe Loud, a defenceman who played for 14 seasons in the American and Western leagues; Jim Farelli, an ex-pro who played last season with the senior A' sault Greyhounds and John Cordasi, also of the Greyhounds.

About 22 players will open the Thunderbirds training camp Sunday. The team plays an exhibition game against Toronto Maple Leafs here Sept. 28. Other exhibitions are here against Chicago Oct. 1 and Oct. 3, and Detroit Red Wings on Oct. 6.

Nightclub Food Sends Gridders To Hospital

CHICAGO (AP)—Twelve Oklahoma Sooners football players became violently ill while taking in a nightclub Thursday night.

Six were taken to hospital and the others to the team's hotel. Doctors said the availability of the players for Saturday's college game with Northwestern has not been determined.

Harold Keith, director of Oklahoma sports publicity, said the players were stricken shortly after they had eaten a salad. Doctors, however, were unable to determine the cause of the illness.

Among the ailing were first-string quarterback Bobby Boyd and assistant coach Jimmy Harris.

Coach Bud Wilkinson was described as "heartsick," at the news. The team would not work out today.

Keith said it is Wilkinson's custom to permit the players a evening out until 10:30 p.m., on Thursday nights to "get their minds off the game and let them relax."

Harness Racing

MONTREAL (CP) — The St. Thomas entry Wired Song, driven by Benoit Cote, had a winning time of 2:06 4-5 to take the fourth race at Blue Bonnets Raceway Thursday night. The winner of the $1,000 trot paid $6.60, $4.00, $3.20.

Poplar Flash, a St. Mary's pacer driven by Jimmy Hammond, won the fifth, a $1,000 mile C pace, and paid $14.80, $5.70, $3.20. The time was 2:09 1-5.

Wings Whip Flyers 7-4

BRANDON, Man. (CP) — A pair of penalties and an empty net gave Detroit Red Wings three goals in the third period and a 7-4 victory over Edmonton Flyers in an exhibition hockey game here Thursday night.

Paul Molntyre paced the Wings with two goals with Len Lunde had a goal and two assists. Harry Collins, Gordie Howe, Billy McNeill and Val Fosteyne were the other Detroit snipers.

Warren Hynes, with two, Gene Achtymichuk and Dave Hinstad scored for Edmonton.

On the Tracks

NEW YORK (AP) — Take the nation's two top older horses. Add the ranking three-year-old. Put the same track at a distance each prefers and with neighing thunder to all. And you have a dream horse race.

That is what the $100,000 added Woodward at Aqueduct figures to be Saturday when Round Table, Hillsdale and General Duster hook up at 1¼ miles under weight-for-age conditions.

Round Table, a five - year - old from Travis Kerr's stables, and Hillsdale, a four-year-old from the barns of C. W. (Cattish) Smith of Georgia Tech and Chicago Bears football fame, each pack 126 pounds. Sword Dancer, also a five-year-old, out of Mrs. Dodge Sloane's Brookmeade Stable, picks up 120.

There hasn't been anything like it on the American turf since Bold Ruler took the measure of Gallant Man and Round Table in the 1957 Trenton Handicap at Garden State Park. At least two other horses, Babo and Inside Track, are expected to start.

Round Table is the probable 6-5 favorite with Hillsdale the 2-1 second choice and Sword Dancer third at 6-1 in the early line. But it is not difficult to make out a case for any of the trio.

Blake Likes Habs' New Line

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal coach Toe Blake said Thursday he was not pressed with the National Hockey League club's workouts but liked a new combination that scored four goals in an intra-squad game the night before.

The line was Ralph Backstrom, Ab McDonald and Billy Hicke. McDonald got two of the goals.

Blake said of Thursday's practice, "I guess the boys were tired, but I worked them plenty."

He said he would have to let the team in shape for Saturday's exhibition against Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League because "that team has real strength."

MANY EX-CAPS

Americans have a flock of former Toronto Maple Leafs:

Goalie Gord Ed Chadwick centre Dave Creighton, defenceman Marc Reaume and winger Johnny Wilson, acquired from Detroit Red Wings. Wilson is considered a hockey to return to the Leafs.

The Americans have nine holdovers from last season, including Al MacNeil, Rudy Migay, Bob Nevin and playing coach Steve Kraftcheck.

Canadiens cut only a few days ago and now with the Americans are Cec Hoekstra, Reg Fleming, Claude Labreace and Guy Rousseau.

The contest-signing by Montreal regulars went on briskly, with Bob Turner, Marcel, Bonin, Phil Goyette, Don Marshall and Andre Pronovost joining the fold.

Montreal Royals of the new Eastern Professional Hockey League signed two veterans, Ken Mosdell and Lude Denis.

Royals coach Floyd Curry said he is satisfied with the workouts so far although injuries have hit his squad. Rookie defenceman Andre Tardif is the latest victim, with sprained neck muscles. Other injured players are rookie Tom Thurby, 18-stitch cut over the left eye; Ernie Dupuis, sprained back, and Moe Mantha, injured knee.

Trainer Nick Garren had Mikita under a sun lamp Thursday and hoped to have him skating back by Friday.

Ron Murphy and Ed Litzenberger highlighted the intersquad game Thursday, each scoring two goals. It was Murphy's first time on skates in two days after having a wisdom tooth extracted.

Hitchcock Has More Tricks To Keep Fans in Suspense

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene:

There are plenty of tricks left in Alfred Hitchcock's bag, even though some of his fans were afraid he had expended them all in North by Northwest. That was the film he wanted to make for years. It included many of his long-cherished stunts, including the chase over the famous faces of Mount Rushmore.

"I've still got some other things up there," he commented at a party to salute the start of his fifth television season. One of my favorites concerns an assembly line at Detroit. The hero runs down the line but shows a car being assembled from the very start. We watch it through various stages until it rolls off the line. There's a dead body in it.

Hitchcock was delighted that North has been the country's No. 1 moneymaker ever after week and is not the least hurt by the New Yorker's caustic comment that he is parodying himself.

"The New Yorker is a magazine that takes its humor too seriously," he quipped.

Marilyn Monroe was in town briefly for a dramatic reading class. She'll be making more films now, she says. The first is one with George Cukor in October, then she'll do another with John Huston in March. Huston is the lad who provided her first big break in Asphalt Jungle.

Liz Taylor and Eddie Fisher were greeting their buddies at the Kirk Douglas luncheon, though not Debbie Reynolds, who was also present.

Bob Hope says there is nothing to be alarmed about with his vision problem. It is the same thing that has been bothering him for a year. His main problem is finding the right balance between work and rest without overdoing either.

Henry Fonda is a fan of the San Francisco Giants and he was in little worried about his appearance at the lunch for the head Russian. He was carrying a pocket radio with an ear attachment so he wouldn't miss the Giants-Dodger game.

"If Willie Mays hits a home run while Khrushchev is there, he's going to drop the bomb, I may be a cheer and create an international incident," he said.

Maurice Chevalier In Special Program

Veteran French entertainer, Maurice Chevalier has been signed to star in a special honoring Gallic exhuberanza titled "Holiday with Chevalier" on Sunday, starting at 6.05 p.m. it will be carried over CFRB.

The show, which will originate in Paris at L'Alhambra — Maurice Chevalier's favorite, celebrates the thirtieth anniversary of Chevalier's radio debut on "The Paramount Hour" also broadcast from Paris.

Robert Rockwell Takes Three Years to Get Out of TV Role

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Rockwell is a performer who dislikes reruns and repeats. It has taken him almost three years to get his way out of one television role that threatened to typecast him permanently.

Rockwell was cast as shy, naive Mr. Boynton for the first season of Eve Arden's Our Miss Brooks series. He proved such a good foil for Miss Arden's antics that when the show's story line was changed the next year, the producers called him back in an effort to build the program back to its former popularity.

In the intervening years those first shows have been playing and replaying all over the country.

And after that he found that he was considered only for parts which were reasonable facsimiles of Mr. Boynton. He plugged away, however, occasionally landing jobs as the heavy in a western. His big chance came after he played Loretta Young's husband in a comedy last October. Screen Gems, which produces the Young series, picked him for the title role in The Man from Blackhawk.

The series starts on ABC Oct. 9, and Rockwell plays an insurance investigator who travels all over the country investigating fraud.

Despite Safety Slogans Several of the Provinces Have Raised Speed Limit

VARYING LIMITS — How fast can you drive in Canada?.. It depends on the province, and ranges from a low of 50 miles an hour in Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island to 65 in Alberta.

Graph details the top speeds permitted in each of the 10 provinces but in some cases these speeds are permitted only on short stretches of highway. The maximum for Quebec, for instance, applies only to a 30-mile stretch of six-lane superhighway.

These top speeds are not general throughout the province but apply only to specified highways and in many cases are subject to other speed regulations—such as lower limits at night. (CP Newsmap.)

Ceylon Premier Dies From Bullets Of Buddhist Monk

Victim of Struggle Between East and West

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike died today from an assassin's bullets, apparent victim of the struggle between Eastern and Western ways that swept him into power 39 months ago.

The frail, 60 - year - old champion of Asian neutralism succumbed almost on the eve of a visit to the United Nations.

Wijayananda Dahanayake, a 57-year-old politician from Bandaranaike's cabinet, was immediately sworn in as prime minister. Dahanayake in the past has ranged the political spectrum from revolutionary red to conservative blue.

His most recent exploit was to force the resignation of Marxist ministers of food and industries from the cabinet of this Communist wealth island in the Indian Ocean.

Bandaranaike failed to survive following a five-hour operation to remove three bullets which lodged in his liver, spleen and arm.

DOCTORS EMERGENCY

Governor - General Sir Oliver Goonetilleke proclaimed a state of emergency in the island today. The uncertain political situation is clarified.

On his deathbed, the mild-mannered, British - educated prime minister named the assassin — a professed Buddhist medical monk, who whipped out a revolver and shot the wounded Bandaranaike bowed in reverence to him.

The gunman was said to have been angered by the prime minister's refusal to give up his work in shedding western ways in favor of ancient Eastern medical techniques known as "ayurveda."

TWO IN CUSTODY

The assassin was shot by a sentry while trying to flee and was captured. He reportedly died self at the hospital as Taldowa Buddhist monk, a specialist in Eastern-style medicine. He was being guarded today in the hospital's ward by 15 policemen.

Police today seized a Buddhist monk, Talduwe Somaseekera. There, who was accused of having been with the gunman.

Police executive said that 15 minutes before Bandaranaike died he issued a statement and asked whether she knew why the monk had shot him.

The prime minister, Ceylon into mourning. A mile-long line of mourners formed outside the hospital.

Ayurvedic medicine men, who favor herb concoctions, massage and secret herb formulas handed down from father to son, have practised in Ceylon for 2,000 years. In recent years they have been subject to the competition of Ayurvedic supporters, along

Steel Industry Says It's Willing To Resume Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry's top negotiator in the steel strike says he's ready to resume talks here Monday, but Steelworkers Union President David J. McDonald says he's through talking in New York.

Joseph F. Finnegan, chief federal mediator, plans to meet during the weekend in Washington with Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell to review the situation in the contract dispute. Finnegan indicated the talks might be shifted from New York if they remain, but he didn't say where.

McDonald broke off the negotiations here Friday—14th day of the strike—after the industry's "farcical filibuster." He said he would resume only when management offers a package "worthy of consideration by self-respecting final workers."

INDUSTRY POSITION

R. Conrad Cooper, chief industry negotiator said: "We hope that the union will reconsider its position and join with us then in a renewed effort to break the deadlock. This (New York) has been our agreed seat of negotiations. We plan to be here. . . . We want to bargain and we want to reach an agreement."

Asked if the union would resume talks if the government requested it, McDonald said: "We have never resisted a call of our Live never resisted a call of our government. But we see no sense in coming back to New York City. The seat of the government is in Washington. The seat of the steel industry is in Pittsburgh and Chicago. The break-off might speed any decision by President Eisenhower to invoke the Taft-Hartley Labor Act. Under an emergency provision of that law, the president could obtain an injunction that could require the striking steel workers to return to their jobs for 80 days for fact-finding and cooling off.

Laos Willing To Accept UN Solution

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Laos is prepared to accept whatever solution is offered by the United Nations to end country Communist Pathet Lao rebellion, Prime Minister Phoui Sananikone declared today.

He indicated Laos does not intend, at least for the present, to ask for aid from the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization or any other group.

"If the rebels are alone in their rebellion, I can tell only several months," the premier told a newspaper correspondent. "The world will destroy them easily."

But he said, "the situation could become very serious" if the Pathet Lao is aided by Communist North Viet Nam "as they've been up to now."

A UN committee has been here since Sept. 15 investigating and preparing a report on Laotian charges that North Viet Nam is involved in the rebellion.

In advance of the warmer weather, rain occurred in Northern Ontario and cloudy skies with scattered showers in central sections of the province. BUDGET DEFICIT $65,300,000 IN FIRST 5 MONTHS

Sharp Rise in Cost Of Carrying Debt

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal treasury had a $63,300,000 budgetary deficit in the first five months of the current fiscal year, due in large part to a sharp increase in the cost of carrying the national debt.

Finance Minister Fleming's monthly treasury statement released Friday night showed rising revenues were outpaced by a marked increase in spending.

Budgetary expenditures in the five months April-August totalled $2,123,800,000 — a gain of $343,400,000 from a year earlier. Largest single factor in this was a $225,900,000 increase in public debt charges due to higher interest rates on new borrowings. These charges totalled $331,700,000 for the five months.

TAX REVENUE JUMPS

Budgetary revenues marked up a $282,100,000 gain, rising to $2,060,500,000 during April - August from $1,806,400,000 a year earlier. The increased tax revenues reflect higher tax rates and also the current economic recovery.

The government's budget account for the April-August period showed total surplus of $28,400,000 in the first four months of the fiscal year.

But this situation was reversed by a $91,700,000 deficit of $163,700,000.

The big factor was the lump sum payment of $60,985,000 into the fund for the Commonwealth Air Training Plan in Canada Southeast Asia. This is the whole year's amount for that purpose.

[illegible] April budget speech Mr. Fleming forecast a $263,000,000 deficit for the full 1959-60 year. Last year the budget deficit was $609,000,000.

INTEREST COSTS UP

Defence spending figured largely in the treasury outlays in the April-August period. Defence department expenditures rose to $1,000,000 from $509,400,000.

Subsidies and tax-sharing payments to the provinces totalled $23,600,000 to $210,500,000 for the five months.

Outlays by the health and welfare department climbed by $62,700,000 to $252,377,000. This figure does not include the old age security payments, which come from a special fund, outside of normal budget accounts, and totalled $230,000,000 for the five months. Veterans' pensions and corporation incomes also rose.

The pension fund had an accumulated deficit of $40,300,000 after five months, compared with a deficit of $73,300,000 a year earlier. The government receives came close to meeting pension payments.

Army Ties Between Canada, West Germany Grow Stronger

OTTAWA (CP) — The military ties between Canada and West Germany have been growing steadily stronger—only 14 years after the armed forces of each country were at each other's throats.

The paradoxical development was particularly marked this week during the visit here of West German Defence Minister Franz Josef Strauss.

The meeting between Dr. Strauss and Defence Minister Pearkes produced an agreement for a broader exchange of scientific and technical information between the armed forces of the two countries, an agreement for mutual standardization and an agreement for German study of antisyroyt preparation methods used in the Canadian navy.

The latter agreement, Canadian plan applies to various equipment for the American Lockheed Starfighter jet plane which both Canada and West Germany will build under licence. A Lufthansa staffe team will come to Canada soon for conferences with RCAF technical personnel.

Almost since West Germany entered the North Atlantic alliance May 5, 1955, defence co-operation between Canada and its former enemy in the two world wars has been increasing steadily.

The Canadian infantry Brigade group and two of the four wings in the RCAF air division in Europe are garrisoned in West Germany. The brigade has helped set new German army units in its area with temporary loans of two equipment. Canadian and German officers discuss training methods informally in their messes.

Canadian, German and Italian fighter pilots used the same base in Sardinia for air gunnery exercises. Canada turned over free to Germany 75 Sabre jet fighters valued at $39,000,000. Germany then bought 225 Sabres for $75,000,000.

Some 350 German pilots were trained in Canada. One of the German officers who came to Canada to make arrangements for the pilot training has been here before—as a prisoner-of-war.

West Germany has bought some $100,000,000 worth of military equipment from Canada since 1956 and Canada now is the fourth largest supplier of German arms.

Ike And Mr. K. Commence Talks At Camp David

Continue Their Parley Around Breakfast Table

CAMP DAVID, Md. (CP) — President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev today began a problem - by - problem debate on critical issues of the cold war.

The second round of their historic discussion began in Eisenhower's hideaway on a mountaintop surrounded by low hanging clouds.

Meeting in Eisenhower's lodge, the two leaders could see only a few yards through the plate glass window of their conference room.

The critical East-West dispute over the future of West Berlin as well as the broader problem of divided Germany had a high priority on the agenda of the day's session.

AT BREAKFAST

Eisenhower and Khrushchev, who began their talks over breakfast shortly after 9 a.m. today, met this morning at the breakfast table and immediately began their informal conversations.

This start on the day's work—with the world watching for the results to be announced Sunday or Monday reported by Mrs. Anne Wheaton of the White House press office.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty and Assistant Secretary of State Andrew H. Berney arranged a full report on the morning session as a round table.

Breakfast was an hour and a half less in the living room of Aspen Lodge.

Eisenhower and Khrushchev will come to grips at their conference with problems that have kept the world in turmoil and periodically threatened nuclear disaster for more than a decade.

SEEK NEW APPROACH

Agreement on a position for any one of these bitterly disputed issues is virtually ruled out in the course of the brief two-day summit conference, although both leaders are looking for some new approach to further East-West negotiations.

But there still was no certainty that any major progress would be made at this first meeting on the critical issues that divide East and West—the future of Berlin and Germany and the means of enforcing an end to the arms race.

The agreements that might be reached would be in the vague stage such as enlarging the exchange between the two countries in the cultural field — such as "swapping" books and music—and co-operation in the peaceful development of atomic energy.

Such co-operation may not be of major significance to countries outside the Soviet-United States sphere, but would be significant in that links between them are being strengthened, that channels of communication are open and negotiative to hopes that eventually a way may be found to a lasting peace.

U.S. AIDES MYSTIFIED

And while White House aides were still not convinced today that Khrushchev wanted anything but routine approvals as solutions to world issues, they seemed to be pondering on the edges of uncertainty. The impulsive Soviet leader, in the view of some observers, may not be sure what his next mood, his next decision might be.

All Charity Work in Russia Looked After by State -- Mrs. K.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Nina Khrushchev, in her first formal press conference, showed off her knowledge every bit as deftly as her famous husband's—and her temper considerably more even.

Mrs. Khrushchev met with women reporters Friday in the living room of Blair House.

Her dark eyes were barbed porous soovqod ino ,so tajaanb but Mrs. Khrushchev joined on the social insecurity questions to drive home some of the differences between Russian and U.S. customs.

The press conference itself, for instance, was a brand new experience, and she admitted some trepidation at the outset.

She was asked how she spent her time at home, was it mostly housework or charity work? She quickly replied:

"I don't do any charity work. In our country, all that in your country requires charity, collection of funds and so on—the state takes care of all that."

Dressed in a white and grey figured dress, Mrs. Khrushchev

Fear UN Debate On Tibet Means Tighter Tension

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —A drive for a full-scale debate on Tibet stirred concern in the United Nations today that East-West tensions will be tightened up again.

Diplomats also feared the move will dredge up the whole question of Red China's representation in the UN again. The assembly voted only a few days ago to shelve the Red China issue for another year.

Ireland and Malaya disclosed Friday that they plan to call for a resolution charging Red China with killing freedom in Tibet and demanding "respect for fundamental human rights" for the Tibetans.

MAY DEMAND REPORT

One delegate predicted that as soon as the request to put the Tibet issue on the agenda hits the 21-country steering committee, demands will arise that Red China be invited to give her side of the case.

The United States and most other Western powers presumably would oppose any such move.

But Ireland and Malaya say they will be put in early next week—shortly after Premier Khrushchev and President Eisenhower wind up their talks which have occupied the attention of the General Assembly and prompted many delegates to express hope they would bring a real thaw in the cold war.

There was a further jarring note in the world organization Friday when the Hungarian delegate walked out of the assembly hall during a speech by the Saudi Arabian delegate on the question of Algeria.

Ahmed Shukairy of that Arab kingdom blasted Gen. de Gaulle's plan for the French North African territory as not offering the Algerians any free choice. He also accused the French of torturing Algerian prisoners.

10 U.S. NAVY AIRMEN RESCUED AFTER DITCHING

Taken From Stormy Pacific by Cutter

SEATTLE (AP) — Ten United States Navy airmen whose twin-engined patrol plane ditched Friday 110 miles off the Oregon coast were rescued from the stormy Pacific by a coast guard cutter early today.

The cutter Yocona radioed that the men were suffering from shock and exhaustion but otherwise appeared to be in fairly good shape.

The rescue came nearly 12 hours after the Navy Neptune plane from the Whidbey Island, Wash., naval air station was forced down with engine trouble.

The cutter arrived on the scene shortly after the freight- or Olympic Pioneer reached the spot.

GUIDED BY FLARES

Flares guided the two ships to the two life rafts in which the three officers and seven men had ridden out the Pacific storm.

The men will be taken to Astoria, Ore., coast guard headquarters here said.

Search planes which had circled the rafts through the night helped guide the rescue ships to the airmen.

Former Capone Henchman, Blonde Meet Death in Gangland Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — Anthony Carfano, veteran underworld figure, known as Little Augie Pisano, and his beautiful blonde companion were shot to death Friday night in a flashy black Cadillac.

The 48-year-old Carfano — prohibition-era henchman of A Capone and more recently of Frank Costello, was shot from the rear seat of his car. The blonde, identified by police as Dorothy Lane, veered onto a curb in the Bronx Heights section of Long Island.

Neighbors told police they saw two men run from the car after they heard shots. No description was given.

Carfano, short and pot-bellied wore a dark silk suit. Mrs. Drake wore a smart blue cocktail suit and a mink stole.

Police said the weapon used in both killings was a .38-caliber automatic pistol. Both victims' pockets bulged with $1,500 in 50-and-100 dollar bills and $433 in smaller bills.

Police said Mrs. Drake was the wife of comedian Allan Drake, who has been appearing in the Copacabana in Washington with singer Tony Martin. Police said Drake had been notified of his wife's death and

3 U.S. Rockets Run Into Trouble On Launching

CAPE CANAVARAL, Fla. (AP)—Three of the most highly publicized United States rockets ran into trouble on opposite sides of the Florida coast Friday.

At Cape Canaveral, a Snark intercontinental-range pilotless bomber crashed and exploded on launching and a Nike - Cajun rocket veered off course, ruining an attempt to obtain the first pictures of a complete hurricane. Its camera - carrying cone dropped outside the intended target area.

On Florida's west coast, a range safety officer destroyed an errant Bomarc guided missile, which for a time was headed in an attempt to intercept a drone target.

The Snark did a nosedive into the ground seconds after it was launched on a 5,000-mile test flight. A reliable source reported that one of two booster rockets attached to the missile failed to fire.

The Bomarc was destroyed by a safety officer when it flew out of control. A second Bomarc apparently was fired successfully.

Conservatives Under Fire At Meet of Young Liberals

OTTAWA (CP) — It was opening night for Conservatives here Friday as the national convention of the Young Liberal Federation got under way with a flurry of denunciations.

Progressive Conservative officials from New Brunswick's Premier Hugh John Flemming to Minister Diefenbaker came under fire.

The attack was led by Liberal Chief Pearson, who filled at Prime Minister Diefenbaker, External Affairs Minister Green and Resources Minister Hamilton with barbs.

Mr. Pearson accused the prime minister at a question - and - answer session of "backing away" from the effective bill of rights. The bill introduced by Mr. Diefenbaker had fallen far short of the prime minister's promises, called for while in opposition.

CRITICIZES SPEECH

The Liberal Party-winning former external affairs minister took Mr. Diefenbaker to task for failing to take a "positive" approach to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's disarmament proposal.

Instead of saying the proposal was a "propaganda trick" Mr. Pearson said, the foreign affairs chief should have announced Canada's unwillingness, conditioned on proper control through the UN.

Mr. Pearson got in a dig at Resources Minister Hamilton by saying someone should make it clear to the minister that "northern development didn't begin March 31, 1958," when the Conservatives won their decisive election victory.

The government, Mr. Pearson

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hydro's chronic problems of power shortages and high costs have been solved, Premier Frost told the annual meeting of the Canadian Electrical Association Friday.

Mr. Frost said the power commission has been able to meet the province's growing demand for electricity and at the same time reduce rates.

"Ontario Hydro has been able to do this because it has been free to plan its operations on a long-term basis," he said.

Child Suffers Broken Leg, Struck by Car

Six-year-old Jack Dobryn of Glen Ross suffered a broken left leg Friday afternoon when he was struck by a car as he ran into the road from his bicycle on the Glen Ross Road. The boy was taken to Trenton Memorial Hospital. Provincial police at Belleville said the driver of the car involved was Ralph Utman of Stirling.

A Montreal woman, Mrs. Kurt Wallwace, escaped with minor injuries in a good scare early Friday afternoon when the car which she was driving went out of control, tried and rolled over on No. 7 highway two miles west of Shannonville.

Caribou Wearing Yellow Ribbons In Their Ears

WINNIPEG (CP) — More than 100 caribou now roaming northern Manitoba are wearing yellow ribbons in their right ears to help scientists track them.

Attaching the ribbons was a major project for federal and provincial game experts who had to catch 113 caribou in the middle of a northern lake to tag them. They reported the hazardous job was a complete success.

Eugene F. Boissemenier, senior game research biologist of the Manitoba government, said a four-man team spent 12 days intercepting the animals as they crossed Duck Lake in the extreme north of the province.

The yellow streamer is especially designed to stand up in northern weather, allowing air observers to follow the caribou for months from the information game management officials can plot their migratory routes and the rate of travel.

Khrushchev, attired in his usual beige suit, and Eisenhower, dressed in charcoal grey, plunged into world talks immediately on arrival late Friday by helicopter at the presidential Camp David mountain - top retreat, about 68 miles north of Washington.

The two were in a good mood. Their meeting was to be concluded at noon Sunday with an announcement of decisions to that time. After that there is a schedule for Eisenhower's trip to Russia, perhaps some time next month.

OTHERS JOIN IN

Among those joining in the talks were State Secretary Herter, Foreign Minister Gromyko and Henry Cabot Lodge, the American United Nations ambassador.

Today, Khrushchev and Eisenhower were being joined by Vice-President Richard Nixon.

Andrew Berding, state department press director, said: "I don't intend to say anything, except on matters of purely bilateral interest."

He said an extension of existing cultural exchanges between the two countries was an example of what is considered a "matter of bilateral interest."

However, informants later stated that the two leaders could reach certain understandings on world issues which could be implemented by the Western Allies and perhaps, if favored, could be referred to a formal summit conference.

ATOMIC INFORMATION

Expected to join today's discussions was Khrushchev's son Sergei, one of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. McCone and his deputy, Kenneth Fisher, will join Eisenhower-Khrushchev agreement on an exchange of information about development of atomic power plants—a potential new venture in East-West economic co-operation. Visits of scientists working on the peaceful uses of atomic energy may also be arranged.

Khrushchev will reappear on the public stage Sunday afternoon, following the Camp David talks. He is scheduled to hold an hour-long Washington press conference and make an hour-long television speech prior to his departure for Moscow Sunday night.

UNEMPLOYMENT
WITHOUT JOBS AND SEEKING WORK

TREND REVERSED — The bureau of statistics reports that 239,000 Canadians were out of work and seeking jobs at August 22, up 11,000 over the previous month.

The increase reversed a five-month improvement trend in the unemployment picture. In August, 1958, there were 381,000 unemployed and seeking jobs. (CP Newsmap.)

with the Buddhist clergy and teachers, were among the influential groups who boosted Bandaranaike to power in 1956.

The Buddhist clergy pressed him to declare Ceylon a Buddhist state. Bandaranaike, who had been raised as an Anglican, embraced Buddhism but refused to bow to the monks' demands.

The new prime minister indicated there would be no major changes in his predecessor's Nehru-style neutralist policies.

He set liberal services for Bandaranaike for next Thursday after a period of public mourning.

A struggle for power could develop in Ceylon's ruling Freedom party with at least three potential challengers to Dahanayake's leadership.

WAVE OF POWER

Bandaranaike, Ceylon's fourth prime minister, came to power on a wave of Sinhalese communalism. Buddhist revivalism and militant hostility to Western ways.

He described himself as a Democratic Socialist. His political career appears in contrast with the Western way of life in which he was brought up.

His father, Sir Solomon Bandaranaike, had been a close friend of the British governors of Ceylon and was devoted to the Royal Family.

His early life was modelled on that of the children of British aristocracy. He grew up with a private tutor on his father's country estate, and later was sent to Oxford University.

After qualifying as a barrister, Bandaranaike returned to Ceylon. He sharply repudiated the Western manners and dress of his father. Instead, he wore white cloth and Indian-style shirts much like the clothes worn by India's Prime Minister Nehru.

2,000 Fatal Home Mishaps Recorded Yearly Says Report

TORONTO (CP) — Every three or four hours someones dies in Canada as the result of an accident at home.

More than 2,000 fatal home accidents are recorded annually, in an attempt to lower this figure, about 1,500,000 copies of a new safety booklet, Home Safe Home, will be distributed across Canada during the next three months.

Published by the Canadian Gas Association, the book will be given out by home and school groups and other organizations.

Recently in Toronto, 40,000 booklets were presented to the Ontario Safety League for distribution in the province.

DEATHS FROM FALLS

According to the booklet, 40 per cent of the home accident deaths occur from falls and are most frequent among older people.

Fires, burns and scalds account for the next highest number of deaths. Each year, approximately 100 lives are lost because of accidental poisoning.

Of the suffocation deaths, about 90 per cent are of children under one year.

"Firearms" are hazardous, particularly in the 5-to-49 age group. Defective heating systems are also a home safety problem.

The 32 - page booklet devotes four pages to first-aid measures to be taken when accidents occur.

"This book is full of sound, sane and practical suggestions," said Dr. Robert J. Imrie, physician at the Hospital for Sick Children here, at a luncheon at which the booklet was introduced.

Britain and Asia Critical of U.S. Treatment of K.

LONDON (Reuters) — Nikita Khrushchev's last-cold war of the United States has produced a world-wide controversy on whether the Americans have been too rough on the Soviet premier.

In the Commonwealth, neutral Asia and behind the Iron Curtain, many newspapers have deplored the "rudeness" shown to guest.

Continental Europe and Scandinavia are more objective.

Says Paris' left wing but anti-Communist newspaper Combat: "For his hosts, he is impossible to handle".

In Oslo, the Socialist newspaper Arbeiderbladet defends the actions of American union leaders in their stormy meeting with Khrushchev in San Francisco.

"It is natural they ask this guest painful questions — but Khrushchev himself asked for it," the newspaper says.

SWEDES RAP VISITOR

Swedish newspapers criticize the Kremlin leader for his "grotesque" and "pretentious" behavior.

The Liberal Expressen of Stockholm says the trouble is that Khrushchev "is completely unused to any form of contradiction." It adds: "What Khrushchev wants is for people to listen and applaud his generosity and refrain from any criticism."

But from Britain to Indonesia, complaints are heard mainly by some newspapers almost daily about the treatment accorded to Khrushchev.

The Yorkshire Post complains of "extremely stupid baiting." In London, The News Chronicle says the reception of American spokes has behaved like oats — what will also scream is like if the president is similarly treated in Jakarta.

In Jakarta, The Times of Indonesia says Khrushchev has every reason to feel insulted at the heckling.

"In Indonesia and the greater part of Afro-Asia, the invited guest is a privileged person," it says.

Indian and Pakistani newspapers generally have retained calm comment of the Khrushchev reception. In Burma, however, newspapers say Khrushchev's disarmament proposals and criticism show bad behavior.

Khrushchev's visit has been big front - page news everywhere. Every move and every speech have been reported—some newspapers even carrying texts of the speeches.

president now is Solicitor-General Balcer.

Mr. Grosart said the major amendment will provide for the election at constituency level of one vice - president of the party who would the votes at the national level.

At the present time, he explained, officials of long standing with the party, not necessarily aware of the feelings of all members, control the votes at the national level.

The men tended to lose touch with the people during the long years when the Conservatives were in opposition, he said.

Now that the party is in power, the national executive went on, it feels the need to hear from those who form the base, and to guide itself accordingly.

Mr. Grosart said the presidential job is "wide open." He added that the new president almost certainly will be a man without public office.

Similar changes are expected in the Young Progressive Conservative Association and the Women's PC Association, which hold their annual meetings here Nov. 30.

Suspension Will Stand Until Report Given

KINGSTON (CP) — The city council committee which suspended fireman John McKinnon said Friday night the suspension will stand until a union grievance committee presents its report.

It added that Mr. McKinnon had been charged with insubordination to his employer, city council, and the suspension would continue until the charge was proved or disproved.

Mr. McKinnon, president of the Kingston Labor Council, was suspended Wednesday after he made a public statement on city council's decision to do away with fire alarm call boxes. He said the action showed "a callous disregard for life and property."

City council's administrative and legislative committee met in emergency session Friday night and afterwards issued a statement.

It said the reason for the suspension was that it considered the statement given by Mr. McKinnon to The Whig-Standard to be his personal opinion and not an official expression of the labor council.

Executive officers of the council said the statement was made with the council approval.

The committee said that Mr. McKinnon has filed a grievance with the Firefighters' Union, local 498.

"We now are bound by the union agreement to deal with this matter as laid down in the section dealing with grievance procedure in the union contract," the committee said.

Hospital Board Honors Ken Box Before Departure

A special dinner was held in honor of Ken Box, the retiring administrator of the Belleville General Hospital, in the hospital dining room by the members of the Board of Governors, in recognition of their personal appreciation of Mr. Box's service, the members of the board presented him with a handsome piece of luggage.

WERNER DAECHSEL

The presentation was made by the board chairman, Mr. Frank Domenico, who expressed the appreciation of the board members for Mr. Box's fine service and the foresight which was exemplary of his work over the past seven years. Mention was especially made of the money which Mr. Box had saved the Hospital by the introduction of a policy of his handling its own contracting on construction projects. Mr. Domenico also expressed the board's regret that Mr. Box would find his new position with the Ontario Hospital Services Commission a very satisfying and rewarding one.

Mr. Box replied that it was with regret that he left Belleville and thanked the board for its co-operation he had received from them. He complimented them on their keen interest in all the policies of the hospital and mentioned his very close questioning concerning new proposals was indicative of their thoroughness in their consideration.

Also present at the gathering was Mayor Gerald B. Hyde, who expressed the thanks of the city for Mr. Box's faithful service. Mr. Werner Daechsel, former assistant administrator of Kingston General Hospital, will be taking over Mr. Box's duties.

He assumes his new duties Thursday, Oct. 1.

Mr. Daechsel was born in Saskatchewan and received his public and high school education there. He graduated from the University of Western Ontario with a B.A. and went on to do graduate work in Hospital Administration at the University of Toronto.

In 1952 Mr. Daechsel went to Kingston General Hospital for his residency in Hospital Administration and remained on the staff as Assistant to the Superintendent.

Mr. Daechsel is a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators. He is at present vice-chairman of the Regional Hospital Council of the area and chairman of its public relations committee. He is a valuable and long-standing member of the Canada Children's Hospital Committee and is a director of the John Howard Society of Kingston.

Mr. Daechsel is married and has three children.

Dosco Is Losing Quebec Market To Natural Gas

By IAN MacNEE,
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—The sick Nova Scotia coal industry found itself locked today in a fight with vigorous natural gas interests.

Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia said Friday night Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation is apparently losing "much of the Quebec market to natural gas." This had deepened the crisis facing the already-depressed coal industry.

Severe production cuts appear in the making unless a speedy solution is found. Quebec customers have usually bought about half the annual 4,000,000 tons of coal produced by Dosco subsidiaries.

Officials of the Dominion Coal Company have informed Mr. Manson, the minister of mines, and myself that the prospective market for coal in the next coal year has narrowed substantially, even with the current high level of subventions." The premier said in a statement issued in Halifax.

TO HOLD TALKS

Mr. Manson said here a conference will be held in Halifax probably Oct. 9—to discuss the problem. The provincial government, Dosco and the United Mine Workers (ind.) union will be represented.

The crisis, described by Mr. Manson as the worst since the industry's history — developed when Dosco salesmen tried to obtain sales for 1961.

The Quebec Natural Gas Corporation has offered gas to most major industries at a price with which coal was unable to compete.

"They offered gas at 30 cents per thousand cubic feet and were willing to go lower," a Dosco official said. "This means we would have to hand coal in Quebec at $8.50 a ton to be competitive. This is absolutely impossible."

EFFECTS NEXT YEAR

Harold Gordon, the company's coal chief, said gas is moving in on every major industry in western Quebec. He said effects of the loss of Quebec customers will be felt early next year.

Two Dosco customers—one an annual buyer of 200,000 tons of coal—are reported planning to switch to gas.

There has been no statement from the union, which represents about 4,000 Maritime miners, most of them in Nova Scotia. The union was to begin 1960 contract talks next Monday. The union agreed this year to extend a Maritime wide control last Dec. 31 because of coal's poor economic position.

In 1959 the 1959 miners were idle for weeks as the mines were shut down to get rid of coal stockpiles. A $4,300,000 federal-provincial subvention was arranged for Dosco last spring so the company could get its coal into Central Ontario at competitive prices.

New Canada Bonds Feature Quiet Market

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The new 3½ per cent Canada bonds featured the bond market this week as they sparked a general rise in short term government bond prices. Longer term Canadas and provincials were quiet in a light market.

Bond observers estimate the Bank of Canada had sold between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 of the holdings of the new bonds. The market absorbed from half of them at least in the 1962 maturity and at the end of the week 4% issues were trading at a bonds' orably higher price.

The 3½ per cent, 1960, issued last week at 99 were trading at 99.85, and the 5% of 1962 was quoted at 98.75, up one point. The new three per cent of May, 1961, were quoted at 95.35 to 95.45, up about 15 cents over issue price.

Very short term cash was easy. Day-to-day money reflected this easiness and was offered at 4½ per cent with the taker Friday. The average yield on tender on the 91-day bills was 3.60 per cent compared with 3.88 per cent last week. The average on the 182-month bills moved from 3.58 to 3.59 pcc cent.

Among provincials, there were rumors of a new Quebec issue to yield better than six per cent. This helped knock the higher coupon long term provincials off one to two points, the only activity on the market that changed very much.

Canadian provinces and municipalities are still borrowing in the United States market. Hamilton successfully sold a Canadian par $3,000,000 issue at six per cent, non - callable for 20 years. The City of Ottawa purchased $60,000 of the Hamilton issue for the civic employees pension fund.

Canadian Dollar At New High For This Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The Canadian dollar climbed to a 1959 high Friday.

Foreign exchange dealers quoted it at $1.05 29-64 in U.S. currency, up 11-64 over Thursday's close of $1.05 9-32. The previous peak for the year was $1.05 25-64 Sept. 17.

Trade sources attributed the recent climb to heavy financing in this country by Canadian cities and provinces. The U.S. dollars loaned to Canada by these agencies are converted into Canadian dollars and the demand has forced the latter upward in value.

Home Office Sets Date

LONDON (AP)—The home office today fixed the date of the hanging of convicted slayer Gunther Fritz Podola for Oct. 16 at Wandsworth Prison, south of London.

The 20-year-old German-born photographer, who lived for a time in Canada, was convicted on Thursday of the slaying of London detective Sgt. Raymond Purdy last July 13.

Dies of Injuries

HAMILTON (CP) — Arthur McGregor, 30, who died Friday night from head injuries suffered in a fall from the third floor of his rooming house. Police said he apparently climbed out on the fire escape when he felt nauseated. He tumbled over the low rail and struck a paved walk 30 feet below.

Four Packsacks Found Near Churchill River

OTTAWA (CP) — The search for four Canadian soldiers missing since a Sunday fishing trip near Churchill, Man., has been spurred by the finding of four army-type packsacks at Mosquito Point on the Churchill River.

Army headquarters said Friday night the search for the men will continue. Earlier, army officers at Fort Churchill had been reported as saying they were convinced the soldiers had drowned.

Early this week the two boats used by the men were located two miles apart near Mosquito Point. One boat was overturned and damaged.

Army headquarters had not been informed of the exact circumstances of the packsack find, but said the search will continue with two Otter aircraft, a helicopter and two ground parties participating.

The men are Capt. David Tildsley, 34, Govan, Sask., and James Mackey, Amherst, N.S.; WOI Raymond Cobb, 37, Winnipeg; and Sgt. Walter Maudsley, London, Ont. All are married and their families all living at Fort Churchill.

Conservatives After Head Not Holding Office

OTTAWA (CP) — The Conservatives are moving to reinvigorate their grass roots.

Constitutional amendments designed to achieve this purpose will be introduced at the national general meeting of the Progressive Conservative party in Ottawa here Nov. 30-Dec. 2.

Allister Grosart, the party's national organizer, said Friday the changes are expected to provide direct representation of all party members at the national and policy-making level.

Another likely change, said Mr. Grosart, will see the election as president of a person who doesn't hold public office. The GRAIN TERMINAL COLLAPSES — A 7,500,000-bushel grain elevator at Port Arthur, Ontario, collapsed without warning Wednesday night dumping tons of grain into the slip. Picture at left shows the elevator before the collapse. Owned by United Grain Growers Ltd., it was the second - largest and second newest of the 35 elevators at the lakehead. Company president estimated the loss at $2,000,000. The tons' of concrete and grain dumped into the lake created a giant wave that beached a tug sitting a quarter mile off shore. (CP Wirephoto).

Architects Top Money Makers

It will probably be no surprise to many to learn that architects and consulting engineers, as a group, are the top income earners in Canada. They earned an average of $14,581 in 1957. As long as the building boom continues, they should have little difficulty in holding their lead. There may be some who are unhappy about the situation, but a few people, we suspect, will be rather glad to realize that lawyers are not the top money makers. They are now third. Doctors and surgeons are in second place with an average of $15,978. As a group they earn it the hard way—no five-day week and no eight-hour day for them.

There are some figures, though, which reveal wide differences in earning power of different groups. Accountants earn $10,879 a year and dentists $10,234, while school teachers and professors average only $3,698, and this in spite of the marked improvement in salaries for teachers in most Ontario centres. A salesman, who generally has an investment in his business, received an average of $5,345 while farmers got only $3,730. As for business proprietors, they either have no head for business or there must be an awful raft of small operators for their average incomes in 1957 were only $5,238, or $2.50 an hour if they work only a forty-hour week, which seems unlikely.

This Is "Effrontery?"

Either the Associated Press needs to revise its opinion of the meaning of the word "effrontery" or things have indeed come to pretty pass in New York City. The action of a juvenile gang member in going into another gang's "territory" set off the slaying of a 17-year-old boy on the steps of the high school he attends—and the Associated Press applies the word "effrontery" not to the slaying of the boy but to the venture into the rival gang's "territory."

Both the rival gangs in this case were composed chiefly of Puerto Ricans. A short time after Monday's murder a grand jury returned an indictment of first-degree murder against seven other Puerto Ricans in the fatal stabbing of two sixteen-year-olds in a playground last August.

Something obviously needs to be done about the Puerto Ricans in New York. The first action ought to be vigorous police campaigns to break up these killer gangs. But if there are to be any lasting benefits, anything more productive than a long-lasting guerrilla war between the police and these young gangsters, we suspect that New York needs to treat the Puerto Ricans like human beings, to see that they are not exploited because of language difficulties, that they are not crowded into slums, that they are given the opportunity to work at decent wages, that they are not charged exorbitant rents for crowded quarters in tenements.

And, above all, New York should consider whether it ought not to dispense with that acceptance of things as they are which results in dating a girl in the territory of a rival gang being considered "effrontery."

World Series Time

This is the season of the year when we get additional evidence, if any is needed, that few of us are really sane all of the time.

The World Series is about to start.

Now there may be some satisfactory explanation why a few should sit, eyeball-popped, before TV sets, or should endeavor to persuade themselves that that radio at their elbow doesn't interfere at all with their normal work habits, for there are a few who display a similar fervid interest about the doing of groups of athletes in faraway cities throughout the whole summer.

But for every one of these true "fans" there are a dozen others who, in mid-July, do not even bother to glance at the ball scores. Yet, come World Series time, it is a matter of life and death for them that they learn immediately of every foul and passed ball.

This is obviously a sign of temporary insanity. Those of us who escape the plague are fortunate. In any case, we have serious work to do. Now just which teams, do you suppose, will meet in the Grey Cup?

Spicy Report

In Portsmouth, England, recently, the newspapers believed they had something that was both spicy and proper. They reported the marriage of Marie Pepper and Edward Salt. Friends had introduced the two as a joke.

The result would have been saucier if they'd got themselves married in Worcester. (Montreal Gazette).

Canada's Amazing Western Frontier

by Harry M. Moore

(Written expressly for The Ontario Intelligencer by Harry M. Moore)

THE ALASKAN HIGHWAY

(Article 1)

Before going into details on a recent month's visit to northwestern Canada, principally British Columbia and Alberta, that part of Canada now known as "the Peace River Country," and connected to Alaska by highway, it might be well to delve into history.

On October 18, 1868, Russia sold what was then known as Russian America (Alaska) to the United States of America (President Buchanan) for the small sum of seven million, two hundred thousand dollars.

Geographically of course "Russian America" or Alaska should have become by purchase, for there is no other way, an integral part of Canada, Canada's north-western arm to the sea as it were. But in 1869 Canada had no such money to spend. Fact is, it was but two years since John A. Macdonald had successfully welded the provinces across Canada into one and there was no thought at that time of adding more country to such a vast dominion.

Thus Canada was to see an integral part of North America pass into the hands of the United States, when at the time, to some it was considered a "bad medicine," but as events were to prove later, a blessing in disguise. There was some trouble, of course, a boundary dispute, which came to a head in October, 1903, when Lord Alverstone, one of three delegates representing Canada, voted against Canada and thus the province of British Columbia was to be deprived of much of its northern coast, or sea front. Of course Lord Alverstone received a threat and did not dare scurry he had so richly earned —in the eyes of the Canadians at least.

WAR COMPLICATED PLANS

Now in the light of what was to happen later, Canada was to be grateful for the friendship of a serious and costly responsibility by the passing of Alaska into American hands, friendly American hands. Unexpectedly war clouded the Pacific and it would just have been nigh impossible for our country without aid to have sent a large army and supplies to Alaska and no navy, or at least sufficient of a navy to keep the Japanese from taking possession and probably invading British Columbia from the north, but there was to be some unexpected compensation for this. The U.S. government appealed to Canada for permission to build a railroad from the Yukon through northern British Columbia to the Alaska boundary line, to keep up which its war supplies and other needs might be safely transported to the north of operations, a permission which was heartily granted. Thus Canada was to see a great deal of the United States, it did not have to spend a countless million of dollars for its defence and in return was given a highway that was in time to connect her colonial areas of oil and gas and valuable minerals.

The building of what was at first known as the "Al-Can Highway" is now considered an engineering miracle.

At dawn on a bitterly cold March morning in 1942 the vanguard of the U.S. Corps of Engineers, Alaska Highway would be built by American army personnel plus any help available from Canada, their entire equipment at "the end of steel," the tiny hamlet of Dawson Creek, which under the Northern Alberta Railway had just completed its line from Edmonton. At that same hour in faraway Alaska another body of American engineers started at the other end of the proposed highway. Eight months later, when the highway building forces, one working south and east, the other north and west, joined hands at Contact Creek where a small sign bears this most important legend:

"This creek marks the point where U.S. Engineers working with caterpillar bulldozers from the north met men from Engineers from the south, 1942."

Incidentally that highway was built at the rate of about eight miles a day. Its 186 bridges and more than 8,000 culverts give some indication of the work put into its building.

As one writer puts it: "Today it is as much a super-packed hunt for travellers and is steadily prospering a new empire. The railroad has meant to Northern British Columbia and to the Yukon what the Erie Canal did to Albany, can be measured in yards of concussion, in new towns, in new mining towns, in great oil and gas explorations". And highly successful ones they are, odd.

Nor is that all. In record months the Canadian National Telegraphs has concluded a multi-million dollar deal with the United States Government for erection of a micro-wave system running up the Alaska Highway. The deal expected to be in force by 1960 would be the biggest yet between Canadian and United States defence. The 600 channel microwave system is designed especially to meet the Distant Early Warning System base up-country from Alaska. The DEW system would transmit the 15-minute warning of approaching enemy missiles air defence headquarters in Colorado.

Already the wild-Canada Warning Radar line runs through this part of the country. It cost Canada $30 million but netted a cool million and having paid a visit to one of the stations in Northern Alberta can say from personal say about it later. It would appear that George Capsid Limbrick's charge that the building of this line was a waste of public money was much untrue to it than the government will admit.

What does all that activity, all this "boom" mean to Canada's golden north-western frontier? Because it is the area which is used at the Glenora Hatchery, the percentage of fish surviving the rigors of life in their early stages is much higher than those that were developed at Thurlow.

Spiders Kill Many Insects

Gull Reporter

Humanity does not always recognize and appreciate its friends.

So, too, instead of disliking spiders, we should be kind to them within reason. For, if there were no spiders within a week everybody would starve to death.

Lacking spiders, overwhelming hordes of insects would destroy crops and vegetation, to say nothing of the annoyance. Without an astronomical number of insects every year, humanity would be enslaved by the weight of insects eaten in far more than the combined weight of the 3,000 million human beings on this globe. It is hard to believe but it is true—we don't realize just how many spiders there are. Incredibly, an acre of rough grassland may swarm with from 1 1-4 to 2 million spiders, depending on the time of year.

Inspector of Game and Fisheries Herbert McCabe announced today (Monday) that employment of the hatchery staff, with the exception of two to Glenora Hatchery, while Mr. Gladstone Mancore, superintendent has been transferred to the Port Arthur branch. THE GREAT AWAKENING

In Garson Kanin's amusing comedy "Born Yesterday," a girl of the chorus, who decides to have his ignorant and uncultured girl friend given a liberal education so that she will not disgrace him in public. Of course, as the comedy develops, the transformation in her mind and personality arises the conflict in the hands and causes the downfall of the unscrupulous scheming of the millionaire and his dishonest associates.

Unfortunately, many others in the world are content to live in a state of spiritual blindness and ignorance, when they could be awakened to the glorious truths of the Bible and the wonderful opportunities of Christian service.

Who among us has not welcomed and doted on the Pleasant Sunday School lesson? Such is often have I thought of that little grave, somewhere in New England, where a child is buried, but with these words cut into the simple monument: "She was so pleasant."

What a wonderful trait to be remembered by! "She was so pleasant"! I feel very sure that her young life will be long remembered — and how she must have been loved by those of her family and friends.

It's the good deeds and the loving qualities that live long after a great character is called away from earth. These qualities are what count most and are most important. Nothing is life is so satisfactory. The ideal of better way of life blasts the viewer right out of the old, predictable way to familiar — and accepting to those around him.

Transforming people is a dangerous business. Yet that is the business the Christian gospel is doing all the time all over the world. It is changing men and people. People who think of religion as a mere, milk-and-water experience simply do not understand what it is all about.

The impact of the gospel of Jesus Christ on human lives is a tremendous force. It is the age of atomic power, the greatest force of all.

It does not sacrifice a worthwhile ideal, it does not easily draw a line between itself and others in order to join such a discovery as an ordinary person who, might be among those being pleased. Just be pleasant. There are people who unfortunately may be awaiting this moment at your

ELECTROSHOCK THERAPY MAY OR MAY NOT SUCCEED

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please give some information about electroshock therapy — such as how the treatment is given, how the patient reacts, and the benefits, does one lose his or her place in society after treatment, and most important of all, how does the medical profession may best help him adjust?

"What causes a relapse? Does the patient or doctor ever discover what caused the nervous tension to begin with? Is this therapy often used for women having trouble with menopause?" Mrs. N. C."

What a concentrated batch of questions! Yet all of them are good.

Electroshock therapy is the same thing, except in degree, and in time. The current is applied to the patient exactly as electrocuted, as has happen even from house current.

It is, after all, a severe treatment. However, it is the most new equipment has been designed to help the most difficult effect with the least risk of any physical damage, even slight.

How does it work? How does the patient benefit? In all candor, I must say that I do not know why it helps, but by experience we know it does help in a great many cases of severe and the most logical one, I think) is that many emotional disturbances are the result of a person getting his thinking for his attitudes) cramped in a rut of conclusion.

If you can "shake a person loose" from some fixed notion that is harming him, he can form some new and more wholesome attitude which will be normal and acceptable to him.

Thus electroshock may do so, but it doesn't necessarily succeed. You try it, you see what is the best: sometimes you succeed and sometimes you don't.

It is impossible to say how long the patient can return to society. Sometimes it is very soon. Sometimes — well, sometimes they don't return at all.

What causes a relapse? Why, the "shaking up" didn't overcome the basic difficulty. The patient or doctor ever discover what caused the nervous tension to begin with? Is this therapy often used for women having trouble with menopause?

Last: Is shock used for women having trouble with menopause? No, not for the menopause. For any emotional condition which may have been intensified by the temporary problem of menopause (or any other problem).

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a growth or cyst that has been there for about a year. It does not bother me much at present, however. I have never told anyone or gone to a doctor. As I am 76 years old, I feel I should have it alone. What do you think? — Mrs. N. S."

It may, indeed, be something that you could leave alone — but that's not what you have to examine it. There are plenty of growths which wouldn't say that dark skin in your family was anything more than a coincidence. Besides, then the cause can be ascertained, generally stems from some form of irritation that has damaged the adrenal glands.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In a gag of pickpockets, the most respectable looking member is the one who, dressed like a prosperous citizen, just dawdles around the de luxe departments of stores looking for something for his wife's birthday, or the bank lobbies or railway stations, studying documents in his own pockets, is actually watching for fat wallets. He doesn't do any "business" himself, but he observes who has a wallet or handbag full of money among his customers. And he takes notes of where the wallet is placed and the victim's habits from the scene.

By signal or quiet word, he then communicates to his oddly assorted confreres who is the victim and where the wallet is located or in what part of the building the money is stored. These confreres have no resemblance whatever to one another. They are middle-aged men and young women, fat walking clerks and slender ladies, boys and girls, clumsy with packages. With all the skill of cowpokes corralling a frightened heifer, they manage to come together at one time, just studying documents, or each one another, getting into one another's way. And in the midst of all probability apologizing to the old lady for having collided with her, to the humble old man for having backed into him in the momentary confusion. And in that instant, the expert has got the wallet or the money.

In the increasingly crowded streets of modern cities are capitals in one of these pedestrian traffic jams, grab for your dough. You may be in time.

Our Gold Rush

Article 94

(Contributed by Members of the Hastings County Historical Society).

Gold has often played an important role in the affairs of man.

The search for El Id Columbus' attempts to find a westward route to the Indies.

The conquests of the Spanish South American colonies made Spain a dominant European power for a century.

The discovery of it in the Klondike in 1896 led to the settlement of British Columbia as a British colony.

And its discovery near Madoc in 1866 touched off a gold rush in Hastings County that equalled by the tremendous excitement which was caused when gold had been found in California.

The discovery of gold near Madoc came at a time when there was considerable prospecting along the southern edge of the Canadian Shield.

For some time Madoc Township had been known to have mineral wealth. Even iron ores "had been pronounced by experts to be among the richest in any in the world," although the mines were not being worked in the early 1860's. There were also "some very rich lead and copper ores, a variety of marble, lithographic stone, and soap stone."

The gold discovery was made on lot 16 of the fifth concession of Madoc Township on the farm of John Richardson, on August 18, 1866.

This was the first gold find in Ontario, and excitement was so great that the farm had to be protected by a company of

Stories of Famous Hymns

By HORACE B. POWELL

GIVE ME JESUS

Take the world, but give me Jesus,
All its joys are but a names;
But His love abideth ever,
Thro' eternal years the same.

Take the world, but give me Jesus,
Sweetest comfort of my soul;
With my Savior watching o'er me,
I can sing though billows roll.

Take the world, but give me Jesus,
Let me view His constant smile;
Then the toilsome pilgrim journey
Light will cheer me all the while.

Take the world, but give me Jesus,
In His cross my trust shall be;
Till, with clearer, brighter vision,
Face to face my Lord I see.

Fanny Crosby, America's beloved blind hymnist, lived to be 95 before she was called heavenward and came, at last, to enjoy the "clearer, brighter vision" of which she sang in the closing stanza of this, one of her most popular hymns.

It is not the only hymn in which she expressed a yearning for the day when she would see the Saviour whom she had served so faithfully and so long on earth. The same sentiment appears in one form or another in many of her songs as, for example, in the hymn, "Saved By Grace", where she sang:

"Some day the silver cord will break,
And I no more as now shall sing;
But, O the joy when I shall wake
Within the palace of the King!
And I shall see Him face to face,
And tell the story — Saved by Grace".

This hymn in which "Give Me Jesus!" is usually sung was composed by John R. Sweney, Pennsylvania musician and choir leader, who was a popular composer of gospel tunes during the years when Miss Crosby was doing her best writing.

Real seem to have waned and the old maestro is telling him to beatie himself.

Paul reminds him that such a spirit of fearfulness is not what God gave us. God gives us "the spirit of power." He meant us to have a fruitful attitude toward living. Such a healthy child reaches out its arms to life. It goes out toward both the bad and the good, toward the fire, the water, the poison. It has to learn what is good and what is bad.

But in the teaching, the child is not to be made timid. It should be taught not mere fear of fire, but the proper use of it; not mere fear of water, but how to swim. God meant us to say "Yes" to life. And when we let that affirmative attitude fall into a negative, suspicious cast of mind, one becomes like the fearful man in Our Lord's parable who buried his one talent and had it taken away from him.

When Paul bids Timothy "stir up the gift," the word he uses suggests the stirring of a fire. When a fire has died down, what is the first thing we do to it? We poke it. And that is the first thing most of us need when we fall into our low moods of fearfulness and listlessness. Often we need to break our inertia by our own initiative. We should say to ourself, "Snap out of it. Shake it off."

FEED OUR MINDS

But often the fire of our spirit needs more than mere poking of the will. Jesus kept up the morale of His first followers by pulling on more fuel to feed the flame of their faith. Hear Him: "Fear not, little flock, it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom."

Similarly, we need to feed our minds with some morale building.

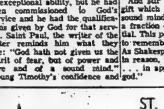
Also God gave us the gift of love. In these lines of the old war and racial tensions the fires of love have died down. We need to feed our minds with thoughts that warm the heart. Take time to meditate on God's goodness. His mercy. His love revealed in Christ and in the good earth and morning smiles and evening stars. Take time to look into the eyes of loving friends and listen to the laughter of little children and count the kindnesses of even casual acquaintances. Read more religious publications, and of course, the Book of Books. The fire of love will begin to glow.

And stir up also God's other gift which Paul mentions a sound mind. Most of us use only a fraction of our mental potential. This power to think, to hope, to remember, to dream, to love. As Shakespeare said, "How noble in reason, how infinite in faculty . . . in apprehension how like a god."

A Lift for Living

Stir up God's Gift in You

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN



If someone were to say to you, as he said to Timothy, "Stir up the gift of God which is in you," what would you think he meant? Most likely you would ask yourself, "What special gift have I?" Commonly, when we speak of gifts of God, we think of unusual endowments such as a glorious singing voice, an artistic sense of touch, a power of literary expression.

Not many of us, however, have these outstanding talents in such degree that we could be called gifted. Most of us are just ordinary run-of-the-mine individuals. Of course, we can always think of some persons who seem less gifted. When we feel dwarfed by our superiors, we can build up our egos by glancing at those who appear less favored. But it is not very satisfactory to fluctuate between deflation and inflation because our self-valuation depends on such comparisons.

Emerson once said, "Every man I meet is my superior in some way. In that, I learn of him." What if we caught Emerson's insight and attitude, and instead of looking at ourselves to see how our traits stood out from others, we were to study others looking for their gifts that we might learn of them and link ourselves with them. Certainly such an attitude would enrich our inner lives and sweeten our relationships.

BETTER THAN COMPARISON

Better than comparison with others' talents is the stirring up of God's gifts within ourselves. A veteran of life's battles once wrote a letter to a young recruit named Timothy telling him, "Stir up the gift of God which is in thee by the putting on of my hands." The young man was not of exceptional ability, but he had been commissioned to God's service and he had the qualifications given by God for that service. Saint Paul, the writer of the letter reminds him what they are: "God hath not given us the spirit of fear, but of power and love and of a sound mind." Young Timothy's confidence and

BIRTHDAY HONORED

A delightful time was spent recently at the summer home of Mrs. W. W. Green, of Windsor, Ontario, on the Bay of Quinte, when friends and neighbors were entertained in honor of the birthday of her mother, Mrs. W. E. Hendricks, of Trenton. Mr. Fred Hendricks, also of Trenton, was among those present.

Outstanding at this occasion was the presence of four generations, which included the guest of honor, Mrs. W. E. Hendricks, her daughter, Mrs. Harold Bateman, of Belleville; Mrs. Bateman's son, Mr. Douglas Bateman, and his sons, Harold and Robert.

Mr. and Mrs. John David Davey are shown following their marriage in St. Thomas Anglican Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Caryl Anne Lundy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Lundy of Belleville, and the bridegroom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Davey, of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia. (Photo by William E. Riley, Belleville.)

DAVEY — LUNDY

In St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, on Saturday, September 19, Caryl Anne Lundy and David John Davey, were united in marriage by Canon A. McConnell, rector of the church. Anne is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Lundy of Belleville, and David is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Davey of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length wedding dress of white faille, with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and bouffant skirt, the back of which was accented by a flat bow centred by a large fabric rose. She wore a shoulder-length veil held in place by a pearl headdress with circlet of pearls. She carried a crescent bouquet of tiny white mums, pink rosebuds and Englishivy.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Penny Grills, of Belleville, who wore a soft sea green dress of peau de soie with deeper green sash, bow hat and shoes. She carried a cascade bouquet of Shasta daisies and English ivy.

Mr. Chris Williams of Toronto attended the bridegroom. The ushers were Mr. Royden Davis and Mr. Anthony Jacobs, both of Belleville.

The reception was held in the Prince Edward Suite, Hotel Quinte. The guests were received by the bride's mother who wore a peacock blue sheath with matching jacket and a small pink hat. Her corsage was white mums and pink rosebuds. She was assisted by the bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. Charles Young, of Hamilton. Mrs. Young wore a navy ensemble, pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The toast to the bride was made by Mr. Charles I. Wilson, and to which the bridegroom responded.

Out-of-town guests attended from Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Toronto, Kingston and Elmira, Ontario.

The bride travelled in a black and white suit with red accessories, over a short honeymoon in the Laurentians Mr. and Mrs. Davey sailed on October 13 for England. For the next year they will reside in London where Mr. Davey will be attending Imperial College.

Prior to the wedding, the bride and bridegroom were entertained at a number of functions. They were guests of honor at a dinner party in the Hotel Quinte sponsored by Wilson Concrete Products Ltd., where Mr. Davey has been employed as a design engineer. They were entertained by members of the So-Ed Club at a party and presentation at the cottage of Mr. Rodney Burr. The bride was guest of the office staff of Mead Johnson of Canada Ltd., at a dinner and presentation and at a shower at the home of Miss Reta Vincent, with Mrs. Allan Sills as co-hostess.

Pick and Choose Side Trips On a Short Visit to Rome

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

(Q) "Five couples are planning a flying trip to Rome this fall. We will be there about ten days. We would like to take some side trips either by plane or car. Would you tell us the most interesting places to visit and what to wear at that time of year? Do you ever wear hats for shopping and sight-seeing?" — Mrs. M. Y.

(A) You can hardly start to do justice to Rome itself in ten days, so you'll have to pick and choose your side trips.

To get around with so large a party you will undoubtedly do best hiring a limousine, driver and guide — if they can find a large enough limousine or small enough bus for all of you. In the long run this will cost you less than any other way and at the same time be more comfortable and convenient.

American Express and Thomas Cook do that sort of thing in Rome as elsewhere, but our favorite tourist organization there is C.I.T., the semi-official government agency.

Within easy distance of Rome, in the Sabine Hills, are the ruins of the Emperor Hadrian's villa and the beautifully ruined villa of the ancient and noble d'Este family, in Tivoli. Here the incredibly lush gardens and soaring fountains, still functioning after 400 years, look familiar to you, it's because they've inspired most of the murals you've seen in Italian-American restaurants.

RUINED BY WAR

Nearest major city to Rome is Naples, to the south. Ruined by the war, only now started bay still distinguishes it. But nearby are Pompeii, Capri and the picture-book spectacular Amalfi drive with its gem-like village of Positano.

Only 20 minutes from Rome is the ferry to Elba, where you may retire to Napoleon's villa.

To the south are the unique Etruscan tombs of Tarquinia and Assisi, the birthplace of St. Francis. Also to the south are the battlefields of Cassino and Anzio. By sad irony, Venice is only a side trip away, so you'll have to decide what you want to squeeze in from the great Italian sightseeing antipasto.

September and October are summer in most of Italy. Dress accordingly, but never in shorts. Slacks are frowned on for ladies, but Italians have become used to crazy American sports shirts and no ties for men at least by day. Hats are optional for ladies except, of course, in churches where they are mandatory.

(Q) "We are planning to New York in October. Can you tell us the most reasonable yet convenient places to stay? We don't want to eat in fabulous places all the time but would love to dine there once or twice where we might have the opportunity to ogle the famous. What should I wear this time of year? How about my husband; when is white wear acceptable? How do we get tickets to Broadway shows once there?" — Mrs. R.

(A) You don't hotel values are the big commercial midtown houses which are convenient but not chic, and certain places in the Central Park South area which are chic but not too convenient (specific suggestions by mail).

For good food at reasonable prices (by New York standards) and a chance of glimpsing celebrities try Lindy's and Sardi's; a little more expensive but neat and near-great haunts are 21, Danny's, Fen and Pencil, while the near-legendary Forum of the Twelve Caesars and any number of places they keep in Damnsilvez and Broadway columnists.

WEAR DRESSY CLOTHES

Always, but always, wear dressy clothes in New York — no casual clothes, possibly a dark sport jacket with tie for your husband on weekends, only for formal clothes necessary. Hat ever.

If theatre tickets can't be obtained from box offices, they usually can be had from the ticket agency in the hotel lobby for a moderate fee.

(Q) "Is it still necessary to stop early on the road to get motel accommodations, as it has been for so many years!" — A. J.

(A) For the first time this year we can say there seem to be enough first class roadside accommodations to take care of all the people on the road. Seeing all the new motels of 100 and 200 rooms, we wonder how everyone found a place to stay seven and eight years ago if there's enough business now to light up the no-vacancy signs today.

Where once it was almost an ironclad rule to stop by 4 P.M., we'd say 6 is still safe in most well-traveled areas, especially from this time of year on to next summer.

If you do travel later, wait until good and late, when the motels have despaired of all their reservations being kept and have released rooms that were being held.

God's Great Antidote for Grief

By Alma Mason

All through the years laughter at our house has flowed long and full and free. When repertee skips blithely across the dinner table, uproarious and hearty mirth usually accompanies it.

We often laugh until our sides ache and we cannot possibly endure one more grin or giggle. We have always shared arguments just as intensely as we have shared merriment—but because we have perpetually cultivated the art of new perspective, levity—frowns and hurt feelings quickly heal.

During the summer, a little lad used to visit us. Fun was scarce at his house. Grandma growled incessantly about her ailments. The rest of the family dragged a malignant, stony stare about with them. The mother in the household measured her artificial smile carefully.

As Curly Top grew up, we missed his visits and the bubbling laugh he possessed. He has been conditioned to solemnity now. He has lost forever the art of hoisting up the windows of mirth and airing his heart.

An elderly lady used to pop in and out our door frequently. She possessed a keen sense of humor. One day she said, "At your table my food digests much better. Your food warms and nourishes me, but the fun you share with me soothes and warms the cockles of my heart."

Her son and daughter were so busy rushing about here and there, they didnt have time to stop and enjoy simple pleasures and happy laughter. They just raged rapidly because they had forgotten how.

Today a dear little elf is passing on in one of our city hospitals. We are going to sadly miss her roguish smile. She turned precarious situations in her life into passing irritants by saturating them with her keen sense of humor.

Because of this, her family were closely knit, understanding and tolerant. She will leave them all a bounteous bequest of optimism lined with a desire to search always for silver lining. What an abundant legacy!

Laughter issues from a free and happy heart. It rose as never intended in an apathy of despair. Frowns and grumbles lodge under rotted logs and slimy rocks. Laughter echoes up and down the small hills. It is the arch enemy of all the dark, damp, stagnant corners of the earth.

It is God's greatest antidote for grief—His most efficient pain killer—the weapon He has given us to use against cowardice and fear.

Let us not hide this gift without probe under a bushel, but let us use it fully and freely as the giver of all good gifts would have us do.

After years of sorrow it is hard to smile again but it is the only safe road back to sanity and dignity and serenity.

The sword of sorrow
Poised by the unwary heart,
Met by brave laughter,
Will seek its dull scabbard
And depart.

'Tis said that laughter
Is the lotion for the soul,
It dips down deeply,
Flows in every corner,
Makes us whole.

PROBE DRUG COSTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senate anti - monopoly group announced plans Friday for an investigation of the cost of prescription drugs. Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem.-Tenn.) said public hearings will begin here Nov. 10.

Bemersyde, IODE Enjoys Buffet Supper

CAMPBELLFORD — The September meeting of the Bemersyde Chapter I.O.D.E. was held at the summer home of Mrs. A. O. Benor. Over 40 enjoyed a buffet supper and a nice evening.

At the usual time, the Regent, Mrs. D. B. Stephen, called the meeting to order and the ritual of the order followed.

Considerable correspondence accumulated over the summer season, and this was all dealt with. One letter was from the Civil Defence convener asking that a committee be sent to Arnprior to study Civil Defence. Some discussion took place as to what such a course would entail and it was decided that the secretary would write asking for further information.

A letter from Headquarters urges all chapters to assist with a Community Centre, for the Eskimos at Frobisher Bay. Since the ways of the Eskimo are being completely changed it seems there is a great need for assistance for them. A donation was decided for this cause.

Mrs. Jesse Jones was requested by "Echoes" to send a short article explaining the name of the local chapter, "Bemersyde" is the name of the ancestral home of Sir Douglas Haig, in Scotland.

Group 5 is to conduct a rummage sale during October and the Chapter as a whole will continue the sale the last two weeks of October.

Version of 'The King and I' Enacted Recently in Canada

"To live your life is not as simple as to cross a field." Old Russian Proverb.

A version of "The King and I" was enacted recently in Canada in real life! The setting was at Cowansville, Quebec. The time, this summer, and the characters involved were: A young Maharajah from India and a slim, lithe lady with greying wavy short hair and shining eyes, the widow of Col. John Gleason of Cowansville, now retired from the British Army. The plot according to Mrs. Gibson was formed like this:—

"When my father returned to England after serving in India with the British Army, I was just a child. But as a young girl in my late teens, I began to cherish the stories he told of life in India as he knew it. When I heard through a close family friend that the Maharajah of Gwalior needed a governess for his two small children something responded in me when the friend asked, 'Why don't you apply for the job? You like adventure so much. Here's your chance.'

"So I wrote a letter saying that I like to apply for the position before telling my parents, who were horrified at the whole idea. I soothed them, however, with assurances that they needn't worry in the slightest, for chances of my acceptance were very slim. Indeed, even I forgot about it.

"Then one morning, six weeks later, there was a letter for me. Not only had I been chosen from a large number of applicants, but I was to be in India by a certain date to report on duty. You can imagine the excitement, the commotion and the doubt that followed to be ready. Placate my parents, get a whole new wardrobe, attend to tickets, bookings and fares. Somehow it was all accomplished, impossible became the possible and finally I found myself aboard ship en route for India—and adventure.

AN ADVENTURE

"Adventure it was. From the very moment I landed in Bombay and there was no one to meet me. Remember, this was just after World War I, and girls were not as much allowed to travel about unescorted, as they are now. All friends that I made on ship were shocked and horrified for me, and made it their business that I should be given the protection of someone in authority upon being taken to the State of Gwalior. Thus I first arrived safely and met the Maharajah, my employer who sent at once for my little charges, a little girl and a little boy each under eight years old.

"Needless to say, I soon found myself enjoying my new surroundings and life very much. Employed by one of India's richest Maharajah's it was accompanied by amazing wealth on all sides. The service don't think, as a governess this interfered with my plain duties to my charming little charges. I guess I'm the only person in the world who has spanked the ruling Maharajah of Gwalior of today! I'm very proud of him. He was considered a highly desirable prospect, matrimonially speaking by other India states less wealthy, but his choice fell upon a Nepal girl, he who as his wife, has shown amazing interest and skill in political matters, and is the only woman sitting in her husband's parliament. The present Maharajah is content that his wife is the power so to say, behind the throne, for he is not politically ambitious. His main interests lie in other fields.

"His sister, I'm sorry to say, met a very sad fate. She was beautiful and lovely. Ten days after her wedding, she died.

FOUND ROMANCE

"Yes — I found adventure, plenty. And much more. Romance too. For it was in India that I met and married a young officer in the British Army stationed there. He was a Canadian, from a place called Cowansville, Quebec. Upon his retirement, we came back to his home town to live — where I must admit, I'm very happy indeed.

"This summer a very lovely event took place for me. I had a visitor. No. It wasn't the young Maharajah, now the ruler, as you might expect. It was a very close and dear friend of his — a Maharajah from a neighboring Indian state. I knew him well too, while I was

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council regrets that it cannot deal with problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Teresa M. — Our family is going to pot.

Mrs. L. M. — She's the only one who is spoiled.

Teresa M. — I am 18 and I am very unhappy at home, but not for the usual reasons.

I feel that my parents aren't strict enough. They have never made any of us do things for ourselves. My kid sisters (make a mess of our room and when I tell them my mother takes their part. My older brother takes the car any time he feels like it, all of us are left at home and can't go anyplace. My father never says anything and he's rather watch TV anyway.

Our family is going to pot. It will be no wonder if we all turn out to be juvenile delinquents.

Mrs. L. M. — Ever since the age of 13 Terry set herself up as dictator of our family. She wants to reform all of us. She doesn't like anybody anything. She tells us all off.

On the other hand, she doesn't do a thing for herself. She "runs" her own clothing all over the place. If I didn't pick up and put her dresses she would wear them until they fell off.

Note: Neither of these children has yet gotten into trouble so I can't see that they are worrying about everyone becoming a delinquent. She is the only one who is spoiled and overprotected.

The Council: Terry appears to be a strong-minded, self-assertive girl, but a little immature for her age in her relationship with her parents.

When she tells off her kid sisters and the rest of the family, it really is domineering and what she would like her parents to do to her. The fear she expresses of juvenile delinquency reveals that she fears the bad in herself will take control unless her parents exercise a firm hand to repress it.

At 16, Terry should feel in better command of herself. The fact that she isn't indicates that her parents may be guilty of some of the faults she accuses them of. Being a mother is a hard job and shouldn't depend upon her mother to take her clothes and clothes. Every time Mrs. L. M. does it, she is doing Terry a disservice. She should insist that Terry keep herself neat and clean all by herself. She should have learned years ago that Terry pick up after herself. She should by now be making a contribution to the comfort of others in the family.

Terry needs plenty of outside activities. Very likely her bullying at home is offset by great friendly among others of her own age. If she should not be so focussed on her family. Her big responsibilities are to do work, hobbies and social life with other teenagers. When she has these interests, parents are aware of what is going on at hom.

GOOD MANNERS

DOUCHEBAGS, RUDE WAY TO / THANK FOR WEDDING PRESENT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

These ill-bred brides and their disappointing ways with a thank you for a wedding present! Either they don't thank you at all — after, as you said the other day in your column, one has given so much thought and real effort and real budgeting too to buy a "right present" — or they are so unbelievably casual about their thanks that it's devastating.

The thank-you note (if you can call it a "thank-you") I received today is the pay-off. I spent much more than I should on a wedding present for a friend of mine. I sent it to her over two weeks before her wedding, which was about seven months ago. I never received any word from her, never a thank-you note, and her husband are on their honeymoon, and she sent a picture postcard of the place, and on it wrote one sentence about the place, and something about what a good time they were having, and then one final sentence of thanks for my present, explaining she had been too busy to write a thank-you note. Now I ask you, Mrs. Beeckman is this is any sense proper?

Reader

Proper? . . . It's not even decent! I just can't understand how a bride can "perform" like this, how she can take for granted such kindness and generosity and thoughtfulness without making an effort to say a thank-you. Today many, many readers write bitterly complaining about this really inhuman treatment by brides who postpone and postpone and postpone writing their notes of thanks, and then write notes that they should be thoroughly ashamed of. How can they hope to keep such good friends as you have tried to be?

CANDLELABRUM AS CENTREPIECE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For a wedding present a very dear friend of mine gave me a handsome candelabrum, a family heirloom she had inherited, it is quite large and I was afraid that the candles, when lighted in it, are a well-known fire hazard, there is only one, and I would very much like to use it on our dining-table, would it be proper for me to use it as a centre-piece? E. B.

Yes . . . a candelabrum of this tall type is sometimes used as a centre-piece, and it can be very effective.

QUESTION:

Last year you printed an excellent recipe — Mrs. Hollis made with watermelon rind. Unfortunately I have misplaced mine, would be grateful if this could be repeated. Mrs. M. C.

ANSWER:

I cannot recall the recipe to which you refer but here is an excellent India Relish.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

SATURDAY

Spanish Omelette (see Friday); Vegetable Marrow; Spinach; Corn on Cob; Cottage-Cheese Stuffed Tomato Salads; Elderberry Pie with Cheese; Coffee.

GARDEN INDIA RELISH:

Note: All vegetables finely chopped.

8 cups green tomatoes, peeled, 4 medium onions, 2 green sweet peppers, 2 cups watermelon rind, 1 cucumber rind, grated or 1-2 teaspoon dehydrated root grated, 3 pints vinegar, 4 cups cabbage, 2 red sweet peppers, 6 stalks celery, 2 tablespoons salt, 1 tablespoon celery seed, 1-2 pound each white sugar and brown sugar, 1 tablespoon each turmeric and ladies' mustard seed.

Cook all chopped vegetables with salt and let stand for 3 or 4 hours. Remove moisture by squeezing and mix well with other ingredients in a large kettle. Boil for 20 to 25 minutes over medium heat, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking. Bottle and seal immediately in hot sterilized jars.

QUESTION:

I have scorched through all the pieces I've saved from your column, and all I can find is Citron Relish, so I grew all this citron just to taste once again some Citrus Conserve. I wonder would you be good enough to send me anything you may have? I have a garden full of citron and don't quite know how to start conserving it. The recipe I mean had a mixture of orange, lemon and grapefruit flavor. I will be very thankful for your help. Jean McC.

ANSWER:

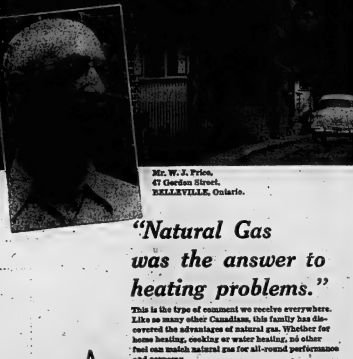
I will give you two recipes — one using citron and citrus fruits and one using citron with only lemon and ginger for flavor.

CITRON AND CITRUS PRESERVES:

3 lbs. prepared citron, 1 1-3 lbs. sugar, juice and rind of 1 lemon, orange and grapefruit.

Prepare citrus fruits .Slice citron very thin and in small pieces. Add sugar and mix well. Let stand overnight. Cook until the citron is clear and transparent and other fruits are tender. Pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal immediately.

PRESERVED CITRON:



1 cup water, 8 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon flour, cook for root, 4 lbs. citron, 1 lemon, thinly sliced.

Prepare citron by peeling and cutting into strips and removing seeds. Weigh. Bring to boil sugar and water, and boil 20 minutes, gently. Add citron and boil 1 hour until tender. Do not stir while boiling. Add lemon and ginger root and boil just 1 minute. Remove immediately from heat and pour into hot sterilized jars; seal immediately.

Canon James Isn't Fussy About North But Likes Work

By DON ATTFIELD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

BAKER LAKE, N.W.T. (CP)—There is at least one northerner who isn't fussy about the northland, although he's lived here 20 years and expects to be here for another five or perhaps 10 years.

He is Canon William J. R. James, Anglican missionary for some 75,000 square miles of the desolate Keewatin district of the upper west shore of Hudson Bay.

"I don't like the North," said the 59-year-old clergyman in an interview. "But I love the work and I love Canada."

EAGER PARISH

His work is to bring the Christian gospel to some 500 Eskimos who inhabit his vast diocese. His parish isn't the biggest in the country, in terms of numbers, but his Eskimos are among the most enthusiastic of Christians.

Canon James was born and raised in the Forest of Dean in Gloucestershire, England, and he came to Baker Lake fresh from Wycliffe College of the University of Toronto in 1930. With the help of Eskimos, he built his own little church, a cream - colored clapboard building.

His church services, conducted entirely in the Eskimo language, have become so popular that he has two a day. On Sunday the church, measuring 24 feet by 30, was packed with 138 at one service and almost as many at the other.

The Eskimos even showed up for a third service, given in English in the afternoon, for the small number of employees here of the department of transport, the northern affairs department and the RCMP.

ENJOY HYMNS

One of the Eskimos plays the accordion, and the rest — led by the lead voice of the wiry canon —sing the well-known hymns in the native tongue with a gusto that would put to shame many a congregation in more southern Canadian centres.

If his Eskimo brood gets any bigger, Canon James said, he will have to knock out one end of his church to extend it. He has a pump organ in his neat little manse nearby but hasn't installed it in the church because it would take up space.

Why did he come here? He had originally thought of going to the Prairies. "I got down on my knees and prayed to God for guidance."

There was a bigger job to be done in the North, he decided.

"I came here because of the challenge. I have no regrets. It is my life's purpose and I should follow it. That's my philosophy I guess."

He has never married, but says he never has felt lonesome.

"Fortunately, my temperament is fitted for isolation."

OLD FRIEND

A close friend for almost 30 years was Sandy Luman, the manager of the Hudson's Bay Company store here who retired last year.

The canon has just returned from a visit to Scotland and Europe on one of the five-month leaves to which he is entitled every five years.

A big job faced the missionary when he arrived after a predecessor had been here three years. The Eskimos still believed in vague spirits an da medicine man was spiritual leader.

"The ice was broken, but I still had to go to them."

NORTHERN MISSIONARY — Canon William J. R. James, Anglican missionary for about 75,000 square miles of the desolate Keewatin district, conducts a church service for Eskimos in his church at Baker Lake, N.W.T. Today, most of the district's Eskimos have congregated at Baker Lake, and Canon James' dog sled journeys into the Bar-lewer. He has been in the area off the upper west shore of Hudson Bay for about 30 years but admits he isn' fussy about the northland. "But I love the work," he says, "and I love Canada." This picture was taken about ten years ago. (CP Photo).

"The Eskimos themselves are very devout," he said. "I love them, and I think that is what appeals to them most."

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

By WINIFRED WILSON

THE SEAWAY

Much has been said about what the Seaway has already done, is doing, or will eventually do to human beings, and now naturalists are wondering what will be the fate of birds whose home life has been upset by the vast changes made by man.

Some kinds of birds are more persistent than others, or perhaps are more sentimental. This applies particularly to those that keep the same nest, simply adding to it year after year. Eagles, which come into this group, hate to relinquish the old home, even when the environment has become most distasteful. Tales are told of pairs nesting in Florida where buildings are being erected all around the home tree.

Great blue herons also are loath to leave a locality to which they have become attached. Springtime, just when there are nestlings to be fed, is the favourite season for predators to do their work of destruction. Man, the chief predator, chooses this season for killing the parent birds because the plumes are then at their best. The young ones are left to starve to death. Once discovered, there is little hope for the colony — the plumes are too great an attraction. But the surviving adult birds return to the same territory each spring until the entire colony is wiped out.

LOSING BATTLE

In the Montreal vicinity water and shore birds are waging a losing battle against the Seaway. Their natural shore is no more. Yet, in migration time, a fair number still stop off to try the man-made shore line. Double-crested cormorants are being driven from their favourite little rocky islands as the Seaway swallows them up. However, some return hopefully spring and fall.

Despite all the fuss and noise of men and machinery, throughout the Seaway construction ringbilled gulls continued to breed in hundreds on small islands between St. Helen's Island and the south shore of the St. Lawrence. In early spring they always appear off Caughnawaga.

Curiously enough, golden plover have actually been more in the Montreal bird news of late years than previously. These birds have such a long migration route that their stay on the islands in the Arctic Ocean, their breeding grounds, is little over a month. The adults leave their young ones, not yet ready to fly, and proceed south along the Atlantic seaboard, passing over our Maritime Provinces in late summer. A month or more afterwards, the young birds migrate by the Island route, occasionally touching down in wet muddy areas — such as the man-made borders of the new Seaway locks — to rest and feed.

Use Judgment When Driving An Automatic

By EUGENE MILSOM

If you now own or intend to buy an automatic transmission car, spare yourself unnecessary operating and repair costs by using a little good judgment.

Don't lean the gas pedal to the floor trying for lightning starts or pick-up. On the other hand, don't get too squeamish about it. You can waste gas that way, too.

Accelerate moderately, gradually feeding gas so you can reach road speeds quickly. Watch your shifts. Moving to park position while the car is in motion can cause serious damage. Likewise, never shift a moving car from Reverse to Drive (or Low), or vice versa.

Avoid another headache possibility by learning the exact procedure for push-starting your car. It's not the same for all.

Have transmission fluid level checked every 1000 miles, at least. And, equally important, keep a watch for signs of leakage.

From R. P.: "I just took my car in for a piston ring job and the mechanic said he might as well put in new valve seats, too. Are these a good investment?"

(A) It's a relatively small investment that can really pay off in oil economy and engine operation.

C. M. writes: "The used 1957 I just bought has the generator and oil pressure red lights. If I wish to put in the old-type meters instead, can they be substituted without trouble?"

(A) Your dealer, service station or auto accessory shop can sell you a combination unit — a meter and oil pressure gauge — which is easily installed.

From R. B.: "After every possibility was checked out by the dealer, and then by an expert mechanic with no axe to grind, my '59 sedan is still a dud in the gas mileage department. Apparently there's nothing that can or will be done about it. Any comment?"

(A) To be blunt — auto production cannot guarantee 100 per cent perfection in every car. Unfortunately, an occasional lemon still slips by. Sometimes the solution is obvious to the dealer service man, sometimes not.

Now! You can enjoy built-in electric home heating

No other heating system offers you so many advantages ...for new homes, added rooms, hard-to-heat areas

ROOM BY ROOM CONTROL

Electric heating is the simplest of all to operate. Set one room for 72° another for 65° if you wish. Automatically turns off the heat in a room warmed by the sun while leaving it on in others. No complicated control equipment.

EXTRA SPACE

Electric heating units are completely self-contained. You can have your electric heating system installed out of sight in your master ceiling, in compact baseboard units or panels recessed into the walls. You and your family gain extra space you would otherwise need for chimney, fuel storage, piping and furnace or boiler.

INSTANT RESPONSE

When the thermostat calls for it, electric heating supplies heat instantly —right where you want it. There's no waiting for heat to build up in a central system.

CLEANLINESS

Walls, draperies, carpets and furniture stay cleaner longer because there are no products of combustion. Electric heat is clean as light—the cleanest heating method possible.

UNIFORMITY

Electric home heating provides a gentle, even warmth that chases all chills, with no drafts, cold spots or layers of cold air. Temperatures will vary only two or three degrees from ceiling to floor.

SILENCE

Silent as sunlight, most electric home heating systems work without moving parts.

SAFETY

A completely safe heating method—electric home heating eliminates flame and the storage of inflammable fuel.

CARES FOR ITSELF

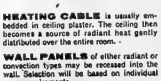
Electric radiant and convection heating is simple and efficient. No annual maintenance. Nothing to rust. No filters to replace. No moving parts to lubricate.

FLEXIBILITY

Heat the whole house—the added recreation room—or the new room you are planning to build. Electric heating can also bring comfort into a room inadequately heated by an existing heating system.

EFFICIENCY

All of the heat is used. None is wasted up a chimney. With a thermostat in each room, there is no need to overheat several rooms in order to raise the temperature in just one.



You can choose from several types of electric home heating—there is one to fit your personal needs exactly

There are two kinds of heat used in the home. One warms you directly with heat waves (radiation) and the other surrounds you with warm air (convection). Your electric home heating system can be either:

BASEBOARD units heat principally by convection, keeping floors and walls warm for maximum comfort. They are very efficient beneath windows, where rising heat dispels the cooling effect of large areas of cold glass.

HEATING CABLE is usually embedded in ceiling plaster. The ceiling then becomes a source of radiant heat gently distributed over the entire room.

WALL PANELS of either radiant or convection types may be recessed into the wall. Selection will be based on individual room requirements.

THE HEAT PUMP, an entirely different system, heats in winter—cools in summer—automatically. If you are planning summer air-conditioning, investigate this system.

SO MANY ADVANTAGES

Only electric heating can provide so many advantages. Now you can heat your home the way you operate your toaster, iron and electric range. You can heat safely and simply with the energy that has contributed so much to modern living. BUILT-IN ELECTRIC UNITS create heat silently, instantly, automatically. Every day more and more people are discovering this great advance in home comfort.

INSULATION

Full insulation in your home assures the maximum efficiency of your electric heating system. The recommended insulation is 6 ins. in the ceiling—4 ins. in the walls—2 ins. in floors over unheated areas—double windows and doors. Heat losses are drastically reduced and you gain added advantages in summer comfort too, when your home is insulation conditioned.

THE ULTIMATE IN LUXURY LIVING NOW WITHIN YOUR MEANS

Electric home heating is here to stay as one of the great advances in modern living. Through its sheer simplicity of installation and operation—through its effectiveness in providing a controlled, gentle warmth wherever and whenever it is needed—through the complete freedom it provides from all furnace and fuel problems—electric heating heralds a new era in home comfort. To own and enjoy this most modern of heating systems, you pay only a few dollars more a month—well worth it when you consider its many exclusive advantages.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

While this piece was written before the results of last night's games were known, there is still the possibility that baseball history will repeat itself and two clubs go into a do-or-die playoff for the National League pennant.

The world series is scheduled to open next Wednesday. Don't bet on it. It is conceivable that the identity of the National League champions won't be known by that time. A play-off or playoffs would push proceedings back to the latter part of the week.

The situation recalls similar ones in the history of the world's greatest sports classic.

In the winter of 1934 Giants' manager Bill Terry held a press conference. Mama Terry mentioned the challengers in his world champions and with a grin dismissed the Dodgers with "Is Brooklyn still in the league?"

The manager of the Bums at that time was one Charles Dillinger Stengel, a man with a memory like an elephant. On the last two days of the season the Dodgers knocked the Giants out of the pennant and the famous Gashouse Gang swept in front at the wire.

Terry and Stengel met while crossing the diamond after the last game between the Bums and the Giants. "Ole Case" cocked an eye at his opponent and inquired innocently, "What went in your wrn sayin' last winter?" A near fist-fight occurred.

Later in 1951 when Chuck Dressen was "bossin' the Bums," the Dodgers swept a July 4 doubleheader from the Giants and looped eight and one-half games out in front. "That'll fix-'dem guys," roared the talkative Chuck. "They'll never bother us again."

By August 11 the Bums were thirteen games out in front. Chuck, strangely enough, did not make any prophecies. It probably was because he didn't have to. He figured his Bums had the flag in the bag.

Leo "The Lip" Durocher was managing the Giants that year. And under his dynamic leadership the team went out there and won 16 games in a row, cutting the Dodger margin to six.

What happening after that went down into baseball history. Somebody called it "The Miracle of Coogan's Bluff." The Giants nibbled and nibbled at that Dodger margin until on the last Friday of the season Durocher's heroes drew up on even terms.

Both clubs won on Saturday. On Sunday the Giants beat the Braves while the Dodgers were locked in tremendous combat with the Phillies. They went into extra time, then Schie Robinson became a Dodger all-time hero. He made a sensational catch of a line drive with the bases loaded and two out, and in the 14th won the game with a historical homer off Robin Roberts.

So what happens? The Giants and Dodgers went into a two-of-three game playoff. The Giants won the first and lost the second. They also had the third lost with one out in the ninth. Then Bobby Thomson exploded the shot that was heard around the baseball world. He hit a three-run homer and the Giants won 5-4.

If you go by history and the superstition that baseball especially runs in cycles of three's, the Dodgers, if they do happen to force a playoff are doomed to failure. There have been only two playoffs in National League history and the "Bums" lost both.

But in those good old days the Giants holed up at "Coogan's Bluff", while the beloved "Bums" played out of and in venerable steel-posted Ebbet's Field. Now as many a Gotham fan will tell you, "They've deserted the Big Town and gone to the west coast sticks."

Generally, New York fans are following the proceedings with mixed emotions. Giant fans still root for the "Jints" but the Flatbush faithful are so mad at a certain Mister O'Malley and the Dodgers, they are rooting for the Braves.

"Ain't that so, Peeve?"

Game-Ahead Dodgers Can Nail The Pennant Today

Put Away 5-4 Win Over Cubs As Braves Bow to Phillies; Each Team Has Two to Play

By ED WILES
Associated Press Staff Writer

Jack Meyer, a right-hander who's been a one-game performer for Philadelphia Phillies, hadn't been a winner in more than three months. Mostly a reliefer, he hadn't pitched more than five innings in better than a year. He hadn't beaten Milwaukee Braves in four years.

But Friday night he had the Braves hanging by their thumbs.

Behind Meyer's four-hit, 5-3 pitching shutout relief, the last-place Phillies beat the Braves and Lew Burdette 6-3 in the rain at Milwaukee, forcing them out of a first-place tie with Los Angeles Dodgers in the last-closing National League pennant race.

The Dodgers, one game ahead with two to play, put away a 5-4 victory over Chicago Cubs on Gil Hodges' 11th-inning home run and great relief work from Larry Sherry.

Los Angeles can nail the pennant today—if the Dodgers can couple a victory over the Cubs with another victory by the Phils. A sweep of their two at Chicago and the Dodgers are home free no matter what the Braves do today and Sunday.

PODRES AND SPAHN

Southpaw Johnny Podres (14-8) was the Dodger choice today against Dave Hillman (7-11). The Braves shoot with Warren Spahn (20-12) against the Phils' Robin Roberts (15-18).

San Francisco's The third-place Giants trail by 2½ games and still have three to play after Friday night's game was rained out at St. Louis. It's Sam Jones (20-13) and Jack Sanford (15-13) in a double-header tonight against the Cardinals' Vinegar Bend Mizell (13-9) and Larry Jackson (15-13).

The Phillies made it four in a row over Burdette, a 21-game winner who hasn't beaten them since May 22, and did it quick. They scored twice in the first inning and then tagged Burdette with his 15th defeat in a four-run third capped by Gene Freese's 22nd homer.

Meyer (5-3) put away his first victory since June 7 after relieving starter Don Cardwell in the fourth. He came on with one man out, two runs in—on two singles and Richie Ashburn's three-base error—and two men on base with walks.

NO DAMAGE

Meyer loaded the bases with a four-pitch walk to Enos Slaughter but got out the side when he retired Al Spangler on a short fly and got Ed Mathews, who had hit his 45th homer in the first inning, on a foul pop.

He hadn't worked more than five innings since July 26 of last year, when he lost a complete game to the Giants 9-1. He hadn't beaten the Braves since Aug. 22, 1955—when he defeated Burdette 4-3.

Hodges, who hit his 25th homer off losing reliefer Bill Henry, gave the Dodgers a 5-4 lead with a two-out, two-run double in the 11th. But homers by Santo Taylor, in the seventh off starter Don Drysdale, and Frank Bank's 36th eighth off Danny McDevitt, gave the C-bs their third lead of the game. It was Bank's 45th tying Mathews for the major league home run lead.

The only other games were in the American League. Detroit Tigers beat Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees rallied third place over the Tigers with a 5-2 victory over Baltimore Orioles. Cleveland Indians beat Kansas City Athletics 8-2 and Boston Red Sox belted Washington Senators 10-4.

Belleville horses had a very successful tour last weekend, with racing in Warkworth, Stirling and at the Mohawk Info.

Friday, August 18, Warkworth raffle, "Lee Mac S" owned and driven by Irvin Ness of Belleville, annexed the first of his already long string of victories as he again beat such speedsters as "Port Hope Girl" and "Jungle Hew's "Miss Dixie Dillinger" from their tour of duty in the 3-in-slow class, six in "Lee Mac S" class and seven in the free-for-all, which was split between "Elgin Wenger" and Doc Scott's "Dr. Bullet". Driver Bowmansville' "Mr. Bobby Hendley, owned by Bill Orr of Belleville, teamed excellently for Bill Faulkner, was twice second with each of favorites "Mr. V Griff" and "Calumet Wayne" behind him.

Sliding Fair Saturday, September 19th saw "John De Wayne" owned by John Weaver of Belleville and driven by Ken Weeks win two close heats in Gazette Handicap 2.12 Roy Mitchell of Brighton was twice second with "Ginger McKinney" while the trotters "Lucky Glee" owned by Carl Heath of Massey were third in both heats driven by G. Taylor of Roseneath and shared fourth and fourths.

Wins and seconds were split in the middle class between "Jungle Hew" who won the first in 2.20 and "Port Hope Girl" who won the second in 2.22 3-4. "Anna Lee" is owned and driven by Bob Compton of Sydenham while owner Norman Dezmo of Port Hope did the teaming for the "Girls". Mrs. H. Billy Gratton owned by R. Hunt of Tweed was twice third.

The F.F.A. was shared between "Lee Mac S" and "Mr. Bobby Hendley" with "Lee Mac" taking the first in 2.18 and "Lee" the second in 2.17. Alpenrose owned by Carl Heath of Marmora was twice 3rd.

Mohawk Info saw Herman Lucas' "Smithfield Boy" of Belleville win the heats under the handling of racing bare-footed behind as he pulled one shoe in the inside of the way down and Herm had to pull the other.

This week-end the Belleville horses racing at Picton Fair on Friday and Saturday afternoons. Kingston Fair, which opens on Tuesday, Sept. 29, for five days, has racing on four days starting Wednesday through Saturday, October 3. Tweed for five days on Sat. Oct. 4-8. Campbellford Fair on Wednesday, Sept 30 and Madoc on Wednesday, Oct. 7 wind up most of the district fall fairs, except Norwood, on the Thanksgiving week-end.

Bill Hennessey of Brighton has his mare, "Country Rose," hired to "Dinky Herbert," and believed to be in foal. Bill said he just didn't have time to look after her and train "Ace Hy" too.

Herman Lucas who now owns "Danny B. Herbert," has his own mare, "Betty Mac," also bred to him.

Bernard Hunt of Tweed bred his mare, "Princess Harvester," to W. J. Clarke's stallion, "Scotch Magic" at Canadale. My mare, "Mildred Chips" is also bred to "Scotch Magic" and is turned out at her old home with Alex Williams' farm, at Bloomfield. With her are Alex's two brood mares, each with an "Uncle Ben" colt by her side, and each bred to "Ezra Lee," a son of "Ezra Blue." These mares are "Prentice Charm" by "Knox" and "Pontiac Belle" by "The Diplomat."

The Quinte Driving and Riding Club meeting is slated for the second Tuesday in October, at the fairgrounds,

Ted Williams Has New Role Next Season

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Traveler said Friday ailing Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams will return as a pinch-hitter and spot starter in 1960.

The Traveler says the decision was made last week when Williams had a closed-door meeting with Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey. The Red Sox will announce the decision Sunday or after the world series, the newspaper says.

Williams, six - time American League batting champion and generally regarded as one of the greatest hitters in the history of the game, has been troubled by injuries all this season. His batting average this year dipped to .246, almost 100 points below his lifetime average. He is 41.

Several weeks ago Williams, fifth among all-time home run hitters with 492, said he had made his decision concerning his plans for next year, but was not ready to announce them.

END MEET TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — Old Woodbine's autumn meeting closes today with the running of the $10,000 Autumn Handicap and two divisions of the Display Stakes, each with a purse of $7,500.

Lick Don, 'The Hag'

Whipper, Sammy End Season In Blaze of Victory Glory

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The wrestling season ended here last night the way it should. The good guys won over the bad guys.

Hardboiled Haggerty and Don Jonathan, the "Cheater" of this summer-long serial, met their come-uppance at the hands and feet of handsome Whipper Watson and hero pal Sam Steamboat.

And contrary to general belief and the boys in the back room, they did it all by themselves. Yazsuh, with their own little hands and feet.

Referee Bunny Dunlop and Paiso Flanagan were in, out, around matters but actually the predicted assistance on the part of both was missing. Also they let the ring without personal debate or physical combat.

True, occasionally Jonathan and Haggerty and Billy might tangle. Dunlop chastised Watson not a few times and on fewer ones pushed the Whip a little. Watson did not retaliate immediately but it might be more than coincidental that he chucked one to the other foreman directly at Dunlop when in a corner.

Bunny wheezed and grimaced, but that was the extent of evidence against the Whip, so the case was dismissed.

It looked to this observer as though Watson and Steamboat had worked out a carefully-planned system of attack. They lined up like a football squad at times, darted in and out and between their opponents, and had Don and Hag in a tizzy.

But it wasn't exactly a one-sided affair. The Whip and Sam

Torgeson Says Chisox Have 'Togetherness'

DETROIT (AP) — "I guess you could call it togetherness," said old Earl Torgeson. "Yes, that's what we have—togetherness."

It has been 11 years since the 35 - year - old first baseman played in a world series game with the old Boston Braves of the National League. His 1950 championship Braves, it is the American League champion Chicago White Sox.

D'Amato Won't Handle Boxer In San Juan

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Commissioner Cus D'Amato won't be permitted to handle unbeaten Jose Torres when the Puerto Rican middleweight meets Cuba's Benny (Kid) Paret in a 10-round bout here tonight.

D'Amato, who also manages former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, has been suspended by the New York Athletic Commission.

Friday, Julio Monagas, Puerto Rican sports commissioner, said D'Amato wouldn't be given a license to manage or second here until the New York commission lifts the suspension.

D'Amato was suspended for failing to appear at a hearing.

Plante May Be 'Masked Man' Of Canadiens

MONTREAL (CP)—The most striking figure in Montreal Canadiens' training camp these days is a fellow who looks as if he's ready to say "boo" on Hallowe'en.

He's goalie Jacques Plante, wears a mask when he's manning a net. It fits just like a false face, is dark grey in color with small irregular streaks of white and is made of fibre glass.

Plante said Friday after a long workout on the ice, the mask doesn't hinder his vision and he will wear it in National Hockey League games.

Coach Toe Blake wasn't so sure about that, but wasn't adamant.

"Plante has won the Vezina Trophy as top goalie four years without a mask and I'd just as soon he didn't wear one," said Blake.

"It can be as perfect as you can possibly construct it, but it seems to me there would be some restriction for the mask.

Plante for several years has been figuring on some type of mask to wear regularly.

Last season he talked about it to Dr. Jean Maltais, physician, and Bill Head, club physiotherapist.

It was suggested Plante have a cast made of his face and then construct the mask. But it was worked out that way, along with an acquaintance of Plante who is in the fibre glass business.

Plante said he is having the mask patented and that it costs only about $9.

He said Plante wears has a crooked nose, matching his own with his broken nose several times. He has also had each cheek-bone fractured.

The mask fits snugly against the face. Flat rubber cushions protect the forehead and chin in absorbing blows. There are openings for eyes and mouth, just as in a false face. Elastic straps hold the mask in place.

Apparently unworried is Plante, who yells to his mates during play, the mouth section is shaped as if he is shouting

Trouble Ahead For Braves, If They Win

MILWAUKEE (AP) — If Milwaukee Braves win the National League pennant they can expect a lot more trouble from Chicago White Sox as they got last year from New York Yankees.

That's a capsule summary of the scouting report Hal Richman and Ted Beard have been compiling on the American League champions. After all the other contenders, the Braves have had men following the White Sox for weeks.

"I said last year it was about even since the Yanks had Mantle," said Mathews. "It turned out that's the way, and we lost in seven games."

It was apparent the veteran Braves had a high respect for the hit-and-run ability, tight defence and speed of the White Sox.

"This is a team organization," he said. "If I had to name a most valuable player, I would pick the fellow who sits on the bench and yells the loudest—Al Lopez.

How would Mathews compare the Sox with the 1958 Yanks?

"The Yankees had more power and they had world series experience," he said. "I think Chicago is better defensively and is more of a team unit."

Talbot First Hab Injury

MONTREAL (CP) — Defenceman Jean-Guy Talbot Friday became Montreal Canadiens' first injury victim when he suffered a shoulder separation during practice as his left shoulder rammed into the boards.

Physiotherapist Bill Head said it may be Monday before he can determine definitely how long Talbot will be out of the National Hockey League team's lineup.

With Talbot out, rookie Jean-Claude Tremblay will get his chance Saturday night in an exhibition game here against Rochester Americans of the American League.

Tremblay, who came up from Hull-Ottawa, likely will have all-star defencemen Tom Johnson as a partner. Junior Langlois, who has been alternating into form, likely will be bypassed for the game.

WILL USE HICKE

Rookie right winger Bill Hicke will also be in action against Rochester. He apparently has snapped out of his lethargy and scored six goals in the last four intra-squad scrimmages at fair. He was the AHL scoring champion and rookie of the year last season.

Saturday's game is one of four exhibition contests for Canadiens before they meet the NHL all-stars here Oct. 3.

The practice ended Friday with the players skating around the rink. Syracuse Reserve Nick Mickoski and Bob Perreault, who had practised with the Canadiens briefly last year, were in action.

Jacobsson is skipping around the country in a private plane with his brother Rolf and Detroit industrialist Gustav von Bels, who hails from Johnson's home town of Goteborg, Sweden.

When he arrived here late Thursday night, Jacobsson did but ignored a welcoming delegation headed by city councilman Paul Burke and several local boxing figures. He told them he was tired and would head to bed directly to bed.

But he gave them the slip when he arrived at the downtown hotel and took in some of the city's better known nightspots, such as Blaze Starr and the Panther Girl, until 4 a.m.

Secretary Emile Bronsan of the Louisiana Boxing Control Commission was particularly miffed.

Ingemar Miffs Officials In New Orleans

By BEN TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ingemar Johansson's irresistible offence won him the heavyweight title, but the "punch-hor" defence he apparently borrowed from Floyd Patterson isn't earning him many friends.

During a 15-hour stay in New Orleans, the 30-year-old Swedish slammer managed to:

1. Indicate ex - champ Rocky Marciano is back in training.

2. Rob a city councilman and local boxing officials the wrong way.

3. Take a hurried trip to Bourbon Street and a glimpse of the strip teasers.

He side-stepped questions as to whether he knew Marciano was on tap as a future opponent. Marciano several weeks ago all but knighted the Swede upon his return to the ring.

CLAIM'S ROCKY TRAINING

"All I can say is I know he's back in training," Johansson said. "Sure I'd like to meet him," he said breaking into a broad smile. "I'd fight anybody for a big gate."

Johansson is skipping around the country in a private plane with his brother Rolf and Detroit industrialist Gustav von Bels, who hails from Johnson's home town of Goteborg, Sweden.

When he arrived here late Thursday night, Johansson did but ignored a welcoming delegation headed by city councilman Paul Burke and several local boxing figures. He told them he was tired and would head to bed directly to bed.

But he gave them the slip when he arrived at the downtown hotel and took in some of the city's better known nightspots, such as Blaze Starr and the Panther Girl, until 4 a.m.

Secretary Emile Bronsan of the Louisiana Boxing Control Commission was particularly miffed.

Salary Demands 'Out of Line' Says Imlach

PETER BOROUGH (CP)—Manager - coach George (Punch) Imlach of Toronto Maple Leafs said Friday the salary demands of players in the National hockey players "have been away out of line."

"I only match the salaries of the players to let the fans see whether they're underpaid or not," the National Hockey League coach said. "I'm confident that the players are being paid as well as other NHL players with comparable records."

Imlach is having trouble signing a few players who were with the club in its sensational drive to the playoffs last season.

They are Ed Chadwick, Bobby Pulford, Billy Harris, Larry Regan, Dick Duff, Frank Mahovlich, Allan Stanley, Tim Horton, George Armstrong, Gerry Ehman, Ron Stewart, Noel Price and Marc Beaume.

CALGARY (CP)—Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League defeated Calgary Stampeders 6-1 Friday night in an exhibition game before 5,469 fans.

Red Wings, playing against a Western Hockey League club which opened training only a few days ago, were never pressed while giving Calgary goalie Claude Pronovost, a newcomer, a rough evening.

Gordie Howe, clipped on the mouth by a stick in the second period, came back to score two goals in that session. Forbes Kennedy, Jim Morrison, Billy McNeill and Len Lunde added the others. Jim Morro scored for Calgary in the third period.

TIPS

by JOHN WETTLAUFER

Antenna masts are exposed to all kinds of weather and should be checked for rusting — which in time might cause the collapse of your entire antenna installation.

Older type masts were only plated on the outside, and although they looked bright and clean, they sometimes rusted through from within. For this reason rust stains on the roof should arouse suspicion and call for investigation. Newer type masts are plated both inside and out to largely eliminate this danger and to provide longer antenna life.

Play safe and save money by keeping your TV antenna in 1st class safe condition. CIRCLE TV SERVICE, 364 Coleman St. specialize in this type of work and will be glad to give you a free estimate on a complete aerial check-up. Phone WO 8-6791 (in Trenton EX 2-7689).

Billy Hunter TKO's Miteff

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Billy Hunter of Detroit scored a surprise technical knockout over Alex Miteff of Argentina Friday night in a bloody, 10 - round heavyweight boxing match.

Referee Joe Abraham stopped the fight at the end of the seventh round after Miteff's face was cut badly by Hunter's jabs. Hunter weighed 197 pounds, Miteff 205.

The lanky Hunter opened cuts under Miteff's eyes and on his cheek in a fierce fourth round. Blood spurted down Miteff's face, turning Hunter's white trunks and Abraham's shirt a bright red.

Miteff, seventh-ranked among world heavyweights, had won three in a row.

Hunter was leading 4-3-1 on the cards of Abraham and judge Dick Fazio and Ed Nowakowski when the fight was stopped.

Twimpers flared when Miteff and Hunter smacked each other after the bell ended the third round, "I'll get you," Miteff hollered across the ring.

Hunter, 26, fighting off-and-on since 1954, has a 13-6-3 won-lost-draw record.

Brown Draws With Joe Parks, Breaks Hand

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (CP)—Joe Brown, world lightweight boxing champion, suffered a possible broken hand Friday night as he battled to a 15-round draw against scrappy Joe Parks in a non-title bout.

X-rays were taken to determine the extent of the injury. Brown, involved in negotiations to defend his crown against either Englan'd Dave Charnley or junior welterweight king Carlos Ortiz, hurt the hand in the third round. He said it was "very painful."

The champion, from Baton Rouge, La., also sustained a cut eye in the sixth round as Parks, from Omaha, Neb., bore in. Parks sent Brown to the canvas for a one-count in the final round.

Varsity Whips Mustangs 25-7

TORONTO (CP) — University of Toronto Blues, showing a powerful ground attack, walloped University of Western Ontario Mustangs 25-7 Friday night in a Senior Intercollegiate Football Union exhibition game before 9,000 fans.

Blues' scored one touchdown in each quarter and dominated play during the first half before Mustangs caught fire in the last two quarters.

Midway through the first quarter the Blues took a 6-0 lead and never relinquished it. Dave Cresswell, Joe Foreman, Bobby Dann and Paul Burroughs scored Toronto's touchdowns. Eric Potter kicked one convert.

Meco Polanzini, on a one-yard barge over right tackle at 8:32 of the third quarter, scored Western's lone touchdown, converted by Bill Mitchell.

Although it was only an exhibition, it appears Blues are favorites to retain the league title they won last year with an undefeated seven-game season. The 1960 season opens here Friday night with Toronto facing McGill University Redmen.

TOUTHFUL BRILLIANCE TURNS TO VIOLENCE

High School Big Shot and T-Bird Gang, two powerful new features concerned with the problems of youth from the Filmgroup, begin their first local engagement Monday at the Park Theatre. These unusual films explore the point of view of the high school student faced with the need for moral and ethical decisions, yet often unable to cope with the social environment in which they find themselves.

Starring Tom Pittman as a rebel but brilliant student, High School Big Shot is the story of the personal longings and temptations that finally lead to the attempt at the "perfect crime" — a robbery so carefully planned and executed that even the underworld was dazzled by the precision of the young amateur. Co-feature, T-Bird Gang, starring John Bricker and Ed Nelson, is concerned with the sadistic mastermind behind an organized youth syndicate and the personal vendetta of one young man as he seeks to avenge his father's death.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

Sunday, September 27, 1959.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) A smiling mien will bring about real harmony now with vital persons in your life. However, be certain not to follow some leader bunch, or the advice of unscrupulous individual. P.M. be off to some out-door fun with good pals.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) Be of as much service as possible today to loved ones. Run errands, make telephone calls, etc. Thus you steer clear of some outside meddler who wants to start trouble through jealously and poor sportsmanship. Be wise.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) Use services of your choice now, or read excellent philosophical material that will give you insight into the all-important Truth and principles by which you should live your life. Don't get bogged down with dull chores. Expand.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) Be sure you return to principles under which you lived and thrived in the past now. Also, take care not to be extravagant in money, with finances and valuable time. P.M. enjoy yourself inexpensively, and be thoughtful of other fellow.

Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you attend 'services' at own place of worship today, you can soon find the truth and wisdom to solve any current problems that vex you. P.M. take pains with your looks and wardrobe so that you may be ready for best week.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) Amount of dashing about will give you the answers for which you are seeking. Prayer and concentration are the keys instead. Be of service to others, also as you can do so well when you wish to. Store up blessings.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Forget work and material things now and concentrate on the spiritual, friends, family — all the things that make life so much the richer. Be sure to attend own church, be inspired.

Scorpio (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Try not to be selfish today, and be of service to others instead, so you may run into trouble. Also, be sure you do some civic duty well and raise your prestige within the community. P.M. get weeks ahead nicely planned out.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) It is foolish to fret and fume over what cannot be helped today. Make it a point rather to be cool, where you can hear the sage words of great and inspired speakers. Gather wisdom and you can live a more abundant life.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Do not heed the advice of some comrade with a chip on his or her shoulder today. Seek out expert advice instead with regard to that special problem given you.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Steer clear of that individual with an axe to grind who wants to vent his ire on you. Be with associate who is vital to you instead. Both have a delightful time together or discuss those matters that will spell greater success later.

Pisces (Feb. 20 to March 20) It would be unwise now to seek seemingly greener pastures or apparently glittering persons. Remain loyal to those who have proven themselves instead and know how to be of great service to them and how to cement better relations.

If your child is born today . . . The very intelligent child born today will be an wide-awake one that it will profit you not at all to use customary childish methods in rearing. The mind is a scientific one, be sure you early teach the facts of life wisely, or there can be trouble at very early age. Also, criticize only when absolutely necessary, for your precious cannot take mocking one iota. A fine chart for the scientist, the explorer.

3,400 Are Dead, Missing In Worst Japanese Storm

Extensive Crop Damage Sends Food Prices Up

TOKYO (AP)—An official estimate that 3,000 Japanese died at Nagoya in typhoon Vera was made today, raising the prospect that the great weekend storm was the deadliest to hit Japan in modern times.

If the estimate made by that industrial city's assembly is borne out, the number of dead or missing would approach 3,400, exceeding the 3,066 toll of the worst previous typhoon in 1934.

Before the assembly's estimate was made public, police set the national toll at 2,346 dead or missing, including 1,763 known dead, 1,138 missing, 5,095 injured and 1,120,745 homeless. Police had placed the number of dead at Nagoya at 170.

Widespread crop damage sent prices of rice and vegetables soaring, keeping more hardship on the populace.

Eyewitness accounts of one of the worst typhoons ever to hit Japan told a cruel story.

They came from the tiny Nagashima, a town in central Japan, said "it could only guess the location of the main street."

DIG FOR 290

Another reporter is nearby Ise City at Nagoya was described as a "sea of dead," with seven ocean-going ships grounded like beached whales and debris floating everywhere. Hundreds were killed or missing in the city by 2,000,000. There also was heavy industrial damage, including the flooding of automobile and textile plants.

Sukuoya, Nagashima, Kuwana and Handa all border Ise Bay, on the Pacific coast at central Japan, where typhoon Vera first struck Saturday with maximum winds over 160 miles an hour.

The storm swept up the main island of Honshu, crossed Hokkaido Island and finally swirled into the Okhotsk Sea and the Northern Pacific with undiminished strength Sunday night.

Typhoon Vera was the fifth to strike Japan this year. Formosa was battered last month by a typhoon that killed at least 1,000. Another typhoon hit South Korea early in May, leaving a casualty list more than 600. In addition, 1,200 Korean fishermen who put out to sea in the storm are unaccounted for.

Just before the storm here not said a special budget allocation will be made for rehabilitation of the area and one of the enormous damage.

National police said property damage included some 40,000 homes totally destroyed, over 80,000 partially damaged, and some 400,000 homes flooded.

There was also much destruction to shipping, communications, highways and rail transportation.

HIGHWAY MISHAPS CHIEF KILLERS DURING WEEKEND

31 Deaths Reported Across Canada

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Highway mishaps, mostly in Ontario and Quebec, accounted for more than half the 31 accidental deaths reported in Canada during the weekend.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local times Friday to midnight Sunday showed Ontario with seven traffic deaths and Quebec with six, out of a national toll of 17 highway fatalities.

Ontario also had an asphyxiation death in a house fire, two fatal falls—both in homes—a baby girl run over by a tractor landscaping the garden of her home and a boy drowned who apparently fell asleep while walking along a railway track and was struck by a train.

ONTARIO LIST

The Ontario death ..... William Henry Stratford, 30, Fort William, when struck by a car Friday night while crossing a street in the Lakehead city.

Ann Van Dyk, two-and-half-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Varty, when struck by a farm tractor Saturday at her Whitby Township home near Oshawa.

Frank William Hill, 18, Toronto, when his car went out of control Sunday and smashed into a abutment on a highway in West Toronto.

Mrs. Roy Davis Stewart, 52, and her 12-year-old son Donald, when their car in which they were riding left the road Saturday and overturned.

SARNIA (CP) — Nine pistols and revolvers — seven of them loaded — were found Saturday when two youths were arrested in Port Huron, Mich., as they came out of the St. Clair international railway tunnel.

A stack of 11 more guns was found later, buried near the trucks on the Canadian side.

Stanley Wright, 17, of Kitchener, and Gary McMillan, 18, of Waterloo, were charged with carrying concealed weapons. They were to appear today in Port Huron municipal court.

Police said the two youths were stopped by railway policemen as they left the tunnel after walking the 1½ miles from Sarnia.

The honorary president of the Canadian Labor Congress suffered a heart attack and died Sunday at the cottage of Railway Employees in 1907.

From these combined researches, the following findings emerged:

Most of those—questioned said they were uncertain whether Khrushchev's visit would help ease international tensions. Tabulations showed 37 per cent hitting this view.

Canada to Take 60 Students Withdrawn From Red Schools

LONDON (CP) — Canada has agreed to take roughly one-quarter of more than 200 Egyptian and Syrian students withdrawn recently from Russia universities, it was learned today.

The United Arab Republic is thought to have decided to recall the students from Russia because of excessive ideological indoctrination.

Most of the students withdrawn were hand-picked to fill roles as future technologists and scientists in the U.A.R. provinces of Egypt and Syria. Thousands more are to be post-graduate work in sciences and engineering.

Britain announced it has accepted 12 of the students and schools in the United States are taking another 1,000.

The U.A.R. decision was made after the Egyptian revolutionary celebrations last July. Students returning from Russia for the festivities were reported to have caused outright concern among U.A.R. officials when they showed how much Marxist indoctrination they had received.

Another reason given is that Soviet professors and students lacked modern laboratories and Syrian students. This was said to have "a life in Russia "very unhappy" for the students:

Despite this, about 60 Syrian students were reported to have become Communists and have refused to return home.

The request for assistance from Western countries was made in August. Efforts to find places in Canadian institutions were made by the external affairs department staff in London working in co-operation with the Canadian

Khrushchev Charmed Some, Worried Others on Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev crashed into the consciousness of the American people only the distance from earth to the moon.

He charmed some, infuriated and worried others. But most who saw the shiny-pated Soviet leader were impressed with him as a smart, capable man.

Nobody, it seems, was left with a ho-hum attitude about him.

These assessments of Khrushchev and his trip through the United States derive from two first-hand sources.

Associated Press offices in major cities questioned people in all walks of life. The surveys were taken in the cities where Khrushchev went — Washington, New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Des Moines and Pittsburgh. Reporters made more soundings in route where he did not appear.

In addition, a team of AP correspondents covered Khrushchev's visit and talked with his audiences on the whole 12-day tour.

said, "it can't hurt."

2. However, almost as many— 34 per cent—answered "yes" to this question.

3. Those who said "no" accounted for 29 per cent of the total.

Asked to give the reason they thought Khrushchev's visit might help ease the tensions, the overwhelming majority gave one of two answers: "He'll get to know us better" and, "We'll understand better."

In the eyes of some Americans, Khrushchev succeeded in transforming the image of him they had held before he came here.

"He impressed me that he's not an ogre," said George Vinie, San Francisco window cleaner.

Khrushchev impressed many Americans unfavorably on these counts:

1. They doubt his sincerity.

"A great showman but not to be trusted," said J. L. Oliver, Atlanta service station operator.

2. They didn't like his refusal to answer tough questions.

"He's astute, but his refusal to discuss issues on their merits indicates weakness," said Hudson McKee, Dallas public relations counsellor.

Making Movie With Actress Hypnotized

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Something new has been added to the Hollywood scene—a hypnological director. It could mean the end of ulcers among directors who have to deal with temperamental actresses.

Gil Boyne, a professional hypnotist, was hired by allied artists to direct Shirley Jones in details on The Hypnotic Eye.

Boyne, who takes his work seriously, soon had almost everybody on the set hypnotized, including Merry Anders, the leading lady. Now Merry is doing several of her scenes while under hypnosis. She may be the first actress to perform in a deliberate trance.

Director George Hisir commented: "Great! That's the way to make pictures. One take, no back talk and a performance that's even Garbo couldn't equal."

Canada had been asked to take 100 students. Because of the lateness of the request, only 60 could be accommodated. Vacant places were few in most of the Canadian institutions at the time the request was received.

His Personal Conditions For Parley At Summit Met Eisenhower Tells Newsmen

Mr. K., Home In Moscow, Calls Eisenhower's Mind 'Statesmanlike'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today of his talks with Premier Nikita Khrushchev that the threat to Berlin no longer exists and his personal conditions for holding a summit conference have been met.

But Eisenhower declined to say in so many words that the Soviet leader had given him personal assurances that 'amounted to lifting the Berlin threat.

He replied to press conference questions on that point by saying he did not want to put words in anybody's mouth.

Eisenhower said he agreed with Khrushchev that the Berlin situation is abnormal—because of the existence of a group of free people inside Communist territory. He said that some system of living with it must be found acceptable to both sides.

Eisenhower told the press conference that he and Khrushchev had agreed that there should be no fixed deadline for the negotiations on Berlin.

Discussing his weekend talks, he described Khrushchev as a dynamic personality.

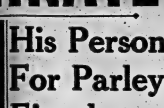
UNDER KEEN METHOD

The Soviet premier, he said, used every possible debating technique and "covered the whole latitudes ranged from the negative and difficult to the most easy and flabby.

At the end of the conference Eisenhower was asked whether in the new negotiations the West would be guided by the same conditions it had proposed in regard to Berlin—namely, that any solution must guarantee allied rights and also protect the freedom of the West Berliners.

Eisenhower replied that he could not guarantee anything at all. Khrushchev and he would know what kind of a solution might finally prove acceptable.

He noted that the situation was abnormal. It had been brought about by a military truce after the end of the war and strangely it had put a number of free people in a very awkward position.



U.S. PRISONERS

He disclosed that in the course of the talks he had with Khrushchev at Camp David, on the Friday night to Sunday afternoon, Khrushchev had said that in a friendly way he would take up with Chinese Communist leaders the problem of the Americans who had gotten over in Chinese jail.

He said they spent very little time talking about Communist China, however, because they recognized that their views were entirely opposed.

Eisenhower described the conference with glowing praise for the American people's treatment of Khrushchev. He said they were sophisticated in being able to listen to the other fellow's arguments and criticism while remaining strong in their own conviction.

Eisenhower spoke with a slight passal sufferings. He said he had come back from Europe with the begining of a cold.

Well in advance of his meeting with reporters Eisenhower was understood to have considered accounts of his talks with Khrushchev to Prime Minister Macmillan, President de Gaulle and Chancellor Adenauer — all of whom he had consulted prior to Khrushchev's coming.

Khrushchev spent two hours Sunday in front of the television cameras, discussing the talks and extolling the attractions of communism. A few hours later he boarded his TU-114 jet prop aircraft at Andrews air force base with his wife, children and grandchildren aboard a hero's welcome in Moscow.

TRIP DELAYED

In his farewell address he spoke of his meeting with Eisenhower and the president's return trip to Russia next spring as "the beginning of joint efforts in the quest of ways of bringing our two nations closer together and strengthening peace."

Initially, Eisenhower was to tour Russia later this fall. Both Khrushchev and the White House said the early Russian winter was a reason for the postponement.

Khrushchev told reporters he made a great visit to Eisenhower grandchildren to go along with their grandfather to Russia.

"The question of time arose, and I took it on myself to suggest that spring would be a good time because the flowers will be in bloom, everything is warm, nothing is frozen," Khrushchev jovially told his press conference.

To the Soviet people he kept plugging away at disarmament and world peace. At his departing ceremonies he emphasized again that he and Eisenhower had agreed to settle all issues peacefully.

MESSAGE

Vice-President Nixon, who saw him off, said Khrushchev was taking with him Eisenhower's all the American peoples' for the great cause of peace and friendship among all nations of the earth."

It was at Eisenhower's ruthe Camp David retreat in the mountains of Maryland some 60 miles west of Washington that the two leaders reached what

Farewell Message by Khrushchev Voices Gratitude for Hospitality

NEW YORK (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev, early today issued a farewell radiogram to President Eisenhower from his Moscow-bound plane, saying he hoped he can visit Eisenhower on the next occasion.

The Soviet premier dispatched his message as his TU-114 turbo-prop left American skies, terminating to an end his visit to the Western world.

The message, distributed by Tass news agency, read:

"Crossing the boundary of the United States I beg you, Mr. President, to accept my thanks and members of my family and persons accompanying me, also on my own behalf, cordial gratitude for the invitation to visit your country and for the warm reception extended to us by you personally and by the American people.

"Our acquaintance with the life of the American people was highly interesting and useful. The conversations and talks on the most important international problems on questions of Soviet-American relations will undoubtedly be a step towards undertaking the efforts required to call off the cold war, peace."

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev returned from his American visit today with a declaration that "Those who are afraid of coexistence are unwitting tools in promoting the cold war."

The Soviet premier told a throng at the Moscow Sports Palace that the cold war might spark off another armed conflict.

"Then it would be too late to ask questions about coexistence, when atom-bomb-carrying rockets started flying," he said.

Khrushchev assured the Soviet people that progress was made during his seven days visit. He said President Eisenhower showed a statesmanlike mind in assessing the situation.

Thousands of Russians cheered him and waved flowers as his car on his 30-mile drive from the airport to the Sports Palace. The car was slowed almost to a halt and police had to clear a path at times as jubilant throngs surged onto the pavement.

At the Sports Palace, before 15,000 persons, he said the 20th century is the century of the transition to a human genlus.

"IMPOSSIBLE"

"Now that man has achieved great scientific heights and mastered the forces of nature," he said, "it is impossible to maintain relations which belong to prehistoric days.

"The Soviet government believes that all international questions can be settled between states with different social systems on the principle of peaceful coexistence. There is no other way out.

Referring to his invitation to visit the United States, Khrushchev said Eisenhower showed "courage and will" and, despite the complicated situation in the U.S., the president enjoyed the support of the people.

He said there were some dark spots in his trip.

"There are forces in the states working against us, and against easing international tension," he declared in his broadcast speech. "These forces should be exposed and publicly shamed.

"If I tell you that all the questions we wanted to discuss were

Expect Enormous Profits as Result Of Risky Salvage of Ocean Tanker

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A shoestring salvage operation was mystified even its experts is expected to bring enormous profits to the new owners of the broken-backed American oil tanker Pendleton Queen.

The three-year-old vessel was raised from a watery grave off the Maryland shore by eight exhilarating Virginians in the face of tremendous odds and the skepticism of professional salvagers.

The tanker reached port Sunday after a small's-pace tow of about 72 hours.

Lloyd Dier, chief of the salvage crew, estimated the refloat of the broken freighter, said scraping work and some repairs had already begun at dockside here. A full-scale survey and repair work will be made when the ship is placed in drydock.

The Queen, flying the Liberian flag, broke apart on a reef off Cape May, N.J., Dec. 31, Last March a New York salvage firm had decided raising the African Queen would be too risky.

But Dier, along with Paul Brady, Beddie Little and several assistants, stepped in, lured by the possibility of fine profits if they could bring the broken vessel to port.

The original cost of the Queen was $8,500,000. Dier says he is optimistic that the patched-up tanker, minus her bow, will bring nearly half the original cost.

Curtis Campbell, C.B.E., C.D., Chief of the Canadian Air Staff, made a special trip to Trenton to participate in the disbandment ceremony and to express his personal appreciation to the RCAF as a whole and to the two display units in particular, for their outstanding contribution to this year's celebrations of the 25th anniversary of flight in Canada and the 30th anniversary of the RCAF.

"The Golden Hawks," he said, "have proved to be one of the finest aerobatic teams of the Western World — in fact, I think it's the finest! They have delighted me before two and a half million Canadians, displaying such skill and precision the RCAF as a whole, to them we owe a great deal of thanks."

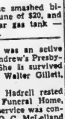
About the Silver Dart team, he said: "This anniversary celebration started on February 23rd, the anniversary of the first flight in this, when W/C Paul Harriman flew the replica of the Silver Dart from Baddeck, Nova Scotia to Hon. J. A. McCurdy 30 years ago. Since that time, the Silver Dart team has travelled the length and breadth of the Dominion providing a media by which all have been able to see the great strides in both the civil and military aviation progress over the past 30 years."

SPECIAL LAUNCH FOR GUESTS

Air Marshal Campbell offered special thanks to Air Vice-Marshal J. G. Gordon, Air Officer Commanding Training Command, formerly of Trenton, now based in Winnipeg, under whose direction the Golden Hawks had been formed; to Wing Commander J. F. Easton who had commanded the Golden Hawks team; Wing Commander W. Lee, under whose guidance the team was formed at Chatham, N.B.; to Squadron Leader Fern Villeneuve, who headed the team and to F/O Roy Grandy, in charge of the ground crew. He also mentioned the outstanding work of Corporal Lionel Mc-Gregor, of the RCAF who had recently constructed the replica of the Silver Dart, and Flight Lieutenant Dent, and F/O Hall for their appreciation to F/O C. V. Walker and his crew who were responsible for flying the Dart on tour.

Air Marshal Campbell said it was fitting that the disbandment ceremony be held at Station Trenton.

"It was here that the first RCAF Station to be built was opened in 1931. I was fortunate to meet many of the officers on hand for that great event. The station then consisted of two hangars and 20 acres of landing field, kept closely cropped by sheep."



Looking around at the great expanse of facilities now boasted by Station Trenton, he said, "we are accordingly again to build a new hangar for Air Transport Command. Another hangar will house a new heating system. This is typical of what has happened to the Canadian Air Force in the past 15 years."

Speaking directly to the members of both display units, Air Marshal Campbell closed his address by saying, "I consider it a great honor to come here and express the appreciation of myself and the RCAF as a whole for the great work you have done this year."

Police Report Quiet Weekend

TRENTON — Trenton police experienced another quiet reasonably-peaceful week-end, with only a few minor mishaps reported.

They were called out to investigate two hit-and-run incidents, both on Friday night. The first happened between 7.30 and 8.15 on Quinte Street. A 1936 car, owned by Fred W. Roger, R.R. 4, Frankford, was parked on the north side of the street, leading into a garage. Another vehicle apparently backed and struck the left side of the parked car. Little damage was caused.

The second hit-and-run accident occurred about the same time behind the Bata Shoe Store on Dundas Street. Gordon R. Matheson, 52 Dundas W., Trenton, reported to police that an unknown car had struck the right side of his vehicle. Damage was estimated at about $40.

A two-car accident at the corner of Dundas and Queen Sts. late Friday night resulted in an estimated $40 damage. The accident happened when a westbound car, driven by Joseph R. Burr, 18 Westholme Ave., Toronto, was struck by a car driven by Pvt. Gordon A. Lassing, 5c Division Street, as the truck made a right-hand turn from Queen to Dundas, striking the left front of the car. Damage to the car was caused to the truck.

Small Amount Of Change Taken

TRENTON — Trenton police are investigating a small break-in which occurred during last night at a West Street grocery store.

Some of the robbery was Bellamy's Food Market, 137 West Street, where entry was gained through a rear window. Only a small amount of change was taken from the cash register.

Investigation is being carried on under Detective Sgt. R. Rutherford.

CAR DAMAGES BICYCLE

TRENTON—One Trenton boy will probably think twice before casually dropping his bicycle in the middle of the driveway from now on — even if it is in his own yard.

Berry Bassett, 135 Wragg St., Trenton, left his bike in the middle of the driveway Saturday afternoon. At 2.15, a taxi, operated by Fred A. McDonald, 31 College St., was travelling east along Wragg when he had to turn into the driveway to turn around.

The result: one smashed bicycle — to the tune of $20, and a hole in the car gas tank — about $5 damage.

Golden Hawks, Silver Dart Display Units Disbanded In Trenton Station Ceremony

TRENTON — The Golden Hawks, Canada's crack Air Force aerobatic team along with the Silver Dart display unit were formally disbanded Saturday in an impressive ceremony at RCAF Station, Trenton.

MUSCLE MEN

Q. How is it possible for professional weight-lifters to relax tremendously and then exhaust before lifting the bar?

A. General muscular development and "muscle-tone" are obviously needed to lift heavy weights. This is practice. A study of weightlifting and development shows that theoretical maximum lift is something like 100 pounds. This is practice, about tops for professionals. Much of the lifted weight is needed for their spinal column. The robbery posts (universal gym) are designed to relax each bone of the spine without pressure up to 1,000 pounds, the professional weight-lifter must relax long enough to crash the spine.

HIS PERSONAL

Khrushchev described as "common understanding on many issues."

Last November Russia told the West to get out of West Berlin in an ultimatum the West rejected flatly. Sunday Khrushchev told Eisenhower at once that he and Eisenhower had "found much in common" on the Berlin issue.

Asked if he gave assurances that Western rights in Berlin will be respected, Khrushchev replied:

"We exchanged views with the president on many subjects and we do not think we have to make everything public. We will make public as much as need be. . . . I think we will have to come to it when more will be revealed."

INSETS ON DIVISION

Khrushchev-Eisenhower appeared to ease up on the Berlin issue, he bridged a gap on both sides when he said that East and West Germany should remain split, but that a treaty of friendship signed with each, to prevent a "revanche" of the "vicious" German militarists whom Khrushchev blamed for the two world wars.

And he continued to plug for world disarmament plans to end all armies and missiles in four years, painting a glowing picture of what Russia and the U.S. could do with the $85,000,000,000 spent every year by the countries spend on defence— some $40,000,000,000 by the U.S. and $25,000,000,000 by Russia.

On disarmament, Khrushchev hinted during an hour-long television broadcast to the American people that Eisenhower's hands may be a bit tied on ending the arms race; that some "influential circles" in the U.S. still wanted to maintain the cold war between East and West.

A clue to possibly significant agreement between the two leaders, however, was set out in the formal communique.

It said Khrushchev:

"With respect to the specific Berlin question," this document reported, "an understanding was reached, subject to the approval of the parties directly concerned, that negotiations would be reopened with a view to reaching a solution which would be in the interest of the maintenance of peace."

Hagerty added that these negotiations might be conducted by diplomats, in a foreign ministers' conference or at a summit conference.

DIES FIGHTING SALMON

Commission counsel, S. E. Fennell (right) of Cornwall, chats with William VanTassel, chairman of Belleville Re-creation Commission, one of the many city board officials called to testify.

Judicial Enquiry Into City's Financial Affairs Opened At City Hall This Morning

With what appeared to be a general lack of interest on the part of Belleville citizenry, the long-awaited judicial enquiry into the city's financial affairs got underway this morning at city hall.

When the enquiry looking into Belleville's quarter of a million dollar deficit was declared shortly after 10.30 only 23 persons were seated in the chambers. Enquiry officials, and the more prominent ones who had been subpoenaed to give evidence, were outnumbered reporters and photographers made up the remainder of those on hand for the opening.

The judicial enquiry is being held before His Honor Judge Arthur Roy Willmott, of Cobourg, with S. E. Fennell, Q.C., of Cornwall acting as commission counsel. Also present was F. G. Blake, presenting the Municipal Affairs Department as director of municipal accounting and accounting branch.

Judge Willmott said there would be a "full and complete opportunity" for all persons to give evidence at the hearing with any persons having knowledge of any facts concerning the matter specified "even urged" to make their knowledge available.

At last witness called Deputy Clerk Adam Stalker was asked to identify various city records and by-laws regarding the appointment of city officials.

BY-LAWS READ

The appointing by-laws were introduced as exhibits.

Mr. Stalker said he had been appointed deputy city clerk following the death of the late Mrs. Anne Haggerty who died last June. Mrs. Haggerty had been appointed clerk in June 1956 following one year in an acting capacity.

Other position appointment by-laws included those covering the appointment of the late Harold D. Bateman as city clerk in 1953, and the appointment of Harry Denyes as city treasurer in 1949.

The enquiry into the city's financial affairs resulted from the 1958 city audit which in the words of Mayor Gerald B. Hyde indicated that city money had been "grossly misspent" in connection with the city- operated McFarlands Senior Hockey Team.

A later city audit bringing the city's books up to date as of May 9th, indicated the city's deficit as being $235,000, of which $110,000 was attributed to the hockey team and over $30,000 to the Belleville Memorial Arena.

Mr. Denyes as city treasurer and city manager, had also acted in the role as manager of the hockey team.

When the city's financial position with respect to the hockey team operated was learned City Manager Denyes was suspended by city council which later asked for the judicial enquiry into Belleville's financial affairs.

Stalker identified items in a record book as those council minutes from 1952 to 1959.

He admitted city had used city manager's city treasurer and two such officials, Mr. Dennis Herring and later Mr. Drury Denyes as Mayor Hyde's appointed in May, 1958, and handling cheques committees abolished. A private bill for the city manager form of government was enacted.

Mr. Fennell read the by-law providing for this form of government, outlining the duties of such an official. It enacted on appointment of Drury Denyes as city manager in addition to his duties as treasurer.

"He shall be head of administrative branch of the city besides other duties, general supervision costs of city maintenance, etc."

LEFT PRODUCED

He placed before the commission a list of elected city councils from 1956-1959, inclusive.

Mr. Stalker identified a by-law 3758 for appointment of an auditor for the city, namely, F. A. R. McFadden, in 1942.

He said there had been no further by-laws passed regarding the appointment of a city auditor.

Mr. Fennell read an excerpt from a minute of May 8, 1958, under the requesting of the auditors to make a special audit of finances especially the operation of a hockey team.

Stalker pointed out that an auditor had been appointed by and from the Ontario Municipal Board. This official had filled the office for a period of three weeks.

BY-LAWS ADMITTED

Banking by-laws of the city over the 1956-1959 period were admitted as exhibits.

Mr. Stalker told the commissioner that Miss Grace Rowe was appointed deputy-treasurer in 1956 and Mr. Garrett Milner was appointed acting treasurer for a brief period of time. He said an acting treasurer would likely be appointed by city council tonight.

Mr. Fennell read an extract from minutes of 1956 authorizing the city treasurer to sign all city cheques or in his absence, the deputy treasurer. Later extracts revealed city would be co-signer, or in his place, Frank Granatstein.

The significant thing, Mr. Fennell said, is that the Municipal Act states "treasurer shall receive and keep all money of the corporation, produced by the treasurer and some other authorized person, who shall sign all cheques." A municipality of under 5,000 population can have the treasurer sign alone.

"Do you know how long the treasurer continued to sign personal cheques alone?" Stalker was asked.

"Up until April 7 of this year" he replied.

It was revealed that by-laws passed in 1956 and 1957 authorized the city treasurer to invest surplus city funds at rate of interest.

Mr. Fennell also produced and admitted as an official exhibit the names of the members of City Arena Commission from 1947 to 1956.

He also admitted copies of by-laws pertaining to the purchase of and the borrowing of $30,000 for improvements to the arena in 1946.

Mr. Fennell read the by-law calling for the appointment of the "Arena Commission."

He said he did not know the "significance of the word 'commission'."

READ FROM MINUTES

Arrangements for the civic operation of an arena in the Municipal Act are found in section 4 of the Act, he said.

Mr. Stalker had prepared and given him names of members of the Arena Commissions for years 1957-58-59.

Mr. Fennell read certain extracts from the minute book of the Arena Commission.

He said that as at January, 1953 meeting the commission had requested that Mayor Hunt and Dineen of the Provincial Treasury Department, Hospital Tax Division, meet with the Commissioner, Sandercock, MPP. In September, Alderman Doo Mitchell told the commission he was not interested in sponsoring the hockey team, and Mayor Hyde Haig had informed the commission there was no chance of a suitable private sponsor. Alderman Bruce Smith was the first Senior Hockey Commissioner at the time.

At a later meeting Lloyd Moran and the chairman were named to attend an OHA meeting, and to consult with Toronto. Later the Arena Commission decided to sponsor the hockey team. Alderman Bruce Smith was receiving $500 and the club secretary $300.

The next year Alderman Gerald Hyde was appointed chairman of the commission.

A statement from treasurer Ligny Denyes revealed the team from $4,383.63, operating on a 60-40 basis.

Last winter there were no applications from private sponsors, the commission continued.

On April 6th, 1954, it was moved, seconded and carried that the city operate the hockey team. Alderman Bruce Smith learned deep regret and "there was to be no interference from other arena commissioners with hockey team." Mr. Fred Rose also approved that all players and officials be under contract. Smith and Hyde before being signed.

At this point Mr. Fennell said "As far as I know there is no authority for any municipality to operate a hockey team. It may be a question if it is definitely set up in the Municipal Act."

Mr. Fennell also expressed doubt of the authenticity of the name "commission."

The inquiry adjourned to resume again at 2.30 this afternoon.

Gay Children Of Many Races Play Together

NEW YORK (AP) — They were Jewish, Italian, Irish, Negroes and Puerto Rican. But mostly they were just children having a good time.

They danced and shouted and laughed in the warm sunshine on Seward Park, in the heart of Manhattan's lower East Side, the city's traditional immigrant port. It is an area that has known its share of racial tensions and violence, but not recently.

The Educational Alliance sponsored Sunday's community festival to show that the various groups can play together and enjoy it. Leaders of the Alliance declared the festival a huge success when they noted that all the ethnic groups of the neighborhood were represented.

A group in their bright costumes danced old European folk dances then there was several lively cha - chas - chas from their Latin neighbors. The children clapped in time to the music and applauded the dancers.

"Wunderbar," cried an elderly Jewish man watching the boys and girls.

For the tots, there were pickle rides mounted on trucks, a magic show and sweets to eat. There were special food booths for the different groups. And there were paintings and sculpture on display.

Approximately 200 Attend Gideon Rally, 1000 Bibles Dedicated

One thousand copies of the Scriptures for distribution in Belleville and district schools were dedicated in a special service held Sunday evening in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church. By kind arrangement with Major V. Greenwood and under the direction of Commanding Brenda the Salvation Army band provided several excellent Gospel selections and also the accompaniment for the hymns.

The Scriptures dedicated by Dr. E. W. Dow, are intended for Grade Five pupils, and Mr. L. A. Kells, superintendent of Belleville Public Schools accepted them on behalf of the children presenting to the audience two Grade Five pupils, Debbie Young and David Lott who were given tokens Testaments in a charming ceremony by Orvis A. Kennedy.

This event under the chairmanship of Cecil E. Roberts, formed the culmination of the Gideon Rally-in-Belleville. Rally held in Belleville during Friday, Saturday and Sunday under the sponsorship of the Belleville Camp of The Gideons, of which Angus J. Ramsay is president.

200 ATTEND BANQUET

Held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, the sessions began with a fellowship hour Friday evening. Saturday morning and afternoon were devoted to "Workshop" type of discussions relative to the work of The Gideons and the operation of their "Camps" on a local level. On Saturday evening almost 200 hundred persons attended a banquet in the Bridge School auditorium under the chairmanship of Gordon Campbell. Among those addressing the gathering were Alderman George White, who brought greetings on behalf of the City of Belleville, Rev. R. E. McLean, president of the Belleville Ministerial Association, who welcomed the people, and also the Ministerial Association and Church and Mr. Lee Grills, M.P.

The main speaker was Mr. Orvis Kennedy, Toronto, Ontario Field Secretary of The Gideons International to Canada, Kennedy held the audience into orbit with sputniks and moonlits with the basic theme "Let's Launch Out Into Space the Glory of the Lord," and, at intervals, as chairman, directed the audience to the great revelations which God has given to us in the Holy Scriptures.

Mention of Gideon work was made in the various local churches on Sunday when many results of Bible placement were described, and the hope was expressed for an increasing effort in the months of the Centennial wealth, where in India and Africa hundreds of millions of people do not own a Bible.

Nikita Turns Down Invitation To Go to Church

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)— Premier Khrushchev Sunday turned down an invitation from President Eisenhower to go to church. He said it would be a shock to the people.

That was the way Rev. Robert A. MacLachlan, one of the newsreporters as he got it direct from the president.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)— Premier Khrushchev picked up a small American democracy during his U.S. tour.

His favorite expression is "I'm impressed" and he was heard to say with a heavy Russian accent, "very nice", "very good", "very well", "thank you" and "goodbye." He felt especially at home. He's especially pleased, he's even conceded an expression of his own: "Very O.K."

ROUBAIX, France (Reuters)— Premier Charles de Gaulle said Sunday the Khrushchev - Eisenhower talks were "perhaps a beginning of understanding and agreement."

The president, speaking outside the town hall here on the last day of a four-day tour of northern France, described the meeting as "contacts between the world's most responsible men."

"These talks, these contacts, are perhaps the beginning of understanding and agreement. I hope so with all my heart . . .

Safe Smashed At Drug Store, Nothing Taken

Safecrackers forced their way into Kelly's Drug Store on East Bridge Street Sunday night but got almost nothing for their efforts for smashing open a medium-sized floor safe in the main part of the store.

The safecrackers gained entrance to the store through a basement window where bars were ripped away.

Then the night operators brazenly cracked open the safe with sledges and bars in the full light of the store. The safe was bolted to the floor and could not be moved.

Mr. Kelly told The Ontario Intelligencer that only petty cash had been left in the safe and it was not believed any of the drug store stock had been taken. A check was still in progress at mid-morning, but it was stated to be difficult to determine if anything was missing.

solved after my visit, this would be a short visit but it is not enough. Many more meetings will be needed to achieve complete understanding.

FEELINGS MIXED

"When I first started my visit my feelings were mixed for many organs of the press and U.S. authorities started propaganda against the visit . . . While still on the plane I read in Washington that I was described: Nixon made to the association of dentists. That speech was not a healing nature. He added cold to toothache."

Khrushchev said he had asked Eisenhower why Nixon had made such a speech on the eve of his arrival.

Eisenhower replied that he did not read the speech, Khrushchev said.

"Then I replied it is not worth reading it. It is already a matter of the past."

Khrushchev's plane landed at 3:38 p.m. Moscow time (8:38 a.m. EDT).

As he plopped from the ramp of his TU-114 turbo-prop plane, Soviet leader called out "okay" in English to the welcoming crowd in an apparent judgment of the results of his trip.

The 5,163 - mile flight from Washington took 10 hours 28 minutes, the Soviets said. Most of it was at 33,000 feet.

It was a brisk, sunny day at the airport.

Fourteen Years After

Fame is fleeting. It is probable that many of those who read of the death in Sunnybrook Military Hospital of W. Garfield Case had to search their memories for the significance of that name. But there was a day, in the winter of 1945 when his name was on everybody's lips—at the height of Canada's conscription crisis he had defeated the nation's minister of national defence, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton.

The Canadian Press report of Mr. Case's death was evidently written by some reporter who covered the Grey North by-election and was intimately familiar with the campaign.

It is strange though, after all these years, to read reported as a fact what at the time was only a rumor, even to residents of the riding—namely that Mr. Case had dragged the Progressive Conservatives unwillingly into the campaign. A former Liberal, he had changed his political colors, whether in chagrin at his failure to gain the Liberal nomination in the previous election or with the Liberal nomination in the previous election or with the liberal enthusiasm for John Bracken's campaign to wed progressive and conservative it was difficult for even his most intimate associates to say. "The PCs were about to concede the seat but Mr. Case told them he would win it and said if the Conservatives didn't back him he would run under another banner," says The Canadian Press report. That sounds like Case—and it is a true statement of fact it is a fact never disclosed at the time,

On one point, though, The Canadian Press reporter erred. "His entry into Parliament surprised practically everybody but himself," he writes. That is not quite true. Outside North Grey his victory might have proven amazing. But in the riding, from the very first, it was evident that many were going to vote on a matter of principle and that, on principle, the majority of the voters would not endorse a man who opposed conscription. For a time there were those who felt that not Case but Air-Marshal A. E. Godfrey, the CCF candidate campaigning on a platform of conscription not only of man-power but of wealth, might emerge the victor. Those hopes the Liberals had for a victory for McNaughton were based on the belief that the conscription vote might be split fairly evenly down the middle, between Godfrey and Case. In the outcome this proved an over-estimation of Godfrey's appeal in a riding in which the CCF normally had little more than a mule. since value.

But what turned the tide was not so much the appearance of "two army officers just back from overseas who said in several speeches on behalf of Mr. Case that the Canadian Army was short of reinforcement," as The Canadian Press recalls, but a truly stirring address by John Bracken, himself just back from overseas. Bracken's address of the campaign was on a Saturday night in Owen Sound City Hall by a man named John G. Diefenbaker. It is somehow humorous for a reporter who covered the campaign for the Owen Sound paper to recall that this was one address which it was not thought necessary to report, since readers would have cast their votes before they could read it in Monday's paper.

Cars Do Have Vintage Years

We have to thank "The Little Woman" for a penetrating observation, in question form.

"The Little Woman," in case you are not a regular reader of the "funnies" is to be found in the cartoon of the same name which appears in The Ontario Intelligencer. The other day she was shown inspecting a second-hand car and asking the dealer: "A 1949? Was that a good year for cars?" This is evidently supposed to be hilariously funny. We are supposed to grasp the fact that her evident belief there may be vintage years for cars, as there are for wines, is ridiculous. Well, we are for the Little Woman. The year 1949 was a good year for at least one make of car and we know because we owned one and it handled more smoothly than the 1953 car which replaced it. People who plan to purchase used cars would be well advised to take a tip from the Little Woman and discover what were the vintage years for different makes of cars.

A HEART TO HEART TALK
By EDGAR A. GUEST

They tell me that I'm spoiling
you;
The neighbors say that you are spoiled.
And should be whipped, but what say you?
You think you are too small a

And spanked and put to bed.
You think you should be loved a lot?
Well, somehow, daddy thinks so, too.

They tell me that it isn't right
For me always to take your part.
I've heard it said you cheat and lie;
And that you'll break your mother's heart.

The neighbors say that you are bad.
And should be whipped, but
what say you?
You think you are too small a

To whip? Well, daddy thinks

What would you do if I were
you,
And you were daddy, and they told,
And said, as people always do,
My little deeds, and cried:

Would you put me across your

And spank me so you ought

What's that? You think you'd

China Edits Mr. K.'s Talks

Montreal Gazette.

An illuminating report, came out of the Indian capital, New Delhi, yesterday. Diplomatic sources there stated that Peiping Radio is jamming radio reports being broadcast in Russia concerning Premier Khrushchev's visit to the United States.

The Red Chinese are playing down the visit very heavily; it is reporting only those statements of a serious nature between them. Beneath that principle, however, there are many differences and clear-cut anomalies in the Kremlin which Khrushchev himself has already admitted on various occasions.

Khrushchev has admitted, for instance, that the backing of the Chinese Reds for industrial plants, machinery and technical assistance became a major problem for the Soviet Union which has other commitments to support in other areas of the world. Chinese demands for nuclear weapons is another of their own (to be fired from Red Chinese soil and landed on the American soil), have met with a long series of excuses from Moscow.

This does not mean that there is going to be a sudden split, with Russia adding another "front" against a "yellow peril" of its own, but it does have great importance in that it shows that it is often inclined to lump all "Communist" together as one entity—as "Communist" Communist regimes should be dealt with in the same way.

There are enormous differences between the Communism of Yugoslavia and that of Russia, the Soviet Union and of Red China. To ignore these differences would be to miss great opportunities and to risk great dangers.

Perhaps the greatest difference is that in Yugoslavia and China, Communism is a thing of the people "made their own revolutions," Tito and Mao Tse-tung both a third-generation Communist leader, after Lenin and Stalin.

Other differences are equally great, difference in industrial progress and in ideology, in book. Red China is at about the same point Russia reached under Stalin at the beginning of the First Five Year Plan (1928-33), which was marked by a decentralizing of industry and a narrow tried to collectivize the farms. The Chinese system, even more brutal.

Khrushchev has already said of this system that Russia tried it and it didn't work.

Red China is trying to force the system to work by regimenting the whole nation, on military lines, by terror methods. Because regimentation needs industrialization, it assumes that such friendly neighbors as India are "aggressors" who must be fought, and overcome in every way, the nation is worked into a frenzy of hatred for the United States.

Hatred for the United States is the typical, almost theme of the communue system.

The reports of the Chinese Communism cannot allow Khrushchev's more friendly speeches in Russia to be heard by or heard within the country.

Education and enlightment of the general public as to how the monies collected in taxation are applied to free medical services — medicine, clinic, hospitalization and etc., was advocated by Dr. George H. Stobie, prominent Belleville surgeon, in a highly interesting address given to the Belleville Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon yesterday.

The American Medical Association spent 30 millions of dollars to educate the public in early diagnosis of cancer, he said. Of one hundred million dollars collected in taxes in Ontario over the period of a year, 8 per cent goes to provide state medicine, but would be used to the care of the mentally ill is the other items, seven million dollars being expended over the twelve months.

He never asked her what was for dinner. He knew. But woman couldn't live on meat alone. She began serving him fruit, then vegetables. We can't establish when and where this first happened but we can guess at his reaction.

"What's this crud?" he asked. "It's boiled ferns", she said, "and it is delicious." Then I got the recipe from Ogga on the other side of the valley. I've improved upon it, I think. I've seasoned it with just a touch of raccoon fat."

ON BEING YOURSELF

I have not as yet met anyone who could boast over the fact that someone else deserved the credit for making that person. We make ourselves, and we should be proud to own up to it. There is no person so interesting as the one who creates his own personality.

When we try to be another person's life, or try to change it so as to make ourselves identical, such a relationship is sooner or later, to destroy the personality of both; and it is apt to kill off the friendliness between two persons.

Many times we find others will respect and want to know more about us, and we find good friends get together and become enriched through genuine companionship. It's the good in each person that makes us admire them.

There seemed a great many voyagers who brought life doing the same things which they would have done in their own homes. Break Trout Vanishing?

Sudbury Star

Is the most succulent and delicious of all stream fishes the wild brook trout becoming a vanishing species? Bill Hills, outdoors editor of the Financial Journal, says the hand-fed "brookie" from the hatchery is the poorer as he continues to speculate the depleted streams will be but a memory to the fishing will cease.

"And there is no help for it. The scaled lands can no longer refrigerate springs so the streams are warmed by the heat of mid-summer and still the better. The cheese factory, paper mill, the wastes of human pollute the creek and river. So the trout cannot exist, color the fish and firm its flesh cannot survive and neither can the fish."

But that is not the complete answer. It is born a conviction of relatively little fertility, given to raising small families. It likes the warmer waters of the waters come together and where man can intercept it. But Hills says that even in the wilderness areas the wild brook trout is fighting for survival. He has seen wilderness regions in Northern Ontario where the streams are still plentiful. But, he writes:

"Getting these fish to strike is the problem. Trout are not as easy to catch as they were when we could have taken the last fish from the brook pocket we had wanted to. In theory, at least (given the time), we might have no reduced the pocket of any rapids that it would have taken years for that stream to recover to repopulate itself. Someday, of course, it will happen . . . Unless modern civilization does not only puts a limit on the number of fish which may be taken, but imposes such a limit on the number of anglers who may fish a brook trout stream in any one year."

In the memory of many Sudburians is the fact of the wealthiest of brook trout fishing within easy reach of the city's limits. There were good brook trout streams within easy walking or driving distance. And in addition there the hinterlands, where the brook trout abounded in the days of fishermen. roads and aircraft have increased the fishing pressure.

It is a sober thought that many of today's children may never taste a firm, pink-fleshed wild brook trout.

Japs Chew Plastic Gum

Woodstock Sentinel-Review

Whatever one has to say about Japanese industry, one cannot help but admire that industrious nation. They have conquered the most difficult conditions, and sometimes succeeded in developing a product unsolved. Now they seem to have achieved something with that lowly product, chewing gum.

Gum was introduced into the country by American occupation troops. It stayed for it had captured the public fancy. Soon enterprising folk, like their counterparts in our own country formed companies but rivalries even the severest scolding could not discourage. Now they know how they grow up, and have children of their own, and they have learned to chew gum.

The government also frowned on the practice, largely because the imported chicle was lengthening the list of unfavorable trade balances. Despite efforts to promote domestic substitutes, the Japanese chewers persisted in their habit. Now this plastic substance, presumably equipped with the desired flavor, appears. Reports are that American manufacturers are particularly interested in this unique, and it may be that on this continent also, the Japs had the day. Now if these clever people will only devise a way of breaking that does not involve movement of the lower jaw, it would eliminate much of the complaint against the practice.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

AVERAGE AGE OF TB VICTIMS HAS INCREASED TO 48 YEARS

Dear Dr. Molner: What about the restrictions placed on older persons who have TB? Age has had an entire lung infection, and I have been in contact with children? All tuberculosis tests for the last three years have been negative.

K. J. M."

You are right in guessing that you might be a grandfather, and want to know the rules about contact with your grandchildren.

In that case, here are two of the three essential facts we'd best keep in mind. One is that TB, unlike smallpox and some of the other scourges that used to be the great health terrors, has not disappeared, nor waned very much.

With TB, despite the fact that we save more patients (with new drugs, and lung resection) we still have not yet come close to preventing the disease. We have with smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid, and so on.

TB used to be days gone by, a disease that struck mostly at young adults. Today this has changed, and considerably change. The elderly male, statistically, is now the commonest carrier. The average age of victims discovering they have TB is 45, and it is predicted that the average will go higher.

True, young people still get it. So do babies and little children. But the average is 45.

Now often do you (man (or woman) with a cough passes it off as a bronchial irritation, sinus or whatnot. The cough may be TB. And oldsters, all too often, are a neglected group in finding TB in children and grandchildren. This must be prevented.

What shall we do? For children who have a cough (this does not apply to you, H.M.J.) there should be a chest x-ray, either discover the TB or have proof that it does not exist.

Then, patient with TB are arrested case, like you, X-rays and sputum tests at regular intervals are the means of proving the disease remains arrested, and harmless in your home.

Finally, a patient who has TB should be taught how to use a cough, avoid careless expectorating, trap a sneeze.

He learns that, although his case has been arrested, he is rendered harmless to others, he must forever be alert against a recurrence of the disease.

I do not by any means imply that a person who has had TB will get it again. But he must be aware that he might, and continually be on guard against it.

Such a person will, of course, avoid kissing on the mouth. (The back of the hand is the safe place to kiss babies!) He will be cautious and not use his handkerchief to mop up his small grandchild's grimy face.

An arrested case of TB does not mean that a person must thereafter be shut off from everything. It does mean that for their safety, he should observe these and similar health rules.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I ate a fish which was not well cooked, and a skin test showed I had trichinosis. I was very ill for two months, and after two more months I still have diarrhea. How long does this last? Are there any foods I should or should not eat? — M. B. H."

Diarrhea in such cases is likely to persist for a considerable time although I cannot specify any "typical" period. There are no particular foods that you should or should not eat — the diarrhea is an aftermath of the trichinosis, and not the result of anything you eat. Of one thing I am sure: the pork you eat from now on will be thoroughly cooked! Anyone inclined to be careless about cooking it thoroughly should heed your letter.

Note to Mrs. C. L.: I can't help what you were told, but I can relieve your mind by telling you the truth: there is no way to "dissolve a cataract." Surgical removal is the only way.

Could you write to me in the easy way? To receive a copy of my pamphlet, "The Colorie Chart," send 10c in care of Dr. Molner, Chicago Sun Times Syndicate, P.O. Box 188, Dundee, Ill., including a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5c in coin to cover handling.

Is This Man Too Old?

Hamilton Spectator

The following is an advertisement in the "Personal" column of the Times-Star London:

"Too old at 65? Advertiser, reluctant to take pension at old 65 years, wonders whether there's commercial value in experience and ability of long, too boastful a word) gained 10 years League of Nations Secretariat, 5 years MP, 20 years diplomatic correspondent, good knowledge of languages, authorship of some thousand broadcasts and 20 books, hereof one received Governor-General's award for social relations. Last four years political correspondent in Asia. Willing to travel anywhere, but leisurely. Specially interested in Asia, Africa."

Seriously looking for a job? Apparently so.

It is not our civilization absurd in making sixty-five an arbitrary retirement age for men in good health, a man equipped with talent, experience and time still tells he has so much to give the world?

OSOYOOS, B.C.

Osoyoos is an Indian name, the Indian pronunciation being "Soo-yust" and is said to translate as "A Narrow Strip of Land Between Two Large Bodies of Water." THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Newly arrived English friends of mine are enjoying the status of the bicycle in this country. Not expecting to be able to afford a car for a year or two, they have looked forward to cycling all over the country the way they do in Britain. On leaving Heathrow, they latended to explore their new homeland in the intimate, leisurely way in which bicycle permits. And to their astonishment they find cycling prohibited on many of the highways and roundly but massively hated and ridiculed by motorists in machines obviously at the peril of the cyclist.

In Britain, bicycles far outnumber motor cars. Their long-established majority keeps motor cars in their place. Over the highways and along all the curving, undulating roads of Britain the cyclists whirl: scorching we used to call it in Old English cycling days. And the motorist in Britain is allowed no pride of place. He is the cyclist out of his way. He has got to respect the cyclist, his right.

"Even in the raging tide of London traffic, the bicycles, tandem or otherwise, are not, with a baby carrier on the back rack, go swooping along at speed.

In Canada, cyclists are so humble a class as scarcely to count in motor traffic that they wobble as they go, adding immensely to their own hazard.

Laplanders in Northern Scandinavia Succumbing to Lure of Modern Living

A typical Lapp scene showing a native Laplander with his reindeer which he has harnessed and hitched to a sledge.

BY F. M. CAREY, P. ENG.

Modern civilization is opening up, and making use of many parts of the world which up to now have either been considered useless or too extreme in climate to settle in. The discoverers of America yield oil, Antarctica yields scientists, Scandinavia in its own little way is making similar use of its northern extremes, which have until recently, been inhabited only by nomads and a few tough farmers.

Compared to the achievements of the United States any progress in Scandinavia appears insignificant and consequently passes unnoticed. The north of Scandinavia is known as Lapland and it covers Sweden, Norway and Finland and lies mostly north of the Arctic Circle.

Norway extends the farthest north, reaching some 500 miles north of the Arctic circle. Hammerfest, in Norway, is reputed to be the most northerly village in the world. Norway has 12,000 miles of coastline but only four per cent of its area is arable. One third of Finland and about one eighth of Sweden lies north of the Arctic Circle.

RICH IN MINERALS

It is generally supposed that Lapland is a barren land, frozen up the whole year and in darkness most of the year. This is not so. Actually, it is very seldom to agriculture, and supports only a handful of farmers, but it is rich in minerals. It has a number of large communities in each country, especially on the Norwegian coast. There is a large wealthy population, and which more will be said later, but the lowest enjoy a living standard just as the rest of the Scandinavian countries. Sweden, in fact has the highest living standard in Europe.

Of the towns I visited when working in Norway, Narvik is one of the most unusual. Lying 300 miles north of the Arctic Circle, and having 24 hours of sunshine daily in summer, it is Norway's busiest port. It is set under snow covered mountains which drop vertically into the fjord. Since the fjords do not freeze in the winter, all the iron ore mined in Swedish Lapland is taken by train, on the world's most northerly railway and piped into ships at Narvik by Scandinavia's largest and most modern conveyer system. The docks lie behind the town on a branch of the fjord and when arriving to Narvik from the north by the ferry one least expects to find such a busy dock in such a picturesque setting.

The area round Kiruna in Swedish Lapland is rich in iron ore which lies on the surface and yields some of the world's highest quality metal for which Sweden is famous. Gold and arsenic are also mined in the area, Sweden being only country in Europe having much at gold resources of any note. The lumber industry is another great source of wealth. More than half Sweden's national wealth is located north of the Arctic Circle in Lapland, including vast hydro-electric resources.

SCENIC ROUTE

Tromso, in Norway, 400 miles north of the Arctic Circle is the head of the fishing industry up there. Some of Europe's best fishing grounds are to be found off Norway's Lofoten Islands. Highway 50 which crosses the whole length of Norway, some 1,100 miles, is I consider the most beautiful route in Europe. The scenery is breathtaking all along its length. In the 50 miles south of Narvik there are five ferries at points where the mountains drop sheer into the fjord. The fjords cut into the country up to 50 miles, making a passage round them extremely long and difficult. Sognefjord in the south of Norway is about 150 miles long and was the setting for the film "The Vikings."

Scandinavia is very densely covered with coniferous trees, interspersed with lakes. As a result Sweden and Finland rank among the world's leading producers of paper and matches. The forests, however, become less dense as one travels north and the land becomes more and only a rugged form of birch which can stand up to the climate. These never grow very high and the effect is that the land looks extremely cruel and hard to live on. This is so — we are talking now of a land 2,000 miles farther north than Belleville. Winters are even longer, colder and darker than this past one. The midnight sun, so beautiful in summer does not even come over the horizon in the daytime during the winter. This effect of having dusk all day is extremely weird, as indeed is it to have sunshine all night in the summer.

LAPLAND NOMADS

The native people of Lapland, the Lapps are nomads. They make their living by following the natural path of the reindeer each year and guiding them round the route. There are over half a million reindeer in Lapland and one family may have several hundred or thousands. The Lapps live the whole year round in tents made of birch poles and skins with an open fire in the middle and an open top rather like a wigwam. They wear reindeer skin clothes and boots, the boots are filled with a dried grass which is replaced when they feel the streams of which there are many. They drink reindeer milk and eat reindeer meat. This incidentally tastes delicious when smoked. They lame some of the reindeer and harness them to their sledges thus transporting their belongings. The entire herd will swim across the icy water being encouraged by their owners.

The annual journey means crossing the fjords in constant search for food.

The Lapps have a language of their own, although some speak the language of the country, be it Sweden, Finland or Norway. They are kindly minded people and their logic reaches the most simplest of terms. But when it comes to turning against nature's toughest elements they have a certain natural instinct which other people do not seem to possess.

Temperatures of -40 degrees are usual and this is invariably accompanied by strong winds and blowing snow. The summers, in contrast to the winters are beautiful. It is never too hot although it gets surprisingly hot due to the fact that the sun stays high in the sky at night, thus preventing the cooling which would normally occur at night. The countryside abounds in flowers, the streams are full of fish and, like Canada it is impossible to avoid the mosquitoes. I spent a day bundling wild reindeer on identity basis, using a camera. They are a beautiful animal, completely fearless of cars and trains, but scared stiff of people.

DECLINE OF THE LAPPS

The number of nomadic Lapps is on the decline, despite efforts on the part of the Scandinavian governments to preserve the race. The Lapps are beginning to realize that modern civilization is a better, and easier way to live and so they are turning to the towns for a living. This is causing the decline of their race. Life has, for them, always been a competition against nature and the Lapps, each year are the winners of that competition. If they don't win, they die, for the Arctic is one of the most sadistic parts of the globe. They have to struggle against such odds in order to get security, which to them is not money or a home, but food, warmth and freedom. History has shown that a race will struggle for freedom and security under the animal instinct of competition which is inherent in all men. Once that race attains this objective the very incentive of competition, which was the driving force towards it, is removed and the race begins to decline. A race has followed this pattern, the Romans and Greeks being the classic examples. It is natural way of preventing any one race from becoming over dominant in the world. It might be illuminating for say over dominant nation in the world today to study the process which is causing the inevitable decline of the nomads in Lapland.

The Quinte Reports

News of Your Local Sea Cadet Corps

The marksmen of the RCSCC "Quinte" began practice in last Tuesday's parade in preparation for the Commonwealth Sea Cadet rifle competition to be held towards the end of October. Very good scores were posted in spite of the fact that there has been about two months of no practice over the summer holidays. With about five weeks of practice ahead it is expected that the "Quinte" will be able to post some very good scores in competition.

It is expected the "Quinte" will be entering a team in the forthcoming juvenile soccer schedule of the Bay of Quinte Minor Soccer Association. Other teams are expected to be representing Albert College and the Army and Navy.

Thursday night's parade at the barracks on South Front St. saw eight new entries come on strength. It is expected that there will be a few more boys joining the corps over the next week or so. New entry training started last week with a lecture by the Navy League, the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps, and their relationship with the Royal Canadian Navy being given. New entries were given a talk on discipline and its place in Navy routine and life. The Able Cadets were given lectures on naval terminology and parts of a ship.

Gym Corps' marksmen were the guests of the management of the Park Theatre to see the film "The Battle of the River Plate," an account of the sinking of the German War 11 German raider, Graf Spee on Tuesday evening last after the regular parade. The film was greatly enjoyed by the cadets.

This week shooting and drill will continue at the Tuesday parade at the Armories. A sports session will also be held for the latter half of the evening.

Lectures in naval subjects will again be on the agenda for the Thursday night parade at the barracks.

It is with regret that the resignation of Lt. William McConnell was received by the captain, Lt. Donovan. Last Thursday evening, Lt. McConnell, a teacher at BCIVS, will be taking night school classes during this winter session which would have conflicted with the regular Sea Cadet parades. It is hoped that Lt. McConnell will be able to rejoin the Corps before the annual inspection next spring.

A new member of the Corps whom the officers and men are happy to see out to parades is Parde Hassan, who was recently appointed the "Quinte's" Protestant Chaplain to supplement Padre McGee, the Catholic chaplain. The interest of these two padres in the corps' activities is greatly appreciated by all.

Boys who would like to join the "Quinte" are invited to "come aboard" at either the Tuesday or Thursday parades at 7.15 p.m. Tuesday's parade is held at the Hasty Press' Armouries at Bridge and Pinnacle Streets, and Thursday's parade is held at the Sea Cadet barracks on South Front St. Boys should be between the ages of 14 and 18 inclusive. Any boy between 12 and 14 years of age there is the Navy League Cadets, which hold their parades at the Sea Cadet barracks on Friday evenings at 7.15 p.m. Both of these units are supported by the Navy League in Belleville through funds raised by the Belleville United Appeal.

DUNDAS EAST AT FARLEY

Nearly 200 Attend

Famous 'Fighting 21st' Batt. Has Enjoyable Reunion Here

They talked of the Somme, Thiepval, Arras and Ypres. Of the Hindenburg Line and Vimy. Of Passchaendale and Cambrai.

They talked and reminisced of those far-back days of mud, the trenches, bully beef and hard-tack, of Lee-Enfields and bayonets. Of "Blighty" and Piccadilly and of the "guys" who weren't there.

They added another remarkable link to their record-breaking chain of reunions. It was their 41st consecutive get, together, a mark unequalled in the reunion history of Canada's fighting forces of the past.

Some 200 graying balding "old sweats" of the famous 21st Battalion, CEF, "re-talked" and relived the days of long ago in the Bridge street armouries, and the Hotel Quinte, over the weekend.

It was perhaps a far cry from the 600 who swung into line in that first reunion forty years ago, but Time has taken its inexorable toll and the ranks are thinning out. The "250" was practically total representation of the "remnant."

But while the battles of Blighty and France were re-fought, these men, all in their sixties, did not forget those gallant fellows who lie in Flanders Fields.

TRIBUTE TO FALLEN

As their beloved padre Lieut. Col. Canon W. E. Kidd, MC, MA, DD, said in his toast to "The Fallen", "This tribute to their memory is the very heart and soul of our reunion. Our esprit de corps would be nothing if we were not greatly attached to those who passed into the Great Beyond."

They stood with bowed heads under dimmed lights in silent tribute to "those who were" as the softened tone of Armand Duffy's bugle sounded "Last Post". There were tear-dimmed eyes as shoulders straightened to the heartening sound of "Reveille."

There was pride in their eyes and the pride was there when the famous colors of the battalion were "marched on" prior to the Saturday evening banquet in the hall under the supervision of Belleville sub president Garn Dobbie.

At the head table was the association secretary Lefkoy Madden, of Belleville, Mr. Burton Lamont, of Quebec. Lieut. Col. E. S. Fairman, ED, former commanding officer of the 21st Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Lieut Col. H. E. Pense, DSO, former officer commanding officer of the 21st Battalion; H. Salisbury, Detroit, Mayor Hyatt and the local association president William S. Taylor, Q.C., Ward, Ottawa, J. G. "Sandy" McNab, Cobourg, Major Canon A.S. McConnell, MBE, padre of the Hasty Press; Lieut. Col. Angus Duffy, commanding officer of the army regiment, Ed Webb, Toronto, Lieut. Col. Kidd of Kingston and Jack Hyatt of the RCAF.

In his toast to the city of Belleville, association president Taylor paid tribute to the former Argyll Light Infantry and to the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. He also added his tribute to the Belleville McFarlands the world hockey champions and his appreciation of the fine reception given the reunion guests of the 21st by the city and its people.

Mayor Hyde responding said "This is a splendid reunion, the one which has every right to be proud of the 21st Battalion. I welcome you here and hope that in the succeeding years you will see fit to return here for another get-together."

WAS HONORED

Toasting the 21st, Lieut Col. Fairman said he deemed it a special honor to be given the privilege of making such a famous unit. He recalled the time, he said when he was in France and Belgium, stopping at Dickiebusch where hundreds of Canadian dead rest in a well-kept cemetery. "The natives spoke highly of the Canadians and keep their memory intact", he said.

"Your battalion still exemplifies the courage and heroism it showed when in France by carrying on through to its 41st reunion. It is a record of which you can be justly proud."

Lieut.-Col. Pense, responding said his own tribute to his regiment and its association. "I am glad to announce," he said, "that your new association president is James T. Ward of Ottawa, while George Melton of Peterborough, has been made vice-president. The next reunion," Col. Pense said, "will be held in Peterborough."

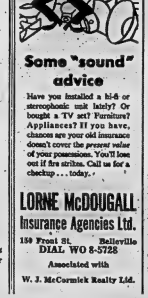
"I have responded to this toast at least forty times before," Col. Pense said amid laughter. "It is a outstanding esprit de corps that was outstanding when we were a fighting unit brings us together year after year. It was important then and it animates us today. There are nearly 200 of us here tonight and it looks as though we have made an excellent start for our 42nd reunion, next year. I hope we shall be back in Belleville in the not too distant future."

Lefkoy Madden of Belleville, paid glowing tribute to the regiment in his toast to the "Hasty Press." "They did a marvellous job and came home with a marvelous record," he said, "it was one of the finest units in the "new" Canadian Army and its successes upheld our record and made us prouder than ever of both the Hasty Pess and our own battalion. They upheld everything the "old sweats" did."

AN INSTITUTION

Lieut.-Col. Duffy, responding, said "This is not a reunion, it is an institution. I do not think we were as good as you fellows, because you are the chaps that helped Canada become a nation. You were boots that were hard to fill. But we did our best and were proud to follow in your footprints."

Col. Duffy went into detail on the "battalion of survival" duties that are now part of the Canadian army and militia."



"Are you prepared to go all out on this new duty" Col. Duffy said "because in the ultimate end the army will be responsible for policing, firefighting and other civil duties in the new installations."

The ladies of the "21st" enjoyed a smorgasbord dinner at the hotel while the veterans were at the banquet in the hall. Tables were marched off by Bill Taylor and some company. Major McConnell, said the grace.

On Sunday morning the veterans paraded from the Bridge Street armouries to St. Thomas Church for divine service. Lieut. Col. Kidd delivered the sermon.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

THEY SHOULDN'T ACCEPT UNWANTED INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I are puzzled over how to handle invitations which we do not wish to accept, either because we do not care to cultivate the people making the invitation, or because we would not wish to return the invitation at a future time. What is the proper point of view about this, the proper procedure? Is it fair to accept an invitation with no intention of returning the honor? Is it kinder to attend the occasion and quietly ignore any future contact? — Reader

A basic point in the procedure-of-hospitality is that one should not accept hospitality from those whom one would not wish to entertain in return. And the other important point in the exchange-of-hospitality is that one should not accept hospitality unless one is prepared to make come effort to return it. These are the essential ideas you and your husband must remember, for indeed it is not fair to accept invitations when you have no intention of returning the compliment. There is no reason why you should accept any invitation you don't wish to accept . . . you can always use a "previous engagement," or some other standard excuse. That's an accepted privilege. But it isn't fair or decent to accept the invitation, attend the occasion, and "quietly ignore any future contact."

FOOTBALL WIDOWS — Wives of professional football players spend their time in many ways when husbands are away from home but they have one thing in common—an avid interest in the game. Tommie Gray Most Northerly Woman Alderman in Canada

By BILL RATHBUN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

DAWSON CITY, Y.T. (CP)—Slim and attractive, Tommie Gray is the most northerly woman alderman in Canada.

The fair - haired, 36-year-old Mrs. Gray is nearing the end of the first year on the three-member council as the first woman to hold an alderman's chair in this city of gold-rush history. She was elected by acclamation last January to complete the term of George Shaw, who resigned to devote his time to the Yukon territorial council.

Born at Leamington, Ont., Mrs. Gray jumped at the opportunity to come north 12 years ago when she was working in the Ottawa offices of the income tax department.

LOVES NORTH

"It had always been a race between Dad and myself to see who would get here first," she recalled in an interview. "I won. I don't know how to describe what it is about the north, but I really like it. One reason is that I'm so busy I don't have time to think about it."

This summer was one of her busiest. She spends one night each week at council meetings. Four nights are taken up making tickets and candies at the movie theatre-operated by her husband, Chuck Gray, who helps him to run the six-unit motel they built this year.

Apart from this, she holds a full-time job as stenographer at the Yukon Consolidated Gold Corporation offices at nearby Bear Creek.

Mrs. Gray feels that living in the north be difficult for women ,especially those over 40, and for teen-agers.

"There's not enough for either group to do" in a city of only 800 permanent residents, she said.

GOOD FOR CHILDREN

"But it is a good country to raise kids in," Mrs. Gray, who herself has no children. "Those who have the means usually try to get the cost to boarding schools or with relatives at about $1,000 a year.

Like most people up here the Grays try to get out for a holiday every all winter years. They visit their Ontario homes—Chuck it from Toronto—and then go off from there. The last time, two years ago, they flew to Nassau.

"But six weeks was enough. We were anxious to get back."

Unlike most Dawson women, Mrs. Gray is not a curling enthusiast, although curling is the chief winter pastime.

She shares her husband's interest in music and motion picture photography, likes to sketch and tend her garden when she has a spare minute and to visit with friends.

FOOD COSTS HIGH

As with housewives anywhere else, the one thing running the home is one of Mrs. Gray's peeves.

"I think food costs here are out of line, but 90 per cent of the people buy their food outside and have it sent in."

A Whitehorse supermarket, "with prices close to those in Vancouver," makes two deliveries by truck to Dawson each week. It costs three cents a pound to have orders filled and delivered 350 miles.

"For example, tomatoes are 70-85 cents a pound package here, but the Whitehorse price is around 30 cents. They can be brought in for three cents more a package."

Despite high food and heating costs, the modest homes — few new ones have been built in recent years—sport freezers and stoves and cellars stocked with food ordered in case lots from Whitehorse or Vancouver.

Until recently Dawson was the only city in the Yukon with full water, sewer, electricity and telephone services, which residents have enjoyed since gold rush days of the early 1900.

CURLING BIG ACTIVITY

Mrs. Gray also discussed the activities of women in a town where spring, summer and fall are wrapped into four or five months, beginning in May.

She emphasized curling was the major activity for women.

"Curling is their life. They go to the Mayo, Keno and Whitehorse (all in the Yukon) and Fairbanks (Alaska) for bonspiels, as well as their own here.

"In summer they putter about the gardens.

"The ladies also love their teas and bazaars. This gives them an opportunity to pet on hats and gloves—if for nothing else than to prove they have a pair. We all wear slacks a lot and it's good to get into good clothes."

Curling club socials, the Remembrance Day ball, the annual Klondike Days in July and Christmas house parties and old time dance clubs are other social highlights.

Area May Gray began her political career three years ago and now is chairman of the council's finance committee. She is an enthusiast for Dawson City and the Yukon, she feels that "we'll eventually leave—but not for another 39 or 15 years; long enough away not to think about it."

Swedish Girl Real Happy in Life at Sea

TORONTO (CP)—A 20-year-old Swedish girl is the envy of her mother, because she has a job at sea.

Inger Lindquist, wireless operator on the Swedish ship Sunnanbris which recently visited Toronto, explained that her mother wanted to go to sea herself before her marriage. Her father is a bus driver in Lidingo, near Stockholm.

Women are not unusual among crews on Scandinavian ships, said Inger. Girls like herself also act as purser and secretary while the ship is in port.

Miss Lindquist joined the Sunnanbris a few months ago, and since has visited England, Scotland, France, Belgium, the United States and Canada.

The Sunnanbris recently picked up a load of 5,000 tons of soybean meal before heading for Belfast, Glasgow and Avonmouth.

BLASTS APARTHEID

LONDON (AP) — An Anglican archbishop has branded South Africa's policy of apartheid (segregation) "anti - Christian" and "crazy." He said it threatens the peace of all Africa. Most Rev. Joost Deblanzi, Dutch - born and British - educated archbishop of Johannesburg, addressed the South African Church Institute here Friday.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Mrs. M. H. — He's just stringing her along.

Dora H. — I just know he'll marry me.

Mrs. M. H. — I am very much worried about my 22-year-old daughter, Dora, who has been going out with the same fellow for two years. She doesn't see anybody else, yet I don't hear any talk about marriage.

This boy is serving an apprenticeship and won't have a real job for another year and a half. They own a skating rink and he takes Dora there all the time. Once she suggested a movie he always talks her out of it. He has never given her a gift in all this time.

I feel she is wasting her time with him. He is just stringing her along. When he gets a job, he will probably marry and find somebody else. I feel she should tell him off — or else find herself another beau. It doesn't do to make a doormat of yourself.

Dora H. — Mother never liked Jerry and told me so from the beginning. She is against him and anything he does is wrong. I love Jerry with him and I'd wait for him another five years if I had to.

I feel that I'm still young enough to wait another two years anyway. In the meantime I'm working and saving money so we'll be off to a good start. I know Jerry will marry me. He doesn't see any other girl and he always brings me the beaver used to enjoy going out with girls until he met me.

I hate it when my mother talks about girls and how much money he is spending on me. I think things like that matter. Some girls are just out for what they can get from a man. I have never been like that. I would much rather be married to a poor man who really loves me. My mother is wrong.

The Council: They say you can't argue anybody out of love and it seems to be true. Unfortunately, it isn't only because love is such a powerful emotion, but because the word is often used as a block against all reason by those in need of defenses. We get the impression that Dora is very hit as worried and frightened by this situation as her mother. The more scared she is, the more she clings to a straw — whether based on love or no nothing, that Jerry plans to marry her.

Unfortunately, Mrs. M. H. has put things rather harshly. A young girl, dreaming of romance, is naturally resistant to the idea that she should look for material benefits from a man. However, in our society it happens to be one of the means of expressing affection in courtship. There are, of course, other ways. A very inexpensive gift, an inexpensive date that is a little different and reveals some special thought and planning are also excellent ways of indicating interest. Often they show much more consideration than the easy way — the gift and good time that can be bought by anyone with the money.

But we doubt very much whether Dora has received this consideration. If she had she would be able to point with pride to Jerry's obvious kindness and thoughtfulness.

Another consideration offered by men of serious intentions is a clear-cut statement about marriage. A fully grown man who sees one girl steadily for two years and finds himself unable to say anything significant on the subject is stringing somebody along — and it could be himself. He may be using this one girl as a protection against others who may be sharper and more demanding.

We're nothing against Dora's continuing to enjoy this friendship, but we see everything against her banking on it as a marriage possibility. She should make an effort to meet others.

Football Player-Husband No Short Cut to Learn Rules

MONTREAL (CP) — Having a football player - husband is no short-cut to learning the rules of the game. That's the word from Bette McNichol, wife of Alouette defensive end Doug McNichol.

"Having Doug explain football to me is like having him teach me to drive a car," she said—meaning they've tried it and it didn't work. "Now I just keep my mouth shut and read the rule book."

That technique has been more successful. After 16 months of marriage Mrs. McNichol can hold her own in any football conversation, she says. But she hasn't yet tackled the art of figuring out strategy in advance.

COME FROM MERRITTON

Although the McNichols have known each other since childhood in Merritton, near St. Catharines, Ont., McNichol never saw her husband play football until he was at the University of Western Ontario. The fact is, that until then she had never seen a football game. "But I think now I am as much smitten with the game as anyone."

Joane Bewley, wife of Alouette halfback Bill Bewley, says she was always keen on football and hasn't even had to ask her husband for explanations. But she's not so independent when it comes to games away from home. Since the Alouettes are on the road she and Mrs. McNichol, who lives nearby, get together to watch the games on television or listen to them on the radio. They give each other moral support.

"When you're actually at a game you can see everything that's happening," says Mrs. Bewley. "On TV or radio it's awful to hear a man is down and you know it is. You always expect the worst."

VARSITY COURTSHIP

The Bewleys, who married while both were students at the University of Toronto, have three daughters: Brenda, 6; Kathie, 4, and nine-month-old Janna.

"No new football player yet," says their mother. "And you know, I don't think I'd really want to go through all this football pressure again in 20 years or so."

Brenda has her own idea about the game.

"I want to be a majorette," she says. "Daddy bought me a baton and I practise swinging it a lot."

If she does make the majorette ranks she will be the third generation of the Bewley family to appear on the football field. Her grandfather, Joseph Bewley, played with the old Hamilton Tigers team.

ADVANTAGE OF BIRTH

Mrs. Bewley and Mrs. McNichol have the advantage of being Canadians even though their home towns have changed. It's different for most of the Alouette wives, whose homes are scattered across the United States.

"Bonne" to Hal Patterson's wife, Carol, is Burdett, Kan. "We spend five months a year in a furnished apartment in Montreal and the rest of the year in Larned, Kan., where Hal is in business with his father and brothers".

Married more than two years, the Pattersons have one daughter, seven - month - old Angela Louise.

"I've known Hal all my life," says Mrs. Patterson. "Our families were friends and he was the 'big man' in the local high school when I was just starting."

Lake Trout 'Early Special' on The Diner

by Mary Moore

After being in Europe and talking to friends of European descent, I am going to make a determined effort to make fish more popular to Canadians.

Furthermore, on the Pool Trails from Ottawa to Montreal on a Friday night we had the "Early Special" dinner for $1.90 and were served beautifully cooked Canadian lake trout.

There was a group of Press Clubbers on the train returning from our National convention and each one of us wondered why such delicious food was not on the Canadian dinner tables oftener.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

MONDAY

Ground Beef Cakes sauteed in Green Onion Butter; Vegetable Marrow with Tomato Sauce; Shredded Beets; Hard Rolls; Individual Dessert Pear and Pineapple Salads; Assorted Crackers and Cheese; Coffee.

Last month I mentioned to you that I would be urging you to eat more fish cooked imaginatively, not just from the point of flavor a low cost but because nutritionists are claiming we should eat it five times per week, plus the other high protein foods (meat, fowl, eggs, cheese, etc.) we need to maintain good health and energy. Now to do this it means we would have to include fish in our luncheon menus.

I want you to join the high-protein-for-health caravan jump on.

BAKED LAKE TROUT (OR CHEESE FILLETS) WITH CHEESE SAUCE:

2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup flour, 1 cup milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons minced parsley, 2 cups grated Canadian Cheddar cheese, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 pounds fish fillets.

Melt butter in top of double boiler, add flour and stir until well blended. Add milk slowly, add milk, stirring constantly until thick. Cook 2 minutes. Add salt, pepper, grated Cheddar cheese and dry mustard and stir until well blended. Wipe and skin lake trout (or fillets) with a damp cloth. Arrange fish in greased baking dish, cover with the cheese sauce, and sprinkle top with minced parsley. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes.

CASSEROLE OF FISH AU GRATIN

1 12-oz. package frozen ocean perch, haddock or cod fillets, thawed; 1 cup water, 1-8 cup sliced onions, separated into rings, 12- bay leaf, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 cup milk (see below), 3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 1-2 teaspoon celery salt, dash of pepper, 2 medium boiled potatoes, thinly sliced, 1-2 cup grated cheese, paprika.

Cut fish in 1" cubes and place in saucepan. Add water, onion rings, bay leaf and salt. Cover and simmer 5 to 8 minutes. Drain, measure liquid, and add milk to make 1 1-2 cups. Melt butter in saucepan. Add flour, celery, salt, and pepper; blend. Then add fish liquid and milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over medium heat until thick. Arrange alternate layers of potatoes, fish, onion rings, and sauce in greased baking dish, finishing with layer of potatoes. Sprinkle each layer with salt and pepper. Top with cheese and paprika. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. about 30 minutes.

Garden Notes

Early Tulips for a Spring Tonic

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

The tulip, more than any other flower, I think, supplies that hunger for color in the spring. We have been existing on drab greys and browns and dirty whites for so many months that the flag of the tulip is a tonic to the soul and the spirit. The earliest delights are put on by the species and the Kaufmanniana hybrids. They are the well ahead of the cottage and darwin types. The species, known botanically as "wild" tulips and their hybrids are very early, and they include lovely tulips, single, dwarf. The Red Emperor is an exception it is one of the largest tulips known.

NOTE OF WARNING

A note of warning here; do not plant tulips too close to a wall on the south side. Last year I saw a number of several dozen Red Emperor against a south wall of a building. They were baked before the plants fully developed due to a sudden early spell of hot sun in March. The tips turned a dull grey-green and the flowers opened for one day then flopped. In the same block Emperors planted against a north wall looked the water-lily tulips. They are Kaufmannianas like the species, white with pink exterior tinged with yellow. Elixir, a hybrid, white with red exterior, Fritz Kreisler, a salmon pink, Gaiety is a soft yellow with red patches on the exterior. Scarlet Elegance and numerous bright scarlet blooms and Mendelsohn in cream, with rosy red exterior. These make interesting groups at the edge of the border, to border a drive, or in the garden.

The Fosteriana hybrids include Puritisma, the white Emperor, good companion for the red variety. Purissima is exceptionally long lasting in semi-shade. Princeps is a dwarf type very much like the Emperor, many flowered. Grand Prix is bright yellow with red exterior; Orange Emperor — deep yellow exterior with yellow and black centre.

There are many other named tulips in this group, with delightful names, all worth while blooms. Many have striped or mottled leaves.

Tulipa — these are the wild tulips from many parts of the world, and include lovely lily-horned tulips and many others. Many have white flowers yellow and red with edgings or blotches of other colors. They often have striped, mottled or marbled leaves and some are perfumed.

The species are a very high spot in tulip culture. They are a cross between Kaufmanniana and Greigii. They are dwarf six to 10 inches high. Many have striped leaves, a delight of other colors. The foliage is mottled like Greigii. The tulips are very.

Invest in some of these early tulips and get your spring tonic earlier this year.

Hungarian-Language Weekly To Begin Publication Oct. 6

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A Hungarian - language weekly newspaper will begin publication here, Tuesday, Oct. 6—the 110th anniversary of the end to Hungary's abortive attempt to gain independence from Austria.

On that fateful date, firing squads of the Czarist Russian army executed 13 Hungarian generals at Arad. The Russian troops — 280,000 strong — entered the conflict at the request of the emperor of Austria and helped quash the revolt that had swept the country in 1848.

Hungarian citizens battled the Russians again in the fall of 1956. And again the country's uprising for independence was put down brutally.

FLED FROM HUNGARY

Three men who fled Hungary because it had no independence and no freedom, are behind the weekly newspaper one of the few Hungarian-language weeklies in Canada.

They are editor Attila Vargha, 37, who came to Canada in 1949 and began a new life as a logger in the north, and co-owners of the paper's publishing firm, Charles Arany and Nicholas Mezes.

The weekly will be published every Tuesday and will be distributed outside of this city in Welland, St. Catharines, Hamilton, Toronto, Buffalo, Montreal, some western Canadian cities and several United States cities with large Hungarian colonies.

Hundreds of thousands of Hungarians came to the U. S. and Canada during the last four decades, more than 20,000 coming after the 1956 uprising.

News will be drawn from associate editors in distribution cities and world-wide contributing writers.

SPECIAL NEWS SOURCES

First hand news on developments in Hungary will be obtained. The editor said he is confident his sources will be able to obtain information not usually available to international news-gathering agencies behind the Iron Curtain.

Mr. Vargha will leave a draughtsman's job to edit the six-column - size weekly. A 1949 graduate in journalism from a university in Hungary, he was editor - publisher of a weekly in his native country. He fought against the Russians on the Eastern Front during the Second World War as a lieutenant in the Hungarian Army.

Jailed by the Communists for subversive activities, he escaped to Austria in 1948 and came to Canada the following year.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Root of Toronto, visited the former's parents, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Westfall and families of Bancroft, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Empey and his parents, — Mr. and Mrs. Hogle of Trenton, over the week-end.

The weekly card parties are underway. The second one was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. St. Anderson. A good crowd attended and prizes were awarded according to score.

Mr. Arany is a master printer with 40 years' experience. He is a native of Szigetvar, Hungary.

HELD TOP POST

In 1935 he went to Szombathely to become general manager of the province's largest printing house and held the post until the Russians occupied Hungary in 1945. During the occupation he was arrested, but freed after the intervention of Hungary's Graphic Arts Association.

He took an active part in the 1956 uprising and was secretary of the Revolutionary Workers' Council at Szombathely. He fled the country with his wife and granddaughter when a price was put on his head. They came to Canada in 1953.

Mr. Mezes was a member of parliament for the Christian-Socialist Peoples Party in Hungary in 1947, the last opposition group to the Communist regime there. A Hungarian army veteran from the Second World War and a former farmer, he escaped to the West in 1949 when the party was ruled illegal and came to Canada in 1951.

WHY WE BUILT TWO CARS FOR 1960...

as different as night and day!

On October 2nd – for the first time in Chevrolet's history–you will see two totally different kinds of cars at your Chevrolet Dealer's. One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new and more luxurious than ever. The other is the revolutionary Corvair. We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars.

Why two kinds of cars? Because Canada itself has been going through some big changes in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium.

There is new leisure time . . . and more things to do. There's a new standard of living — and more need for two cars in the family garage.

Canada's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at General Motors have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years.

Consequently, we decided three years ago to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a sawed-off version of a conventional car.

That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2nd will be two entirely different kinds of cars . . . each one built the way it should be built, to best fill the needs it was meant to fill.

One is the conventional '60 Chevrolet — brand new in beauty, with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power, linked with new thrift, plus Chevrolet's superb, (and Canada's most popular) 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection — in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride — than any other Chevrolet we ever made.

The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. This is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance . . . a car designed specifically to Canadian standards.

The engine is in the rear for better traction and a practically flat floor. So Corvair's engine is totally new — mostly aluminum and air-cooled. It is a "flat" horizontally opposed Six — only three cylinders long . . . and that leaves a lot more room for passengers.

Another weight saving: like modern airplanes, the Corvair has no frame; the body shell supplies its great structural strength.

Right now we'll make one prediction; the Corvair will be the only Canadian compact car with independent suspension — the only one that rides so comfortably, holds the road so firmly and handles so beautifully.

Now there are two kinds of cars from Chevrolet — because it takes two kinds of cars to serve Canada's needs today. If you love luxury — then the conventional '60 Chevrolet may be your choice. If easy parking, traffic agility and economy are high on your list — then you should seriously consider the Corvair. Look these two new cars over at your Chevrolet dealer's today. They make a perfect pair.

CHEVROLET

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

CHEVY MOUNTS THE ENGINE TO MATCH THE CAR

The front-mounted engine provides most efficient weight distribution in a conventional-sized Chevrolet, splitting the load almost evenly between the front and rear wheels. Since a 6-door Chevy sedan weighs 3,320 lbs., this design puts adequate weight in the rear for sure-footed traction and road-grip while giving a solid, consistently balanced big-car ride.

A rear-mounted engine gives the best weight distribution for a lightly, compact car like the 2,340 lb. Corvair. This design puts more than 60 % of the weight on the rear wheels for sure-footed traction in accelerating and driving on ice, sand or snow. Corvair, by avoiding heavy handicaps of front-engine compact cars, also gives you better riding, handling and braking characteristics.

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Yankee addicts will tell you the Bronx Bombers of 1927 were the greatest ball club ever to wear a baseball uniform. Some Chicago fans will point to the White Sox of forty years ago as the best. However the Yankees will plead with pride at the Bambers. The Windy City loyalists won't point at anything.

This White Sox club was assembled in 1917 under the direction of one Clarence "Pants" Rowland, whose claim to managerial elevation was not through personal ability rather from the fact he was a personal friend of the Chisox boss, the original Charles Comiskey.

The club fairly "busted" its seams with talent. In fact it had so much that Rowland once told Comiskey he could fire him and save money. A team like the Sox didn't need a manager.

After the Chisox crushed the New York Giants in the 1917 world series, the Coogan's Bluff boss, John McGraw agreed. When Rowland, almost asleep after the series, stretched the giant McGraw and literally offered his confidence, McGraw brushed him aside and said angrily, "Get away from me, you busher."

In 1918 the White Sox' power was reduced through changes in personnel. It came back with a crash in 1919 to win the pennant and in 1920 had enough left in group when baseball's blackest mark threw a dismal shadow over the sport, the famous or infamous "Black Sox Scandal."

Eight members of the team were barred forever from baseball and White Sox fans unknown to them at the time were sentenced with a forty-year wail for now'her flag.

White Sox fans probably believed the skeleton in the closet had been reduced to dust. It would have remained silent, too, but for the fact the team won the American League pennant this year. And the Sox fans now are raising the last story of how the 1919 White Sox changed its name after succumbing to fixers and throwing the world series.

Suspicion that something was wrong would never have been aroused if the one-sided odds of 9-5 on the Chisox hadn't suddenly plunged to even money against the Cincinnati Reds.

Kid Gleason, manager of the team, began to have his doubts midway through the season. He spoke to the team. "You'd think we weren't trying," snapped a first baseman Chick Gandil. He was right. They weren't."

The story goes that the gamblers had reached eight players with promises of $10,000 each to throw the series. Gandil, it was later revealed, was the intermediary. It was on the 9th when Eddie Cicotte, a 29-game winner, and Claude Williams, a 23-game winner, among the pitchers, Swede Risberg, shortstop, and third-baseman Buck Weaver, both potential Hall-of-Famers; Happy Felsh, a spectacular centre-fielder; Freddie McMullin, a utility player and Shoeless Joe Jackson, a Carolina hillbilly, who was the finest natural hitter the game ever had.

News of the fix, however, did not break into the open until eleven months later. Cicotte, it was reported, finally cracked under pressure from Comiskey and Gleason. The others confessed to a grand jury. But the gamblers in some way managed to make all other testimony disappear from the courtroom, and to this day the plot has never been proven, legally.

The series had its strange paradoxes. Jackson, one of the culprits, topped both teams in hitting with a .375 average, while Eddie Collins, an honest man, batted the sour 100 points below normal. Cicotte in the series Eddie Roush robbed Felsh, one of the villains, of triples. Felsh also robbed Roush of one. After Cicotte and Williams lost the first two games, Dickie Kerr, an honest man, pitched a 3-0 shutout. Ironically Gandil's single drove in two runs, and Cicotte's triple scored the other.

Despite a beautiful throw to the plate by Jackson to cut off a run, the Sox lost the fourth game. They got the fifth through wooley fielding by Felsh and Jackson, and honest Eddie Collins. They won the sixth behind Kerr's pitching and the early hitting of Weaver, Jackson and Felsh and the tenth-inning clouting of Weaver and Gandil. .

As one writer put it, "It was a crazy-quilt pattern all the way. Even Cicotte, who was up to his ears in the skullduggery, pitched his way to one victory.

Dodgers 6-5 Favorites Over Braves In Playoffs

But Burdette Picked to Win First of Big-Three Series; Cards Proved Giant-Killers

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

On the last Friday of the season. It's impossible to crowd it soon, the Dodgers had a day off and pulled a tie for the National League pennant. They kept it through Saturday and Sunday, although losing 4-0 to the Braves in the final game, and for the first time in major league history a playoff decided a pennant.

That was 1946. The Dodgers, then in Brooklyn, lost the flag to St. Louis Cardinals, who swept the first two games in a best-of-three series.

Five years later, on the last Friday of the season, the Dodgers dropped into a first-place tie with the idle Giants with a 4-3 loss at Philadelphia. Both won on Saturday and again on Sunday, the final day, setting up a playoff.

That was in 1951. If you don't remember how the Dodgers lost that one, you're only seven years old.

HISTORY REPEATED

Eight years later, on the last Friday of the season, the Dodgers won 5-4 in Chicago and took a one-game lead. Saturday the lead went in the afternoon but lost it to the Cubs and Milwaukee's Braves beat Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 in 10 innings. Sunday, the final day, when the Dodgers and Giants tied for first and the Braves beat the Phils 5-3.

That's now. And the Dodgers head into their third pennant playoff of a history to-do's against the Braves.

Manager Fred Haney must be decided as to the righthanders Lew Burdette (21-13) and Carl Willey (14-8) or the Braves' starting pitcher. Manager Walt Alston had decided only that he'd use Johnny Podres (16-9), Danny McDevitt (10-8) or Sandy Koufax (8-4) for the Dodgers' only club with a season mark (13-10) over Milwaukee.

BRAVES FAVORED TODAY

The Braves, with Burdette, were 5-to-3 favorites to win the opener, although some Dodgers are favored 6 to 5 to win the series.

The playoff was to be televised by ABC starting at 1:30 p.m. mdt. The series shifts to Los Angeles for the second and, if necessary, third game.

The winner will get a day off before meeting the New York world series against Chicago White Sox.

The Dodgers and Braves ruined any chance of a three-way playoff three-way tie by winning Sunday. That killed the Cincinnati Reds, who made it doubly sure by losing a doubleheader to St. Louis 3-1 and 14-8.

Roger Craig (11-5) put it away for the Dodgers, winning his fifth game in a row with a six-hitter and driving in a pair of second-inning runs with a single off Bob Anderson (12 - 13). Charlie Neal and John Roseboro made it a breeze with two-run homers. Earl Averill homered for the Cubs' run in the fifth.

ALL UNEARNED

The Braves beat Jim Owens (13-12) with three unearned runs in the seventh. Two singles, an error, a walk, a passed ball and a walk, by reliefer Humberto Robinson, clinched it, giving the victory to Bob Hall (15-9) after he had been tagged for fifth inning homer by Carl Sawatski that tied it 1-1.

The Other Day

Ken Pinder

We got to talking about meteorites—(meteors from outer space that reach the earth before being wholly consumed) and we were amazed to learn that scientists estimate that eight million (yes, that's billion) a day encounter the earth.

Nearly all are destroyed by heat generated as they pass through our atmosphere, but some do reach, from minute particle, to one weighing 60 tons found in Africa. Think of how our atmosphere protects us from this bombardment from outer space . . . hardly short of miraculous . . . a wonderful evidence of the order maintained in our world and universe.

Another point to contemplate is that all the elements found in meteorites are also present on earth, and every metal found in meteorites is also found in your automobile in its most refined state.

It occurs to us that it would be a bit helpful if meteorites drove as though they were guilty of a felony. Be "scared," but—our job is to provide you with the safest, best earthly transportation, and to keep it safe and economical for you. That we really do, and we are conscientious about it too.

By KEN WARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A week ago today managing director Lew Hayman of Toronto Argonauts accepted a collect telephone call from Montreal, contract $15 and paid off in a 39-9 upset victory over Montreal Alouettes at Montreal Stadium in key Big Four football union game.

The man who Al Dorow who talked Hayman into considering him for Argos' quarterback slot, flew to Toronto the next day, sold, after only three days' preparation gave a sensational performance to rock the Als back on their heels.

It moved Argos into undisputed possession of third place, two points up on Ottawa Rough Riders who were beaten 23-14 by Hamilton Tiger - Cats in Saturday's other Big Four action.

Hamilton leads the league with 14 points on a 7-1 record and Montreal is second with eight, two points ahead of Toronto.

Dorow's debut in the season as second-string quarter for British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union in Argos gave B.C. import guard Charlie Horton and the negotiation rights as an unidentified American.

Dorow didn't get into Saturday's game until late in the first half when Argos were trailing 9-0. He scored a converted touchdown on his second series of plays for a 7-3 Argo lead at the half.

In the third quarter Dorow produced two more touchdowns, then added three in the final 15 minutes to the delight of 30,321 fans.

End Ross Coyle, a star with Ottawa in the late last season, grabbed three touchdown passes from Dorow and Dave Cline added 12 on 24 passes. Another touchdown came on a pass to Bob Carter. Argo got one for himself on a one-yard plunge and Cookie Gilchrist, signed for the game. The rest of the Argo scoring was on three converts by Gilchrist.

Montreal's points came on two kicks by quarterback Sam Etcheverry and a third-quarter touchdown by Veryl Switzer which Johnny Blanchet converted.

The Argo defence was unit played its best football of the season to back up the club's new scoring punch.

FUMBLES HURT OTTAWA

At Ottawa the razor - sharp passing of Hamilton quarter Joe Zilo Faloney and a pair of costly fumbles broke the Rough Riders' two-game win string.

The Rider line played a tremendous game in holding the powerful Ticats to 68 yards rushing—including 13 in the last half. Zilo Faloney clicked on 12 of 20 passes for 240 yards.

Tom Wilkinson and halfback Ralph Goldston scored touchdowns on plays that resulted from Rider fumbles and speedy Ron Howell electrified a crowd of 28,237 by scoring on an 80-yard punt-and-run play.

Cam Fraser kicked two singles and Gene Gaudette booted three converts for Hamilton's 'other' points.

TRIPUCKA PASS CLICKS

Ottawa halfback Ron Stewart scored on a short end run and the other touchdown came when Gary Schreiber took a pass from Frank Tripucka, who took over at quarterback from Canadian Russ Jackson late in the game. Schreider added both converts.

Import end Marc Reynolds is playing in his second game with Hamilton, dislocated his shoulder making a tackle in the second quarter.

Coach Jim Trimble said later that "it doesn't look like Marc will be ready before the important end of the season."

The same teams meet again next Saturday with a return in the fields, Toronto visits Montreal and Ottawa goes to Hamilton.

Canadiens Whip Rochester 11-1

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens smothered Rochester Americans 11-1 in an exhibition hockey game Saturday with Jean Beliveau scoring three goals for the National Hockey League champions.

Packers, Colts Win National Football Tilts

NEW YORK (AP) — Bert Bell, the National Football League's major domo, predicted the other day that this season — the pro circuit's 50th — will be the greatest in history. He does it every year.

But, couldn't have known.

1. That Green Bay Packers, almost unanimously picked to finish last in the western division, would make Vince Lombardi's debut as head coach a monumental disaster with a 1-6 start of the highly - ranked Chicago Bears.

2. That Johnny Unitas, Baltimore's passing wizard, would fire the fabulous Colts to a 21-0 victory over the stubborn Detroit Lions and extend one of the NFL's greatest records at the same time.

PACKERS START FAST

While the Packers and Colts were winning their season-openers over the weekend, the Chicago Cardinals continued to support the contention Denis that they are the team to beat in the eastern division by thumping Washington 49-21.

In other curtain-raisers, New York Giants routed a winless set by edging Los Angeles 23-21, Pittsburgh Steelers downed Cleveland Browns and Francisco 49ers defeated Philadelphia 34-14.

Jim Ringo pounced on a fumble on the Bears' 25 to set up the Packers' victory, while Paul Hornung and Jerry Taylor alternating the Packers' moves goalward. Taylor plunged in the yards Hornung's conversion put the Packers' ahead to stay 7-6.

Unitas hit Ray Berry with an 18-yard touchdown pass as the third period began on a fumble on the Bears' 25 to set up the Packers' victory, while Paul Hornung and Jerry Taylor alternating the Packers moves goalward. Taylor plunged in the yards Hornung's conversion put the Packers Edmonton Eskimos have an opportunity tonight to make the Western Interprovincial Football Union race even tighter.

A win by Eskimos when they meet Blue Bombers at Winnipeg would put them in a three-way tie at the top with Bombers and British Columbia Lions.

Calgary Stampeders meet Saskatchewan Roughriders in Regina in tonight's other engagement.

Lions, spanked by the passing of quarterback Randy Duncan, took a 20-10 win over Stampeders in the only game Saturday. It moved them into a first-place tie with Bombers and two points ahead of Eskimos.

Calgary is fourth with eight points, six behind Bombers and Lions. The winless Roughriders are last in the five-team loop.

MOVES AT WILL

Duncan, former Iowa all-American, moved the ball almost at will, hitting ends Bruce Claridge and Jerry Keeling for scores.

James Charlebois, Don Vicic and Sonny Homer each got a touchdown for B.C., with Janes converting three. Harold Sparrow added a single.

Calgary scorers were Harvey Wylie, with a touchdown, and Doug Brown, who booked a convert and a field goal.

The spectacular play of the game belonged to Calgary. Early in the first quarter, Joe Kapp, who completed only eight of 20 pass attempts, fozzed 30 yards to Wylie. The backfielder ran the remaining 35 yards.

Duncan completed 18 of his 34 pass attempts.

Jaguar Wins Grand Prix

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP)—Walt Hansgen rocketed his Lister Jaguar to victory in the 12th annual Grand Prix Saturday.

Hansgen, of Westfield, N.J., put the rest of the 36-car field behind him at the start and never were threatened. He averaged 87.5 miles an hour for the 44-lap, 101.6-mile race. That's a peak of 91.3 miles an hour on the 40th lap.

Earlier, two women spectators suffered fractured legs during a small car race when Jack Wilson of Worster, Ohio lost control of his MGA and the car shot into a wire fence.

The triumph was the third for Hansgen, giving him permanent possession of the trophy.

George Constantine of Southbridge, Mass., driving an Aston Martin, followed Hansgen across the finish line by 26 seconds.

STENGEL WILL RETURN

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees set at rest reports that manager Casey Stengel might not complete his two-year contract when they announced Sunday he will pilot the club next year. Stengel's contract runs through 1960. Pitching coach Jim Turner, however, was given his release.

Cleveland Bows To Leafs 6-1

ST. THOMAS (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League Saturday night defeated Cleveland Barons 6-1 in an exhibition game.

More than 3,000 fans saw Gerry Ehman, Bob Baun and George Armstrong give Leafs a 3-0 first-period lead over their Quadrangle League opponents. Dick Duff made it 4-0 in the second period.

Bert Olmstead with Frank Mahovlich scored one each in the third period, when Bob Barlow netted Cleveland's goal.

Wings Whip Edmonton 4-1

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Flyers held Detroit Red Wings scoreless for the last two periods but the National Hockey Leaguers club got enough goals in the first 20 minutes to win an exhibition game 4-1 before 4,400 fans Saturday night.

Detroit scorers were Gordie Howe, Norm Ullman, Jack McMahon and Val Fonteyne. The Western League club's lone goal was scored by Gordon Stutie.

Canadians Trim Three Rivers 5-2

TROIS RIVIERES, Que (CP)—Montreal Canadiens needed a third-period splurge Sunday night to down Trois-Riviores Lions of the Eastern Professional Hockey League 5-2 in an exhibition game.

Gilles Thibeault gave Lions a 2-0 lead in the 6th minute of play and the Lions held the National Hockey Leaguers to a 2-2 tie at the end of the second period.

Trois - Rivieres was aided by the borrowed Canadiens line of Bert Goyette, Claude Provost and Andre Pronovost.

Hopes of the partisan Trois-Rivieres crowd of 3,500 were doused by three unanswered Montreal goals in the third period.

Canadiens scorers were Jean Beliveau, Don Marshall, Bernie Geoffrion, Bill Hicke and Ab McDonald.

Gerry Desaulniers got the second goal for Trois-Rivieres.

Bombers' Pitt Tops in West

CALGARY (CP)—With the two three scorers idle Saturday night, Doug Brown of Calgary moved to within one point of third place in the Western Interprovincial Football Union individual scoring when he booted four points as the Stampeders beat 28-10 to British Columbia Lions.

Brown now has 47 points, one behind Bombers' Jim Van Pelt. Bomber end Ernie Pitts still leads the pack with 72 points, followed by Lions' Vic Kristopaitis with 50 points. Kristopaitis hasn't played in the last two games due to an injury.

What Makes Sammy Run? Gripping Viewing on Sunday

By CYNTHIA LOWAY

NEW YORK (AP)—Those who have been loudly mourning the gradual disappearance of good serious drama from the television screen should give three cheers for NBC's Sunday Showcase. Or at least they should give it their attention because a good adult drama is exactly what the producers are trying for.

They certainly succeeded Sunday night with the first part of "What Makes Sammy Run?" This was a shocker when it was published almost 20 years ago — a best-seller, adapted from the book by its author Budd Schulberg. It still makes gripping viewing.

Larry Blyden in the title role is a total, sickening and absolutely convincing heel. And John Forsythe is quite the All American boy, gentle idealistic friend.

Sunday night is getting tough on the viewer. There are all these hour-long shows—and they overlap each other so you almost have to stay with one network. NBC had three in a row Sunday night, a situation complicated by Ed Sullivan on CBS with a special 90-minute show and John Daly on ABC with a special documentary.

I happily left Sullivan in Moscow in the middle of a trained bear act. It has always been my firm policy to keep away from returned travelers until they get tired of showing pictures of their trip. This only a small bit of duty I'd me to look at his films.

Ray Rogers, Dale Evans and Eddie Adams took over Dinah Shore's spot on NBC with a folksy hour of singing and mild humor. It will be great to get Miss Shore back again. I'm saddle-sore enough without riding the Old West into variety shows too.

Then there was The Splendid American, a filmed documentary about a doctor, a teacher and an agricultural expert who are helping improve the lot of the people of troubled Laos. Narrated by John Daly, the 60-minute show was designed to refute "ugly American" stories. It was an excellent idea but, except for an interview with dedicated young Dr. Thomas A. Dooley, it was rather dull and preachy.

Recommended tonight: Show of the month, CBS, 8:30-10 EDT—Body and Soul, a prizefight drama with Ben Gazzara and Francbot Tone; Goodyear Theatre, NBC, 9:30 — Hello Charlies, a Ben Hecht original with Tony Randall; Steve Allen Show, NBC, 10-11:30 — Hello, new spot: Heansay, CBS, 10—premiere of a new series with Jackie Cooper.

HIGH SCHOOL BIG SHOT and T-BIRD GANG

High School Big Shot and T-Bird Gang, a filmgroup combination created from the point of view of today's youth, is currently showing at the Park Theatre for 2 days only.

High School Big Shot is the intimate story of a brilliant but naive high school senior and the personal repercussions he faces when the advances of the most sought-after girl on the campus become too powerful to resist. Thrashing about in a new and turbulent emotional world, the avaricious desires of the young woman lead to a crime of daredevil daring. When the young genius turns his talents in the wrong direction, he plans and executes what was later to be called "the great teenage robbery". Even the precocious underworld was awed by the million dollar heist. Tom Pitts, acclaimed young Hollywood actor, brings real brilliance to his sensitive portrayal of the "brainy" boy-genius-criminal and love-starved youth. Virginia Aldridge, interpreting Tom's character, reveals herself as one of the up and coming young female stars.

ASSOMPTION, Que. (CP)— Jean Lesage, leader of the Quebec Liberal party, has demanded the resignation of Speaker Maurice Tellier of the Legislative Assembly.

He said Mr. Tellier is a director of La Salle Equipment Company, a machinery - selling firm incorporated in 1952. He said Mr. Tellier's son Bernard and Aime Lacroix, both of Montreal, are the other officers.

"A rapid examination of the public accounts has shown me that in these years the La Salle Equipment Company has received from the Quebec government various contracts and orders for a total of $126,83," Mr. Lesage said.

A. R. MOSHER.

Mosher had made an outstanding contribution to the welfare of Canada.

At the time of his death, Mr. Mosher was serving on the Canada Labor Relations Board and also was a member of the federal government's Atomic Energy Development committee.

Labor Minister Starr, in a statement, said Mr. Mosher's "straight-forward honesty of approach, the wisdom which he garnered through the years, made him a tremendous asset in the operation of the Canada Labor Relations Board and the advisory committee."

LED EARLY STRIKE

Mr. Mosher was a freight handler on the old Intercolonial Railway at Halifax when he and a few other fledgling unionists formed the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and promptly won a strike against the company.

He was the brotherhood's first president, and held the post until 1953 when he became its honorary life president.

The union, now the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers, has grown into a 40,000 - member union covering railway, shipping, highway transport and many other fields. It is the largest all-Canadian union and runs about seven with the teamsters as Canada's fifth largest union.

Mr. Mosher spearheaded the movement in the old CCF to keep Communists from the central labor groups. The congress did heavily in Quebec, where some large unions were ejected.

CCF LINK

He also played a leading role in the controversial decision by the CCL to associate itself with the CCF party.

His biggest battle with management was in 1950 when he led Frank Hall of Montreal were joint leaders of a crippling rail general rail strike. This tied up the transcontinental railways for 14 days. A special commission of Parliament ordered the rail workers back to work.

His Second World War services on various government boards was rewarded when he was made a member of the Order of the British Empire.

Johnstown

JOHNSTOWN — Church and Sunday School was combined on Sunday at Johnstown, following Rally Day. The children took the program, with a good attendance.

The young people's choir rendered an anthem. Jim Harder read the story called "The Lost Key Found." The Scripture lesson was found in John 7 and 16, by Darlene Harder. "The Red Red Jeep", was given by Joan Vandervoort. Bruce Stickle and Chris Clapp received the birthday offering.

The Rev. G.A. Puttenham is assisted by Mr. Ross Hall of Ontario Bible Society, who told the children of his work, in story form.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harry, accompanied by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hall, visited Mr. C. Harry, Bloomfield, of Cobourg, had dinner with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White, of Elizabethville, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harder had supper on Sunday with their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harder.

Mr. Grant Ketchison, of Madoc, was a guest on Monday of her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Harry, and Marlin, on Wednesday, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Harry, of Brockville, spent Saturday afternoon and Saturday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Harry.

The Johnstown girls held their COGIT meeting on Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. Arnold Harry.

The second meeting with the "Purpose". Beverley Clapp led in the responsive Scripture reading found in Genesis 1. The worship service was in charge of Rosemary Stickle and Beverley Read a story called, "The Unforgettable Experience", followed by prayer by Mrs. Harry.

During the business session a letter of thanks was received from Children's Home for Retarded Children, for the infants' clothes sent recently by the girls.

It was decided to make cookies for sale to make money to send to the foreign field.

OFFICERS ELECTED

An election of officers was held as follows: president, Rosemary Bush; vice - president, Joan Vandervoort; secretary, Darlene Harry; treasurer, Beverley Clapp; press reporter, Pat Harder; program director, Sharon Gilchrist.

Johnstown

The Chinese Communist capital of Yenan bottomed in 1947 before the advancing armies of Chiang Kai-shek. The outlook seemed bleak for Red leader Mao Tse-tung and his ragged followers.

"You are withdrawing from Yenan in retreat. Have you given up this hope of the end of communism in China?" That was what I asked Mao Tse-tung when he met him at the tiny Yenan airstrip.

Mao, in padded blue cotton patched at the elbows, looked over the Shensi hills. "Mr. Redfern," he said with the faintest trace of a smile, "I invite you to visit us in Peking two years from now."

The story of how Mao's armies shrivled suddenly and launched the counter-offensive against Chiang which brought them to power is history now.

In less than two years this son of a Hunan peasant and his followers had exchanged their caves for sumptuous quarters under the blue and yellow tile roofs of the "forbidden city" in Peking, an ancient home of emperors.

CHAIRMAN MAO

Today, at 65 still undisputed master of the Chinese revolution, Mao prepares to celebrate the 10th anniversary of his "People's Republic of China."

The Western world confemns the state Mao created as an ever - threatening force banished to peace and security. The Communist blue - print for world domination is shining Red armor. But hero or villain, Peking has forced its foot to acknowledge it has to deal with it at the conference tables of Panmunjom and Geneva.

On Oct. 1, 1949, the Chinese Communists ended a long and bitter revolutionary struggle and began the long, arduous task of the world's people.

Historians may well describe the years that followed as "the Mao decade." They were years of the most spectacular and successful mass-conversion in the history of man of action almost alone responsible for the Red China.

Ten years ago the world scarcely knew how to pronounce Mao's name. Few had heard of the men in his immediate inner circle. Chou En-lai, Mao's foreign minister and urbane executive of Red China's foreign policy.

In the first decade of power this handful of strong-willed men ruled China, for a century the easy prey of foreign powers and which possessed her human and natural resources.

The Communists then set to work to make China the world's first of a modern state.

They began by uniting the hammer, the fuller and the laborgang to stamp out the last organized resistance. A million were sent to the grave in the purges of those first years.

Then they confiscated the so-called landlords' property and parcelled it out to the peasants.

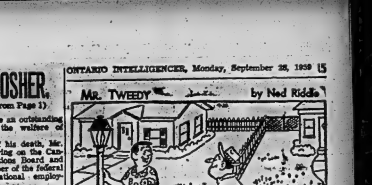
Having won loyalty and the support by this gesture they conducted and completed the first five - year plan — which brought China into the era of the pre-war industrial level — and embarked in 1958 on the second.

But China could not advance into communism on the backs of 500,000,000 land-owning peasants. The hand that gave ruthlessly took away, and the grumbling peasants found themselves - agricultural wage earners in those cells of peasant co-operatives.

Still dissatisfied with production, Mao took the next revolutionary step in August, 1958. He formed the farmer into a factor servant of the state, making each a tiny human cog in 26,000 vast peasant communes run with the dull, clockwork efficiency of army battalions.

GREAT LEAP MEASURES

Two months ago Premier Chou boasted that these severe measures, coupled with a "great leap forward" in the factories and mines, would permit China to overtake the industrial might of Britain in the next 20 years. He credited China's modern day advance to the wisdom and doctrines of Karl Marx, the father of communism, and Lenin, Russian theorist, Lenin.



But the ironic truth is that a great Chinese emperor, Shih, Huang-ti, had anticipated the methods and philosophy of the new communism to an extraordinary degree 2,180 years before. Communism is not a deep student of Chinese history, has written him, not Marx, as a model.

Builder of the Great Wall, unifier of China, dictator and organizer of huge armies, the founder of Shih'e day was called "legalism." He advocated controlled prices, nationalization of capital and state monopoly of trade.

Shih drove thousands of intellectuals into the work gangs, abolished ancestor worship, overthrew Confucianism, reformed the language, and set himself up as "father" of his people — events which have their modern echoes in the China of today.

Shih boasted that his dynasty would reign a thousand years. It collapsed in 15.

Today the world grown anxious by the belligerency of the new rulers asks how long will their reign endure?

"I took your advice and put in a yard light with an electrical outlet at the base."

Ike Calls Steel Firms' And Union Heads To Parleys

Think Taft-Hartley Law To Be Invoked in Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States justice department today was reported gearing up for quick action if President Eisenhower decides to invoke the Taft-Hartley labor law's emergency provisions to stop the steel strike.

The president has called in top industry and union leaders to separate conference s Wednesday. Some officials, however, privately doubt the president's appeal will bring the nation's 500,000 striking Steelworkers Union from their poles-apart positions kept up through the 17 days of the strike.

In that event, Eisenhower is expected to trigger the court-order strike provisions into effect. This would call first for naming a fact-finding panel to report on the issues. On receipt of the panel's report, the president could order the justice department to seek a court injunction to halt the strike for an 80-day "cooling" period.

Attorney-General William P. Rogers said the head of his department's civil division, George C. Doub, participated in a White House conference on the steel situation Thursday.

TEXT AT STAKEHILL

All negotiations in the dispute are at a standstill. The union broke off New York talks conducted by the federal mediation and conciliation service Friday. Separate industry conferences were useless.

"Eisenhower is described particularly concerned over the continuing unemployment of the 500,000 strikers and 200,000 others left idle by the strike. He also spoke of the accumulating effects on the over-all U.S. economy.

There are two main issues. One is the industry's demand for more leeway in making work-practice economies. The other is the union's demand for a 15-cent-hourly raise and benefits for every month of a new contract. Before the strike American workers averaged $3.11 hourly earnings.

Struck by Car

TORONTO (CP) — Abraham Gross, 52, of suburban North York was killed Monday night by a car while crossing the street.

PEARSON PAYS TRIBUTE

OTTAWA (CP) — Liberal Leader Pearson paid tribute to Canadian Labor Congress, died, in a message to Claude Jodoin. Mr. Pearson said: "Deepest sympathy in the loss to you and to Canada of your husband, a great citizen who has done so much for the labor movement and whose work will not be forgotten."

Jap Town Between Peaceful Rivers Turned Into Hell Hole by Typhoon

NAGASHIMA, Japan (AP) — This central Japanese town of 7,000 people was a prosperous farming community lying between two peaceful rivers — until Typhoon Vera hit Saturday.

Today it is a hell hole.

Bloated bodies float in muddy, brown rivers that have risen to about 25 per cent of Navashima when typhoon Vera turned the city into a death trap.

The stench of death is everywhere.

Nagashima is typical of many Japanese cities, lowest and most vulnerable. The death toll confirmed dead in the typhoon rose today to 1,000 with 1,900 missing. It was one of the worst natural disasters ever to hit the Japanese islands.

Nobody knows yet how many died in Nagashima. After four days, police and rescue workers are still unable to reach many isolated patches of ground.

On one patch of dry ground men, women and children huddled together today, some crying and moaning, others still too stunned for whimpering.

One old woman clutched the body of a dead girl and rocked back and forth chanting Buddhist psalms.

Most of those around her were also undertakers. All were smeared with mud. They stood or squatted in groups for which eyes and straw covering was not available.

On another dry place of land 1,000 persons were squatted, staring into space. Beside him in a row lay the uncovered bodies of a middle-aged woman, a young boy, two girls, an old man and a baby.

"Who are they? Your family?" I asked the man perched on his lips together and made no reply.

Most survivors in Nagashima haven't eaten in 3½ days.

"When will we get food?" they wanted to know.

Only a few hours of homes that escaped destruction have been covered with bedding and clothing set out to dry — oases of bright color in the sea of destruction.

Here and there a row of half-submerged, tiled telegraph poles show where a road once has been. Where waters have receded, remnants of all kinds lie in ruin, a huge rug of quilted green trampled to tatters.

TWO APPROACHES TO PROBLEM OF OLDER WORKERS

Health Association Deals With Issue

TORONTO (CP) — There are two approaches to the problem of older workers and the medical profession should assess the fitness of such employees, the Ontario Public Health Association was told Monday.

Dr. L. F. Koyl, director of the industrial unit at Toronto's Sunnybrook Hospital, told the opening session of the association's three-day annual meeting one approach is to maintain a compulsory retirement age but raise it to 68, 69 or 70.

The other, he said, is to allow men to work past a voluntary retirement age with an annual bank interest to their fitness.

In both cases, he added, fitness to work should be assessed by the medical profession.

EXPLAINS SYSTEM

He described a system developed at Sunnybrook by the department of physical therapy and called an employee fitness can be estimated.

Aspects of the problem of old age in the community were examined in detail by other speakers.

Dr. A. S. Slokes, head of the department of Toronto's psychiatry department, said there is a tendency to "institutional treatment of elderly people in mental hospitals when people believed. He said elderly psychiatrists have been obsessed with the notion that elderly patients admitted to mental hospitals suffer from an organic disease, whereas the majority of cases are merely depressive disorders.

Once these cases are relieved, opportunities for social adjustment open up, Dr. Stokes said.

LIVE EXPECTANCY UP

Dr. Stokes also was told that during the last 35 years expectation of life in Ontario has improved by 20 years for boys and by 23 years for girls.

Dr. A. E. Sellers, director of the provincial health department's statistics division, told Monday he could discuss Asian problems without Red Chinese officials in the room.

But the People's Daily says Khrushchev has dealt a fatal blow to the cold war.

"With exceedingly sound arguments he has highlighted the importance of improving Soviet-American relations and the peaceful coexistence of the two different social systems."

The anniversary celebration opened Monday with a big rally at which Mikhail Suslov, one of the premier's top lieutenants and other speakers included leading Latin American Communists, all of whom attacked the U.S.

Struck by Brass

TORONTO (CP) — Thomas Calor, 60, of suburban Lansing was killed Monday at the Anaconda America Brass Limited plant in suburban New Toronto when a slab of brass shifted and fell on him while he was moving it through a press.

One piece of metal struck him on the head. Three other pieces were flung against walls and machinery.

Violent Storms Cut Wide Damage Swath Across Ont.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Violent storms struck many parts of Ontario Monday causing property damage, traffic accidents and power disruptions.

One storm, with tornado-like winds, left a mile trail of damage 2 miles wide in Chatham and destroyed cottages beside the Ontario Beach Park at Rondeau in Pembroke.

It was like "a bulldozer going through," said one district resident. Trees were felled by high winds and a garage was thrown across a field, but there were no reports of injury.

In Southwestern Ontario, electrical storms with winds of up to 40 miles an hour struck throughout the Windsor, Chatham and London areas. Glumping 1½ inches of rain, knocking out power supplies and starting small fires.

Hydro distribution products and basements were flooded in Windsor.

Hydro and telephone crews worked through the night to repair downed wires in Chatham and the London City Airport the power was off three separate times in a 30-minutes period. In Detroit, the city's two major expressways were closed to traffic because of flooding.

At Hunterville, 90 miles north of Lake Simcoe, a severe electrical storm hampered the search for two men missing since Monday morning, when they went partridge hunting. The boys are Bryan Thompson, 12, and Bob Mounier, 13.

At Waverley, 35 miles southwest of Chatham, David Quick, 19, was killed when his car skidded on wet pavement and spun into a ditch. A passenger suffered multiple fractures. The accident occurred during a driving rainstorm.

In Guelph, lightning struck three hydro sub-stations, knocking out power. Radio station CJOY off the air and cutting off power in half the downtown area.

Red China Praises Result Of Nikita's American Tour

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China today applauded the results of Premier Khrushchev's American tour, broadcasting predictions of an easing of world tensions.

The Soviet premier flies to Peking today for the celebration of the 10th anniversary of the Communist victory in the Chinese revolution as one of history's great events and pledging eternal friendship between Moscow and Peking.

Peking radio said Khrushchev's visit to the United States "without doubt . . . will have a positive effect . . . on the cause of world peace."

World public opinion is fully justified in highly evaluating this visit, the Peking broadcast said in Comrade Khrushchev's success."

The broadcast was by far Red China's most positive reflection of the Camp David summer-Khrushchev meeting. Previously the Chinese Reds had been extremely cool to the idea because of the possibility that Soviet-Communist talks would discuss Asian problems without Red Chinese officials in the room.

But the People's Daily says Khrushchev has dealt a fatal blow to the cold war.

"With exceedingly sound arguments he has highlighted the importance of improving Soviet-American relations and the peaceful coexistence of the two different social systems."

The anniversary celebration opened Monday with a big rally at which Mikhail Suslov, one of the premier's top lieutenants and other speakers included leading Latin American Communists, all of whom attacked the U.S.

Outlook Gloomy For Quick End To Algerian War

PARIS (AP) — The outlook for an early end to the bitter Algerian rebellion appeared as gloomy as ever today.

A rebel proposal to meet with Gen. De Gaulle failed to draw any immediate response from the president, and first unofficial reports from Algeria said the rebels would discuss Algeria's future with the "group of rebellious agitators"—the rebel government.

The rebel proposal was sharply rejected by right-wing settlers in Algeria and by the political left's group in France. The Rally for French Algeria, formed after the general's speech, called the rebel communique "rare insolence."

U.S. WILL BRIEF NATO ALLIES ON IKE-MR. K. TALKS

Ambassadors to Get Detailed Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States state department today is to give ambassadors of its 14 North Atlantic allies a detailed report on President Eisenhower's talks with Premier Khrushchev.

This early move in the process of consultation could lead to a summit conference later this year or early in 1960. Eisenhower has said "everybody will determine whether, when and where a summit conference should be held or whether the Big Four foreign ministers should meet again to reopen negotiations on Berlin.

British, French and West German ambassadors received an initial briefing Monday as Prime Minister Macmillan said in London a summit conference would be held soon.

Eisenhower said only that his requirements for a summit meeting had been substantially met. His chief objection to a summit meeting was Khrushchev's threat in November to take steps which would jeopardize the security of the West.

THREAT LIFTED

The president said at his press conference Thursday that he took the threat and in fact had stated emphatically that he would not let it intention to give anything that was to be interpreted as duress or compulsion."

The two agreed on reopening negotiations for the settlement of the Berlin problem.

In addition, Eisenhower said, Khrushchev and he agreed that, in the president's words, "these negotiations should not be prolonged indefinitely but there could be no fixed time limit on them."

The Western powers will reach their Dec. 14 deadline for agreement handles the Berlin situation in the light of Khrushchev's statements. The Soviet government will watch the development of Allied policy in the forthcoming negotiations to see whether in fact the Soviet rulers are actively seeking a Berlin solution.

Eisenhower told the press conference he could not guarantee that the same standards and procedures for West Berlin and West Berlin would guide Washington in the new negotiations because he does not know what solution might finally prove acceptable to all parties.

Fatally Injured

FINCH (CP) — Valerie Macmillan, seven - year - old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Macmillan, was fatally injured in front of her home Monday when she was hit by a car. The child had just left a car, which brought her from school, and started to run across the road into the path of another car. She died while being transferred to a Montreal hospital.

BODY STOLEN

HOLLAND, Miss. (AP) — A hunt for a possible mentally deranged rape robber has been started, following the weekend disappearance of the body of a 17-year-old girl was stolen from her grave. Police said the mother of Leonard Stelling said the body of Jean Penny, a leukemia victim, was exhumed and the dragged out of the buried coffin by the feet the night of her funeral, Sept. 6.

Weather Man Traces Crazy Pattern From Snowflurries to Record Heat

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The weather hit a crazy pattern of extremes across Canada Monday—from snowflurries and freezing temperatures in the West to record hot temperatures in the East.

The snow—a few flakes—fell in such areas as the Regina and Swift Current, Sask. Churchill, in northern Manitoba, also reported about an inch along with winds of up to 90 miles an hour.

The warm weather was general across the eastern provinces. Southern and Central Ontario got the worst of it.

Warm, humid air sent temperatures soaring into the 80s. Hamilton was the hottest spot in the province with 92. The weather office said it probably was a record there for Sept. 28. Toronto had a record 84, two degrees

U.S. and Russia Reach Accord On Atom Agency

VIENNA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have reached full agreement to support the East-West International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) in its efforts to promote the peaceful use of nuclear energy.

The head of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said Monday that as an immediate result, more American and Soviet nuclear scientists will be exchanged.

John A. McCone said his recent Washington talks on mutual exchange of non-military nuclear information with Russia's Khrushchev "has created a favorable opposite number, V. S. Emelyanov, led to the understanding that the agency "is becoming a useful instrument and that its activities should be expanded.

"I understand that Prof. Emelyanov plans to visit the Brookhaven, Mass., laboratory. In the future, more Russian scientists will be invited to the United States and more U.S. scientists will go to the Soviet Union under IAEA's sponsorship."

FEAR RABIES OUTBREAK

SARNIA (CP) — Dr. Roderick Vaughan, general manager of the Lambton County may in the next month or two be confronted by dog rabies outbreak. He said rabid foxes were being reported in the west at a rate of two or three a week and a free vaccine clinic should be established for domestic pets.

Today's Chuckle

"Do you have trouble making decisions?" asked the psychiatrist.

"Yes and no," came the reply from the couch.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) Synopsis: Cooler air mass has replaced last week's record-hot Northern Ontario now is edging into Southern Ontario. Clearing skies and cooler temperatures are forecast for all southern regions tonight.

Weather will remain the dominating feature in Northern Ontario today and Wednesday with cloudy skies, showers, and below-normal temperatures.

Hurricane Grace is expected to move inland in the Carolina area today. It will turn southeastward Wednesday and develop a more northeasterly course. Such a path would influence weather conditions for Southern Ontario Wednesday.

Streets Flooded, Power Lines Out At Charleston

Most Exposed Regions Evacuated After Alarm

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Hurricane Gracie, with howling 125-mile winds near the center, struck the South Carolina coast today.

While the eye was still miles off shore, John Cummings, chief meteorologist at the Charleston weather bureau, estimated that winds along the beaches here had reached hurricane force (75 miles per hour).

Signs blew down and trees were uprooted as high winds, towering waves and torrential rain lashed the Carolinas-Georgia coast this morning.

STREETS FLOODED

Power lines went out and flood water filled streets in the lower areas of Charleston and nearby communities. Most exposed areas were evacuated, but many of those remaining were isolated as the storm cut them off.

Centre of the storm, with winds nearby hitting 125 miles an hour, was placed by the weather bureau at 11 a.m. EDT.

The weather bureau said the storm was travelling northwest at about 12 miles an hour.

Advertising agents said a new, entertaining approach is extremely dangerous, the weather bureau had urged early evacuation of exposed areas and most of the permanent residents complied. The summer vacation season, with its crowds of visitors, is over.

The Red Cross said 85 shelters set up from Savannah, Ga., to Myrtle Beach, S.C., housed some 3,000 evacuees.

WITHDRAWS FROM GUT

With the worst still to come, water flowed up to four feet deep in the streets of Folly Beach, 10 miles south of here, and three feet deep at nearby Isle of Palms. Store windows were blow out at Folly Beach.

Gracie is one in a series of the Charleston News and Courier said: Others in the Hurricane Street section of Charleston were "going down like matchsticks."

Fortunately, the peak of the storm was expected to hit the Charleston area here at high tide, weather bureau said tides were expected to be 2 feet higher than the normal low. This would cause five feet or flooding at Folly Beach and Charleston harbor, forecasters said.

Heavy rains already were falling inland in eastern South Carolina and southeastern North Carolina and forecasters here said they would spread northward Tuesday and tonight. Hurricane Gracie proceeds on her northerly course. The bureau warned of possible rainfall measuring 10 to 15 inches causing some serious flooding.

The bureau warned of continued high winds at Wilmington, N.C., to Savannah, with the worst, from Wilmington, N.C., to Charleston.

SHIPS ENDANGERED

Eleven merchant ships sought safety in Charleston harbor and were moored with a network of lines. Two, but their identities were not known, were dragging anchor and using their engines to keep away from harbor wall. The coast guard said guns in the harbor ranged up to 100 miles an hour.

Prime Minister And Gaitskell Are Both Hoarse

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Macmillan and Opposition Leader Hugh Gaitskell started out today on the last 1,000 miles of their political tour around Britain.

At this point of a hot campaign for the Oct. 8 general election, they are agreed on one thing—they're both hoarse from talking.

Macmillan, 65, and Gaitskell, 53, has spoken in 22 cities and towns, talking from a variety of platforms. They included just about everything from a farm cart to a prize-fight ring.

Macmillan has met 27 cities and towns, and the places where he's appeared have been as unique and varied as his opponents.

Macmillan has 44 more speeches to make, Gaitskell another 27.

Astutely, both parties have rushed their leaders into political areas where the last elections were close.

CLOSE NOMINATIONS

Nominations closed Monday night and showed that 1,534 candidates will be running for 630 seats in the House of Commons.

The total is made up of 625 for the ruling Conservative Party, 621 for the Labor Party, 217 for the Liberals, 18 C o m m u n i s t s, 30 Welsh nationalists, five Scottish nationalists, 22 for the Slim Pelt Party and 46 others representing fragmentary groups.

In the 1955 election there were 1,409 candidates. They totalled 1,376 in 1951.

Final slate of the parties in the House of commons before dissolution: Conservatives have 277, Liberal six, Independent two and vacancies six.

Interior floods frequently have caused the greatest hurricane damage but there was one bright spot. Many farmers — most tobacco, grain and truck crops were harvested.

Schools closed along with many industrial plants from Savannah to Myrtle Beach and the brown open'as shelters. Hotels and motels were jammed.

In Charleston, the dock from which tours depart for Fort Sumter, where the first shot was fired in the American Civil War, was awash in several inches. Part of the steeple of St. Michael's Episcopal Church, built in 1761, was blown away. The church was built in 1761 and George Washington once attended services there.

ANOTHER THREATENS

Meanwhile, another hurricane, named Hannah, was reported off the low Gracie.

The new hurricane with winds already up to 85 miles an hour was situated some 600 miles southeast of Bermuda and moving west southwest at 15 miles an hour.

Gordon Dunn, chief of the Miami weather bureau, said it was too early to tell if Hannah would follow Gracie's path and hit the coast, but said it is extremely fortunate if she doesn't."

Ireland, Malaya Will Force UN Debate on Tibet

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Communist China's crackdown on Tibet appeared headed today for a full-fledged debate in the United General Assembly of the United Nations.

Ireland and Malaya asked Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold Monday night to place on the assembly's agenda an item dealing with suppression on the assembly's agenda. The proposal is expected to come before the world body's 21-country steering committee promptly, perhaps in a matter of hours.

It is known that the Irish and Malayan moves were behind-the-scenes opposition from both Communist and non-Communist countries, but diplomats said they would hardly have approached Hammarskjold unless confident of success.

Irish Foreign Minister Frank Aiken reported working on a draft resolution for the assembly, demanding restoration of fundamental human rights for the Tibetans.

ASKS TIBETAN FLEA

A memorandum accompanying the communication to Hammarskjold from Ireland and the Dalai Lama, the Tibetan Buddhist godking who fled to India, also appealed that the UN intervene in his country, which he said was the victim of "unprecedented aggression."

The Irish resolution could pass the assembly by a minimum votes-edge of two-thirds of the 82-country body which has 99 members neither Red China nor Tibet among its members.

Assembly debate resumed today in the assembly, which Monday heard Foreign Affairs Minister Jaime Lopez of South Africa defend his country's apartheid policies. Lopez said the world press, cinema and television had given "a completely distorted and false" picture of race relations in South Africa, and:

"There is no truth in the history of the Union of South Africa, or in the present, which justifies accusations that we have never yet taken place—a record of which we are justly proud. There is no difficult and complex situation."

Lopez argued that the whites' territorial claim was as old as the Africans' in his country. The Africans settled in the area first at about the same time the Bantu tribes were moving south from Central Africa.

Police also said a weekend burglary at the home of Jacques Lemaire, 30, of Montreal Canadiens, 40 miles west of Quebec, netted about $15,000 in cash, stocks and bonds.

Council Finalizes Agreement Between McFarland and City For Memorial Arena Rental

Belleville city council last night finalized its agreement with Mayor Harvey McFarland in which the Picton mayor and former Canadian world champion McFarlands, takes over the assets of the lease and rents the Belleville arena for home games.

The agreement and covering by-law sees Mr. McFarland pay $3,000 for the club assets and also pay $150 or 15 per cent of receipts for IT home and playoff league games. The agreement also allows Mr. McFarland the option of renting the arena for a further four years at a rental of $200 or 10 per cent for each game.

Despite the fact the by-law agreement with one amendment was unanimously passed, the one approved two weeks ago, the matter got considerable discussion by council before it was finalized.

The one amendment gave Mr. McFarland the option of renting the arena after the 1958-59 hockey season.

Chief objector was Alderman Les Digby who said he didn't like the 10 per cent and he likes it this one even less.

Describing it as a lease we will talk of free proposition, Ald. Digby objected to the 150 free practice time which the hockey team would receive and claimed the 10 per cent to be received by the city was a smaller percentage than received by certain other arenas.

But Ald. Jack Ellis asked where the city could get a better deal at this late date.

Alderman William Argue claimed the agreement was one that could get a better deal elsewhere, the city should at least be treated after the first year with no mention in the first agreement of a 10-year option.

Alderman R. Temple spoke in favor of the agreement pointing out that several clubs would mean additional money for the arena.

Alderman Jack Ireland regretted council was showing disharmony on the matter. "If we kick this thing around any longer it might end up like the dog catcher," he said.

Alderman C. D. Tice supported the by-law, he praises time for the hockey team, noting that this was policy at all arenas having hockey here. He said the four-year option on the arena rental was asked by Mr. McFarland to give him assurance for Alderman Wishart wanted the three years, he said the agreement was a "good fair one".

Mrs. Gertrude Posnett, by-law tabled until a later meeting but this was last and the by-law carried by a 10-4 vote.

Approving the by-law were Mayor Hyde and Aldermen Collins, Elliott, Ellis, Forrester, Graham, Gandland, Ireland, Temple and Tice. Opposing were Aldermen Argue, Digby, McCabe and Wishart.

ISSUE BROUGHT UP

City manager Gerald Hyde called on Stanley Park Ltd. sub-dividers to bring streets in up to city standards. He said the city could not officially take over these streets until this was done.

"If I fail to see why special treatment should be given to one sub-divider," noted the mayor, pointing out that it was the duty of the original owner to bring streets up to standard or to covenant to do so.

The alternative he said would be for the city to re-subdivide the area, which would prove much more costly to the sub-divider.

Rotarians Urged to Take Personal Rather Than Passive Interest in Crippled Children

Helping crippled children requires more than five members of the body, John Butler, of Toronto, co-ordinator of district organization of the Society for Crippled Children, told members of the Belleville Rotary Club at their noon luncheon meeting at the Hotel Quinte Monday.

Mr. Butler, a native of Colborne, who started his career as councillor at a provincially sponsored crippled children's camp, emphasized that a crippled child desires not only to overcome his disability, but to be a normal child as far as possible.

"There is more to work with crippled children than mending bones," he said in urging local Rotarians, as members of an Easter Seal Club, to take a personal interest in the crippled children of the district.

As an example, the speaker cited an instance where members of a Northern Ontario service club "adopted" one of some 30 crippled children in that district. They took him camping for drives on Sunday along with their own children, provided personal interest for the crippled child when needed, or indulged in other small acts of kindness that a crippled child, as well as aiding the child financially when necessary.

In urging Rotarians to take a personal, rather than passive interest in crippled children's work, Mr. Butler suggested they could find special interest in their own situation.

In describing the Ontario Society for Crippled Children the speaker said it was set up in 1922 to aid service clubs carrying on crippled children work to insure the necessary services and facilities for the crippled children in the province. It is a voluntary organization with a full time professional staff which discharges its duties "with compassion, efficiency and integrity."

FIVE CAMPS OPERATING

He said the Provincial-wide organization has 1,200 service town clubs in 1922 to 255 service clubs today, and from one crippled children's camp in five centres within the province no disabled children can enjoy a summer holiday.

A total of 13,000 crippled children have been aided by the Society, he stated.

In describing the financial setup Mr. Butler explained the Society receives funds through the annual Easter Seals campaign, government grants, donations, and donations. Today the Society's budget is "well over a million dollars", yet the annual campaign netted only $240,000.

He explained that under the Easter Seal franchise, 30 per cent of Easter Seal campaign funds go to local Society offices in Toronto and the other 30 percent is spent locally by the local crippled children committee, to aid crippled children in the club's district.

Mr. Butler said the Society provides services too expensive for individual service clubs to undertake. These include operation of camps for crippled children, summer camps; the operation of an up-to-date nursing service, one which is located in Belleville; travelling clinics, particularly in Northern Ontario; loan cupboards which loan wheel chairs and other special equipment needed for a temporary period only; treatment centres, of which there are over 100 in Ontario, and soon to be completed provincial treatment Centre in Toronto. Reduced fares for children receiving treatment, and treatment centres provision of orthodontia when needed, special holidays for children too handicapped to attend camp, and temporary "foster homes" for children whose mothers have been hospitalized are other services provided by the Society.

Commenting on the Society's district organization which the Belleville district is a newly-formed member, he explained they are the interlocutory link between service clubs engaged in crippled children's work and the Society's head office. There are now 20 district organizations in Ontario. Each district has a chairman and a secretary, and a council of all service clubs in the district is held twice a year.

The newly formed Belleville district, 11-B, comprises the three counties of Hastings, Prince Edward and Lennox-Addington. Two

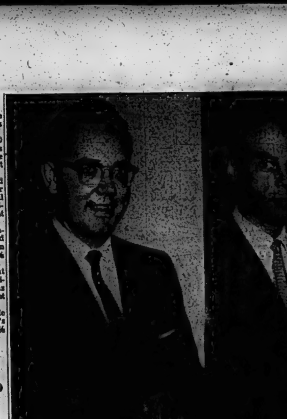
B of M Wins High Honors for Ad Excellence



MONTREAL — The Bank of Montreal ranks first among the nine Canadian chartered banks and second among the 15,000 banks on the North American continent in a survey of bank advertising conducted by Vincent Edwards & Co., New York, and set forth in the annual "Bank ADViews" review of financial advertising in Canada and the United States.

The First National Bank of Minneapolis placed first among all North American banks.

With the exception of two years, the B of M has been rated first among Canadian banks in the "Bank Ad-Views" survey for the past 11 years and has received a "Success Award" each year.

Twice during the same period, the Bank of Montreal rated first among all North American banks: in 1946 and 1954 it received the "Socrates High Award of the Year."

Another award in the same field, but confined to Canada was the recent selection of the B of M's year-end advertisement by the special judging committee of the Association of Canadian Advertisers, who studied several hundred entries in choosing "Ten of the Best Ads of 1958." The B of M's ad was the only banking piece of the ten national advertisements chosen.

Letter 'Found' in Clerk's Office Dated 1956, Written By City Solicitor, Read

Belleville city council was advised by its solicitor back in January, 1956, that the $75,000 amount was provided for in the annual budget, it could not authorize the Arena Commission to incur any debt or bank overdraft without it being approved by the Municipal Board.

This was revealed late yesterday afternoon near the conclusion of the opening day of the judicial enquiry into the city's financial position which was ordered by Department of Municipal Affairs Minister Hon. W. K. Warrender.

During the afternoon session, marked by the admission of close to 50 by-laws and other municipal papers as exhibits to be referred to later in the hearing, Commission Counsel S. E. Fennell read the letter of advice from City Solicitor B. A. Price re regarding the arena committee financing.

The letter advised that the city was the owner of the arena and that it was municipal committee was responsible to council.

Unless provided for in the annual budget, council cannot authorize the arena commission to incur any debt or bank overdraft without authority of the municipal board," the solicitor's letter read.

Commission Counsel Fennell said the letter was "found" in the city clerk's office.

PART IN OVERDRAFT

A $35,000 overdraft incurred by the Arena committee makeup part of the city's quarter of a million dollar deficit which has resulted in the judicial enquiry being ordered.

Of the total an amount of $110,000 in city money is claimed to have been spent on the world champion McFarland Hockey Club.

Yesterday's session which got underway in the city hall council chambers shortly after 10.30, saw only one witness being called to testify. He was Deputy Clerk Adam Stalker who identified the many exhibits entered to which reference will undoubtedly be made on many occasions by Commission Counsel S. E. Fennell of Cornwall as the hearing progressed.

The slim attendance on the part of the general public which was noted as the enquiry got underway yesterday morning was more in evidence at the afternoon session. Not more than a dozen ratepayers outside of hearing officials and newspapermen sat through the comparatively dull afternoon session. As the afternoon session concluded Mr. Stalker stepped down from the witness stand and it was expected that Mr. John D. Lewars, city auditor, would be next called.

APPARENTLY NOT COVERED

One feature of the afternoon session revealed during the close of proceedings was that city treasurer Drury S. Denyes, suspended since May 8th, apparently was not covered by bond.

One bond — said by Deputy Clerk Stalker as the only bond he knew to be existing was introduced as an exhibit by Commission Counsel Fennell. The bond, which had a total coverage of $32,500 for five different phases of risk, covered the office of "secretary treasurer" of the city and not the office of city treasurer.

Mr. Stalker said there was no position of secretary treasurer at city hall.

Extracts from arena committee meetings dating from 1956 related discussions and the passing of recommendations which led up to the operation by the city of a senior hockey team.

During the reading of the minute extracts it was noted by Judge Willmott that apparently what had been originally set up as an arena committee some time later became termed as an arena commission.

In one recommendation dealing with hockey teams both the terms committee and commission was used.

The minute extracts covered the period in which Don McNevin of Belleville operated the senior hockey team with the municipality receiving a 50-50 split on arena gate receipts and 10 per cent of canteen profits after expenses.

In 1958 it was shown that Mr. McNevin gave up operation of the senior team and at a special meeting on July 17, 1958 the arena committee had arranged with Wren Blair of Whitby to operate the city's team for the operation of a senior OHA team in the city.

Subsequently the minutes revealed that the arena committee had recommended that the arena operate a Senior "A" club with a $900 budget set for each home game.

At a subsequent meeting on July 24th Drury Denyes was appointed as hockey team manager and was authorized to make application for the advertising sponsor.

Then October 30 of the same year the arena committee had rescinded a previous recommendation limiting the team to a $900 budget per home game and the figure was raised to $1,200.

At a meeting on April 18 in 1957 a financial statement covering the team's operation for the previous season had been submitted at which time it was moved to again operate a senior team the next year.

Minute extracts from later meetings indicated where hockey manager Denyes had been authorized to go to Kelowna with the team and where incidentally the McFarlands won the Allan Cup.

Minute extracts from later meetings told of discussions during 1958 of raising finances to send the team to Prague to compete in the world championship tournament.

EXTRACTS READ

Extracts from city council meetings over the same period indicated how city aldermen had gone along with the idea of the city operating a senior hockey club and at a meeting of Nov. 5, 1956, the then Alderman Gerald Hyde had spoken of the splendid work done by Mr. Denyes as hockey team manager.

"Under no consideration will the taxpayer have to pay anything," Alderman Hyde was quoted as saying, referring to the operation of the hockey team.

At the same council meeting Alderman C. D. Tice as chairman of the Arena committee told council that he wholeheartedly endorsed all that Alderman Hyde had said.

"No members of the Arena committee knows anything of the financial arrangements in the operation of the team, and that is the way it should be," the arena committee chairman was quoted as saying.

Later council minute extracts revealed that Deputy Commission Counsel Fennell indicated that Alderman Don Whalen had been big enough to put up the financial report and whether the hockey team was making money.

Alderman Tice had replied that the report would be tabled at the next meeting along with a recommendation that council approve the operation of the team for another year.

At the next meeting a financial report was tabled and council voted 12 to nine, with two councillors absent, to continue operation of the team for the 1957-58 season.

CARRIED UNANIMOUSLY

Council minutes for the spring of 1958 revealed where both Mayor Gerald Hyde and Alderman C. D. Tice, as chairman of the Arena committee, were authorized to accompany the team to Prague. The respective motions had been carried unanimously.

"Those were very special occasions," interposed Judge Willmott.

After the McFarlands won the Allan Cup at Kelowna there had been big plans for an official home coming and a proclamation from Mayor Hyde in Kelowna made the homecoming a half holiday in the city.

But then council minutes recalled that there was a limited enthusiasm on the part of many toward a campaign to raise funds to send the Allan Cup winners to Prague in quest of the world championship. Council had shown no enthusiasm for a suggestion that a mill on the tax rate be levied to help defray the team's expenses in Europe.

Finally with promise of assistance from the team sponsor, Mr. Harvey McFarland, and with the setting up of an McFarland Overseas Fund, council had endorsed the application of the Arena committee to the CAHA for the team to go overseas.

COUNCIL PLEDGED $1,400

Objective of the McFarlands' Overseas Fund had been $15,000 of which members of city council had individually pledged $1,400.

Commission Counsel Fennell said it was significant to note that Alderman Whalen who had repeatedly asked for financial statements from the hockey team, was defeated in the municipal election for 1958 council.

"At least it is significant from the public point of view," Mr. Fennell observed.

"They (the ratepayers) were interested in their world famous hockey team and that was the point," Judge Willmott said.

Excerpts from Mayor Gerald Hyde's inaugural address in January of 1957 indicated that he had referred to the McFarlands' possessing ship overseas declaring that this was an unprecedented opportunity for the city to receive world wide publicity. He was quoted as asked for an appropriation be left unturned to take advantage of this publicity.

Evidence in the morning's Hearing will be found on Page 5.

No Parking Signs Being Placed On E. Bridge St.

In an effort to facilitate the movement of traffic on a much-travelled street, no parking signs are being placed on East Bridge Street in the Herchimer Ave. area.

Police Inspector J. Clair Hayes said the no parking area on the south side of Bridge St. will now extend from Church St. to Herchimer Ave.

The no parking was recently approved by city council following a recommendation from the city traffic committee.

Congestion in the East Bridge Street area immediately to the west of Herchimer Ave. caused by parked cars was creating a danger to school pupils and motorists using the street, it was stated.

Commence Work On New School On Dufferin Ave.

TRENTON — At last construction of Trenton's new public school is finally underway.

After several months of negotiations, terminated by the go-ahead from the Trenton Board of Education, the Tatham Construction Company started the initial stages of construction on Saturday with the pouring of cement footings for the new building, situated on Dufferin Ave.

It is expected to take at least six months to complete the building, discounting the extra period for painting and finishing. In view of this, it is not expected that the school will be finished until the latter or early spring.

The new Prince Charles School, as it has been named, will be a welcome addition to the present school building facilities in the town. It is expected that the school will be filled to capacity the moment the doors open for classes.

The building is an eight-room, one storey construction and will be of brick finish and concrete block. It will be designed with the latest in educational facilities in mind, with the maximum window space and lighting equipment. The most modern methods of furnishing the interior of the building will be on order shortly.

Arrest Suspect In Liquor Theft

TRENTON — Trenton Police are holding a 24 year old suspect with the Sidney Street Armory robbery last week.

Inspector L. J. Rutherford announced this morning that one man had been arrested last night of Sgt. Bruce Westfall, Name of the suspect is withheld.

The Sidney Street robbery was the first of two theft cases occuring here in the past week. It is alleged that someone broke into the Hasty Pees armory by forcing a rear window, after unravelling a heavy protective screen. Taken in the robbery were a quantity of liquor valued at about $50 as well as $75 in cash.

The second theft occurred Sunday at Bellamy's Food Market, on West Street, when thieves made off with a small amount of cash. Inspector Rutherford reported that investigation was continuing.

Fire Prevention Work Planned

TRENTON—The Trenton Fire Department is going all-out to make a success of this year's Fire Prevention Week, scheduled from Oct. 4th to 10th.

This week the firemen were carrying out extensive inspections of the factories in Trenton, to be followed by inspections of the local churches, stores and other business establishments. Next week they will conduct surprise fire drills in all the Trenton schools.

It is expected that other civic groups will conduct separate programs for Fire Prevention Week. Fire Chief Cecil Ellis explained that his staff was available at all times to discuss the matter with any interested persons, and that they would be pleased to help out in any way possible.

"I wish we could do more for fire prevention than we are," said Fire Chief Ellis, "but the shortage of manpower here has left us more or less limited in the amount of projects we can undertake at such a time. But we do plan to do thorough inspections on all properties and if there is anything endangering the safety of the public it will be remedied immediately."

Trenton Man Jailed

STRATFORD (CP) — John Gordon Crosby, 36, of Trenton, was sentenced Monday to three months in jail for breach of suspended sentence. Crosby pleaded guilty.

Crosby was convicted on three charges of theft in Cobourg August 18 while on suspended sentences from the Stratford court since November 15, 1958, on five charges of theft.

A Praiseworthy Decision

The announcement at the United Nations General Assembly, by Hon. Howard Green, Canada's minister of external affairs, that Canada will lower its immigration bars to admit a "substantial number" of tubercular refugees and their families ought to meet with the approval of all compassionate Canadians.

On September 11 The Ontario Intelligencer editorially congratulated the 20th General Synod of the Anglican Church in Canada for its courage in urging that Canada make provision for the admittance of refugees with handicaps and disabilities. At that time we said that rich countries like the United States and Canada "ought to be able to admit some refugees from whom they expect no dividends." If they did "almost certainly they would be pleasantly surprised in many cases" since "the aged and the sick often possess unexpected talents which require only the opportunity to blossom and bear fruit."

We do not know whether the General Synod's plea had any bearing on the deliberations of the cabinet which must have preceded Mr. Green's announcement. If it did, the Synod has seen its courage bear rich fruit in an unusually short space of time. If it did not, if the Government had already planned such action, the Synod's stand must have come as welcome reassurance that many Canadians were prepared to back the Government in the policy it had determined to follow.

The tubercular refugees will be brought to Canada and treated in sanitoria here at the government's expense. "Furthermore," announced Mr. Green, "a family unable to support itself while a member is under treatment will receive adequate payments."

That is a policy of which Canadians can well be proud. But, to keep our pride within bounds, let us not forget that this is not some startling new departure in the treatment of refugees, that Canada is but following the example set by small Scandinavian countries which, at a time when richer, more spacious lands were accepting only immigrants of the physically fit, were richly reward their new homelands with their labors, were deliberately selecting and caring for the sick.

China May Build A-Bombs

A U.S. scientist says that she would not be surprised if China now possessed the capacity to make "a small number of crude bombs," atom bombs, that is.

Even the product of atomic bombs is still a bomb of tremendous power. A few crude atom bombs in China's hands could represent a greater threat to the world's peace than all the hydrogen bombs and ballistic missiles possessed by Russia, for it is by no means certain that the Chinese would exercise the same restraint in their use.

If China has this close to the possession of nuclear weapons, it is obvious that the day cannot be far distant when the so-called "nuclear club" will represent a substantial proportion of the world's nations. France is expected to test a nuclear weapon almost any day now. The industrial and technical capacities of France and China can almost certainly be matched by many other nations. Nobody supposes, for instance, that the Japanese could be incapable of such a feat, should they don their present determination to remain a nation unarmed. West Germany is obviously quite capable of producing these bombs. And every nation which acquires the bomb will result in additional pressure on the rulers of other nations to arm their lands similarly.

If the present world situation is dangerous, it will be a hundred times more so the day ever comes when atomic bombs are as widely owned as tanks and planes are today.

If anything were needed to stress the imperative necessity for the nations of the world taking some concrete steps towards disarmament, this speculation about China making her own A-bombs ought to provide the required emphasis.

An Outrageous Pun

Fish are reported to have a rigid system of social classes. This intelligence provoked one writer to an outrageous pun: if you fail to catch one you may be using the wrong caste. (Edmonton Journal.)

THE TRAGEDY OF AGE

By EDGAR A. GUEST

I heard an old man say today
"A young man gives me orders now;
A beardless youth gets better pay
And tells me what to do, and how.
While I have toiled for forty years,
A crippling enters in the race
And with a single bound appears,
And eagerly usurps my place.

"I've seen men shake their hoary head
Because the world would not heed
Their counsel, and I've passed
Beyond our powers the struggle grows,
Old age drops out. So ends the tale."

He isn't what he used to be
He's lost his grip; and well I know
That youth at last had conquered me,
As youth, old age will ever do.

"This has been so since time began,
And to the end of time will be;
Brief is the working time of man,
Brief is the last upon the tree.
The young man comes, the old man goes;
Old eyes, old brains, old bodies fail.
Beyond our powers the struggle grows,
Old age drops out. So ends the tale."

Letters To The Editor

Taxpayer Wants City Men Hired

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

I have been reading the council news referring to the hiring of a caretaker. I myself am a taxpayer on four city dwellings for many years and see why they want to hire a man who does not reside in Belleville, but if this job is obtained by Mr. Lakeland he will move into Belleville. Mr. Sills and Mayor Hyde, out of the thirteen applicants could you not have found one man who already resides in this city to qualify for the job. The population is over the 30,000 mark. I know Mr. Thorne resides in the city and he also has a family to support. I am not favoring anyone, but I am bringing this to the attention of the taxpayers and citizens of Belleville. If you have followed the council meetings you would see some outsiders quite often being hired. Also the hiring of a Picton retired bank manager, does Belleville not have one of these or a retired accountant who could qualify for the job. I think this matter should be looked after the residents of Belleville, not outsiders. I suggest a Belleville man for Belleville work, and one who has lived and has been living here for many years. This would take care of a little unemployment also.

I am sure when the people read this letter and see the pictures they will be looking after Belleville completely and its citizens they may possibly be thinking of moving to Belleville.

Re Belleville Court House

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer:

Do you in Belleville not wish to be visited? Here, possessing the most beautifully set Greek type building from coast to coast of Canada, you wish to wreck it. Washington, D.C., is increasing its tourist appeal by building all its new government buildings in the Greek style. The little town of Southampton, Ont., has a Greek boulevard. A wonderful Greek theatre and museum, the city of New York has Central Park, paid for with taxes. But you in Belleville are determined to wreck it in the dust the beauty you have inherited and leave yourselves with nothing.

"What is a civilized life?" Vincent Massey asked in an interview with town planners. Then he replies, "I think it comes when man and environment in society clash in four things. First, physical well being; secondly the surroundings without which society cannot exist; thirdly knowledge and understanding; fourthly beauty in all its forms".

What does Belleville cherish! What Belleville could do about the court house is this: Build an entrance hall in it, overlooking the river. (There is only one good building in the way and it could be easily moved, with no sea-way operations). Meet the problem of the confusing front office side along the river brick, already beautifully embraced like Europe. Have a little park and fountain where they stood. Put the court house in it. Leave us. Have also specialty shops and a children's playground, so that the tourists can rest in freedom. Make the present court house a Hastings County museum. Watch the tourists come!

The taxes from the new street would pay for the new court house!

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

I look upon this present world as a very good one, regardless of its many faults and disposition to complain. I have seen some changes long ago, but perhaps in the next hundred years we shall be given a new world and see what changes we will make in it. Many things are being planned to make this a better world, but our time will reveal the changes in mind. Great advances have been made in every department in this present world, but it could be much better. There is a big more deal to fill the business man these days.

When we meet so many happy successful people, however, the more it dawns upon us that this is a good world, with all its faults. The opportunities are so great to be helpful in trying to make the most of this present world.

The longer I live the more do I wonder about this great world. It is such an interesting place. Everything is within the earth that has been put there to bless all mankind. Though the most beautiful things God has planted in this world, like the flowers, are the creation of all God's creations! Even our greatest scientists and inventors are forced to say that it has been placed within reach as conditions prepare by the students and able explorers.

We wonder at times why we are not happier, but we must remember that perhaps we are no more thankful over the gifts of wealth and discoveries that are due to the reading of our newspapers. We should be very humble indeed. God expects us to improve. Let's try and not disappoint Him!

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

30 YEARS AGO

September 25th, 1920.

It is with pleasure we note to have the Prime Minister declare that materials were moving in, in ever increasing volume from the Dominions to the United Kingdom for the common cause against the German Government. The Right Honorable Winston Churchill, First/ Lord of the Admiralty, presented facts which are striking: the convoy system is doing a work guaranteeing safety; ships are leaving Great Britain defensively armed; 67,000 tons more of German merchantiide has been destroyed by submarine than Britain lost by sinking from the torpedoes of German U-boats; Britain has this added tonnage which is not at the bottom of the sea, and which was formerly in the hands of the German merchandile is at the bottom of the sea and which was formerly in the hands is of no use to the Germans.

Princess tax and other new tax demands made upon the Canadian people in the war budget and by this month must look small with those announced in the British House of Commons today. For the next full fiscal year the British income tax on incomes of £130 will be 37.5 per cent with the exemptions much lower than in Canada.

Registration of the youth of both sexes in various communities of the southern part of the country is now going on under the supervision of officials of the local Employment Bureau.

Strange aftermath of the declaration of war or peace is reported in the mysterious disappearance of the trust funds that formerly rounded the broad highways of the Province. Where they have gone, I do not know, but suffice to say there has not been one transient apply for money in the last two weeks," stated Employment Bureau Superintendent W. D. Ross today.

30 YEARS AGO

September 29th, 1920.

After all accounts shall have been paid the Belleville Fall Fair Board will have a surplus of about $1,000.00 as a result of this year's fair, Harry Block, the treasurer, has prepared a statement which practically all the accounts, which show a receipts of $15,- 875.50, and expenditures of $10,067.15, leaving a balance in the bank of $5,808.35 after the sum of $1,200.00 of the surplus will be paid on the mortgage note covering the cost of the construction of the buildings erected on the fair ground on the park grounds.

Mrs. R. Bailey and son Ralph, Bridley Street, have returned home after spending the past four months at their cottage at Papineau Lake, North Hastings.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Clarke Diamond of Hamilton are visiting friends.

The Rev. Dr. Baker and Mrs. Baker have returned to the city after spending the summer at their cottage in Muskoka.

40 YEARS AGO

September 29th, 1910.

Miss May Williams has returned home from Rochester, N.Y., where she got her vaccination.

Mr. J. T. Warren is in Oshawa today on business.

Miss Amy Robinson, East Street, has left for Toronto where she has accepted a position.

Mr. Jack Preece has returned to Toronto after visiting his aunt, Mrs. J. Caddick, Earl Street.

Mr. F. Sinclair will deliver an address at the City Council, Dundas Street, on Sunday evening.

Capt. G. A. Rose, Veterinary Surgeon, will open an office here shortly.

50 YEARS AGO

September 29th, 1900.

At a meeting of the Select Vestry of Christ Church it was decided to proceed at once with the erection of an up-to-date parish hall, to be built on the vacant lot adjoining the church. The building will be of stone construction in conformity with the church building. The Rector, the Rev. R. C. Blagrave presided at the meeting.

The congregation of Bridge Street Methodist Church bestowed itself by doing honor to one of our oldest and highly esteemed citizens, Mr. Horace Yeomans upon the ninetieth anniversary of his birth. The members of the Quarterly Official Board met at the Church and then proceeded to the residence of Mr. Yeomans, and after an hour of social intercourse, Mr. William Johnson read an address of appreciation and congratulation to Mr. Yeomans. At the close of the address, the pastor of the Church, the Rev. Dr. George J. Bishop, presented Mr. Yeomans with an enveloped by request. Other members of the deputation made short and happy addresses.

Canadian PLACE NAMES

BRAMPTON, ONT.

John Elliott is considered by most historians to be the father of the town. He laid out the village in lots around 1834, and he gave it the name of Brampton, Brampton, to honor his old home in Brampton, Cumberland, England. Only ten minutes from Malton Airport, the town eventually may be swallowed up by Toronto.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

VICTORY OUT OF DEFEAT

No one man can win all the time. Even the luckiest or most successful person must occasionally acknowledge defeat. Sometimes in our short sojourn it seems as though life consisted mainly of defeats, with few or no victories.

If it is true that sometimes we must lose, and perhaps often, then it is important that we should find some way to make defeat profitable to us. Why not use the experience we have had in our losing fight, to fight again and win! Can we turn the bitterness of defeat into the sweetness of self-discipline, into the quiet assurance of the man who, having found the world has lost his fear of it?

Health Card is Proposed

Vancouver Province

An international health and identity card, say two Swedish doctors, is what the travelling public of today stands in need of.

A diabetic carries on his person a card which identifies his disease, so that if he should collapse in a foreign town he won't be given the wrong treatment, or perhaps put off to jail for a drunk. And a similar card would help many another traveller.

Millions of people travel today, across many borders, who need to stay home. And quite a few of them run into trouble.

Suppose they carried a card which listed their names and addresses and next-of-kin, the languages they could understand, their blood groups, allergies, sickness.

In an emergency, the strange doctor into whose hands they fell would at least have a rough idea where to begin.

These two Swedish doctors have a point.

In fact, there is no reason why we could not adopt it beginning on the domestic scene.

Many people grow accustomed to delayed reactions. They know about a dogleg Air civilians, listening their doctors, dentists and chiefs allments.

Marrying Job, U.S. Fashion

Manchester Guardian

Some reformers have been raised because a Lancashire firm has interviewed the wives of men attending a course. It has been suggested that this is one more example of the Americanization of Britain. But Britain has a long way to go to Americanize. Even if something to one survey, one firm in two considers the wife part of the job. "Wife inspection," as it is termed, means that a man is approved of by the employer if his wife is also satisfactory to the company's eye.

Ominously, a Chicago firm of business consultants lists 13 qualifications of the "ideal corporate wife." She should have previous business experience, preferably as an executive's private secretary. She should prefer husband's college education and know how to mix with other women. She has to be "well adjusted," with a happy home background, sharing her husband's hobbies. Her most must be a haven, so that hubby can relax from business cares without allowing him to sink into unobtrusive gentility. She must do her share of business travelling with him, being careful to keep up with the marketing procedures and public wants.

Don't Scold Poor Bride

Sudbury Star

There may be a very good reason (and logical grounds for complaint) when the bridegroom protests that the bride that she doesn't cook like his mother used to cook. All is not lost in argument and discussion on can openers.

This is an age of synthetics. One of the most widely used is that in synthetic vanilla flavoring. The flavoring is recovered from waste liquor produced in the manufacture of sulphite pulp for newsprint. The vanilla bean that produced quality flavoring is losing the race to the artificial flavoring.

And what about the maple syrup used so lavishly on those buttermilk pancakes at breakfast? It is pure maple syrup? Or is it an artificial concoction manufactured from sugar? And speaking of sugar we must remember that it is not real sugar, although in substances is a by-product of coal—saccharine.

The list goes on and on. Don't scold the bride. Of course things don't taste the same as mother made. It's the modern trend to synthetics that is changing the taste of the nation.

To Your Good Health

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

(DIRECTIONS OR PRESCRIPTION SHOULD BE FOLLOWED PRECISELY)

"Dear Dr. Molner: Must the directions on a medicine label be followed specifically? For instance, when you read a tap. in a half-glass of water, is there a reason for preparing the unpleasant necessity? Most of those conscientious would rival Simon Peters and I suspect the doctor's will power to get them down. Wouldn't it be simpler to take the medicine straight and then drink the water? Or is there a reason for diluting? — Mrs. G."

Yes, there usually is a good reason for the rule my brother-in-law, Dr. Bill Smith, would write is down!

I disagree further with the idea that most concoctions taste like witches' brews. Maybe some of the best stomach will learn to like the taste of a lot of hard-working druggists in pharmaceutical firms who honestly do a great deal of struggling to make med icines either fully or tasteless. In fact, I recall a few months ago reading about a woman whose profession is tasting certain drugs.

As to the directions that annoy you, I am dependent on the nature of the drug. If the medicine is concentrated form, will be prescribed in small amounts, and a teaspoon of water, or a little milk, diluting it is logical.

One thing to keep in mind at once is hydrochloric acid (for the many people on the far side of 30, 50 or 70 who suffer from a sluggish digestion, because they do not produce enough of the digestive juice in the body). Even diluted to medicinal proportions, it has a bitter taste, and nobody knows that better than it. The drug may irritate the tongue and taste buds at once, or damage the enamel of the teeth later.

Further dilution, then, makes this intensive a less severe taste, but the chance of irritation is avoided. (With this, it is a good idea to brush the teeth after taking.)

Tough mixtures may be bitter and unpleasant, yet be merely not-quite-tasty. Some of these can be taken with water because the patient needs more fluid, and this is one way to get it down. Or just saying, "Drink lots of water" doesn't always work. Believe me, I know!

Some drugs are specified for taking after meals because a full stomach is insulation against irritation. Others are ordered before meals because (for one example) they may be designed to prevent the action of the digestive juices to chance digestion.

Despite the satisfactory, the useful "wonder drugs" are shorn of irritation if taken with milk. (I have written on the subject of these "wonder drugs" He was correct — I advise him or her!)

So, you see, there are good reason for specifying when and how to take medicines. I say and you might add that I have been certain the anybody else I get sick and call on some other physician to tell me what ails me.

Sex Factor In Disease

Deutsche Korrespondenz

There is little doubt that a whole series of diseases is found more frequently in men than in women. This is true for cardial infarct, for instance. More than 80 per cent of patients with this disease are men. Malaria, cigarette ill, likewise a kind of coronary trouble showed a 2:1 ratio for men and women. It has also been well known that bronchitis exhibits the ratio of 3:1 and cranial and intestinal trouble. Stomach ulcers, tuberculosis, duodenal ulcer show a male-female ratio of 3:1 and indeed 4:1. Cancer of the stomach is also more frequent in men. Cirrhosis of the liver and other chronic liver troubles are found prevailing in males. The same is true of inflammation of the kidneys and kidney stones.

Gall-bladder trouble, on the other hand, is woman's domain. 60 to 90 per cent of all patients are women. Diseases involved in the metabolism, gout, tonsilitis, gallstones, and chronic inflammation. Women's thyroid gland seems to be more vulnerable than the same gland in men: nearly 75 per cent of patients with goiter or hyperfunction of the thyroid were women. Tetany too is a female disease. Chronic inflammation of small joints prefers women to men, while due to lack of iron occurs almost exclusively in women. Inflammation of the bodies of the veins is found in women than it is in men.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

You might just notice that Christmas this year is on a Friday, which means one of those special long weekend Christmases; and it is time to be making your reservations on plane, train and bus.

Crazy? What's crazy? I tell you that both the CNR and CPR and Trans-Canada Airlines have already got large numbers of reservations booked for Christmas. Some of the hotels are more than half booked for the Christmas weekend. It is three months to Christmas and that means ninety brief days, and they will be gone tomorrow, and among us are any number of people with enough remembrance of times past to recollect the frenzy of the last few weeks of December when reservations of any kind are impossible to obtain.

Well, these forehanded people! One thing I have noticed in a long life of much travel in the directions! There are reasons.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have noticed several times when you discuss heart disease you mention syphilis as a spiritual cause. Does this mean that each person who contracts syphilis must automatically look forward to some form of heart disease? — J. M."

No, it doesn't mean that at all. It does mean that false modesty should never make a person delay treatment. The untreated case of syphilis can lead to worse things than heart disease. Degeneration of the brain, for example. Prompt treatment, on the other hand, removes most — not all — of the peril. Avoiding the disease is best: quit treatment is next best.

Not to Mrs. S.J.S.: I rather agree with your concern — but specifically, I just don't know whether inhaling pipe smoke is as injurious as inhaling cigarette smoke, from the lung cancer aspect. In any event, there is no argument that smoking from getting-up time to going-to-sleep time is much too much.

"It would improve the health of office workers if they would get their feet in their desks", says a physician. Such improvement, if any, would be short-lived and probably followed by much poorer health brought on by unperspirishment.

BOOK REVIEW

By R. J. SCOTT

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

Three Days' Perfect Weather, Fine Exhibits, Entertainment Make Picton Fair Success

PICTON — Prince Edward County Fair at Picton, blessed with three days of perfect weather, attracted more than 20,000 persons during its three-day run. Gate receipts were the largest in ten years.

"The best yet" is an old phrase but applicable to the 1959 show. The tremendous volume of exhibits (over 1300 individual items), the unusually attractive arrangement of these articles, an outstanding program of entertainment, contributed to the success and enjoyment of the Fair.

An outstanding highlight was the opening day parade of school children when 2,610 public school students marched through town. Most were in costume, all carried exhibits. Picton Lions, I.O.O.F., 6 R.D. and the Marching Debs provided music. Some schools were dressed as General Wolfe's soldiers. Others represented a circus, while most wore bright hats and banners. Also in the parade were pony coaches and saddle horses.

Official opening of the Fair was the duty of Norris Whitney, M.P.P. Mayor W. J. Hepburn gave the Town's welcome, County President, C. McCormick, also gave a welcome. Teachers and pupils were given high praise. Then, every attendee at each child received a ticket good for a ride on the midway.

These were followed by the Fair Board, Odd Fellows, Mayor McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke and Sam Gentile.

St. Barbara's School, Picton Heights won first of ten prizes for marching; S.S. 15 South Marysburgh School won first for general appearance; St. Barbara's had the prettiest banner; P.S.I. Hector Knight announced prize winners. A. A. Benvie was marshal.

PET PARADE

In a pet parade, winners were Cheryl Lynn Ward Jr., Bill Frank Tiefenback, Muriel Whitney for dogs; Sandy Huff for oddpet; Diane Parks for other pet.

HOME BAKING

A highlight of the exhibit was the home- baking section in charge of Mrs. Creighton Lockyer and Mrs. Sherman Coulter. Show cases as well as long tables were decorated in pink and blue and exhibits displayed in an unusually attractive way. A lady who judges at the C.N.E., having heard of the special display at Picton, took a visitor, and told officials that the baking as well fancy work and knitting equalled that at the C.N.E. Exhibit included 73 layer cakes, with Mrs. Gerald Welsh, Ear Lake, winning the championship. There were 68 pies, with Mrs. W. G. Willis, Hillier, winning. Mrs. Willis also won the trophy for best collection of jellies and jams.

FRUIT DISPLAY

The display of fruit, a commercial feature, was enhanced by labels and signs and also included many products made by visiting fruit. There were 72 plates of fruit, 25 special displays, 20 baskets and boxes as well as small fruits. Best plate apples in show was shown by Mrs. Leland Pearsall; best box by Charles Creasy. Judge Alva Collier said quality was exceptionally high and it was the best entry he had ever seen.

TOMATO DISPLAY

In another attractive display was that for tomatoes and tomato products. Background was of signs, pictures and labels. In spite of frost there were 31 classes of five, 20 baskets, 11 hampers, 13 lids and five showcases of fruit. All kinds of products made from tomatoes added to interest of the display.

BOUNTY OF HARVEST

Hundreds came long distances to see the display in the Agricultural Centre, the 80 x 180 (foot) and part of the walk being needed to display the thousands of entries which made a great mass of color. Here, originality was shown in arrangements. Tables varied in height and were placed at angles. Small evergreen trees provided a contrast to the bright colors of all kinds of vegetables.

Golden pumpkin stood out against a tall tree where a garden of flowers and plants awaited visitors. Another different idea which added to the scene.

Women's Institutes had a 70-foot table where hobbies of branch members were artistically arranged. Just about every type of handicraft was included.

Banked by grain and towering sheaves of corn, grain and seed exhibit was also of interest with its display of products made from grain.

Filling one third of the Centre, on tables and walls, were thousands of exhibits by Prince Edward school children — arts, crafts, collections, murals, fruits, vegetables, flowers, etc. Twenty teachers under H. L. Knight and James Bird acted as judges.

LADIES' WORK

In the centre hall, ladies' work filled a 100 x 70 foot space, on tables and walls, a store window dealer. She will represent Prince type of display being followed as closely as possible. Here, the collection of Mrs. Frank Harris of Wellington drew hundreds of spectators. Some hooked rugs were sterling silver. Picton Art Club had a large display of beautiful oil paintings. Needlework was outstanding while hobbies brought out unusual collections, including one from rubber, needlepoint, copper work, ceramics, pottery, weaving, tape recording.

Mrs. Viola Scott had unusually good displays of dolls and settings for "doll circus" and "doll family party". Howard Bailey had a special display of driftwood and stone, shells, rugs and collections from rubber, needlepoint, copper work, ceramics, pottery, weaving, tape recording.

The ladies' section, exhibits were grouped to represent different rooms in the house.

Boy Scouts had a special display and as a public service, settlers' implements and tools were picked up on the grounds. They collected around a ton of them.

LIVESTOCK

Horses totalled 163 and competition was keen after judging. There were 16 children showing horses. Number of the horses, 78 were ponies. There was an exceptionally good showing of cattle, sheep and swine. Judge for showmanship contest, the Canadian Guernsey Breeders' Club was won by Wayne Cochrane of Consecon with "Peanuts". Thirteen children in the contest.

There were 109 entries in the Holstein black and white section; 7 milker breeder and exhibitor awards going to J. J. May and Sons, Picton. Judge Carlos Doxsee for premier breeder. James Alexander was runner-up for premier exhibitor.

Grand champion female was shown by Audrey Ashton and champion bull by May. Judge Roy Gerrow remarked on the high quality and ring fitness shown.

Sheep and swine entries were the best in many years.

POULTRY EXHIBIT

More than 400 birds were shown in the poultry section. Attracting much attention were Mr. Willis' pheasants and wild ducks. Many variety entries were on display, along with a pair of pigeons and rabbits.

DAIRY DISPLAY

In connection with a display of cheese a dairy booth did a rushing business and hundreds of pounds of cheese was sold. Nelson Sarles had highest scoring cheese and best display exhibit; Lee Keown had best finished cheese and best entry cheese, Bert Jones being runner up in the latter class.

Mrs. Crystal Palace was packed with merchants' displays along with exhibits of agricultural machinery and cars filled an area on the grounds.

ENTERTAINMENT

"Entertainment proved to be excellent, though an accident en route to Picton reduced the show by the midget cars. Local drivers displayed their skill. Local girls, put on the best show while a thrill occurred when one of the small cars driven by Clifford Wilson "ran away". The acceleration stuck and the brake and brake and the motor could not be shut off. The car raced around the half mile oval at 60 miles an hour several times before another scooter got it stopped. In the wild ride people and cattle crossing the track had close calls.

An exhibition by their home-made go-carts was given by Stan Scramith and Gary Fowler, Carrying Place.

Picton IOOF band and the Dorothy Dancers, Picton, made a hit with the grandstand crowd.

Brenda Archer and baton twirlers and dancers staged a lively program.

Norwood Kilbie band on Saturday drew applause for their program.

Ponies participated in musical chairs and pony races.

The four horse races saw several thrilling finishes, Jerry Sees, Belleville, with Lee Mac S. won the Carling cap and purse for fastest time of 2.15.

Green's midway did a rushing business.

In a baby show more than 100 infants were entered.

4-H Club competitions were a popular feature. The Clubs had a wonderful display and exhibit as well as general exhibits in their own buildings.

Stage shows in the Centre drew over 700 each night. Gordon Lee, Friday night winner and Tommy Common Saturday night. The T.V. stars proved a big attraction. Entertainers, Edward Junior Farmers, in gay costumes gave a spectacular competition. Carl Gilbert's orchestra provided a program of popular music.

DAIRY PRINCESS

In the dairy princess contest, Ann Wintermute, R.R. 2 Consecon won the trophy presented by Reg. Bishop, Surge Milker. She will represent Prince

48th Highlanders Enjoy Visit With ANAF Unit

The 48th Highlanders of Toronto paid their sixth annual visit to Unit 201 of A.N.A.F. Saturday for the annual inter-sports meet between the Toronto and Bellville Units.

Upwards of eighty Highlanders and their wives journeyed by The sports enthusiasts saw the 48th take the Rifle Trophy with the lowest perfect shooting of "legless" C.S.M. Gordon Keller "M.M." of the 48th presented the trophy to victory in both men's and ladies' cribbage tournaments. Bellevilla fought gamely and came through with wins for both men's and ladies' darts.

REAL GRUDGE MATCH

Climaxing the sports events was a real-good grudge game of darts, between Bellevilla Pres. Jack Lundberg and Toronto Pres. Jack Lawry which was won by the 48th Pres. with a bullseye dart in the outer posterior of the Bellevilla President.

Nearly 200 persons enjoyed a sumptuous turkey dinner served by the Ladies' Auxiliary where Pres. Lundberg officially welcomed the 48th and Pres. Jack Lawry stated that each year the events were bigger and better and promised even better things to come.

Letter of ceremonies Bill Salter kept the evening dancing entertainment of the Auxiliaryce rounding out a most enjoyable weekend.

Eludes Police By Running Out Back Door

Wanted in connection with the theft of a car in Marmora township south of the Bancroft area, a Belleville young man eluded police late yesterday afternoon when they called at his place of residence seeking a warrant.

Police said that William James Kenneth Deshane ran out through the back door of his mother's residence and escaped officers in the rear near the bayshore.

Auditor Unaware Until 1958 City Money Used to Finance Hockey Team, Enquiry Told

John D. Lewars, C.A., owner of the F. A. R. McFadden Co. which has audited the city books since 1945, was the second witness called at the judicial enquiry looking into the city finances, under Judge Arthur Roy Willmott of Cobourg.

Mr. Lewars was called by commission counsel S. E. Fenell of Cornwall, at the opening of the second day of the hearing this morning.

He was on the stand at yesterday's morning and afternoon sessions, which however was practically nil. Only a few people, outside of lawyers, city officials, press and radio representatives were present at the hearing when the session opened. The afternoon sitting resumed at 2.30.

Mrs. City clerk Adam Stalker, the first witness called, finished her testimony at the close of yesterday's afternoon sitting.

Mr. Lewars told the enquiry he was not aware senior hockey had received a grubge sum from public funds until 1958. Later he admitted he had signed statements in 1956 and 1957 with the audit firm's name and 1958 report with his name typed on it, on the objection on the part of the Department of Municipal Affairs.

He said he and his associates had operated under the Audit Act. A. A. R. McFadden "because of the good will it carried."

WAS NO BY-LAW

Mr. Fenell began questioning by Mr. Fennell, commission counsel, said he had not had any discussion with the city auditing of city accounts until this spring.

"You knew there was not a by-law appointing you as auditor?" asked Mr. Fenell.

"No, I did not," was the reply. Asked to explain what developed until he was requested to make a special report on city finances in 1958 Mr. Lewars stated "we found that when comparing 1957 reports with others it became apparent that there was city funds had been spent for hockey salaries. He had found certain items charged to the arena account.

Mr. Fennell said he went to the city treasurer and hockey club manager, Drury Denyes, with an amended Mr. Adams to ask why these salaries were paid out of city funds.

"We were told by Mr. Denyes that it was only a matter of arrangement to finance the hockey team and when the season was over part of the money was paid back.

"We had no knowledge of this," Mr. Lewars went on. Mr. Fennell asked, "nor had we any reason to suspect him as he was accepted when he said. We allowed the items invoiced to stay in as accounts receivable."

"You show us where items were shown as accounts receivable amount in the sundry accounts to $51,482.61 of which hockey salaries were shown as $29,810.10. Did you check with the hockey players?"

"Yes."

"Have you got a worksheet to show how this $29,810 was made up?"

"No, but I have a schedule of salaries which I have worked out of payroll accounts."

PRODUCED PAYMENTS

Mr. Fennell produced an analysis of payments made from city funds for hockey salaries paid in 1956-57.

He admitted the analysis had not appeared in any other reports.

Hockey salaries were not the only amounts involved, Mr. Fennell said he discovered the amount had not been repaid in 1957.

"If you were the watchdog of the city funds, why did you not speak about it?" by buttons Mr. said the commissioner.

"I gave it to Mr. Adams to do. I did not know about it," replied Mr. Lewars.

"You found out the next year the amount had not been paid back but had been doubled. Was no choice but to report it."

"Why did you not have no choice but to report it?" asked the commissioner.

"I believed Mr. Denyes."

"Was there any suggestion made for you not to pursue the matter further?"

"No not particularly."

"Why did you stop short at distinction made of hockey?"

"The hockey club operated under a different account and bank never made any distinguishing remarks. I was given to understand the responsibility lay with Mr. McFarland."

Lewars said he reported the situation at the annual meeting of auditors in his 1958 report. He spoke to the mayor in the spring of 1958, he said, but could not remember the date.

"Myself and Adams took control questions. most of them, to the mayor and asked him if he knew anything about it."

APPEARED SHOCKED

"He appeared surprised and shocked and told me to bring it out in my report." He (Lewars) did not do anything until city council ordered him to make and present a report to them. After that he was instructed to do a special report up to May 9, 1959.

Mr. Fennell suggested that statement signed by a Mr. Adams, for the F. A. R. McFadden business.

"Mr. Adams is available?" inquired the commission counsel as Mr. Fennell asked permission to have the document introduced to be a hockey team payroll dated 1957 subject to proof.

NOT AUDIT STATEMENT

"Do you know anything about this statement?" asked the hockey statement for 1957-58?" Lewars was asked.

"Yes, but I was not the auditor." He denied preparing or signing a hockey statement for 1958-59. Mr. Fennell said there were hockey statements available which had been signed by auditors.

Referring to the Recreation Committee Lewars said he had referred to the fact he secretary treasurer was handling funds and not bonded.

Lewars said the recreation committee was not a committee of council and had no power to approve money or conduct an overdraft.

After six weeks during which the position has been vacant, the city of Belleville has finally resolved its dog catching difficulties by re-hiring former dog catcher Charles Thorn.

The question of hiring a dog catcher has been before council for more than a month and during that period the hockey club said did not know the committee operating the team.

BUYER AUDITED HOCKEY BOOKS

"Do you seriously suggest after reading city accounts you did not know the city operated a hockey team?" asked counsel. He never audited the hockey account prior to 1959, Lewars said. He always thought Mr. MacFarland was responsible.

Mr. Fennell asked an explanation of a hockey financial statement for the P. A. R. McFadden business.

WHITEHEAD — GALLAGHER

The Church of St. Michael the Archangel was the setting on Saturday, September 19, at 11 a.m. for a lovely fall wedding when Colleen Jean Gallagher, Belleville, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gallagher, was united in marriage to Sub-Lieutenant Roger Wayne Whitehead of the R.C.N., of St. Thomas, Ontario, son of Mrs. Edna Whitehead, by the Reverend William McGee, who celebrated the nuptial mass. A lovely arrangement of chrysanthemums and snapdragons shading from pure white to deep rose, adorned the altar and white satin bows designated the guest pews.

Miss Dorothy Grant presided at the console of the organ and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Robert Burke, who sang "Ave Maria". "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," and "Panis Angelicus."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. Joseph Gallagher, was charming in her full-length bridal gown of frosted white Chantilly lace over taffeta, featuring a fitted bodice with small standup collar, and sheath-like sleeves pointed over the wrists. The full skirt was accented by an overskirt with apron front extending into a slight train at the back. Her shoulder-length veil of French illusion with lace appliques was held by a headdress encrusted with seed pearls and rhinestones, and she carried a semi-cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses mingled with white tulle.

Mrs. James Weitz of Belleville, was matron of honor, while Miss Gertrude Gibbons of Toronto and Miss Frances Carty of Kingston, were bridesmaids. All were attired in similar gowns of autumn-rose shade brocaded silk, fashioned with empire bodices with scoop necklines and midriff folds offset with bow knot detail and short sleeves and bouffant princess-line short skirts. Their headdresses were matching bowknots formed on clips and they carried cascades of blue and white gypsy entwined with white tulle and streamers.

Mr. James Weitz of Belleville, was the attendant to the bridegroom, while Mr. Wayne Miller of Kingston, Mr. Donald McKitrick of West Lorne, Ontario, ushered the guests.

But her role in the world contest is that of coach of the Canadian entry. Miss Gecy, a shapely 36-24-36, has retired from the parades of lovelies and now is managing director of Miss World of Canada Inc.

"Canada has no right just to send a representative to international beauty contests," she said in an interview. "We have the talent and beauty and should not be satisfied with anything but a winner."

2 Red Cross Nurses Never Have Chance to Get Lonely

MONTREAL (CP)—If you want a cure for loneliness try moving to an isolated Canadian community.

Two Red Cross nurses, Ann Malcolm and Marguerite Wilson, while vacationing here said there is so much to do at their postings on the Ungava Islands that they don't get a chance to catch up on their reading.

Miss Malcolm, dar-haired and dark - eyed, has 400 persons to look after in her territory—Grosse Isle, East Cape and Old Harry — three of the five Mugdalen islands in the St. Lawrence Gulf. Miss Wilson has 250 potential patients on Entry Island, 18 miles from Grosse Island "as the crow flies."

ALWAYS ON CALL

The girls, in their middle 20s, are the only trained professional people in their areas, and are on call 24 hours a day. Each lives alone in a house—Miss Wilson in an eight-room, two-storey frame dwelling on Entry Island, and Miss Malcolm in a six-room bungalow with verandah.

In between calls they plan work for a small cash handyman, do their own bookkeeping, plant gardens, listen to problems and order their supplies. Winter poses a major task when navigation closes in November and food has to be stocked for nearly six months.

Most cases of serious illness are sent to a hospital, but during an outbreak of Asiatic flu last year the nurses were strictly on their own. Miss Wilson, whose great doctor is 12 miles away by air, has also delivered a baby and says she expects to make more deliveries this winter.

House parties with rollicking square dances are the islands' most popular form of entertainment. Music is by residents who play an assortment of instruments.

"We never get a chance to be lonely," said Miss Wilson.

FEW MOVIES

The house parties take a back seat when movies are to be shown.

Last summer there was a showing of six movies in a boathouse. A portable generator had to be used for power, but the whole population turned out," she said. Miss Malcolm said many young men, enthusiastic fishermen, regime to leave the island, but a lot of younger women do leave.

"In a community of 30 or 40 there are six to eight bachelors who won't get a chance to get hitched," she said. "You can imagine there aren't many old maids in the islands."

Peterborough Woman Voices Canada's Sympathy to Ceylon

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)— Mrs. Alene Holt, the only woman on Canada's delegation to the United Nations, yesterday expressed her country's sympathy to Ceylon on the assassination of Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike.

Mrs. Holt of Peterborough is Canada's representative on the UN's third committee, which deals with human rights and cultural matters, and made her remarks during the first meeting of her first speech to the group.

"We regret exceedingly the circumstances of his death and would ask that the sympathy from Canada sincere condolences and the hand of friendship to your citizens and members of the late prime minister's family," said Mrs. Holt.

The committee is considering special safeguards for children, considered essential for their development and embodied in a draft Declaration of the Rights of the Child. The draft, among other things, emphasizes the importance of protecting children against children born out of wedlock and their right to an adequate education.

Mrs. Holt, a Peterborough alderman, outlined in a general way what Canada is doing in child welfare and added:

"It may explain the universal declaration of human rights over the last 10 years that Canada's representative to the Miss World contest she canvassed the chairmen of committees of provinces to hold extensive preliminaries before naming their nominees for the finals.

Miss Gecy, who lives with her parents and younger brother here, leaves for London at the end of October to accompany Canada's representative to the Miss World contest.

But she has a personal mission as well. During a two - month assignment she will make a film with a movie studio which invited her to England last year.

"I don't expect to be a big success in the movie," she said. "But I'm willing to try it for size, me. But the experience is bound to be useful."

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counsellors.

Leona S. — I want the children home.

Jack S. — She isn't well enough to care for them.

Leona S. — I have been married seven years and have been very unhappy because of the interference of my sister-in-law.

After I had my second child I was very ill. My husband took our little boy to his sister, Edna's, home. Edna is childless and very well off. She was able to give him many advantages. Every time I asked to have him back, my husband said we should let him stay a little longer. I had to insist. Recently I had a third child. My husband took both of the older ones to his sister's. Edna has had them two months now and I want them home, but she and my husband keep saying they are better off with her.

I am not well, but I want the children home.

Jack S. — Leona is not well — either physically or emotionally. The doctor says she is the most nervous woman he has ever met. Edna is very calm, has servants, and can devote her full time to the children.

Leona seems to think Edna wants to steal the children away because she has none of her own. That isn't true. She'll send the children home as soon as Leona is well enough to care for them. I feel more at ease when Edna is taking care of them.

Ever since we've been married Leona has had this obsession that my sister wants to break up our marriage. She says I care more for my sister than for her. Of course this is ridiculous.

The Council: From these accounts, we think it very likely that both the husband and the sister-in-law in this case have contributed to Leona's illness — possibly both physical and emotional.

Leona cannot possibly recuperate normally if she cannot feel secure in her husband's loyalty — if her husband considers his sister a better mother for his children than his wife. She cannot feel reasonably happy if she can't bring up her own children.

We think the doctor in this case ought to be advised of all the facts. If he finds that Leona is not strong enough to care for the three children, some other solution should be sought. Perhaps Leona could get a paid helper in her home. Even if this puts the family into debt or if she has to make great sacrifices, it would be worth it for the long run welfare and happiness of both mother and children.

We think Jack has a very distorted way of looking at this whole problem. It may not be due entirely to his sister's influence, but this is certainly a factor. Edna has obviously set herself up as the best judge of what is good for these children and for her brother and his wife. Jack obviously goes along with her ideas — even when he sees his wife is suffering because of it.

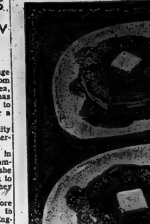
The children now may now appear to be doing nicely in their future home, eventually will suffer the most from the ugly split in this family. Jack should realize that he is at least as disturbed emotionally as his wife, although it may take a different form in him. He and his wife could probably profit from some assistance from a family service clinic.

Teacher Makes Good Her Vow To Return

VICTORIA (CP)—An exchange teacher here six years ago from the Isle of Man in the Irish Sea, Mrs. Nancy Pittard now has made good her vow to return to Victoria. She plans to stay for a few years at least.

"It's your western informality that I love," she said in an interview.

Asked about differences in teaching methods here as compared to the United Kingdom, she said teachers at home are left to their own devices more than they are in Canada.



"Canadian pupils are more spontaneous and talk more to their teachers than do the English students," she said.

"English students absorb more general background knowledge concerning the fine arts. It's all around them and they get it almost unconsciously."

On the Isle of Man students are given free ballet and violin lessons after school hours, when they learn grammar school.

And students there, in groups of 40 or 50, all over 14 years of age, go on conducted 10 - day tours by bus to Norway, Holland or Germany in the summer time.

"They pay their own way and sleep in hostels or schools," she said.

HAVE YOU TRIED PAN-SANS? 'Pan-San is the new pancake idea that is becoming so popular. It means pancake sandwich! Try a cheese and bacon Pan-San. So easy to make and so good tasting.

GOOD MANNERS

By Mrs. Beeckman

TODAY'S COURTESY TIP

It's an old copy-book maxim, and a very wise one:

"There is no talent corn to you That Courtesy will not add thereto."

HOW TO SPELL PLURAL OF "IN-LAW" WORDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our argument concerns how to spell the plural of words ending in in-law; for example, mother-in-law, father-in-law, sister-in-law, brother-in-law. "A" insists that the plural is made by adding "s" to "laws" — mother-in-laws, sister-in-laws, and so forth. "B" insists that the "s" should be added to the first word: mothers-in-law, fathers-in-law, and so forth. Who's right? — A and B

"B" is right. The plural is: mothers-in-law . . . fathers-in-law . . . sisters-in-law . . . brothers-in-law.

WHEN "THANK YOU" IS NOT AN ADEQUATE REPLY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I (we're newlyweds, married two months ago) had quite a discussion last evening when we came home from a party given by a man and his wife, the man being very important in my husband's business. When it came time to leave, I had already said good-by to the hostess, and when my husband joined me we went together to say good-by to the host. The host said, most graciously, "It was a great pleasure to meet you again, Mrs. Smith." I replied "Thank you, Mr. Lane." Later my husband said this was a ridiculous reply for me to make, that it said practically nothing. When I said this was plain, he said I should figure it out for myself. Mrs. Beeckman, will please be so kind as to help me "figure it out"?

— Puzzled

Let's figure it out together. Mrs. Puzzled . . . when someone says to you, for example, "It was a great pleasure to meet you again," or "I am very glad to meet you" (for example, when leaving after an introduction) it is really not enough just to thank the person for this pleasant wordbon. Social grace demands that you make a "return bow" to this gracious remark. In other words, your reply must have at least two parts. Like this reply, for example, to your host: "Thank you, Mr. Lane. And it was a special pleasure to meet you again. You and Mrs. Lane were so kind to invite us to your party (as I have just told her), and we have had such a happy time. Thank you for your hospitality."

INVITATIONS TO SMALL, INFORMAL SECOND WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a widow, and am planning to be married again during the latter part of November. It is to be a small wedding, just the ceremony at the church with a small reception following. My father is dead, my mother is living, and I have two sisters. What kind of invitation is called for, and who should send them out?

— Mrs. L.

The invitations to your small, informal wedding could, appropriately and naturally, be extended informally. It is proper for you to telephone to the guests who live nearby, and write notes to those who live at a distance. (Then you may, if you wish, send formal, engraved announcements after the marriage. Customarily, in your circumstances, these are sent in the names of the couple.)

THE SPIRIT OF CELEBRATION! This youngster is celebrating Pancake Festival in a big way! Though appetites are not always this large, young and old alike enjoy stacks of delicious, fluffy pancakes when Autumn brings the first cold breezes. It's a tradition of enjoyment.

Pumpkin Weather

A bold start on the menu [are on the new package.)
am planning to give you for Thanksgiving dinner is a good thing.

Today I am giving you two pumpkin pie recipes. One of them is made with skim milk powder — is nutrition-rified and whipped state — and is the one I promised you last week. The second one calls for honey and other rich and luscious ingredients. If you try them this week you can decide which one to feature on Thanksgiving Day.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE:

1-3 cup sugar, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 1 1-2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1-3 teaspoon nutmeg, 2 tablespoons plain gelatine, 3-4 cup reliquefied instant skim milk powder, 2 eggs, beaten, 1 1-2 cups canned pumpkin, 1-2 cup chopped pecans (optional), 2 1-2 cups whipped instant skim milk powder (see below), 9" baked pastry shell (see Mix sugar, salt, spices and gelatine together in saucepan. Stir in reliquefied skim milk powder, eggs and pumpkin. Stir constantly over medium heat until mixture begins to boil. Chill until mixture thickens and mounds when dropped from spoon. Fold in pecans and whipped instant skim milk powder. Spoon into shell. Chill 2 to 3 hours. To whip instant skim milk powder: Mix 1-3 cup instant skim milk powder with 1-3 cup ice water. Whip until soft peaks form (3 to 4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Continue beating, while gradually adding 1-4 cup sugar, until stiff peaks form (3 t o4 minutes

HONEY PUMPKIN PIE:

1 2-3-cu. tin pumpkin, 1 cup honey, 1-2 teaspoon ground cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon ground ginger, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, beaten, 1 1-4 cups whole milk, 1-4 cup heavy cream (whipping), 1 cup heavy cream for topping (use 1-4 pint whipping cream in all), pastry for 1 9" one-crust pie.

Blend together first 8 ingredients. Turn into 9" unbaked pastry shell with high fluted edge. Bake 10 minutes at 450 deg. Fahr. then 40 minutes longer at 325 deg. Fahr. Cool. Top with sweetened cream and serve well chilled. Another pumpkin pie filling that will appeal to our more venturesome cooks calls cheese. Try this filling too.

for sour cream and cottage cups whipped instant skim milk 1-4 cup sour cream, 1-3 cup milk, 1-4 cup cooking sherry, 1-2 cup brown sugar, 1-3 teaspoon ground ginger, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 8-oz tin pumpkin, 1 cup cottage cheese, sieved twice, pastry for 1 9" pie, chilled.

Combine all ingredients in the order listed. Pour mixture into unbaked 9" pie shell. Bake 10 minutes at 450 deg. Fahr. then 30 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. Serve very cold.

Sightless People Have Champ In 82-Year-Old Wpg. Woman

WINNIPEG (CP)—An 82-year-old blind woman, who has been fighting for more than 30 years to bring about improved conditions for sightless people, recently celebrated her 40th wedding anniversary with her husband at the residence of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Mrs. Ezart, a leader in the movement for more government assistance, still is not satisfied with the lot of the blind.

She said during the anniversary banquet she thinks the Manitoba government should grant supplementary aid because of the difficulty elderly blind people have in meeting living costs on the present allowance.

Mrs. Ezart and her husband Charles, now 84, came to Canada from England in 1905. Mrs. Ezart lost her sight through illness 50 years ago.

However, she raised five children, doing all her own housework. In her spare time, she did rehabilitation work with the blind.

Until recent years, she was convener of the pension committee of the Manitoba League of the Blind. As part of her work, she filled a pre sing engagements across Canada in support of pensions for the blind and helped present a brief on the subject to the federal cabinet before a federal allowance was granted in 1937.

"We have progressed a long way since those early and bleak years," Mrs. Ezart said.

Her husband, a salesman, was secretary for several blind organizations. He became blind a year ago.

Teacher Heads For Last Leg Of Journey

OTTAWA (CP)—Muryl Anderson, 24 - year - old Vancouver teacher - secretary, headed into bicycle towards Montreal Sunday on the last leg of a 3,000-mile cross-country trip on which she has overcome sunstroke, flu and bears.

Miss Anderson left Vancouver July 6 on an Italian racing bicycle. Her eventual destination is Europe.

So far she has spent $180, mostly for food and bicycle repairs. She has camped in a pup tent most nights.

Her most exciting adventure came one night near Blind River, Ont. A black bear snuffled outside her tent, snatched the plastic ground sheet from beneath her, and lumbered off.

Miss Anderson was stopped by sunstroke at Brandon and by flu at Bracebridge, Ont.

She plans to work in Montreal and take a ship for England at Christmas. In Europe she plans to work and bicycle.

22 Whites at Coral Harbor Say They 'Exist' in North, They Don't Call It Living

By DON ATTFIELD
...Canadian Press Staff Writer

CORAL HARBOR, N.W.T. (CP) Twenty-two white men say they "exist" here—they don't call it living.

Like some 3,500 other temporary residents of the Canadian North they patiently await the day they will return southward with good savings.

Their morale is not low; they are here by choice. But throughout their work and their leisure hours dreams of the future are constantly in their minds.

Coral Harbor is a federal transport station and an Eskimo settlement on Southampton Island, which almost covers the mouth of Hudson Bay just south of the Arctic Circle.

IMPORTANT LINK

The station, two miles is on the barren, rocky land from the Eskimo settlement, reports weather conditions and serves as a communications link between Frobisher Bay to the northeast and Churchill, Man., to the southwest.

Jack Bailey of Fort William, Ont., radio operator-attendant, said in an interview: "I've been here 12 months, and I can hardly wait to get out."

The sentiment perhaps is shared by most of the department's 1,000 employees in the North. The figure was spread out in about 50 similarly small, isolated stations.

The altitude is similar for 1,500 men, of whom 97 per cent are Canadians, employed on the American-operated Distant Early Warning radar line, for which Coral Harbor is a relay point. There are another 1,000 Canadian army and air force men and other government employees in the North.

SMALL PROPORTION

Altogether, however, these represent only about one-third of the white population in the North.

The rest—for such small centres as Whitehorse in the Yukon and Yellowknife in the Northwest Territories — remain by choice. Many will tell you that they love the country, and the most hardy say even that it is beautiful and bewitching in winter when snow and ice stretch right to the horizon.

But the men at the small, scattered stations for the most part are there to save a lot of money in a hurry. Most have left families, sweetheart and friends in the south.

Statistics regarding the DEW line show that most employees are married. Their first term of duty is 18 months, and a surprising total of 70 per cent return for second terms of a year. Only 13 per cent return for a third stint.

SERIOUS WORKERS

Mr. Bailey said the figures would be similar for transport department employees. As with the DEW line, he said, most are serious workers up here to save money with which to finance business later.

On the average, transport department contract employees and DEW line staff earn between $600 and $800 a month, including overtime. Department career employees—about three-quarters of the northern staff — and servicemen receive taxable bonuses of about $100 a month in addition.

About all they need here is cigaret money. They can save the rest.

Mr. Bailey keeps a large picture of his wife and children in his comfortable single room. The regular staff also have private rooms, smaller compartmental furnished with cots and bureaus.

FEWER DIVERSIONS

The main gathering spots are a large lounge equipped with reading material and games, and the mess room where complaints are seldom heard about the food. Another room is set aside for weight - lifting; the men sometimes are unable to get outdoors for weeks on end in winter.

Mr. Bailey and his men have found diversion in two while for pups which have become mascots. Most of the men have hobbies of one kind or another, such as radio or model-building. One scheduled flight a month to bring in supplies lands on Coral Harbor's 6,000-foot airstrip.

2nd Sidney
QUINTE W. I.

SECOND SIDNEY — The Bay of Quinte Institute held its September meeting at the home of Mrs. G. Clapp of Wooler Road, Trenton, on Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance.

Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson and Mrs. A. Meyers were appointed as delegates to the W. I. Convention on October 8 and 9 at Belleville.

Miss Hazel Farley asked all present to preserve all old family heirlooms and said she would be glad to receive such things for the UEL museum at Adolphustown.

The government is asking everyone not to forget their polio shots.

The convenor of historical research and current events, Mrs. Frank Sandercock, took over the program, giving a very informative reading from "The Farm Combine", telling us that down through the ages the story of mankind is the story of survival — to find enough to eat.

THEN OF HARVESTING

"Man was first a hunter, then gradually started to till the soil and grow grain. Sowing was done by hand for years. The first tool was the sickle. The first harvesting instrument was the cradle, then the scythe. The flail or the ox treading out the corn was the accepted way of threshing. The ground hog threshing came into vogue later, which was run by the hand power of two men. The machine was made larger so much so that horse-power was found entirely insufficient, so that horse-power came into being. Then the reaper drawn by horses, next came the harvester, later a binder tying sheaves with wire and as this was not satisfactory, one was made to tie with twine. Steam engines were then invented, followed by the gas engine, and ending in the gas combine which we have today."

PLAQUE UNVEILED

Mrs. Arnold Meyers told of the unveiling of the plaque to Capt. John Walden Meyers of Belleville, recently, and also gave the history of Johnstown Church, both to be used in the Tweedmuir History for this district, now being compiled by the Bay of Quinte Institute.

A contest was held with Mrs. Hilda Ketcheson winning the prize. Mrs. Sandercock gave several current events also.

Thanks were given the hostess and Mrs. Sandercock for her fine address.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank East of Cobourg had supper with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Hart on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Clement were Saturday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Keith of Marmora on Saturday evening.

Miss Marilyn Reid was a weekend visitor from Toronto at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reid.

Miss Sharon Jeffery recently attended the Shakespearean Festival with her school friends, at Stratford.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Fowler and children, of Carrying Place, spent the supper hour with Mr.

Four Men Buy Company Stock For Khrushchev

CHICAGO (AP) — Four men, determined to make a capitalist of Premier Khrushchev, have chipped in and bought the premier $300 worth of stock.

They mailed it to him, care of President Eisenhower at his Camp David retreat in Maryland.

In an accompanying letter, they told Khrushchev the purpose of the gift was to demonstrate how different is Karl Marx's concept of capitalism from the present-day American variety.

Paul Fisher, Chicago insurance executive, and one of the four stock donors, said Sunday the scheme to dun during a visit he paid to Kansas City, Mo., last Monday. The other men are Forrest T. Jones, insurance agent, and Dr. Stoughton F. White, surgeon, both of Kansas City; and John Strohm, free-lance writer from Woodstock, Ill.

So far, Khrushchev hasn't acknowledged the gift. Fisher said he expects the premier to return the 25 shares, but that won't get him off the hook.

Unless Khrushchev reassigns the stock to someone, he'll be carried on the books of American Safety Razor company as just another stockholder.

Mr. K. Unlikely To Make Splash On Peking Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Washington interest was swinging today towards Communist China where a familiar figure—Nikita Khrushchev—is about to make an appearance.

There has been little indication that Khrushchev will make much of a public splash when he hits Peking. On the contrary, there has been a curious silence.

Since the first few days of his U.S. tour, the Red Chinese press has paid scant attention to Khrushchev's doings here.

Khrushchev himself has made few references to his Asiatic ally despite its prominence in cold war trouble spots. Soviet aides at his press conference Sunday selected for Khrushchev's reply none of a number of questions concerning Red China which were submitted by American reporters.

ADVANCE THEORIES

Several theories are advanced here for the comparative Communist quietness on the U.S.-China theme.

One is that Peking is engrossed in internal affairs for the moment.

Something of a purge has been under way too in Communist China's ranks. Word of more than 400 job changes, reaching high into military and other positions, has reached the West.

However, Khrushchev's Red Allies doubtless will want a report on his talks with President Eisenhower.

Khrushchev may use the occasion for a strategy conference on future policy toward the West.

Record Number Of Whales Taken Off West Coast

VANCOUVER (CP)—A record number of whales has been caught off the west coast of Vancouver Island in the season now ending, but total tonnage will be lower than last year.

The fleet of six whale-catchers of British Columbia Packers Ltd. some weeks before the season's official ending Sept. 30 had taken 824 whales, compared to a total of 774 last year. Nearly 200 of this year's, however were small sei whales, caught in mid-season.

Rare visitors, 14 blue whales have been sighted and shot 25 miles off Cape Cook recently. This is just below the northwest tip of Vancouver Island, and it is almost unknown for the big blues to be found so close.

Largest of the blues being processed was 83 feet long, nearly the maximum size for the species in the northern hemisphere.

WARMER WATER

Fin back whales have been less prevalent this season, but sperms were numerous and about 200 were caught.

Since the world market for whale oil, meat and solubles is considerably lower than last year, year, many of the operation will suffer.

But the fleet crews will have a record year, due to the system which gives them an extra bonus based on the number caught.

Many of the key personnel in the fleet are from Newfoundland and Norway, born and bred, in the whaling industry.

Hunters Picking Right Spots In West Get Limit of Ducks

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prairie duck hunters who picked their spots right have been shooting their bag limits despite pre-season predictions that dry summer weather would cut the waterfowl population.

G. W. Malaher, director of the Manitoba government game branch, said that while the ducks were sticking to large bodies of water, "in between there is not too good a picture.

"Distribution as different from what it is in a normal year," he said. "Ducks are not nearly as plentiful in the pothole country."

GO FARTHER

In Saskatchewan hunters in the southern part of the province have been forced to go farther for their shooting because the dry conditions forced the large concentrations into the parklands in the northern and central parts of the province.

First-day hunters reported a higher than usual number of specimen mallards. However, later reports said the mallards seemed to be drifting down from northern breeding grounds.

Game officials in southern Manitoba said an accurate picture could be obtained until ducks moved down from the north. A good supply of both ducks and geese was reported in The Pas area of northern Manitoba.

Alberta game Superintendent D. E. Forsland said hunters were making out "fair, but not as good as last year."

All three provinces reduced bag and possession limits because of poor breeding conditions this year. In Manitoba, the bag limit is down to seven a day from 10; in Saskatchewan to seven from 12, and in Alberta to seven from 10.

All the provinces have special limits on canvasbacks and redheads.

The two varieties are most seriously affected by the water shortage because they build their nests over water among reeds.

Improving Your Wing-Shooting

It was the first time we had gone woodcock hunting together, so I gave him the guest treatment and let him have first chance at the bird the dog had found. I knew he had hunted ringneck for many years, as he used to tell me about missing them. As yet, I hadn't seen him in action with a shotgun. As he walked in past the dog, I wondered about those ringneck he had missed. Well, I would soon know.

The woodcock came twittering up out of the grass and flew straight away. I watched my friend. First he spread his feet to comfortable gunner's stance. Then he mounted his gun to his shoulder. The right elbow was tight against his side; the left elbow was crooked so that his hand was well back, close to the trigger guard; his head was tilted sideways; and his left eye was closed. He missed the bird by a wide margin and I managed to kill it with a long and, admittedly, lucky shot.

While my old dog, Spot, trotted to find and retrieve the bird, I opened my gun and laid it in the grass beside a convenient bush. Then the next 45 minutes were spent in patient but inteisive training in gun handling. This paid off by enabling him to kill two woodcock that afternoon, something he had never done before although he had shot at a great many of them. Today he is a better-than-average wing shot.

If you are having trouble with your wing shooting (and who doesn't?) your problems may not be difficult to solve. First of all, are you mounting your gun to your shoulder properly? Most gunners do not because they have been taught. All right — let's start from scratch.

When a bird flushes and goes away from you, as you mount your gun, the line of your shoulders should be almost at right angles to the line of flight. Your right elbow and upper arm should be a continuation of the line of your shoulders, and the left arm should be almost straight with the hand well out on the fore-end. The butt of the gun should be held against the right pectoral or chest muscle, not against your shoulder muscle. That is the way to hold a shotgun.

Now — with the gun in that position, move your head forward, not sideways, until your cheek rests against the stock at the comb. Keep both eyes open. To point the gun you do not aim a shotgun, you point it! do so by moving the body, from the waist up. Don't change the position of arms, head and shoulders. Move the entire body, from the waist up, as a unit. Try it and you will see what I mean.

It is easy to learn to shoot with both eyes open. As you read this, hold your right hand arm length before your face and point your index finger at any target, say a picture on the wall. Now, concentrate on the target; you will see not one but two pointing fingers. Sing your left eye and you will find that the left of the two fingers points at the target. The same holds true with a gun barrel. A little practice will enable you to point the left of the two barrels at the target, automatically. Now, you are holding and pointing correctly.

HOW GUN FITS

Next — does your gun fit you? Easy enough to find out. Simply close both eyes, mount your gun as instructed, and lower your cheek to the comb of the stock by bending the neck forward, not sideways. Then open your eyes. If the line of sight goes in over the centre of the rib at the breech, and if your gun sees the front sight along the length of the rib, then the gun fits. If your line of sight is off-centre — too low, too high, to one side or the other, take the gun to a good gunsmith. He will know what to do. No need, usually, to open your gun re-stocked. Check plates, change of pitch at the heel, recoil pads, etc., can work wonders.

Remember that shotgun pointing is a practised motion, something you must learn or you would become a good wing shot. All right — practise mounting and pointing. You can do this at home. First unload your gun and make certain, positively, certain-sure that it is unloaded. Then practise gun handling in your living room or anywhere you choose, using pictures on the wall as targets. In a surprisingly short time the new posture and body motions will become automatic and no longer feel strange.

Once you have learned to mount your gun correctly, go to the skeet range and shoot maybe 25 or 50 birds. The more experienced men at the range always are glad to help a beginner. The comparatively small cash outlay will pay off in big dividends when the shooting season finally rolls around.

Present for the Minister of Lands and Forests visit to the Tweed District Forester's Office were a number of local officials, shown above are. Clarke Rollins, MPP for Hastings East; Norris Whitney, MPP for Prince Edward-Lennox; Hon. J. W. Spooner, Minister of Lands and Forests; Jack Simmonette, MPP for Frontenac-Addington, and Elmer "Sandy" Sandercock, MPP for Hastings West.

Minister of Lands, Forests Visits Tweed Headquarters

The Hon. J. W. Spooner, Minister of Lands and Forests for Ontario, took a whirlwind tour of various points of interest in the Tweed district and his departmental yesterday. This was a part of the Minister's plan to visit all Lands and Forests' Chief Rangers for officers across Ontario in an effort to get the best possible insight of the overall picture of his department's activities and also to become aware of the various differing and individual local characteristics and problems of each office.

Following a one-hour tour of the Outlet Park in Prince Edward County, Mr. Spooner flew into the District Office at Tweed for an inspection of that office and the Chief Ranger's headquarters at Tweed as well. During this part of his tour he met with the various department heads and local representatives to the Provincial Parliament.

Speaking at a luncheon for the local department heads and members of the Provincial Parliament, the Minister of Lands and Forests stated that "Lands and Forests probably has more direct dealings with the public than any other department", and due to the amount of administration work at Toronto making it difficult for the department chief to get around much reliance is placed on the district offices to co-ordinate the department's activities.

Mr. spooner stated that he was very impressed with the personnel of the department and with their interest in their work. Referring to the many varied projects, which his department is engaged in, the Minister thanked the press for their coverage in helping to get across the purposes and projects of the Lands and Forests people.

Local municipalities and conservation authorities can expect the greatest possible co-operation from the department in handling their problems, the Minister commented. He added that he found that the personnel usually made a very good effort to do the best possible job in this respect.

Mr. Spooner announced that the 1,200-acre site at Roe Echo, near Cloyne, which has been "in the works" for some time, has been cleared by the legal department and surveying of the area is expected to start shortly. It is anticipated that this site, which is the largest of any park site in the Tweed district, will probably develop into one of the area's greatest tourist attractions.

Elmer Sandercock, MPP for Hastings West; Clarke Rollins, MPP for Hastings East; Norris Whitney, MPP for Prince Edward-Lennox; and Jack Simmonett, MPP for Frontenac-Addington were all present at the luncheon having previously accompanied the Minister on a tour of the Chief Ranger's headquarters. Mr. Spooner briefly at the luncheon thy complimented the Department of Lands and Forests on their work and spoke of various local problems which they expected to see resolved in the near future.

Jim Taylor, the District Forester, expressed the thanks of his department for the kind words of the Minister and the MPP's. The Tweed District Office and the Chief Ranger's headquarters were at thir usual high level of efficiency and orderliness for the Minister's visit.

Visit Shows Both Nikita, Ike Afraid of Nuclear War

By DAVID ROWNTREE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

You can pick out two clear results of Khrushchev's visit to America:

1. He and Eisenhower agreed to go on talking — rather than fighting — about Berlin and "all outstanding international questions."

2. Both men came to believe that one is just as afraid of a nuclear war as the other.

On the second point, we have Khrushchev's word for it that the president is sincere in his desire for peace. American officials are reported to have come to the belief that the Russian dictator is similarly sincere.

This is a big step forward. Only a few months ago, such admissions from either side would have been almost unbelievable.

And the only reason they now can be made is because until this summer hardly anyone would have thought it possible for a Communist despot to get himself invited for a circus-like whirl through the United States, a dinner at the White House and a cosy tete-a-tete with the president at a weekend lodge.

GAIN TIME

The biggest gain is one of time. Although the big two have been vague on details, they "agreed that the question of general disarmament is the most important one facing the world today."

It is apparent that both Russia and the United States realize that no one can win a war with atom and hydrogen bombs. The leaders pledged to "make every effort" to solve the disarmament problem.

But there is another side to the Khrushchev visit.

Khrushchev's performance in a highly publicity-conscious country — in which he made it appear that he was not entirely the villain he had been depicted — overshadowed the fact that many Soviet policies have not changed at all.

For example, in his heated exchange with a group of labor leaders in San Francisco, he was asked why the Russians interfered in Hungary in 1956. Khrushchev's reply:

"There was no interference. There was a counter revolution! Thugs and hooligans who received arms from outside took power in Budapest. And the government asked us for aid and we gave it, and we're proud of it. We are proud of it as a feat. There would be fascism there if we had not."

AHEAD ON POINTS

Only the day after his talk on disarmament to the UN, Khrushchev lost his temper — one of several occasions that some observers say may have been planned — and told an audience:

"If you want to go on with the arms race, very well. We accept the challenge. As for the output of rockets — well, they are on the assembly line."

To have been invited to the U.S. while he still held a threat against West Berlin, while he continued to refuse to allow free elections in East Germany, and after he had forced the Western foreign ministers in Geneva to leave the officially - unrecognized East German government in attendance — all these were important tactical victories for Khrushchev.

The smell of success must have been even sweeter when the state department passed the word to American officials he was receiving not to needle the tubby dictator too much about these things.

Volkswagen's success is world-wide. New in design, unorthodox in concept, its many unique features have won wholehearted approval in 110 countries from laymen and engineers alike.

The engine is mounted in the rear. You get better traction in snow, mud or sand. The engine is air-cooled. No water to boil, no anti-freeze to buy, no radiator to leak. Torsion bar suspension with independent springing on all four wheels. Greater comfort, safer road-holding. Just as important, maximum use of aluminum and magnesium alloys. Lighter weight, greater efficiency, more miles per gallon.

All these features are pioneered in mass-production by Volkswagen . . . proven right by millions of drivers . . . proven right for low-cost, troublefree transportation. Already some of Europe's largest manufacturers have followed Volkswagen's lead. Now American companies are also adopting these advanced engineering principles. And only recently, leading American engineers awarded to Volkswagen the coveted Sperry Award for "advancing the art of transportation."

Improvements? Yes, they are being made constantly. But the basic design is maintained and so is the quality of workmanship. The happy result, an extra-ordinary high resale value.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

On the husky shoulders of the Laddy that's known as Lew, Burdette, according to his birth certificate, rests the hopes of the Milwaukee Braves and their third world series in a row.

The game is probably being televised on Channel 10 even as you read this. It was scheduled to start at 4.45. The Brooklyn hopes rest on one Don Drysdale.

The erstwhile "Brooklyn Bums" will create history if they pull this playoff series out of the fire. They have played in two previous overtime affairs and lost both: The Cardinals routed them in 1946 and the Giants repeated in 1951 when Bobby Thomson drilled the three-run ninth-inning homer that echoed around the entire baseball world.

As of now and this moment the Dodgers are favored to win the National League playoffs because of their 3-2 victory over the Braves in yesterday's opener. Today they were a 6-5 choice to take the business in two straight wins.

However, fandom does not trust them to well in the forthcoming world series bouts with the Chicago White Sox. The Windy City crew has an 11-10 edge, according to the boys in the back rooms, but on the other hand if the Braves manage to grab the playoffs they will be 11-10 favorites to take the world series title over the Chuck Comiskey crew.

Yesterday's L.A. heroes were husky John Roseboro, the guy who took over the catching chores from Roy Campanella, and Larry Sherry, young husky fire aller, who came from nowhere and the ashcan to pitch a spectacular job in relief and he'd the bumps-on-a-log Braves to four hits after starter Don McDevitt had given the Beermen a 2-1 lead.

But as far as the Braves are concerned today is another day, or more are two by Gad. Yes, it can truly break their hitting slump and will have to be in the form that won him 21 games this season!

"SLAMMIN' SAM" HERE

While the golfers of the Bay of Quinte Country Club, both sexes, were winning up a highly successful season over the weekend, one of the greatest names in the game was having time of his life toting a shotgun instead of woods and irons, and knocking down birdies with feathers on them.

Slammin' Sam Snead was in the city for a couple of days pursuing another great sports love, duck hunting. Sam spent the brief holiday with a friend who resides in the city and who accompanied him to duck hides in the immediate district.

Snead apparently has a love for the hunting in this part of the world, for it was reported he was in the Napanee area when the season opened. He likes it here, although the hunting to date this season has not been of topflight calibre.

Sam, according to his friend, is as adept with a shotgun as with a brassie or niblick. "He is an excellent shot," said the trigger-pulling buddy, "and only misses on one out of every seven shots. That's pretty good shooting, but, as I believe in the case in the majority of places, Sam didn't get his quota but only lacked one or so."

MINOR HOCKEY

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association, that august body of good fellows and boys-minded men, has tucked another feather in its well-laden cap of sports achievement.

As in its many years of honorable existence, the association still keeps the well-being of its moppet proteges on a par with their efforts to make them fine hockey players and good citizens.

It has been announced that all teams affiliated with the association will again be able to insure their players at the rate of $1.00 per player—but with even better coverage and protection. The following benefits will be provided for all eligible players: (1) accidental death, $1,000 (last year $500); (2) blanket medical reimbursement up to $50 per season (last year $500 with $5.00 deductible). Dental reimbursement up to $50 with no deductible (last year $5.00 deductible).

The 36th annual meeting of the OMHA is scheduled for the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on Saturday, November 7 when it is expected over 200 delegates will be in attendance.

Ducks Still More Plentiful In Quebec

MONTREAL (CP)—Any fears that there would be fewer ducks this year along the Atlantic flyway, which takes in Quebec, have proved groundless, a spokesman for the game department said today.

Reports from wildlife authorities and hunters themselves indicate the situation has been the same in Quebec's three districts—northern, central and southern.

Early spring conditions in Western Canada breeding areas caused federal authorities to tighten regulations relating generally to migratory birds.

In Quebec the daily bag limit is six, compared with eight last year. Possession limit is 12—two days' bag compared with 16. The season in the northern and central districts is virtually the same, around 70 days. In the southern district, normally running from around mid-September to mid - December, the season ends this year on Nov. 28.

SURVEY DIFFICULT

Most of Quebec's ducks breed in the northern part of the province, extending westward to the east coast of Hudson Bay. Sports-City.

reen say that conditions can be better gauged in Western Canada and that no comparable measure can be applied to the Atlantic flyway.

Reports indicate there have been plenty of blacks, mallards, pintails and teal—at least as many as last year. Not many redheads and canvasback count this way. A few were reported last year; none reported so far this year.

Quebec's Game Club, Lewis Leuieux of the federal wildlife service said there had been a "very good" breeding season in northern Quebec, with a resultant increase in the number of juvenile teal—two main species hunted there.

We have seen more of these species this year than we have seen for a long time, said Mr. Weakley was a big factor. High spring water levels receded slowly, and the spring was "very much later, not too dry."

Quebec — which are general and include duck - hunting—have been increasing annually. Officials said there were 50,000 last year compared with 46,000 the previous year.

Quebec's northern district is roughly that north of the CNR trans-continental line and along the north shore of the St. Lawrence River, dipping to a point about 30 miles north of Quebec City.

Braves' Playoff-Soaring Hopes Rest On Burdette

Dodgers Go With Drysdale For Second Straight Victory After Winning Opener 3-2

By JOE REICHLER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The quietly confident Dodgers, with one playoff victory in the bag, returned to Los Angeles today needing one more triumph over Milwaukee Braves for their first National League pennant since 1953.

After a 3-2 victory in Milwaukee Monday, Dodger manager Walt Alston had righthander Don Drysdale ready to pitch the second game of the best-of-three series. Drysdale has beaten the Braves 11 times in 15 lifetime decisions.

If the Braves win, Alston has Roger Craig, his hottest pitcher, for Wednesday's third game here.

Milwaukee manager Fred Haney also went with his best righthander today — Lew Burdette, a 21-game winner.

The game starts at 5 p.m. EDT with ABC television coverage.

DODGERS HAD PAYOFFS

New York odds - makers now make the Dodgers 13-to-5 favorites to win the playoff, 6-to-5 choices for today's game.

Haney, normally conservative, gambled and lost in the opener although getting a well - pitched game from Gene Willey, who had won only five games all year.

Fred, coupled with his ace Burdette, is backed by figures. Burdette is 2-1 lifetime against the Dodgers at Milwaukee 2-0 this year but them at Los Angeles this season.

A crowd of 50,039 or more is expected at the Coliseum where day games are a rarity. If the game was at night a sellout crowd of 97,000 would be on hand. Until the hour of closing the ball thicking of coming back from Los Angeles as champions.

Haney said he probably will start Frank Torre at first baseman, hitter, instead of Adcock at first base, and Lee Maye, another outfielder, will be started in Andy Pafko in left field.

The dreary, rainy afternoon saw a brilliant pitching exhibition by Larry Sherry, rookie relief ace. Sherry, 24 - year - old righthander brought up from the minors in July, stopped the Braves cold after they had forced starter Don McDevitt from the box in four harmless singles over the first 7 2-3 innings. He held Eddie Mathews, Hank Aaron and Joe Adcock hitless in seven times at bat.

The Dodgers tied the score in the last half of the fourth inning and won in the sixth on Johnny Roseboro's home run over the right-field fence.

SNIDER OUT

The Dodgers played without Duke Snider, their right fielder and centerfielder bolstered by a bad left knee. Alston said he would not know until game time whether he will play today.

Don Drysdale, Brooklyn pitcher, got one of the 10 hits of Willey and Don Mossi. Norm Larker, in Selder's cleanup spot, collected three hits and drove in a run. Gil Hodges also had a pair of other Dodger run.

The Braves, in a batting slump for the last week, were hopeful of snapping out of it at Los Angeles, where they have won six of 11 games this year.

"We've been coming from behind all year," said Haney, "and now we have to keep doing it. We'll be ready."

Haney said he probably will start Frank Torre at first baseman

Dave Thelen Tops Big Four Ground Gainers

TORONTO (CP)—Dave Thelen had another big night weekend and it pushed him into the ground gaining leadership of the Big Four.

The Ottawa fullback gained 70 yards rushing and receiving in losing game against Hamilton Tiger-Cats to range ahead of Hamilton's Cerry McDougall. Thelen now has 661 yards on 104 carries in eight games, official statistics showed Monday.

McDougall, a yard ahead of Thelen for the weekend, has 657 yards in 123 tries. Dick Shatto of Toronto gained 64 yards as the Argonauts downed Montreal Alouettes Saturday to retain third place. His 96 carries have netted 604 yards.

Tom Dublinski, second - string quarterback for the league-leading Ticats, retained his passing lead while sitting on the bench. An average gain of 9.7 yards, accurate on 22 completions out of 33 attempts for a completion percentage of .529 and total yardage of 340.

PASSING TOPS PASSERS

Bernie Faloney, Hamilton's starter, moved ahead of Ottawa's Russ Jackson with a 9.8-yard average on 34 completions from 148 throws. His completion percentage is .541 and yardage total 1,421.

Jackson is third with an 8.7-yard average and Montreal's Sam Etcheverry follows at 7.8. Etcheverry leads in total yards gained, 1,887, and is far ahead in pass attempts with 242. He has completed 146 for a percentage of .591, compared with Jackson's 23 completions out of 49 attempts for a .469 percentage and 428 yards.

Faloney's two touchdown passes put him ahead on the lead in that department with 10, two up on Etcheverry.

Red O'Quinn of the Alouettes remained the top pass receiver with 20 catches. Shatto moved into second place with 27, two up on Dublinski and Wells. Ross Coyle of Toronto still leads in interceptions with five.

Hamilton's Cam Fraser stretched his average as the league's top punter to 44.3 yards from 45.

Riders' Coach Undecided Over Quarter

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders' coach Clair Salsbury's tough, hard - hitting losing encounter with Hamilton Tiger-Cats "pretty good physical shape," coach Frank Clair reported today.

The most serious injury was suffered by Milt Graham, the impact tackle Saturday. Graham was a thorn in the side of the Tiger-Cats' offensive line. Graham has a couple of strained muscles in the neck but will play Saturday.

Hamilton won 23-14, mainly as a result of three fumbles—two on the Rough Riders' left-handed outside ends and a third that cost Ottawa a touchdown.

Clair said he is undecided about any changes in the lineup for Saturday's league-leading Hamilton Saturday, and will not know until about the middle of the week.

He said it is too early in the week to speculate on whether he will make a change at quarterback, dressing Babe Parilli, who has been in camp a week after being cut by Green Bay Packers, for Frank Tripucka.

"Tripucka got an NFL Saturday," Clair said.

"I don't even know whether there will be any change of any kind. The whole team played well enough for those fumbles that hurt us."

Emms Criticizes Pollock, Pros At Junior Meet

TORONTO (CP) — Sammy Pollock, chief of Montreal Canadiens' farm system, was the centre of a mild controversy Monday night at the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A council meeting although he wasn't there.

Barrie's Hap Emms accused Pollock of "stealing" a player who was on Boston Bruins' negotiation list and apparently declined for Barrie Flyers, farm team of the National Hockey League club.

He criticized professional clubs for bribing minor league with dollars to hold up reserves on their players' rights as pro teams received first call.

"If all the pro teams wanted to spend the money Maple Leafs or Canadiens could tie up every junior prospect in the province that way," said Emms.

Emms objected to Pollock, who operates teams in Quebec, sitting in on the OHA Junior A council meetings.

Pollock is listed as a director of Peterborough Petes, sponsored by Canadiens. Council suspended discussion on the matter until Pollock could attend a meeting to defend his position.

Night Club Owner Charged With Bribery

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harold Friedman, part owner of a downtown supper club, was indicted Monday on charges of trying to bribe Philadelphia Phillies pitcher Humberto Robinson to throw a ball game.

It took the grand jury only one minute to return a true bill on one count of bribery in an athletic contest.

The 29-year-old Robinson who once played with Toronto Maple Leafs of the International League, testified before the jury for 10 minutes about the $1,500 offer he said Friedman made him to lose a game with the Cincinnati Redlegs here last Tuesday.

He testified he rejected the offer and then reported it to the authorities. He won his game.

Friedman was arrested last week and held on $15,000 bail. He is also under $5,000 bail on vice charges.

District attorney Victor H. Blanc disclosed last week that Friedman, 38, by her own account, was introduced by Friedman to three "very prominent" ball players for purposes of prostitution. The players have not been named publicly.

Back Proposal To Build New Stadium

NEW YORK (AP)—Officials of the New York convention Bureau Monday backed the proposed construction of a $2,000-seat stadium at Flushing Meadows to accommodate an entry in the new continental major league.

The board of directors of the Convention and Visitors Bureau voted unanimously in favor of resolutions to support the building of the ball park and for holding the 1964 world's fair in New York. After hearing a report on the third league from William A. Shea, chairman of the mayor's baseball committee, the board of directors got in their resolution.

"A delay in constructing the new stadium may jeopardize the city's participation in the third major league."

The directors noted that "New York has experienced serious economic loss as a result of the departure of the Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants."

New York, Toronto, Denver, Houston and Minneapolis-St. Paul already are set as members.

Millers Square 'Little Series' With Havana

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The American Association's champion foul-ball hitter straightened out Monday and will play against the shaky Minneapolis Millers even with Havana in the junior world series of baseball.

The teams play the third game here tonight.

Catcher Ed Sadowski, who missed at least 30 homers by 10 feet or less this season, had a towering drive over the left field wall just inside the foul in th ninth inning for a 5-5 Miller victory.

"I thought I was going to miss that one, too," Sadowski said afterward. "Any more wind and it would have gone foul."

Sadowski's blow was the fourth Minneapolis homer in a topsy-turvy game which the Millers nearly blew with four errors. The long distance slashing saved them from a threatened swift elimination in the best-of-seven series now knotted at one game apiece.

BORLAND VS CRADDOCK

Lefty Tom Borland, who pitched the payoff game in Minneapolis in the American Association playoff finals against Fred Hutchinson's Seattle Rainiers, was the starter in tonight's game.

Sadowski's shot came off Luis Arroyo, the Cubans' veteran reliefer who was rushed in when Minneapolis bombed Miguel Cuellar in the eighth.

Sadowski, circling the bases after his winning drive, started the jubilowring crowd of 1,052 by sliding in to home.

"I didn't want to take any chances," he explained. "I lost a homer once before when I didn't touch home plate because I was congratulating me bumped me away."

Hawks Open Junior Camp

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League opened their junior camp here Monday with 30 candidates trying for seven positions on St. Catharines Teepees of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series.

With 11 holdovers from last year's league - leading team, coach Max Kaminsky will choose two defencemen, four forwards and a goalie to bring the Tee-Pees up to full strength.

Eight players are trying out for the goal-tending spot, vacated by Dennis DeJordy who moved up to Sault Ste. Marie of the newly - formed Eastern Professional Hockey League.

A third centre player is needed since Stan Mikita, leading scorer in the circuit last season, was signed Sunday by Chicago.

Hockey Meetings Are Planned For Tonight

While baseball is the foremost thought in most sport fans' minds at the moment with the world series just around the corner, those in charge of hockey in the district are busy arranging for the fast-approaching season. Two hockey meetings are planned for Belleville tonight.

The Central Ontario OHA Junior "B" groupings will meet at the Recreation Centre, Pinnacle Street, at 7.45 p.m. Four definite entries are Belleville, Trenton, Kingston and Peterborough.

Plans for this league will be finalized tonight and, it is likely a schedule will also be drafted at this meeting.

Meanwhile the Belleville Industrial League will hold its first meeting of the year, at the Doctor's Hotel at 8:15 p.m.

It is expected that this popular "weekend" hockey league will be bigger and better than ever this season and anyone wishing to enter a team asked to attend tonight's meeting.

Kansas City Looking for New Manager

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The seventh-place Kansas City Athletics are looking for a new manager. Harry Craft, whose one-year contract expired Sunday, has been dropped.

General manager Parke Carroll said Monday Craft, 44, manager of the Athletics since 1957, was "offered a responsible position in our player development program." Craft said he would think it over.

Carroll said a new manager wouldn't be named until Athletics president Arnold Johnson returns from Europe in mid-October.

Three names popped up in speculation — Leo Durocher, Bob Scheffing and Mickey Cooper.

Cooper, former catcher for St. Louis Cardinals, Cincinnati Redlegs and Giants, was given his release Sept. 18 after two years as manager of Indianapolis Indians of the American Association.

Both Athletics coach, has been a backers because he directed the club during the 11-game winning streak that carried it to third place in the American League in July. Craft had a virus condition at that time.

The Athletics collapsed when Craft returned, losing 22 of their last 39 games, but Carroll said the downfall was caused by injuries and the lack of bullpen strength.

Chisox Work Every Day, Ready for Series

HICAGO (AP) — Chicago White Sox worked out Monday in Comiskey Park before watching the opening first playoff game for the National League pennant between Milwaukee Braves and Los Angeles Dodgers.

"We'll have to work out every day," said manager Al Lopez of the American League champions. "We'll have to try to keep sharp. The delay fouls up all our plans."

Ace pitcher Early Wynn said: "All we want them to do over there in the other league is to decide who is the champion. We don't care who we play."

Canada's production of salt in 1958 amounted to 1,837,000 tons of which Ontario accounted for 1,625,000 tons.

Canadiens Play Bisons, Barons

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens, with two weekend exhibition - game victories to their credit, left Monday night for two more tune-ups prior to meeting the National Hockey League all-stars here next Saturday.

The NHL champions meet Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League in St. Thomas today and move to Buffalo for a Wednesday game against the AHL, Bisons.

Canadiens are making the trip without defencemen Jean - Guy Talbot, who suffered a shoulder separation in practice last Friday. The injury is painful but comparatively minor.

Coach Toe Blake said Talbot won't play in the Buffalo game and times 100 per cent fit. If Talbot is absent, Jean - Claude Tremblay, rookie up from the Hull-Ottawa team, will be used.

"We might have trouble keeping him off the squad the way he has been playing," said Blake. Meanwhile, Tremblay, rookie Bill Hicks and No. 2 goaltender Charlie Hodge figured their contracts Monday. The only player of the entire squad not in the fold now is Dickie Moore, NHL scoring champion the last two seasons.

Moore and managing director Frank Selke parted for the second time without reaching an agreement. Selke said he doesn't consider Moore a holdout and that "we're not far apart" on terms.

Turk Broda Marlboro Coach

TORONTO (CP)— Turk Broda, former National Hockey League all - star goaltender, will coach Toronto Marlboros this season, it was announced Monday night.

Broda, forced to rest midway through last season's Ontario Hockey Association Junior A schedule because of a nervous ailment, he says he is fit now. He coached Marlboros to Memorial Cup championships in 1955 and 1956. He was succeeded by Jay Thwaites and later Alex Davidson when he became ill.

Salad Made Players Sick Says Doctor

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — The game's over but the mystery lingers on.

What caused 12 University of Oklahoma football players to become ill last Thursday night before their game with Notre Dame?

Dr. W. G. Willard, team physician who was with the squad, said Monday night, he believed the violent sickness was caused by a salad the players ate at a Chicago nightclub.

The Sooners were ranked No. 2 among United States college teams before the Wildcats trounced them 45-13 Saturday.

Tests have been reported negative on the food at the nightclub.

All the players appeared in the game and coach Bud Wilkinson refused to blame the illnesses for the defeat.

Charlie Grimm New Manager Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — "I'm as happy as a kid," said 61-year-old Charlie Grimm, Monday as he succeeded Bob Scheffing as manager of Chicago Cubs.

The resignation of Scheffing, after three years as skipper, and appointment of Grimm was announced by club president Phil Wrigley. The Cubs shared fifth place in the National League this season for the second straight year.

Grimm returns to the Cubs' managerial role for the third time.

He was their manager from 1932-1938 and 1944-1945. He guided them to pennants in 1932, 1935 and 1945.

He also managed Boston Braves and Milwaukee Braves from 1941-1944, then returned to the Cubs as vice-president — a title he still will carry.

"Mr. Wrigley called me two days ago and asked if I would manage the team," said Grimm.

"I thought it over and gave him my answer last night. It's a one-year-to-a-year basis with no contract—the usual practice of the Cubs."

Leafs Defeat Soo by 11-1

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League rumped Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds 11-1 Monday night in an exhibition game before a crowd of 4,452.

It was the first exhibition game for the Thunderbirds, entries in the newly-formed Eastern Professional Hockey League.

Leafs blasted 38 shots at Soo goaltender Dennis DeJordy while Ed Chadwick and Cesare Maniago, who shared Toronto's netminding duties, only had to handle 19.

The NHL club scored three goals in the first period, six in the second and eased up in the third with two. Soo's lone tally was notched by centre Milan Marcetta in the first period, to tie the score 1-1.

Leafs' line of Frank Mahovlich, Dave Hartle and Gerry Ehman scored five goals. Leaf scorers: Mahovlich, three; Allan Stanley, two, and Bob Baun, Ted Hampson, Harris, Ehman, Bert Olmsteed and Ron Stewart.

Ronnie Howell Back in Tie for Scoring Leader

TORONTO (CP)—Ron Howell, 23-year-old speed boy with Hamilton Tiger-Cats, is having one of his greatest seasons since breaking into pro football from Hamilton high school ranks.

The 185-pound, five-foot-11 halfback-flanker is tie for the individual scoring leadership in the Big Four Football League by scoring a touchdown as Hamilton defeated Ottawa Rough Riders 23-14 Saturday. It was his fourth touchdown in the Ticats' last two games and his eighth of the season. Supporting him on Ottawa's Dave Thelen with 48 points each.

Howell, who is utilized as a pass catcher and to run back kicks because of his great speed, now has scored as many touchdowns and points as he did last season when he finished in a tie for sixth place in the scoring race.

Thelen, a line-smashing halfback from the University of Miami in Oxford, Ohio, and last week's scoring leader, was held scoreless Saturday after a two-game outburst in which he netted seven touchdowns.

AHEAD OF COOKIE

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show Howell and Thelen 10 points in front of halfback Cookie Gilchrist of Toronto Argonauts, who accumulated a touchdown and three converts Saturday when Argos upset Montreal Alouettes 39-9 and ran his point-total to 38. He moved up into the fifth in third place and now has two touchdowns, eight converts and six field goals.

Bob Simpson of Ottawa, who also failed to collect a point Saturday, fell from third place to fourth with his 36 points and Dave Mann of Hamilton moved into the fifth spot by kicking two converts for a total of 32 points.

Hamilton's Gerry McDougall, fourth from last week, was also held scoreless and dropped into a tie with teammate Paul Dekker and Veryl Switzer of Montreal for sixth place, each with 30 points on five touchdowns. Dekker and Switzer each scored another touchdown Saturday.

LEADERS TIED

Ed Beattie of London Lords counted two touchdowns in the Lords' 40-12 win over Detroit Raiders Saturday to tie Terry Meyer of Richer-Waterloo Dutchmen for the scoring lead in the Ontario Rugby Football Union. Meyer, alone in first place last week, didn't get a point as the Dutchmen beat Sarnia Golden Bears 24-16 and now both he and Beattie have 12 touchdowns for 48 points. Beattie last week was in fourth place.

Mike Norcia of Kitchener-Waterloo is in third place with 44 points and Joe Smith, behind him comes Ernie White of Sarnia.

Richards was one of the world's top players in the William (Bill) Tilden era. He and the great Tilden played 1,502 matches together, Richards won 702 of them.

He was tagged the boy wonder when at the age of 16 he teamed with Tilden to win the United States doubles title in 1918. He and Tilden won it again in 1921 and 1922 and he paired with R. N. Williams to win it in 1925 and 1926. He was vice-president of the sports division of the Dunlop Tire and Rubber Company.

Many Factors Cause Films To Undergo Moral Revolution

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Where were the censors when that picture got passed?"

You hear that question more and more these days from bewildered moviegoers, accustomed to decades of almost zimoo-pure entertainment on the screen.

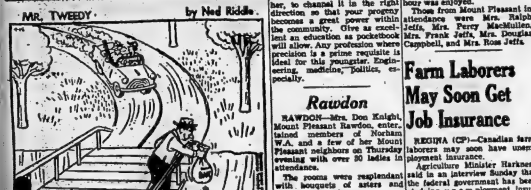
The watchdogs of movie morality are still on the job. But films are undergoing a moral revolution due to these factors:

1. Loss of the movies' habit. Millions used to go to the movies regularly with or without reason. Now they are attracted by what is talked about. So producers are trying to provide what is new and often sensational.

2. Source of film material. Most film stories now come from books and plays. You need only to consult recent best-sellers—by Irving Wallace, Grace Metalious, Chatterley's Lover, Peyton Place —to see the erotic nature of the popular literature. And Broadway's top playwright, Tennessee Williams, led the shock theatre into new sexual byways.

3. Foreign competition. Because the major studios are not making enough movies, theatres must rely also on foreign and cheaper American products. An unclad Brigitte Bardot showed foreign producers the surest way to the dollar. Overseas films need not meet production code requirements. The same is true of quickbuck Hollywood producers who make and release teen-age and horror films, most of them sleazy.

Churchmen have been alarmed at this revolution in film morality. Roman Catholics have long been a potent force in affecting moral content in movies.



Francis Cardinal Spellman urged in a New York speech last month that "glorious and books which corrupt and destroy the moral fibre and ideals of youth . . . in filmland" we are to discharge our sacred duties to our children."

But what alarms Hollywood most is that Protestants, too, are now.

Recently George Heinrich, director of a film and broadcasting commission of the National Council of Churches, issued a blast against movies "pictures

Rawdon

RAWDON—Mrs. Don Knight, Mount Pleasant Rawdon, entertained members of Norham W.A. and a few of her Mount Pleasant neighbors on Thursday evening with over 30 ladies in attendance.

The rooms were resplendant with bouquets of asters and other autumn blooms.

This was the first visit to Mrs. Knight's home by many of her former associates in the Warkworth-Norham area.

The president, Mrs. Philip Edwards, opened the meeting and conducted the business. The roll call was based on the theme of "courage." A good program of readings, hymns and devotional, topped off with a "panty smelling contest," was enjoyed.

Highlight of the evening was an interesting description of a holiday trip, given by Mrs. Oscar Laver. She and her husband recently enjoyed a holiday in the Peace River district and other points along the way. They travelled westward by Continental Railway and by airplane.

Mrs. Laver gave such a vivid description of her holiday, many of her listeners were there in imagination.

Appreciation was extended the hostess for her hospitality in entertaining her friends from Northam.

At the close of the meeting, the hostess and her assistants served refreshments and a social hour was enjoyed.

Those from Mount Pleasant in attendance were Mrs. Ralph Jeffs, Mrs. Percy MacMillan, Mrs. Frank Jeffs, Mrs. Douglas Campbell, and Mrs. Rose Jeffs.

Farm Laborers May Soon Get Job Insurance

REGINA (CP)—Canadian farm laborers may soon have unemployment insurance.

Agriculture Minister Harkness said in an interview Sunday that the federal government has been studying unemployment insurance for farm laborers.

"We hope to put the scheme into action soon," he said.

Mr. Harkness, visiting here, said he was not in a position to describe the plan or to say when it might become effective.

Polio Toll Rises With 5 Deaths Since Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The polio toll continued to rise in Eastern Canada with the deaths of three children and two adults since Saturday. The fatalities were in Montreal, Quebec City, Montreal and Ottawa.

The deaths of two children, aged 7 and 11, in Quebec City and the area's only fatality so far this year, a total of 113 cases of polio have been reported, but of them have been non-paralytic.

Douglas Bilmer, seven months old, died Saturday in Ottawa, two days after his two year old brother, Brian, died from the disease. His mother, Mrs. John Duncan Bilmer from east of Cornwall is a sister. Darlene, 3, were also admitted to hospital. Mrs. Bilmer is now pregnant.

Dr. Morris Resnick, head of Ottawa Civic Hospital's communicable diseases section, said that of the 11 other Bilmer children, three have been received only one polio inoculation. The other older children attended school had received all three inoculations.

CORNWALL HARD HIT

The total of polio cases treated at Ottawa so far this season now stands at 48, of whom 32 were from the Cornwall area.

At London Ont., Mrs. Joan Tuley, 35, who had not been inoculated, became Western Ontario's sixth polio fatality.

There are also confirmed cases in the London isolation ward, none considered serious.

The Montreal death toll rose to 27 when another person died from polio during the night. Eighteen persons were admitted to hospital since Friday, raising the total to 870 cases since the epidemic began nine weeks ago.

Russian Debt May Be Repaid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question of Russian repayment of its lend-lease debt from the First and World War will be reopened as a result of the Eisenhower-Khrushchev meetings.

Andrew H. Berding, assistant secretary of state for public affairs, told reporters at the start of the Camp David meetings Sunday that negotiations looking to a possible settlement of the obligation would be undertaken after a time and plans for it be settled by diplomatic discussion.

At the end of the war, Russia's lend-lease debt stood at $2,000,000,000. The United States wrote the sum down by $800,000,000 several years ago while negotiating for a settlement.

The Russians offered only $300,000,000, however, and the negotiations collapsed.

standing reductions in mortality in the last 30 years but the attack on death had been spearheaded by reductions in infant and maternal mortality and death from infectious diseases.

Dr. Sellers said Ontario's population had shown substantial increases in the numbers of older people. In 1901 there were 130,000 persons aged 65 and over. By 1956 the total now is nearly 500,000 and increases at the rate of 10,000 a year.

SERIOUS PROBLEMS

Serious problems were created in the province's hospital facilities because of lengthening life span, he said. About 25 per cent of the case load of general hospitals involves persons 65 and over.

Prevalance and duration of chronic diseases in the older age groups is five or six times what it is at younger ages and "our few hospitals for chronic diseases are filled to overflowing."

"The chronic diseases — the diseases of constitution, which are the middle age and elderly people—are our major health problem today," Dr. Sellers said.

Dr. E. W. McHenry, professor of nutrition at the University of Toronto's school of dentistry told the meeting "dietary fads should be ignored" as people with-out good reason."

He criticized a physician who advised diabetic patients against from dining room tables in a home for the aged near Toronto.

"I think the physician's enthusiasm for a dietary notion is helpful to make life tolerable for a number of elderly people," he said. "These elderly folk are entitled to comfort and contentment."

Mom Whyte Fails To Raise Money For New Mission

BOWMANVILLE (CP) — Mrs. Beatrice Whyte has not been able to raise the $10,000 for a down payment on the site she wants to build a new children's mission.

Her husband Bert, a Bowmanville worker, said the payment deadline ended Monday, but Mrs. Whyte said Monday Mrs. Whyte was given a time extension.

"We are letting it ride for a little while," Bert said. "We are coasting along. We hope to raise the money."

He said his wife was in Portland, Ore., where she spoke to a night at the Wings of Healing Church. During the last few months she has been busy establishing Whytehaven mission between $100 and $500 a month, Mr. Whyte said.

Mrs. Whyte has been touring western provinces on a fund-raising campaign. She wants to build a $300,000 children's village in Whytehaven 10 miles east of Bowmanville.

Mr. Whyte said practically all donations to Whytehaven have stopped since provincial health officials ordered immunization of children from Whytehaven early two months ago because of poor facilities.

Appeal Court Acquits Three Of Entering

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Court of Appeal Monday acquitted three Toronto youths who had pleaded guilty last May to breaking into a clothing store at nearby Richmond Hill.

William Gary Gibson, 19, and Reginald George Hicks, 17, were sentenced by Magistrate Hall S. Hollinrake to six months definite and six months indefinite, and Ronald Stirk was sent to a training school.

An investigation was ordered into their conviction by Attorney-General Roberts of Ontario when it was learned in a Newmarket court that one of the store owners grew up with the youths were going to break into the store.

Bernard Schreiber, 36, subsequently pleaded guilty to false pretences after a similar charge claim and was fined $500 or two months.

French-Laotian Relations Worsen Say Officials

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—U.S. officials here are gravely concerned over a crisis developing in French-Laotian relations.

One of their biggest worries is that French - Laotian bickering may split the Western alliance in Southeast Asia and damage Western prestige throughout Asia.

French-Laotian relations have been worsening steadily since the start of the pro-Communist rebellion in Laos more than two months ago.

Laotian officials privately have been expressing increasing irritation with the behavior of French officials. The French, they say, have failed to lend moral and material support to the Laotian government in its struggle against the rebels.

FRENCH FOLD ARMS

"The French are on strike," one high official said. "They are not helping us with anything. They are supposed to be advising us but when we ask for advice they say they are not competent to give it."

For the record, Premier Phoui Sananikone has stoutly maintained that French-Laotian relations always have been most cordial.

But in a recent interview he acknowledged that "some French circles in Vientiane do not share our point of view on our current problems." He accused the French press of misreporting the Laotian situation "in a somewhat tendentious manner."

CHARGE EXAGGERATION

French officials say the war in Laos and against Communist-led North Viet Nam intervention have been grossly exaggerated.

The U.S. view is that there is ample circumstantial evidence to prove Communist aggression.

Informed Laotians maintain that the French, who lost Indochina in 1954, are afraid the United States will replace them here.

"That's the last thing we want," one American said. "Just imagine how it would look to the rest of the world. It would give the Communists a barrel full of propaganda ammunition."

HEADS GROWING UNIVERSITY — Davidson Dunton, 47-year-old former chairman of the CBC board of governors, has been president of Carleton University for little more than one year. Mr. Dunton, seen here in front of the University's new science building, held his CBC post for 13 years before resigning in a surprise move last year. He heads a growing university which bursts its borders this summer and moved to a new 130-acre campus in southwest Ottawa. Born in Montreal he has a background which includes newspaper and magazine work (CP Photo).

Carleton College President Keen Student of New Job; Great Teamwork Displayed

By CAROLYN WILLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—If you see him in college halls, he might be taken for a senior student. Elsewhere he looks like a business executive.

Brown - haired and handsome, 47-year-old Davidson Dunton is both. He has been president of Carleton University at Ottawa for little more than a year.

He is a keen student of his new job and a down-to-earth administrator, working in a modern concrete and glass building on a new and growing campus.

Chairman of the CBC board of governors for nearly 13 years, Arnold Davidson Dunton last year resigned from the corporation and in a surprise move became Carleton's fourth president.

BUSY OFFICE

"But days at the office are not so much different than they were before," Mr. Dunton said in an interview.

"This is a lively place and a busy office. There are lots of problems . . . and changes."

Senior members of Carleton's academic staff speak of a sense of teamwork between the president — administrator and professors. They say Mr. Dunton is a "good listener" as well as a good organizer.

The new president came to Carleton at a challenging time. The university, founded 17 years ago as a night school conducted by borrowed classrooms and church basements, soon grew into a full-fledged university and also outgrew its bulging, converted buildings in Ottawa's Glebe residential area.

This summer Carleton moved to a new 130-acre campus in southwest Ottawa where classes are now being held in three buildings costing $6,000,000. Science, arts, library - administration and a sports field-house make up the campus buildings.

"Everything is planned to grow," said President Dunton. The second, $6,000,000 group of buildings may be built by 1966, if Carleton can find the funds.

Mr. Dunton says Carleton is not an institution with a growing fear of ever being a "good, middle-sized university."

"We would rather maintain the quality of higher education and do less" than expand in all directions, he says. We don't want to rush into specialties."

This year Carleton offers its first PHD degrees, in biology, geology, mathematics and physics. Also offered for the first time is a master's degree in Canadian Studies, a degree course which has grown out of a lecture program. It is unusual in that it offers a choice of subjects such as English, French, history, social sciences and journalism which may be combined toward the degree.

Also developing is an engineering course offering grounding in humanities as well as professional subjects, set up after consultation with industrial leaders seeking "thinking engineers" flexible enough to fit into changing jobs. The complete four-year course will be offered next year.

PROCEEDS CAUTIOUSLY

Mr. Dunton, with an international education and an experienced background that has included newspaper reporting and magazine editing, has stepped quietly and cautiously into academic circles.

Nevertheless, he has spelled out the hard facts about higher education in no uncertain terms.

"We pay verbal respect to higher education but we don't seem to want to pay the relatively small amount of money it needs," he told the Vancouver Men's Canadian Club.

At Carleton, with some 70 full-time teachers and nearly 80 part-time lecturers, he says faculty salaries are in the top - five bracket among Canadian universities.

"But I don't think professors in general are paid enough."

STUDENTS INCREASE

Carleton may register some 900 full-time students this fall compared to 736 last term. Although he never took a university degree, Mr. Dunton studied English literature and history at Grenoble University, France, went to Cambridge and Munich for studies in economics and also studied at McGill in his native Montreal.

He stresses the importance of on-campus residences — Carleton hasn't any yet — where students can mingle and live together in a university community.

Described as a man who can work intensely on the job and completely relax off it, he is a tennis player and keen skier, sharing skiing with his lawyer-wife and two young daughters.

YACHTSMAN'S BILL

HULL, Eng. (CP)—A yachtsman had to pay £80 for a tow from a lifeboat when his yacht broke down in the Humber. The Royal National Lifeboat Association said it charged £25 expenses for the 10-hour job, with £55 going to the crew which is not normally required to perform towing operations.

Brisker Pace In Britain's Campaign Likely

By ED SIMON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — A brisker pace was promised today as British election campaign passed the half-way mark.

With 19 days to go before polling day, there were indications of a change of policy at Conservative party headquarters. The Tories had remained in the early stages to play it cool in hopes that a contented and unexcited electorate would return Prime Minister Macmillan to power.

A sign of the change was an unprecedented Sunday afternoon press conference at Conservative party headquarters. Conservative party normally keep Sundays free of politics, even during a campaign.

At the conference, party Chairman Lord Hailsham, who had said at the opening of the campaign that he deplores mud-slinging, embarked on what sounded suspiciously like a slinging match with his opposite number, Morgan Phillips, the Labor Party secretary.

DEPUTY STARTS IT

Actually, the battle was joined by Hailsham's deputy, Lord Poole, who said Phillips' "has been told by his own supporters he is not fit to be in charge."

"I think the old boy has had a rough deal," Hailsham added. "I think he's been very shabbily treated."

The basis of their sympathy was an article in an unofficial Labor publication several weeks ago when it asserted that Phillips was about to step down from his post to contest a parliamentary seat. The article suggested some reforms in the party organization.

In his office—just across the road from Conservative headquarters — Phillips didn't sound particularly pleased at the news of his rivals' sympathy. He protested against "a gross personal attack."

"I can't recall needing a telephone repair in 52 years!"

SAYS DR. NEIL SMITH, D.D.S., OF CHATHAM, ONT.

Dr. Smith, a graduate in dental surgery of the University of Toronto, was Commanding Officer of the Chatham Regiment in World War 1 and has represented Canada in shooting competitions at Bisley.

"Since 1906, I've had different phones as they developed better and better ones — and not once do I remember calling a repairman!"

Many other long-time users have to think hard to remember when they last had to have their telephone fixed. In this modern "Age of the Repairman", such dependability means a great deal.

Of course, like any mechanical device, your telephone or the equipment that makes it work may require repairing some day. But you can be sure it will be done quickly and efficiently — and you'll have no repair bill to pay.

When you stop to consider the pleasure and convenience you enjoy with never an extra repair expense, you may well agree that the value you get for your telephone dollar is truly unique.

Mr. K. In Peking Repeats His Plea To End Cold War

Talks With Eisenhower Valuable He Declares

TOKYO (AP) — Russian Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev bounced into Peking today fresh from his talks with President Eisenhower and immediately spoke of the need for ending the cold war.

"We must do everything in order to ease the situation and to create conditions for friendliness between all nations," he told Communist leaders gathered in the Chinese capital for the Peking regime's 10th anniversary celebrations.

"We must make all efforts to create conditions for the establishment of world peace," Khrushchev added.

Delivered against the background of Peking's crushing of the Tibet rebellion, his speech came with India and the Red revolt in Laos, the plainside talk sounded like a pointed suggestion to Red China to keep the peace at home.

Khrushchev's big TU-114 turboprop airliner landed in Peking less than 48 hours after his return to Moscow from Washington. He and the two had literally "transferred from airplane to airplane."

Peking radio said the Soviet premier got a rousing welcome.

Khrushchev described his visit to the United States and his talks with Eisenhower as valuable.

"In these talks," he said, "we frankly discussed big problems and tried to create an atmosphere for co-operation and peaceful coexistence, thereby contributing to consolidation of world peace."

The Soviet leader praised his Chinese allies' industrial and revolutionary progress.

Khrushchev's arrival brought the final touch of prestige to festivities which have been going on for a week.

Khrushchev and Chinese leaders will join Thursday in secret conversations centering around Khrushchev's U.S. visit. Originally cool to the trip, the Chinese have shown much enthusiasm since its conclusion.

Renewed Talks To End Steel Strike Set Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Renewed talks in the steel strike were set up this afternoon at 2 p.m. EDT after President Eisenhower, in personal conferences with both sides, prodded them to get to work on a settlement.

Eisenhower met separately first with industry leaders and then with representatives of the striking steel workers union.

David J. McDonald, union president, then called for renewed negotiations this afternoon.

Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel Corporation chairman, had said at the close of the management session with Eisenhower that the industry was willing to resume talks at any time.

A few minutes after the union delegation left the executive offices, McDonald telephoned. While House that the talks had been arranged.

Just before that word came out Eisenhower issued a statement saying that in view of the mounting impact of the strike on the economy and the consequent unemployment "I sincerely hope that an agreement can be initiated between my return to Washington next week." The strike is in its 78th day.

Eisenhower was due to leave later today for a rest at Palm Springs, Calif. He is due back Oct. 8, a week from Thursday.

The president's statement said the purpose of his talks today was to help "to bring about a voluntary settlement of the steel strike which will be fair and just to all parties involved, including the public."

Eisenhower was reported on good authority to have used blunt, powerful language both in the management and union delegations.

As a result of what amounted to a knocking of heads together, a group of government authorities were hopeful of some concrete effects.

STILL STAND FIRM

But so far as public statements were concerned, the principals' opponents showed no signs of shifting position or of confidently expecting quick results.

Asked whether he sees any hope of an agreement soon, McDonald said:

"I wish I could say I were optimistic."

Blough's answer to the same question was:

"I wish I knew the answer to that."

Blough said the industry still stands on its position that the union's demands would result in a new inflationary spiral.

Similarly, McDonald said in relation to industry demands for work rule changes, "We won't give up hard-earned gains of the past 20 years."

McDonald said, however, both sides could reach an agreement in an hour if they really put their heads to it—"We need it all this afternoon."

Asked whether he had any reason to believe the industry would make a new offer, McDonald said "I haven't any idea."

PLANE EXPLODES HIGH OVER TEXAS 34 PERSONS DIE

Looked Like Comet Flashing Across Sky

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A big Houston - to - New York airliner blew up in the air, showered across the sky like a comet and crashed late Tuesday night. Thirty - four persons died as it struck on a ranch near Texas farm.

The ship was a 75 - passenger Braniff Airways turboprop Electra. It carried 37 passengers and crew members.

State police said none survived.

Persons reaching the scene reported the shattered craft did not burn.

HIT OPEN GROUND

The airliner struck on the R. E. White farm, about 70 miles southeast of Waco.

"It looked like it exploded as it came over our house, 'way up in the sky," related Mrs. Billy Webb, 30. She and her husband watched from their home five miles north of where the wreckage hit.

"The whole sky lit up. It kept on going, and it looked like a falling star.

A member of the traffic control tower staff at Houston's International Airport said the airliner departed 29 minutes behind schedule at 9:09 p.m. CST (12:44 a.m. EDT). It was due to land in Dallas and Washington en route to New York.

Churchill Warns of Dangers Of Hasty Disarmament Pacts

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill says the signs of a thaw in the cold war must not mislead the West into hasty disarmament agreements with Russia.

The 84 - year - old statesman, addressing an election rally at nearby Woodford Tuesday night, urged caution despite indications that the long period of suspicion and strife may be ending.

Although his voice was shaky at the start, Churchill soon acted like the campaigner of old as he read a 2,200-word speech without notes. He asked his constituents to return him to the House of Commons—where he has sat continuously since 1924 — and to back him in a sweeping Conservative party victory in the general election Oct. 8.

He did play on his familiar stuck-out chin and cherubic smile and drew a standing ovation from the 800 in the hall and 2,000 listening outside.

Churchill said Soviet Premier Khrushchev's total disarmament proposal to the United Nations represented a step in the right direction.

He warned, however, that "we must move all resist any temptation to rush into agreements which do not provide a workable system of inspection and control."

Macmillan, meanwhile, and Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskell were dividing the political audience in separate meetings in Glasgow. Each packed a hall with more than 2,000 adherents.

Macmillan said East and West have left the era of ultimatum and entered a period of negotiation, paving the way for a summit meeting.

Gaitskell charged that despite Conservative reports of prosperity, between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 persons are suffering from poverty or near poverty on old age pensions of $7 a week.

The Algerian issue "Role the spotlight briefly from another hot controversy—the request by France, Britain and the communist China's suppression of Tibet be debated by the assembly.

Ottawa Papers Say Parts Vanish From Barns in Auto Theft Probe

OTTAWA (CP)—Police investigation of a suspected interprovincial car theft ring has been complicated by the reported disappearance of thousands of dollars worth of equipment and auto parts from two barns where police found them earlier this week.

Chief Inspector John Reavley of the provincial police said at Cornwall Tuesday night that he knew nothing of the disappearance reported Tuesday in two Ottawa newspapers, The Citizen and The Journal.

The barns, at Ashton and Carleton Place, west of here, were also kept under police guard following the discovery of two big caches of auto parts and equipment for dismantling and assembling cars.

Inspector Reavley said that the only equipment he knew as having been removed from the barns had been taken as part of police evidence.

He said I know is that several items from the raid that we knew were taken were seized. But we can't confiscate equipment that has been purchased legally . . . even if it has been used in an illegal operation."

In Montreal, where city police are seeking to link sections of auto cars found in Ottawa with recent car thefts, detectives said they could find no trace of cars disappeared from the barns were identifiable as stolen cars, or motors.

Sgt.-Det. Eddie Lambton of the Montreal force said it is possible the cars found in the barns may have been stolen in Montreal. He estimated that between 15 and 20 cars were involved.

Two men have been arrested so far and others are being sought on warrants in connection with the auto theft.

Ross Manning of Ottawa was arrested Tuesday and charged with possession of stolen goods. He was released on bail posted on the charge, and then was arrested by Montreal detectives on a car theft charge and taken to Montreal.

P. M. Says K's Proposal Lacks Inspection Plan

SASKATOON (CP) — Canada has proposed to the Soviet Union an exchange of visits by Arctic experts and an exchange of information on the northern regions, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Tuesday night.

He expected a "positive response" to the proposal, since Soviet Premier Khrushchev had said during his recent Washington visit that he favors international co-operation in the field of northern development.

Addressing a banquet in connection with the 50th anniversary of his alma mater, the University of Saskatchewan, the prime minister also commented on Khrushchev's latest disarmament proposals.

"These are signs of progress on disarmament," he said. The proposals still lacked the necessary willingness to accept appropriate inspection and verification, but Khrushchev had indicated his government might be willing to accept some form of inspection.

OPEN TO INSPECTION

Mr. Diefenbaker also reiterated Canada's willingness to open its territory for inspection and proposed a reciprocating exchange of visits between this country and Russia.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the Russian premier's disarmament plan was either "a propaganda hoax" or evidence that world tension can be eased.

Khrushchev had advocated general disarmament but "disarmament without inspection would be a fateful and tragic course for the free nations."

MAY HELP JAPAN

In an interview, the prime minister said the federal cabinet would consider possible aid to Japan after his return to Ottawa today. Japan was hit hard by typhoon Vera.

SAY HURRICANE NOT LIKELY TO REACH CANADA

Cold Front Will Turn Storm Northeast

TORONTO (CP) — Rain began falling across Southern Ontario late this morning—the forebearer of hurricane Gracie—and was expected to continue through the night.

Any possible threat to the southern part of the province diminished, however, as the Dominion public weather office reported Gracie is no longer a hurricane.

Rainfall amounts generally will be one to two inches with the possibility of four-inch accumulations in some spots, said the weather office in a 10 a.m. advisory.

The rain will be accompanied by increasingly northerly winds of from 20 to 30 miles an hour.

Gracie is now centred over North Carolina and is continuing its move north. The weather office said that tonight it will gradually veer Northeastward.

COLD FRONT CAUSE

A low-pressure cold front from the west, now settled just south of Buffalo, is the cause of the heavy rainfall.

Ontario prepared itself Tuesday in case the hurricane should change its forecast bounds and release fury across the province. It did hurricane Hazel five years ago.

Hazel swept in from the New England coast on Oct. 16, 1954, and left more than 80 dead and damage estimated at $24,647,580. Her main path of destruction led through Toronto's western suburbs where heavy rains flooded the 9-mile channel of the Humber River.

Gracie, newly discovered gathering force over the Atlantic, crashed her peak winds of 140 m.p.h. ashore near Charleston, S.C., Tuesday night, then disintegrated into a squall line after wallowing inland for 120 miles.

Her initial path was similar to Hazel's, but Canadian weather office spokesmen said there was one big difference.

COLD FRONT POTENT

A cold front lying far to the south, turned Hazel northwest in 1954, giving her a funnel right into Ontario.

Gracie will also meet a cold front, but this one will be farther north and will, with the help of the Appalachian Mountains of northern New York state, turn Nuclear Bomb Blast Called Off by Govt.

OTTAWA (CP)—Plans to blast oil out of Alberta's Athabasca oil sands this winter with a nuclear bomb have been called off, it was learned today.

The decision is a warning of the cold war following Russian Premier Khrushchev's visit to the States visit. Resumption of nuclear tests, even for peaceful purposes, now is politically inadvisable at least for some time.

Minister of Mines Sinclair in an interview today said: "I don't think there is a possibility of blasting take place in the near future."

Asked whether relaxation of international tension is the reason, he said: "That is my impression."

He would not elaborate further.

$40,000 Damage In Church Fire At Waterloo

WATERLOO (CP) — Fire threatening to destroy historic St. Agatha Roman Catholic Church was brought under control after 1½ hours by firemen from four departments early today.

Cause of the fire, which broke out in the sanctity before midnight, was still undetermined. Damage estimates ranged between $30,000 and $40,000.

The 60-year-old brick building in the community of St. Agatha is 10 miles west of here. It is the oldest Catholic church in Waterloo County.

Firemen from Kitchener, Waterloo, Baden and Wellesley fought the fire.

The outside of the building suffered little damage.

Most of the 325 children from St. Agatha Orphanage, near the church, were rescued by nuns and led from the building in their night clothes.

RETURN COMPOUND

PEKING (Reuters) — British Monday formally handed over to Chinese Communist authorities the 15-acre walled compound in which housed its diplomatic mission to Peking during 90 years of turbulent Chinese history. The compound became the British Embassy in 1860 and was under siege during the Boxer rising in 1900.

Sten Gun and Stolen Postal Orders And Stamps Worth $80,000 Seized

TORONTO (CP) — Two men were arrested and guns, ammunition, postal money orders and stamps were seized Tuesday night as police carried out two raids—one here and the other at Fort Erie.

The postal notes and stamps—valued at about $80,000—were believed stolen from a Chippawa sub-post office earlier this week. Police said Marcel Tinnin, 34, Toronto, was charged with theft and possession of stolen property.

Four Toronto detectives went to a house near Niagara Falls and seized an army Sten gun, 500 rounds of ammunition, five gas rifle, a Sten gun loader and a revolving automatic pistol. The Stens and ammunition were believed stolen from Tinnins.

Charged with illegal possession of firearms was Eusebe Aucoin, 36. He was held by Stamford police.

Police said the raids were launched after a man attempted to sell some of the stolen money orders and watched a downtown Toronto house. A man came out, was followed to Fort Erie and arrested. The Stamford raid followed.

Six Persons Die Ere Winds Abate, Rains Dangerous

Storm Is Moving Slowly Across North Carolina

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Gracie, her hurricane winds diminished but her torrential rains still dangerous, moved slowly across North Carolina today. She left behind her six deaths and unbounded property damage expected to run in the millions of dollars.

At 6 a.m. EDT the weather bureau placed the centre of the storm a few miles west of Charlotte, N.C., moving northward toward Virginia at about 12 miles an hour.

Gracie's heavy rain was expected to cause flooding in western North Carolina, central and western Virginia, the eastern portion of West Virginia, western Maryland and central and eastern Pennsylvania.

The storm now packs winds of about 60 miles an hour with gusts to about 90 miles in some squalls.

Gracie ground ashore near here Tuesday morning with 140-mile-an-hour peak winds, torrents of rain and high tides.

She brought rain, raging winds and high water all along the Atlantic Seaboard, from the Myrtle Beach, and swept inland to slash lowland communities along a path 100 miles wide.

MOST PLAYED SAFE

Those dead in South Carolina in traffic accidents attributable to the storm. But most coastal residents in Gracie's path needed no early evacuation warning, and most had stayed holed down the day before.

The eye was electrocuted in North Carolina when he stepped on a live high-tension wire knocked down by Gracie's winds.

Five Students, Two Teachers Die in Collision

COOPER, Tex. (AP) — A bus filled with school children and teachers en route to a high school football game crashed head-on Tuesday night with a tank truck. The crash killed, seven persons, five students and two teachers—and injured 23 others, including 22 children.

The bus from Mount Vernon, Tex., and the truck collided at a highway intersection in the eastern edge of this East Texas town.

There was no fire. The injured children to the highway, demolished the bus and the truck driver.

"The bus made a signal to turn left and then for some reason it turned right into his cab, Billy Max, 12; Mrs. Melba Meeks, a teacher; Kenneth Hightower, 12, and Rex Weatherford, 14. Two other students, Zach Taylor and Audrey Sue Turner, died in a hospital from their injuries Tuesday night.

Seaway Stamps Bought at $1,000 Each Sold Again

WINNIPEG (CP) — A stamp dealer who paid $16,000 for 16 misprinted Canadian seaway stamps said Tuesday he has resold them to American collectors with a "normal markup" on the price.

Kasimir Bileski estimated in an interview that the value of the stamps would increase at least 100 per cent in the next five or 10 years.

The stamps were the first misprints in the history of the Canadian postal system. The blue design in the centre of the stamps was inverted in relation to the rest of the printing at the top and bottom.

The mistake was first discovered by Mrs. Muriel Mason, a secretary in a Winnipeg office, who received $1,500 for the stamps she held. Other payments ranging down to $3,500 went to office boy Ernest Slutchuk, 18, who bought the misprinted stamps at the 5 cent level, and Russell Swartz, office manager who joined a syndicate formed to handle the stamps.

The other member of the syndicate was involved in the sale.

REFUSE TO SELL

Three members of the syndicate declined to sell at the price of $1,000 a stamp offered by Mr. Bileski, said syndicate spokesman C. C. Kellett. These three, brother Mr. Kellett, still hold 11 misprinted stamps.

Besides the 27 held by the Winnipeg syndicate, he said, 25 were found in Picton, Ont., and six in Ottawa. All of those discovered in Eastern Canada had been used.

STRIKES INCREASE

OTTAWA (CP) — Industrial disputes caused 47 work stoppages in Canada during August that involved 69,000 man-days, the labor department reported Monday. This compared with 42 work stoppages costing 80,300 man-days. About 82 per cent of the August time lost was caused by British Columbia strikes.

Hush-Sohle was president of the league last winter and was reelected by popular vote last night. Bill Reed was elected to the position of secretary-treasurer, will. President Hush-Sohle was also authorized to appoint five executive members at the next meeting.

Four possible entries were represented last night, but the teams are not yet named. There is a possibility that the league will expand if more ice time can be obtained.

Crow Takes Off With Car Keys At Point Anne

You can't trust anyone these days. William Isby of Point Anne was sitting on his front steps awaiting his wife. They were to go to Belleville and Mr. Isby was ready with car keys in hand. At this point in an otherwise commonplace event a crow entered the picture, flying up to position on Mr. Isby's shoulder. The bird proceeded to remove the car keys from the hand. The crow took off, after removing the keys from Mr. Isby's grasp.

The result? Mr. Isby, his wife, and their automobile were all left waiting, proving, perhaps, that the shortest way to Belleville was not by the crow flies. After a new switch was installed the Isby vehicle was again operational.

Works Centre For Phone Co. Will Be Built

Construction of a new Bell Telephone Works Centre is to be built on Joseph Street and will commence shortly, I was stated today by Mr. J. Maxwell, chairman of the Belleville Industrial Commission.

The new building is to contain 17,500 square feet of floor space and will measure 50 feet by 100, will be used to house company records and other equipment as well as offices. Capacity of the building will be about 60 and will be staffed with girls providing for doubling the capacity in five years if necessary.

Contractor for the new building is the firm of Bird Construction Company Ltd. of Montreal and Ottawa. The contract for erection was handled by F. Pidwell.

It is understood the new building will not materially replace the one now used by Bell Telephone on Dundas Street, East.

City Owed Bank $930,000 At End of 1958 Auditor Tells Council at Inquiry

The city of Belleville owed the Bank of Montreal $930,000 in capital and revenue accounts at the end of 1958, the judicial inquiry into the city's finances was told Tuesday afternoon.

The witness was John D. Lewis, city auditor, who in his financial statements for the years 1956 and 1957 had warned council the city's borrowing powers were provided for in the budget they might be held personally responsible for overspending.

The enquiry being held before Judge Arthur Wilmot, Q.C., Colborne, covers all aspects of city operations, including the many boards and commissions and the operations of the Belleville Memorial Rotary Association rink up a deficit of $111,000 in three years operation.

Total debt of the city as of May, 1958 is listed as approximately $3,000,000.

The city auditor was on the stand all day Tuesday, the inquiry into the enquiry and read into the record, excerpts from annual reports for the years 1956 and 1957.

He said the $930,000 overdraft was made up of $260,000 capital and $670,000 revenue accounts.

Mr. Lewis said the $930,000 overdraft was mainly overdrawn at 31,958 but was later reduced to $930,000.

BANKING TECHNICALITIES

That, I was told by Counsel, Clifford Chisholm, Q.C., was a banking technicality. Mr. Lewis explained that the bank was owed by the Ontario Municipal Board but these surroundings would be paid to the city treasurer by the province in the first month following the year end.

Mr. Lewis said that after these transactions were completed the city was in a position to borrow $670,000 if it so desired, increasing the debt to $3,600,000 from the Provincial Government. This would be paid back by the city in annual payments.

In answering to questions put to him by Mr. Chisholm, Mr. Lewis said that the city had the responsibility of tax collector.

Mr. Lewis explained that the city treasurer was responsible for the distribution of the municipal taxes collected by the tax collector.

He said that in effect Mr. Phelps was handing over to the city treasurer the money collected by the tax collector. Mr. Phelps was appointed as tax collector back in 1954 to run for two years. He has been reappointed annually to 1959 and is now employed on a salary basis.

As soon was asked to make a statement to council by Mayor Lloyd Symington, Mr. Phelps said that he had no statement to make. He said that he had been appointed tax collector by the city council and that he had been doing the job to the best of his ability.

Mr. Phelps was asked by Mr. Lewis if he had ever been asked by the city treasurer to make a statement to council. Mr. Phelps replied that he had not.

Mr. Lewis said that he had not appointed the auditor with the banking operations and understood it would be recovered at the end of the year.

Mr. Pennell asked if it was correct that the amount did not appear anywhere except as an account receivable. He was told by the auditor that was correct.

POSITIONS MAINED

Judge Willmott wanted to know how council would know that the amount of money had been paid out of city funds without other reference.

He thought it was a legitimate account receivable, that it would be recovered and that would be the end of it," replied Mr. Lewis.

Who did you think would pay it?

The hockey club," Mr. Lewis said.

Mr. Lewis noted that up-to-date housing-of-city books would materially assist council in realizing the true position at all times and in his 1957 audit recommended that a system of internal audit within 30 days of the end of the month be established.

He said that in the city accounting department.

Mr. Lewis was then excused and Mr. Chisholm called Mr. Phelps to the witness stand.

DUTY OF TREASURER

Mr. Lewis said that it was the duty of Mr. Phelps to [illegible] that it was the duty of Mr. Phelps [illegible] to the treasurer to [illegible] the city treasurer.

Mr. Phelps already had a copy of the auditor's report for the years 1956 and 1957 and after [illegible] he was interviewed in the committee room by Mr. Chisholm.

Mr. Phelps said that he had been appointed tax collector for the city of Belleville in 1954 and had been reappointed annually since then.

He said that he acted as collector for Belleville and was responsible for the collection of taxes.

Mr. Phelps was questioned as to the duties of the tax collector and said that he [illegible] the city treasurer

Pakistan Has Come Long Way Industrially Since Achieving Freedom Kiwanians Told

Pakistan, a land of contrasts, has come a long way industrially since it achieved independence from British rule 12 years ago, this fact was emphasized in an address given members of the Belleville Kiwanis Club at the weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Kiwanis Centre, by Mohammed Amanullah, a Pakistani cement plant employee.

Mr. Amanullah, accompanied by Mohammed Khan, is in Canada under the Columbo Plan to study new Canadian methods of making cement. They have spent the past five months touring numerous cement plants and are currently visiting the Canada Cement Plant at Point Anne where they will be for the next two weeks. From there they will visit plants in other parts of Canada before leaving next February to return home.

Both are chemical engineering graduates and are employed at the Maple Leaf Plant in Pakistan which was built in 1956 under Canadian technical assistance.

In his talk dealing with Pakistan's trade to and after gaining independence in 1947, Mr. Amanullah said at the time of independence there was no major industry in Pakistan.

"Almost everything had to be started right from scratch", he said, in noting the country was fortunately rich in raw materials.

"Now the country is almost self sufficient in vital materials like textiles, paper, cement and other building products", he stated.

The speaker added his country also produced many of these products for its requirements of cement, fertilizers and chemicals, and is the largest producer of "The Golden Fibre", jute, with markets almost all over the world.

To a great extent this has caused the stabilization of the country's economic conditions, said Mr. Amanullah, with the guidance of the government-sponsored Pakistan Industrial Development Corporation, he stated.

DESCRIBES NATIVE LAND

In describing his native land, Mr. Amanullah said it is a land of extremes in climate and temperature, of contrast in natural surroundings, and of areas of scarcity and abundance, where the ancient and the modern can both be found.

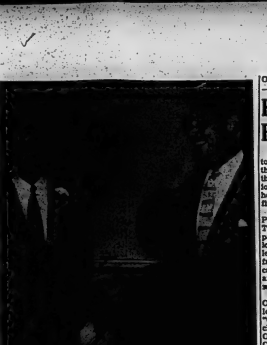
"In its cities twentieth century masterpieces of steel and concrete stand side by side with the architectural gems of the Mughul era, and Cadillacs and Fords with camel and bullock carts," he said.

The speaker traced his country's history which dates back to around the year 3000 B.C., up to the gaining of independence from 100 years of British rule 12 years ago.

"In August, 1947, Pakistan and India were created as two independent sovereign countries within the Commonwealth", he said.

Pakistan, which is divided into West and East territories by 1000 miles of Indian territory, is the largest Moslem country in the world, and in terms of population, is the fifth largest nation, the speaker disclosed.

Although Urdu is the most widely spoken language in Pakistan, English is also widely understood and spoken, Mr. Amanullah stated. He said temperatures range from 90 degrees above zero in their winter season to 120 degrees in summer. In the monsoon season the average rainfall is 15 inches in the plains to 80 inches in the hills.



Following his address a question-and-answer period was held, which brought out many interesting facets of Pakistan's educational system.

NEED TEACHERS

Mr. Amanullah said his countrymen are "getting a higher education gradually." The main problems in the educational field being the large population, the fact Pakistan is a new independent country, and the need for more trained native teachers. He said most universities teachers are "foreign," particularly Canadian.

He disclosed in the past five years adult education courses have been started in 300 cities for high school graduates, and the number of universities has increased from three to six since 1947, with three more anticipated within the next two years.

The speaker was introduced by Al Drysdale, who conducted the meeting in the absence of president George Tripp and vice-president George Tripp who are in Montreal attending a Kiwanis district convention. He was thanked by Lawrence Kells, and presented with a token of the club's appreciation by chairman Drysdale.

Thirty years of faithful service were recognized yesterday evening as local doctors paid tribute to George Williams (above left) with the presentation of a television set and a gift. Dr. John Thomas made the presentation on behalf of the members of the medical profession, some of whom came from Toronto to be present at the dinner.

George Williams Honored On Retirement from Hospital

George Williams, chief technician of the X-Ray Department of the Belleville General Hospital, was honored yesterday evening on the occasion of his retirement with a dinner and presentation by local and district doctors.

Mr. Williams, who joined the hospital staff in 1929, has attended to many duties during his career. Initially he performed many services, including the duties as a director of the X-ray department and the laboratories, as instructor of chemistry in the Nurses' Training School, and rendering much technical assistance in many of the phases of hospital procedure. As the hospital grew Mr. Williams narrowed his field of activity concentrating his work to the department of Radiology.

In the course of his service of thirty years he served many of the doctors and patients of the area around Belleville as well as in this city. For many years the Belleville General Hospital was the only place where X-ray facilities were available in this district.

A large number of doctors attended the dinner, coming from as far as Toronto, to meet Mr. Williams. A presentation was made by Dr. Ritchie Potter as an expression of the local medical profession's appreciation of Mr. Williams' service.

Mr. Williams thanked those present for their kindness and commented on the progress which he had seen develop in the local hospital over the past thirty years. Following the presentation a social evening was enjoyed by all.

Picton Joins Eastern Jr. B Loop, Five-Team Circuit Will Operate

Prince Edward County's Picton Juniors, without a league of their own classification, joined the Eastern Ontario OHA Junior "B" grouping at a meeting here last night to help form a five-team hockey loop.

Belleville Lambert - Bailey, Peterborough Petes, Kingston, Trenton and Picton will participate in the Eastern Junior "B" loop. The official name of the league was changed last night from "Central" to "Eastern" because of the fact that there is another central league elsewhere.

An effort has been made by OHA members since the last league meeting to find a Junior "C" grouping for the Picton club but with little success. OHA past - president Gerry Lorge reported last night that the only other definite entry available was Brighton.

"There is a chance that Royal Military College, Queen's University and Gananoque might come through with teams to evenly divide up pretty much are not sure now and it is unfair to Picton and our Junior "B" clubs to keep them waiting" Cook said.

It was left up Chris Lockyer, Picton manager, to decide whether he wanted to enter the "B" grouping or not. Lockyer entered his club and the five-team loop was officially formed.

The league will play a 24-game schedule, the same as last season, 12 at home and 12 away. Plans are being made to open the league during the second week of November. The schedule will be completed in early February.

Each team will post a $200 bond with league convener Jack Devlin by November 1st. Any team not living up to its schedule commitments will forfeit this money to the league.

All playoff series will be best-of-seven affairs and the team finishing in first place will have their choice of opponents in the semi-final round. The four "B" teams will participate in the group playoffs with the winner receiving the "Red" Sullivan trophy and advancing into the OHA playdowns.

The teams gave their preferred nights for home games last evening with Picton taking Thursday, Trenton, Saturday, Peterborough Friday and Monday and Belleville Monday, Kingston Wednesday and Friday, if arrangements can be made for the arena on Friday nights.

Plans are also being made for an exhibition game between the eastern league all-stars and Peterborough Junior "A"s in Trenton during the early part of January, Scotty Bowman has assured the league that he will bring his Memorial Cup finalists of last spring to Trenton for the game.

All of the "B" clubs will have at least two players on the all-star club and the teams will evenly divide any profits from the game.

The league also decided last night to operate once again with the two-referee system, using local referees until until the playoffs. The officials will be appointed by the OHA, hhrrh. ehig Ir eskir

In August, 1958, operating revenues were $59,339,000; expenses, taxes and rents were $58,848,000 and the net operating income was $591,000.

First-Night Enrollment High For BCIVS Evening Classes

A record for first-night enrollment was set Tuesday evening when 335 persons registered for 1959-60 evening classes at the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School. In order to meet the demand for instruction in advanced sewing and V.L.A. home construction two classes are being set up in each of these subjects. One group will meet on Tuesday evenings and other will meet on Thursdays.

Classes in elementary auto mechanics, advanced sewing, elementary typewriting and welding are now filled to capacity. Names of any other applicants for these classes will remain on file to be placed on a waiting list. Such applicants will be notified if and when a vacancy occurs in the class.

Additional registrations are still being accepted for art, bricklaying, electricity, fulliners, shorthand, advanced typewriting, V.L.A. construction, woodworking and the advanced technical course.

Several applications have been received for classes in Grade XIII mathematics, Grade XIII physics and stationary engineering. As yet, however, registration for these subjects have not been sufficient to start classes. Anyone interested in these classes should register at Moira Secondary School this evening or at the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School next Tuesday evening. If the number of applicants in any of these subjects increases to fifteen a class will be started and will probably be held at the Collegiate.

Registration in other academic subjects, including Russian and oral French and in handicrafts and cooking, have not been sufficient as yet to consider organizing classes in these subjects.

Registrations will be accepted at the Moira Secondary School from seven until nine o'clock this evening for classes in auto mechanics (advanced); bookkeeping, carpentry, drafting and blueprint reading, electronics (elementary and advanced); English for new Canadians, machine shop, sewing (elementary) and typewriting (elementary).

Classes in these subjects will be held at the Moira Secondary School on Monday and Wednesday evenings from October to March.

Audit Report Was Fortnight Late, Council Passed 1959 Estimates 2 Months' Earlier

City council passed its 1959 financial estimates two months prior to receiving the 1958 auditors' report, J. D. Lewars, C.A., told the Judicial enquiry commissioner this morning.

The report showed an accumulated deficit of $206,219. The operating deficit for the year was $86,147.80.

The audit report should have been completed by March 31 and was presented to council on April 13.

The total accumulated deficit of the arena at the end of 1958 was $152,098.85.

This figure included hockey salaries of $35,000.92 during the years from 1956-1958. During this time $8,673 was also transferred from the general fund to the hockey account.

As of May 1959, the arena deficit was $143,237, the general fund deficit was $79,013 ($110,-441 less a levy of $31,428 provided for in the 1959 estimates), the Belleville General Hospital account deficit $98,285 and the local improvement account deficit $7,420, or a total deficit of $335,007.

"There may be an addition to this later from Hospital Tax claims," Mr. Lewars said.

Mr. Lewars told the enquiry following the morning recess that the loan allowed the city was $404,913.30 in 1958. Actual loan figures were $631,955.01.

Mr. Lewars read the special report prepared by him regarding the finances of the city and hockey team in May 1958.

DEFICIT $235,007

The report revealed the total city deficit at that point was $235,007.

"Were there no unusual expenditures, or unusual receipts which would improve their financial position from January 1 until May 9 in the budget for 1959?" asked counsel.

"No."

"Were there any substantial errors?"

"Yes, an estimated grant of $30,000 for the hospital. The grant received was $9,306.27, also a grant for the Home for the Aged, $8,000 more than was forthcoming."

"What about expenditures?"

"Temporary debt charges which I adjusted from $13,500 to $36,000."

He had put in the budget $4,000 for winter work, based on claims from the engineer, Lewars said.

"Any changes in public works expenditure?" he was asked.

"Only the work of setting it up."

The budget did not give the figure of the city's total estimated expenditure, Lewars told counsel.

There were figures, Lewars said but he had revised and increased the budget by $284,-290.16.

He had changed expenditures and revenue from $3,726,-768.34 to $3,993,061.40 at the difference mentioned above.

He had not discussed the change with council, he said.

"Isn't that unusual?"

"I did it because I wanted to show that it was for property collect and to spend," the auditor said.

In his report he had not indicated the magnitude of the change.

SPOKE TO MAYOR

Mr. Lewars said he asked Denyes in spring of 1959 to make out a report on arena business. He did not ask anyone else regarding minutes of the arena.

The auditor said he had spoken to Mayor Hyde in early April about hockey salaries.

"Did you believe there was no minute book or minutes kept?" asked counsel.

"Yes."

"What question did you ask Mayor Hyde, if any, with regard to arena meetings?"

"Not recall any."

Lewars admitted there was some discussion with Mayor Hyde regarding the arena and as a result made a report to department officials.

Mr. Fennell told the hearing he would like to clear up a misconception taken from a headline in a local newspaper.

"It stated that a certain letter had been 'found' in a desk, as stated in the evidence of deputy clerk Adam Stalker.

"There is no significance or mystery attached to the word 'found,' Mr. Fennell said. "This was used in the same manner as all other documents were said to be found in the city hall."

The letter referred to was one written by the city solicitor to city council through the city clerk and received by council in 1956.

GIVES DEFICIT

Mr. Lewars said the operating deficit at December 31, 1958, amounted to $58,147.80, and an accumulated deficit of $106,219.40.

"Had estimates been prepared at that time and had this amount been included in the estimates?" counsel asked.

"Not all of it," Lewars replied.

Under questioning by counsel, auditor said a by-law the Belleville usually compiled its assessment in February. This year it was not ready by April 15. He admitted a city council should know of any deficit when making assessment.

"Would the city accounting staff know there was a deficit?" counsel asked.

"I believe they knew there was a deficit but their figures were approximately half of ours," Mr. Lewars said.

"You said Mr. Adams superintendent had not kept any records and was not authorized to borrow money or conduct an overdraft. Should the hockey team had been financed by the general fund and bank overdraft. He had told council this was illegal and it appears the deficit should be to be levied for.

"You again have recommended council have more control over finances. Do you know of any control over that report, if they did anything about between the time of the issuance of the reading of the 1958 audit report?" asked counsel.

"No, not that I know."

SHEETS CHANGED

"Were balance sheets changed on May 9 as from Dec. 31/58?" asked.

"On Dec. 31-1958, your report showed accumulated saving from arena as $150,062.50. On May 9 it changed to $119,292.50.

"The overdraft was not reflected in the revenue statement of 1958, as the accounts-payable, although they are both forms of city property," said counsel.

"Yes."

"You did not put any provision for the arena in your report-budget?"

"No Sir."

He revealed the next expenditure as Dec. 31 was $11,122.90 and to May 9 it was $5,934.33.

"It was still losing then."

PAID BY CHEQUE

"How were players paid? Did you see cheques?"

"Yes, players were paid weekly."

"One or two cheques?"

"One player got paid one salary by two cheques from different banks?" asked the commissioner.

"It would appear so," said Lewars. "The cheques were paid from city and arena accounts."

He could see no reason why hockey players should be paid two cheques.

He checked one or two incidences and found no irregularity.

"Did these payments indicate a pattern?" asked counsel.

"No."

He did not examine the cheques — only a few — and found only two payroll of the hockey club out of the 1958 period. No cheques were issued on the city payroll.

The cheques were in the custody of Mr. Minor, he said.

SIX ISSUED

He said there were six cheques issued to Mr. Denyes amounting to $2,753.03 for which there was no explanation. All items were paid by cheques to Denyes.

He could not explain a cheque for $750 paid to the Ontario Hydro by Mr. Denyes between January and May. There were other items but these related to team transportation.

There was another cheque payable to a Mr. Absenor of London, England for $7,000.

"Did you ask Denyes for any explanation of these items when preparing the May 9 statement?" asked counsel.

"No, sir."

"Have you made a list of hockey club expenses for which there are no vouchers and invoices?"

"No, sir."

"How can you expect us to arrive at a statement under these circumstances?"

Lewars asked for a delay to answer this question.

Mr. Fennell pointed out that gate receipts of the arena in 1958 amounted to $77,281.73. "This means players salaries exceeded the gates by $35,000 with no other expenditures."

Lewars agreed.

SET MARCHING RECORD

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP)—Army paratroopers have completed a 83.6-mile march in 37 hours—an unofficial army record.

"We've got three blisters to prove it," said Lieut. Frederick Mangrum, who led the volunteers. In 1952, a group of paratroopers walked 50 miles. Some men said he didn't know how long it took the other group "but I don't think anyone has topped us."

IODE Chapters Now Part of United Appeal

Canada's largest voluntary philanthropic women's organization, the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, is now a part of the Belleville United Appeal. Both of the local chapters, the Argyll and the St. Julien, have come into the Appeal this year.

The IODE, as it is familiarly known, is a patriotic, non-sectarian and non-partisan organization whose voluntary members perform many services for needy families, both locally and internationally. On the local scene hampers of food are made up at Christmastime for needy families; visits and gifts are made to them residing at the Hastings County Home; projects to supply the Children's Aid Society with sewn articles are carried on; assistance is given to the Red Cross in the local Blood Donor Clinics. New citizens in this area are welcomed when they receive their citizenship papers and a presentation is made to them at this time.

One of the main interests of the IODE members is in education. High school students in this city have the opportunity of being granted scholarships or a bursary from the IODE. Local members have also placed flags and pictures of the Queen and Prince Philip in many of the schools.

The IODE members also participate in the Remembrance Day ceremonies at the Cenotaph.

The two local chapters also purchase material locally to make up many different clothing items for distribution to needy folk across Canada and in Europe and Korea as well. An annual contribution is also made to the Ongwanada Hospital.

The two local chapters will now derive the funds for their work from the annual campaign of the Belleville United Appeal, bringing the number of organizations supported by this voluntary fund-raising effort to eleven.

Principal's 'Throne Speech' Opens Quinte's 'Parliament'

This morning saw the opening of the first "Parliament" at Quinte Secondary School. Following the conclusion of a vigorous one-week campaign between two rival parties at the high school on College Street.

The campaign, which saw all possible electioneering methods and techniques put into use, aroused much interest in student government at Quinte than at any previous point in that school's history according to veteran observers.

For the parliamentary system, modelled along the same lines as Canada's federal government, all initial seasons appeared to have achieved its main purpose . . . a greater sense of student responsibility in school activities, according to the Governor-General, principal Lee Reid.

Parliament convened this morning at 9:00 o'clock at the order of the Governor-General. Once the Senate, composed of several faculty members, was seated the order was given to the Sergeant-at-Arms to summon the Cabinet and members of the Commons for the address from the throne.

During this speech Governor-General Reid outlined the duties and responsibilities of the Prime and charged the Cabinet and the Commons with fulfilling these responsibilities. The speech included the supervision and coordination of the entire extra-curricular program of the school such as chartering of new clubs where necessary, periodic modification of extra-curricular activities which seem ineffective, and assistance in establishment and coordination of the financial structure of these activities; the formulation of a constructive program of activities, that is, drawing up a series of projects which will tend to improve the school; and the reference of certain approved projects to other school organizations for action, that is, to get a clearing house for ideas.

The role of the opposition was also outlined in the school's Governor-General. Its chief duty is to criticize government policy where it feels that improvement is necessary and to keep the government on its toes.

Because of the nature of a student parliament, Mr. Reid stated that a certain amount of supervision was necessary so that the student government would be aware of school policy at all times. In order to facilitate this two members of the Senate, Messrs. Max Woolley and Robert Laughlin, were appointed as advisers. The use of the veto by the governor-general was necessary to maintain the school policy was also explained.

The opening session was then turned over to the prime minister, Gordon Smith, leader of the victorious Fourteen Party. The members of the Commons were introduced to the student body and the cabinet policy for the forthcoming year was announced. This included the organization of a graduation dance and the construction of a cabinet in which to keep the school's trophies, which was created by the prime minister that other projects would be planned in order to improve the school.

The cabinet appointments included Dwight Chard, as minister of finance; Sherril Beeby as minister of social affairs, and Lorne Hall as minister of publicity. Helen Mikulicek, leader of the opposition party, was appointed a minister without portfolio. Bob Follwell was elected speaker of the house.

The invocation of parliament was conducted by Mr. Orville Matthews, a member of the Senate, who also led the prayers and read the Scripture.

Crippled Kiddies See Big Circus Guests of Belleville Shrine Club

Hundreds of crippled, handicapped and underprivileged children from all parts of Ontario, including Belleville are seeing the world's largest and greatest indoor circus as the guests of Shriners in the Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto. The circus is on display to October 3 under the auspices of Rameses Temple, Toronto as a fund-raising project.

The Belleville Shrine Club were hosts to 30 crippled children of Belleville and Trenton today, the party leaving the Shrine Club at 8.30 this morning. Six-teen children from Belleville were included in the party.

The party left by Rawson's new bus with shriners including club president Tom Lewis and crippled children chairman Bev Quiney in supervision. Members of the St. John Ambulance also were in attendance.

The bus was escorted to the Toronto city limits by members of the Belleville detachment Ontario Provincial police. They were met at the "monument" by a motorcycle escort of the Toronto Police Department which conducted them to Maple Leaf Gardens.

The children were "treated" near Port Hope where they were given milk, ice cream, candies and ice cream. They also were fed on their way home.

It will mark the 27th consecutive year that the Shriners of Ontario have brought the Hamid-Morton three-ring circus to the Ontario capital with the entire proceeds to aid of one of the benevolent work carried on by the Shriners for handicapped and underprivileged children.

Features of the 1959 Shrine Circus include the amazing Captain Sputnik, a Polish performer who, twice daily, is shot into space from a cannon, the Staneks, a fast-moving group of tesmanian artists, Emil Hungary, the Riding Fredricks, trick equestrians from the Ukraine and Rudy Docky, a laugh - provoking clown from Austria.

In addition, there are trapeze artists, aerial acts, trained seals, bears, elephants, monkeys, dogs, horses, lions, tigers, bands and clowns.

This annual circus is only part of an extensive program carried on by the Shriners to help crippled and underprivileged children. From this and other activities the Shriners operate and maintain 17 hospitals on the North American continent, two of which are located in Canada.

Contact Club Hears Talk on Home for Aged

The regular meeting of Christ Church Contact Club was held on Monday evening with vice-president Doris Stewart taking over the chair in the absence of the president, Mary Fletcher.

There was a short business meeting with 21 members answering the roll call.

Doris reminded the girls that next week's meeting would take the form of an auction sale and also of the Corporate Communion to be held later in the fall. Vice-president Doris gave a hearty vote of thanks to Helen McCormick and Catherine Rossiter for convening the reception for the Rev. and Mrs. H. Masslah, which was held in the parish hall on Sunday evening with a good number of the congregation in attendance. A vote of thanks was also extended to Florence Lennon for her excellent taste in the decoration of the centre table which was in an autumn theme and all silver tea service at either end attended by Mrs. Goddard and Mrs. Watson, wives of the church wardens.

Betty Ferris, study group convener, introduced Mrs. York of the Hastings County Home, who gave an interesting and enlightening talk on the operation and facilities for older citizens who reside at the home. Mrs. York also extended an invitation to all members to attend the fall tea and bazaar to be held at the home in October.

Diana Settle thanked Mrs. York on behalf of the club for taking of her time in such an interesting talk.

Refreshments were served by Helen McCormick, Doris Stewart and Nadine Thorne.

Accounting Group Meets At B.G.H.

Members of the Accounting Section of Regional Hospital Council No. 9, representing hospitals in the area from Brockville west to Trenton, recently held the regular quarterly meeting at the Belleville General Hospital. The meeting was arranged by Mr. Frederick S. Woodcock, assistant administrator of the Belleville hospital, who is chairman of the group.

SPECIAL SPEAKER

Special speaker for the occasion was John Lewars, C.A. of the audit firm of F. A. R. McFadden who gave an informative paper on "Internal Control—The Financial Watchdog." Under the guidance of Mr. W. L. Clark, budgetary consultant for the Ontario Hospital Services Commission a thorough study was made during the afternoon session of hospital budget forms for 1950, which all hospitals must submit to the commission by October 31st.

During the business session, Mr. Woodcock announced that he would be obliged to resign his post as chairman of the committee as he is leaving his position at Belleville General Hospital in the near future, having been appointed administrator of the Parkwood Hospital, London, Ontario.

Elections were held and Mr. Gerald Howe of St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Brockville, was duly elected the new chairman.

Mr. Howe thanked the group and expressed the appreciation of the members to the past chairman for his efforts in organizing the region's accounting section committee, which has proven worth while.

Consumers Step up Fight Against Trading Stamps

By CAROLYN WELSENT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's all-woman consumer association is intensifying its battle against trading stamps.

The Canadian Association of Consumers Tuesday dropped a plan to seek stronger Criminal Code sections covering trading stamps.

Some 70 delegates gave unanimous support to an interim committee report recommending that on local, provincial and national levels the 25,000-member organization step up and co-ordinate its efforts to abolish the stamps.

Members contend that the stamps increase food prices, that the premiums are not really a bargain and that the law is being flouted by the use of the stamps.

The association's campaign will include petitions, delegations and letters, collecting proof of infractions of the law, and consumer education designed to arouse public support and get action from provincial and federal governments.

Delegates also were told consumers should have a greater voice in government policy-making as it affects them.

Dr. Ferris Campbell, a professor at Queen's College, Flushing, N.Y., said that while money is spent for research and information to help agriculture and small business, "very little has been spent either for research or education programs to help the consumer become a more efficient buyer."

Standard sizes in clothes for children from nursery to kindergarten should be available next year or in early 1951, the association was told.

Mrs. T. R. Earle of Ottawa, association national chairman of sizing, said the standard sizes being worked out by the federal government specifications board with the help of manufacturers, retailers and consumers, should fit 90 per cent of Canada's young-sters.

Thailand Work Shown by Colored Slides

The September meeting of the Jubilee Evening Auxiliary of Bridge Street United Church was held in the Sunday School auditorium on Tuesday evening with a good attendance of members and guests present to enjoy the delicious supper served by Miss G. Tucker, Mrs. C. Radway and their group.

Mrs. Grace Anderson presided and welcomed those present. Business was dispensed with to enable the guest speaker, Mrs. Gordon Gray, plenty of time.

Mrs. Gray, wife of Dr. Locke, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Locke, grew up in Bridge Street United Church, acted as active part in both church and Sunday school work. Upon graduating from B.C.I.V.S., she trained for a nurse, preparing for missionary work.

Grandmother Studies Ten Years at Night for Degree

WINNIPEG (CP)—A 49 - year-old grandmother who received her degree after 10 years studying at night and summer schools, has become a Manitoba's first female probation officer.

Mrs. Eva Johnson, mother of five children decided to return to studies when one of her sons was studying engineering at the University of Manitoba. She used to talk to him about his classes and then thought of getting a degree herself.

She graduated two years ago and worked until this year as a stenographer in the department of mines and natural resources. The son who inspired her return to work died while at university in 1936.

Married 26 years, Mrs. Johnson was appointed this year as the first female probation officer in the province. She will return to school to take a degree in social work.

As probation officer, she will interview women who have appeared before magistrates' courts.

"The whole point is to put as many as possible on probation," she said. "We must try to avoid the stigma of a jail sentence."

She said many people come to court only once.

"If you can save them from a jail sentence, it will undoubtedly make it easier for them to get a job. I think most employers in spite of themselves have serious doubts about hiring such a person."

Women Decide They Have Place But Must Remain Feminine

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON (AP)—Several leading British women have decided the female sex has a future—if it remains feminine.

The women spoke Tuesday at a symposium sponsored by the Queen Mother. They had been asked to reflect out loud on the question:

"Is Eve out of date?"

The Countess Mountbatten said: "In many situations we can give better human understanding of problems than men. We are built that way."

Mrs. Rosemary Mudie, who crossed the Atlantic in the balloon Small World with her husband and two men, said: "I weigh 36 pounds less than a man, so in a balloon where every ounce counts my sex was an advantage."

DIFFERENT WORRY

Miss Bronwen Pugh, wireless model, said: "I haven't worried much as to whether Eve is up-to-date or out-of-date; my concern is to keep interesting dates."

Mrs. Alison Munro, International Air Transport official, said: "An unholy sight is a woman who tries to look and act like a man."

Miss Margaret Rutherford, actress, said: "Eve is eternal."

Lady Mountbatten deplored the fact Britain has no women in the cabinet, no woman ambassador and no governor of a dependency.

PAPER RIGHTS

"Yet we have the same rights as men—on paper," she said.

The discussion was sponsored by 16 organizations devoted, under the patronage of the Queen Mother, to assisting the blind. The discussion on the future of Eve was arranged to stimulate interest, and it did. About 700 women each paid £2 10 1-2 (?) for the lunch and a benefit to the blind.

Princess Alice Visitor To Que. Radar Base

Accompanied by Wing Officer K. O. Walker, first woman officer in the RCAF, Wing Officer W. M. Taylor, former commander of Eve was arranged to stimulate the women's division, and Sqdn. Ldr. Betty Dallon, present head of the women's division, she had tea with all the base's air women before returning here.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wilfred Davenport are shown cutting the wedding cake following their recent marriage in St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville. The bride is the former Miss Clara Eileen Hull, Reg. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hull of Belleville. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Davenport of Trenton, Ontario. (Photo by William E. Riley, Belleville.)

DAVENPORT — HULL

Tall white standards of pink and white gladioli, interspersed with ferns, adorned the chancel steps and altar in St. Thomas' Anglican Church, Belleville, on old Saturday, September 19, at 2.00 p.m. for a very pretty wedding, when Clara Eileen Hull, registered nurse, (of Belleville, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hull, became the bride of Donald Wilfred Davenport, of Trenton, Ontario, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Davenport. The Reverend Canon A. E. McConnell, rector of the church, officiated.

Mr. John Croyden Withers, guest organist, presided at the organ, and accompanied the choir of 12 boys who sang, "Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven", before the ceremony, and "The 23rd Psalm", during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her bridal gown of full-length white silk organza over taffeta, fashioned with long, molded sleeves, lily-pointed over the wrists, and fitted bodice having a round neckline tapering to a "V"-point at the back, outlined with pearl-studded sequins in rosettes of same material. Her jewelled tiara held her fingertip veil of nylon net, and she carried a bouquet of pink Sweetheart roses mingled with ivy. A pearl pendant with matching earrings, the gift of her bridegroom completed her ensemble.

She was attended by her sister Mrs. Rose Crossan, of Winnipeg as matron of honor, and by Mrs. Marlene Bailey, registered nurse of Stirling, Ontario, classmate of the bride, and by Miss Carol Davenport, registered nurse, of Trenton, sister of the bridegroom as bridesmaids. All were identical waltz-length gowns of pink silk organza, with full skirts; accented by large back bows; pink shoes and mitts, with matching floral headdresses and carried crescent-shaped bouquets of white, feathered carnations. Single strands of matching pearls and earrings completed their nuptial costumes.

The little flower girl, six-year-old Vaer l ETADIN tronshr dl Valerie Smith, was demure and sweet in her blue silk frock with white shoes, socks and gloves. She wore a blue and white floral headband, and carried a basket of pink Sweetheart roses.

Mr. Noel Almy, of Ottawa, was groomsman, while Messrs. Robert Cowell of Campbellford, Ontario, and Larry Hull of Belleville, brother of the bride, ushered the guests.

For the reception held in Club Canara, the bride's mother wore a street-length gown of beige silk organza with three-quarter sleeves and bodice, "V"-shaped at back and front, beige accessories with fur stole and corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother was attired in light-blue lace in street length, with blue hat, and purse with white gloves and corsage of pink roses.

The bride's table, with its white damask cloth, centred by a three-tier, round, white wedding cake adorned with tiny pink rosebuds, and topped by a little bride and bridegroom beneath an half arch of white roses was an attractive picture. The silver candelabra and the bridal flowers completed the nuptial setting.

For the wedding trip to Gray Rocks Inn in the Laurentians, the bride travelled in a light green silk embroidered sheath with matching bolero, green accessories, yellow hat and gloves and a yellow orchid corsage.

As the bridal couple left the church Mr. S. Alec Gordon played on the bells from Bridge St. United Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Davenport are residing at the Edgetown Apartments, Belleville.

Guests attended from Stirling, Belleville, Trenton, Woodstock, Brockville, Pickering, Ottawa, Cobourg and Toronto.

Previous to her marriage the bride was feted by two miscellaneous showers, one by school friends at the home of Mrs. Mary Tyson and by classmates of 1958 nursing graduation class and friends of Belleville General Hospital with Mrs. Ron Hadley as hostess, and Mrs. Marlene Bailey, as co-hostess.

Wedding

KELLEY—McCORMACK

Bethel Temple, Trenton, Ontario, was the setting on Saturday, September 26th, at 2.00 p.m. for a very pretty wedding when the Reverend Ronald Reid united in marriage Doris Emily McCormack, of Trenton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McCormack, and Frederick Allen Rikley, of R.R. 1, Foxboro, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rikley.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charmingly dressed in full-length white lace and organza featuring a fitted, "V"-pointed lace bodice fleshed with iridescent sequins and having a fashion neckline and long, lily-pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt, worn over layers of crinolines, was accented by hand-clipped lace appliques. Her three-quarter length lace-edged veil was caught to a seed pearl and sequin studded crown, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Roy McCormack was matron of honor, and Miss Janet Rikley and Miss Diane Rikley, were bridesmaids. The three attendants were gowned alike in auburn green organza in three-quarter length burnt organza accessories and carried bouquets of orange-toned mums.

The little flower girl, Deborah McCormack, and Ronda McCormack, were white organza frocks with matching headbands. They carried baskets of autumn-tinted mums.

Mr. Donald Rikley, of Markham, Ontario, attended the bridegroom, and Mr. A. E. McCormack of Trenton, and Mr. Roy McCormack of Glen Miller, were the ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Queensway Hotel, where the guests were received by the bride's mother, who was gowned in a three-piece model in moss green shade with burnt orange accessories, and corsage of yellow mums. The bridegroom's mother wore a gown of honey-beige-toned lace with burt orange accessories, and corsage of bronze 'mums.

For travelling to points unknown, the bride chose a Shelly print of shaded blue with royal blue accessories, and corsage of white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Rikley will reside in Toronto upon their return.

Guests attended from Belleville, Markham, Stirling, Bancroft and Wayne, Michigan

This - - - and That

By HERBERT STEVENS

This place might be called "Thoughts from a Hospital," or more properly "Reminiscences." As it is on returning from a holiday, or visiting old hospital, one is for a few days still back in that other world of its own.

There are those who dread entering a hospital for one reason or another. But most people do find it now to be a welcome haven when circumstances and health make it necessary and in the truth "just what the doctor ordered." We do not think it an evidence of escaping in being glad to be away from the hustle and bustle of our racing world for a while. That cannot be the case when the most frequent words heard are "When May I Go Home?"

The above paragraph may sound contradictory, but that is the way it is.

Of course, the outside hustle and bustle is replaced by a muted type of the same, a kind of concentrated hurry of activity that is always someone else's activity.

Speaking of rustling, we were lucky enough to be where we could see the tall Carolina poplars and to hear their soothing rustling. Certainly a pleasant atmosphere and aspect are most conducive to the contentment and well-being of patients.

More important than these is the unfailing kindness and cheerfulness of the staff. To them, to care for the sick would appear to mean both to take care of and to care about the sick. One alone is not quite sufficient to make a truly good job.

DOUBLE DUTIES

It is amazing to realize that many of the nurses and staff also care for homes and families as well yet they go about their work so calmly, competently and cheerfully. There must be developed in nurses and doctors a philosophic compassion from watching the joy and miracle of birth, the sadness and inevitability of death and the various emotions and aches and pains that go in between.

Their cheerfulness makes us wish — although it would be impractical and never come to pass — that some nursing experience would become compulsory training for everyone, male and female. A great many people especially young people, have adopted the fashion of appearing bored and unenthusiastic, even to the point of sullenness. How much more attractive and alive a pleasant face is. Maybe a short course of caring and doing for others, as in nursing would improve many of us

Another kind of thought occurred to us. It is a great wonder someone has not modified the idea of the oxygen tent to make individual air conditioners for the summer time. It is always in the head and neck where people are most conscious of the heat. Can't you just see us all in some future very hot summer with our heads and shoulders in plastic tents and the apparatus modified to go into a hood cloak or sling bag. A wave of the hand would suffice as a greeting on the street thereby saving a lot of time and noise. Whoever does it will probably make a million.

Putting fantasy aside we have a hospital in Belleville of which we can be very proud. We are sure it will continue to grow and progress just as the "lady with the lamp" has progressed to the "lady with the flashlight."

Favorite Items From Mrs. Diefenbaker's Tea Menu

by Mary Moore

Before me on a "24 Sussex Street" letterhead I have a hand written letter from Mrs. Diefenbaker.

"It's a little hard to describe sandwich fillings isn't it? It's usually a case of looking in the refrigerator and putting in the sandwiches what's there. However I think my favorite is cream cheese softened with a little cream, and chopped toasted almonds — spread not too thinly . . .

"As for cookies — I like best what is simple and not too rich.

COCONUT MACAROONS

3 egg whites beaten stiff; 1 cup sugar — fruit or fine granulated beaten in gradually, 1 1-2 cups feather strip coconut—folded in. Bake at 250 deg. for 15 min. Do not brown.

"I wouldn't use these two together: they are both too white . . . Sincerely (signed) Olive Diefenbaker."

Our gracious first lady thus complied with a request from Mrs. Francis Baldwin, whom she knows and who is a member of the Ottawa Branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club, and whom I know too, Fran said to me "Mrs. D's tea menu is so popular Mary, I think your readers would enjoy hearing about it."

I do too.

This morning I made up the cheese and almond sandwiches and the Coconut Macaroons — and if anyone drops in for tea I am ready for them — Sussex St. style.

Dinner Menus

by Mary Moore

WEDNESDAY (Guests)

Melon Lime Cup; Roast Stuffed Lamb Shoulder; Mint Jelly; Corn on the Cob; Spinach with Shredded Almonds; Lettice Grape Pie; Cream Cheese; Coffee.

MRS. DIEFENBAKER'S CREAM CHEESE AND ALMOND SANDWICHES

One 4-oz. package while cream cheese, 1-4 cup chopped toasted almonds, 1 tablespoon cream or milk. Mash cheese with a fork and mix with the cream until of spreading consistency. Stir in chopped toasted almonds. Heeding Mrs. D.'s advice— "spread not too thinly" — use 2 tablespoons (level) for each buttered two - slice sandwich. Cut off crusts and cut into six small triangular sandwiches. Since this amount yields 2-3 cup of filling you can make five two - slice sandwiches which when cut into six small triangles each will yield you thirty tea-size sandwiches.

COCONUT MACAROONS

(Courtesy Mrs. Diefenbaker)

I made these as Mrs. D. directed, but to the last half of the mixture I added 1-4 teaspoon salt. You can make your choice. Under the electric beater I beat three egg whites until stiff and gradually added the 1 1-2 cups fine sugar while beating until very stiff. Then I removed the beater and folded in the 1 1-3 cups coconut. Using a wet teaspoon I spooned them on to a cookie sheet covered with silicone - treated - parchment paper (available across Canada) unbuttered. These were small — averaging about 1 1-4" in diameter — and I had 54 when done. Bake at 250 deg. Fahr. for exactly 15 minutes. "Do not brown." At once remove from pan with spatula and to cake racks. They are virgin white and of a texture that does not break when you take your first bite.

INVITATIONS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are to be married in about four months; formal church wedding, large reception following. Both my fiance and I come from large families, and it so happens that we both have many relatives and friends (family friends and personal friends) who live at a distance too far to make it possible for them to come to our wedding. My mother and I are wondering whether to send invitations to all these relatives and friends who live at a distance, or to send invitations only to those who may probably, or even possibly be able to come to our wedding — and then to send announcements to all the others. What do you think? — K. H.

Not only is it proper, but it is the appropriately gracious and personal gesture to send wedding invitations to members of both families, and all relatives and friends who live at a distance. Of course you may know that the chances are that they will not be able to come, but naturally you want them to know that you and your bridegroom are sending them the devoted message "We would so very much like to have you with us at our wedding, and we hope it will be possible for you to come."

It is logical that those close in relationship or friendship to the prospective bride and bridegroom want to be informed that the wedding is to take place, and the details of the plans. Invitations do this. And, incresingly, today's custom is to send only invitations to the entire list of relatives and friends.

(However, if you wish, you may send some announcement, but remember that these, sent after the ceremony has taken place, do not carry the personal message of an invitation.)

NOT ATTRACTIVE FOR GUESTS TO BRING GIFTS TO WEDDING RECEPTION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Do you approve of wedding guests taking their wedding presents to present them to the bride (or the bride and groom) at the wedding reception? I think it's a most unattractive custom (to put it mildly), and I never heard of it until my family and I recently moved to big small county. — Reader

I agree with you that this is an unattractive custom, but I have heard that it is the accepted custom in some small communities. I never could understand this, for it seems to me that the traditional and customary procedure of sending the wedding presents to the bride-to-be well ahead of the wedding date is charming and practical as well. The bride-to-be then has the happiness of opening and admiring her presents as they arrive, and can write her thank-you notes when they should be written, before the wedding, with all of them written before she leaves on her wedding trip. Also she's usually far too busily occupied at her wedding reception to have the chance to open the presents as they are handed to her or to thank the donors adequately.

THE FAMILY COUNCIL

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual case history. The Council reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and consultants.

Marcia A. — My brother leaves me.

Mrs. L. A. — She is lucky to have him.

* * *

Marcia A. — I am 16 and I'm very unhappy at home because of my older brother, who considers himself my boss, and my parents who side with him in everything.

Tim is 17. That's supposed to make him smarter than I am. Actually he is just a baby. He thinks he knows everything. He makes fun of my clothes, my friends, everything I do.

A few weeks ago we were with a group of friends and they drove us over to our house. I kissed my date good night. I have known this guy for three years and dated him all last year. My brother almost started a fight with him and told me he would knock my block off if he saw me do a thing like that again. My parents sided with Tim. Other girls can do just as they please because they have no brother chaperoning them.

Mrs. L. A. — We feel very fortunate in having Tim keep an eye on Marcia. Not that we don't trust her. We do, but we think with the way kids are today it doesn't hurt to have a big brother around looking out for a girl. Tim says that's why the flying kind. Marcia is too young for that kind of thing.

It is true that Tim is sometimes too critical and he lives tense. We try to get him to stop tensing. Sometimes he overdoes it. Marcia gets very upset when he criticizes her clothes and the way she acts. But it doesn't hurt for her to know the way boys her age see her.

We feel that Tim has a lot of love and loyalty for his sister. She should consider herself a lucky girl to have him.

The Council: We're with Marcia. A 17-year-old brother is not a suitable chaperone or adviser for a 16-year-old girl. He may have love and loyalty and may mean well, but he is not the best person to be the overseer of her conduct.

In the case of the kiss, for example, we think it more than likely that it was staged for Tim's special benefit — as a matter of spite and teasing. If Marcia were really interested in that kiss she would not give a public showing. Certainly it was in bad taste and is very improper conduct — but so was Tim's public blow-up.

The L. A.'s should face the fact that the chaperone system is out in this country today. They must teach their daughter to be guardian of her own conduct and her own reputation. It is unfair and unrealistic to attempt to shield her with a chaperone.

We think that an older brother can be very helpful to a young girl, but not if he takes too much upon himself. The L. A.'s should tell Marcia to take some of his criticisms with a few grains of salt. They sometimes criticize their sisters for a manner or style of dress they may be attracted to in other girls. Many do it just for the fun of teasing just to get a rise, or just to keep a slight interest in her place.

As for Marcia, we'd recommend that she stop making a spectacle of herself just to annoy her brother. It isn't worth it.

Black and White Show at Fair Easily Best

PICTON — The 1959 Black and White Show at the Picton Fair, Friday, proved to be one of the best, if not the best, Holstein exhibitions every put on by Prince Edward County. According to James Brown, of Newcastle, president of the Holstein Friesian Association of Canada, it was the finest show he had ever seen in this area.

District fieldman of the Association, Gerry Nelson, backed up Mr. Brown's assertion with some striking facts, foremost of which was the increase in the number of exhibitors, an increase which topped any county show in the province. The eight new showmen who augmented last year's returning foursome of J. J. May and Sons, James Alexander, Curtis B. Doxsee and Son and Ross Parks, were Frank Huff, Donald Kerr, T. H. Kerr and Son, Douglas Reynolds, Donald K. Spencer and Son, Gordon Parks, James Dick and Clarence Vanclief. The group showed a total of 86 head, again a substantial rise over last year, seventeen to be exact, and seventeen "good quality, Holsteins" fieldman Nelson added.

F. Roy Ormiston, owner of the renowned Roybrook herd at Brooklin, placed the entries and he had an exceptionally fine afternoon for judging.

In the competition for the Premier Breeder award J. J. May and Sons won out over Curtis B. Doxsee and Son by a single point, 223 to 224, in what Gerry Nelson termed, an A1 contest.

The Mays also captured Premier Exhibitor honors with J. Alexander a close second.

Junior and grand champion bull was J. J. May's Maycroft Albekerk Signet, Reserve junior and reserve grand champion went to J. Alexander's senior bull calf, Netherboy Reburke Echo Duke.

Grand champion female (also the senior champion female) was the "excellent" cow of James Alexander, 12-year-old Brenda Nellie Echo. J. J. May's Maycroft Sovereign Black Beauty took the reserve grand and reserve senior champion female classes.

The junior champion female was shown by Curtis B. Doxsee and Son, a winner last year in this class with Curtilea Walker Floe now with Curtilea Patsy Segis Dale. Reserve junior champion female was the first prize senior calf, Netherbay Emblem Colantha Aggie shown by James Alexander.

After announcing the winner he commented that the five cows in the ring could easily compete with a similar class at the C.N.E.).

Ontario Could Become Giant Anthill Due 'Urban Sprawl' Health Association Warned

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario could become a giant anthill and her people a mass of condemned ants, Prof. R. G. Plews, head of University of Western Ontario's geography department said Tuesday night.

He told the annual dinner of Ontario Public Health Association that governments, industries and the universities all had responsibilities in resisting the "sterile urban sprawl" and unplanned exploitation of Ontario's resources.

But the final challenge was to be faced individually by persons who were not ashamed to defend ideas of conservation of resources and "conservation of variety."

CROWDED LIVING

"We can choose whether to be civilized human beings or barbarian ants," he said. "We can get a digit in the census statistics or real persons."

Prof. Plews said the province lacks basic knowledge about the state of its natural resources and a solid base of factual information is needed.

Earlier, delegates passed a resolution endorsing fluoridation of community water to reduce dental disease.

Dr. Ross Mabee of Dr. Gordon Hillsburgh, chairman of the University of Toronto's dentistry division, said fluoridation would reduce dental diseases by one-third.

Miss Helen Fasken of Fergus, public health nursing supervisor in the Wellington County health unit, was elected president.

Dr. Ross Mabee of Hamilton was elected second vice-president.

Other officers include: Dr. Roger Kennedy of Ottawa, Dr. R. M. Charney of Kingston, Dr. K. E. Plummer of Brampton, Leslie McCreesh of Milton.

Give Authority Until Oct. 14 to Meet Demands

OTTAWA (CP) — Officials of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority reiterated Tuesday that Indians of the St. Regis reservation are making an unreasonable demand for a $45,000 rental for a road through their lands to the Cornwall - Massena international bridge.

The Indians, members of the Mohawk band of the Iroquois tribe, say the Seaway Authority, at a meeting at St. Regis, Que., Sunday night, gave the authority until Oct. 14 to meet their demand. If the demand is not met they threatened to block the road and levy a toll charge on automobiles.

The road runs for 1½ miles through the reserve from the north channel span of the Roosevelt Bridge at Cornwall, to the Canadian customs and immigration office on the overall island. The bridge is owned by the Cornwall International Bridge Company, a subsidiary of the seaway authority and the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation of the United States.

The authority has offered to pay the Indians a rental of about $2,000 a year until 1962 when descriptions of the new generous offer." The road will not be used after 1962 when a new road is built over, the north channel of the St. Lawrence River.

The authority has power to expropriate the Indians' land.

Association Seeks Federal Aid for Mental Research

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is coming under increasing pressure to step up its assistance in the vital field of mental health research, informants say.

New representations on the subject are understood to have been submitted to Health Minister Monteith during the last few days by the Canadian Psychiatric Association.

Authorities in this field, such as Dr. D. Griffin of Toronto, general director of the Canada Mental Health Association, say mental illness is currently Canada's most difficult and important health problem.

Dr. Griffin says half the occupied hospital beds in Canada today hold mental patients.

$500,000 A YEAR

Authorities say something like $500,000 a year is all the federal government has provided in recent years toward mental health research.

One problem is the constitutional one. Efficient research programs require close co-ordination, a condition complicated by the fact Canada's constitution puts health matters under provincial jurisdiction.

Thus there are 10 different mental health programs going on in Canada, with the federal health department acting only as part of anxious adviser and financial helper.

The federal government makes available annual mental health grants to the provinces. For the last fiscal year, it came to some $8,000,000.

LITTLE FOR RESEARCH

But less than 10 per cent of the money has gone into mental health research. The provinces use the rest for hospital services, doctors' salaries and so on.

Authorities say there are some very efficient mental health research men in Canada but they are dependent on provincial mental health directors for government aid, since the provincial authorities decide how the money is to be used.

One authority in the field says two or three times as much research is needed in mental health as is going on now. . .

FREE ON RESPONSIBILITY

BRUSSELS, Belgium (Reuters) Parliamentarians from 15 NATO countries have agreed that European unification should be a responsibility of NATO, Henri Fayat, Belgian president of a political committee set up by the NATO parliamentarians conference, said that when the conference meets in Washington Nov. 17 his committee and an economic committee will suggest that "European unification should be studied in the NATO framework."

Uncover Scheme To Bring Chinese Into Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — An inquiry has been launched in Canada following a disclosure in Hong Kong of an organized scheme to smuggle Chinese into Canada and the United States under the cloak of fraudulent marriages.

The immigration department spokesman said Tuesday night that 12 persons, including two Chinese-Canadians, have been arrested in Hong Kong. The two Canadians have been convicted of perjury and sentenced to two years in jail.

He described the operation of the racket in this way. A Chinese who holds a valid Canadian or American passport, was paid $1,000 to go to Hong Kong, marry a Chinese woman, and return with her and one or more boys posing as her sons. Hong Kong records of relation.

The two Canadians were identified as Ching Ping Yin, a naturalized Canadian citizen, and Wong Sien Yin, both of Vancouver.

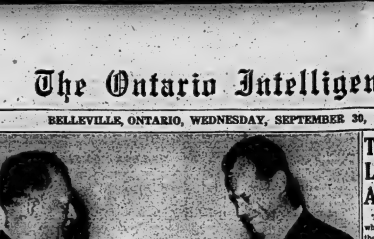
BOTH ALREADY WED

The spokesman said both men admitted to having been married when they went through the second ceremony in Hong Kong. Yin had a wife living in the British crown colony and the other had a wife in mainland China.

There was no immediate indication of whether any Chinese were brought to Canada under the racket.

"Every effort is being made to determine whether or not the fraudulent practices brought to light have ramifications in Canada," the department official said. Both Canadians and U.S. officials were seeking further information from Hong Kong authorities.

WOMAN TOLD POLICE



Reports are that the racket was exposed in August, when a Chinese woman told Hong Kong police she had been approached to marry a man and go to Canada with him, bringing three boys posing as her sons. The man was reported to have been paid $4,000 to carry out the deception.

There was no immediate indication here of the motivation behind the organized racket.

The department spokesman said that investigation thus far has shown no Canadian government official is involved.

Woman Faints When Bailiffs Come to Home

WHITBY (CP) — Mrs. Mary Findlay of this Oshawa district town told a court Tuesday she fainted and was later taken to hospital when two assistant bailiffs entered her house to repossess her husband's camera.

Roy Wallace and Robert Rice of Tuesday's suburban Scarborough pleaded not guilty Tuesday to a charge of forcibly entering the Findlay home.

Magistrate F. S. Ebbs reserved judgment until Oct. 20 following testimony at a preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Findlay said the men came to her home Aug. 19 and asked to see her husband who was at work.

She asked the men to come back the next morning but they said they didn't want to and "if they did they would kick the door down to get into the house."

She said she received a hard push on the shoulder and fell backward and the men walked into the house. A neighbor phoned police.

A former Alax constable, Lawrence Hoot, testified that Findlay fainted in the kitchen and was later treated at hospital.

He said the men carrying a lien warrant, had identification and were assistant bailiffs licensed by the Metropolitan Toronto licensing commission.

WATER STARTS FIRE

NORTH KINGSTOWN, R. I. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Dallas L. Sharp Jr. had visible proof Tuesday that water can set a fire. Investigating a smouldering fire door mat, they discovered that the sun shining through a jug of water kept to mix with bug poison had started the fire.

Customs Officer Mans Most Remote Station in North; Traffic Doubled in One Year

LITTLE GOLD CREEK, Y. T. (CP) — For four months of the year Leslie J. Millen sits high above the gold-bearing creeks of the Yukon manning a remote customs office.

His post, on the Alaska-Yukon border about 60 miles northwest of Dawson, Y. T., is the most westerly and northerly highway customs station in Canada.

The United States customs offices are located at Tok Junction, Alaska, on the Alaska Highway another 125 miles to the northwest. His nearest neighbor is at a roadhouse two miles inside Alaska, Dawson is the nearest community.

"It is about as remote as you can get," Mr. Millen, 44-year-old native of Vancouver who has been in the Yukon since 1927, said in an interview.

SUMMER HOLIDAY

"But it is like a summer holiday for me. The scenery is good and I meet a lot of interesting people."

The tiny white station is perched at the 4,200-foot level on the barrens, dome - shaped mountains of the central Yukon, high above the tree line where caribou make their annual migration. It contains the customs office and fully-equipped living quarters for himself and his family.

Mr. Millen joined the customs department in 1953 when anyone familiar with the country was sought to handle the duties at Little Gold Creek. The road had just been opened. He spends the other eight months of the year at Dawson customs office.

Early in June, Mr. Millen climbs his truck and follows the first snowplow along the "six-tymile" road from Dawson. He stays at the customs station until fall snow threatens to block the road.

"Last year a couple of Alaskans with two pick-up trucks got as far as the boundary from Dawson during the first week of October," he said. "Then they got stuck and were forced to leave their trucks there until this June."

FAMILY AT STATION

Mr. Millen's Quebec-born wife, Alice, and their two children, ranging from nine to 13 years, live at the station during July and August.

At the start of the season Mr. Millen brings out supplies for his stay.

"My wife makes trips back and forth for whatever we forget. We also can radio Dawson for other supplies and mail. We have been sent out with a tourist heading this way."

Between July and August, the customs office checks from 10 to 15 cars daily. The cars travel the route that leads from Dawson to the Alaska Highway at Tetlin Junction, Alaska.

Most of the tourists come from California, Texas and Alaska, but this year there were cars bearing Hawaiian, Mexican and German licence plates. This year traffic was double that in 1958.

NEW ROAD HELPED

Mr. Millen started to increase following the completion in 1954 of the highway between Dawson and Whitehorse, 346 miles to the south. This allowed tourists to make a loop through Dawson from the Alaska Highway, adding 190 miles to the Whitehorse-Alaska trip over the Alaska Highway.

Locals and hunters make up most of the June and September traffic along the narrow, rutted roadbed along the ridge of the mountains.

The "sixtymile" road dates back to the gold rush days of 1898-1900 as a trail to the old Alaska about 20 miles northwest of here." Mr. Millen said. "All the supplies for the gold diggers were brought along the valleys on pack and sled trains."

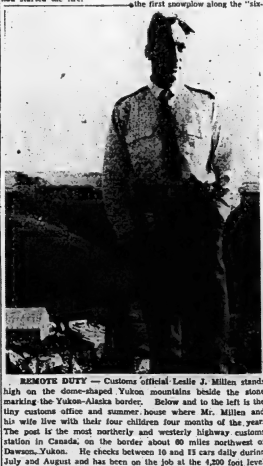
Today, the tracks, cut deep into the moss of the river valleys, still are visible.

Between 1937 and 1942 Mr. Millen worked as a gold dredger in the creeks around Dawson. At other time he has been a rural mail driver, a department store employee and a photographic processor.

PHOTOGRAPHY HOBBY

The job that gave him most satisfaction was confronted with photography, now his hobby.

A group of old glass contact prints from the studio of E. A. Adams and E.A. Hegg, two early Yukon photographers, were brought to him for processing because he had equipment to handle the negatives.



Mr. Millen processed 400, the Dominion Archives in Ottawa and the National Film Board each getting a full set. He has some 500 of the best mounted, which he shows to tourists.

The pictures are of gold seekers entering the Yukon in 1898 over the Chilcoot Pass, and of Dawson and the Yukon during the heyday of gold rush days.

The NFB used many of the prints he processed for its production City of Gold. Tourists carry away thousands of post cards and slides made from these prints.

LEATHER HOBBY

The first flexible fire hose in 1672, was made by sewing together the edges of leather strips.

Below and to the left is the tiny customs office and summer house where Mr. Millen and his wife live with their four children four months of the year. The post is the most northerly and westerly highway customs station in Canada, on the border about 60 miles northwest of Dawson, Yukon. He checks between 10 and 15 cars daily during July and August and has been on the job at the 4,200 foot level at Little Gold Creek station ever summer since 1953. (CP Photo).

Top Weatherman Leaves Post After 28 Years

TORONTO (CP) — A scientist who has scanned the skies from the South Pacific to the North Pole retires today as Canada's top weatherman.

Dr. Andrew Thomson, 65, director of the meteorological branch of the transport department since 1946, leaves the post after 36 years in public service.

Born in the little village of Dobbinton in Ontario's Grey County, Dr. Thomson has led a career which took him to the jungles of Brazil, New Zealand, the South Pacific island of Samoa and the northern regions of Norway.

After graduation from the University of Toronto and Harvard, he went to the Carnegie Institution in Washington in 1917. He was enlisted in the United States Army where he was assigned to work as personal aide to Thomas Edison, who was working on defence projects.

"Then, you know, was almost a Canadian," says Dr. Thomson. "His father was born here and fought in the Rebellion. I've got very high marks with him simply because I was a Canadian."

But life was the great man, whose photograph now hangs in Dr. Thomson's office, was not always easy. It was the assistant's job was to make a mathematical analysis of Edison's ideas and then make experimental tests.

"That's because you're a rotten mathematician," Edison told a man would say genially when his assistant brought in an adverse report.

While with the Carnegie Institute, Dr. Thomson went to Reading on a solar eclipse expedition; took a world cruise investigating atmospheric electricity and organized a storm warning service in the Hawaiian Islands while working at Samoa.

After work in New Zealand he became chief of the research division of Canada's meteorological service in 1931, and in 1946 was appointed controller of the Canadian weather service.

Dr. Thomson has provided data for the Commonwealth Air Training Plan during the Second World War, was awarded the Order of the British Empire for this work.

Leader Going To Bat for Station Lessees

OTTAWA (CP) — A leader of Ontario gasoline retailers said Tuesday his organization is going to bat for service station lessees threatened by oil companies with unstaffed outlets.

Doug Fletcher, managing director of the Ontario Retail Gasoline Service Station Dealers Association, said the association has engaged counsel to fight the Supreme Alaska trip over the Alaska Highway. Court ruling that a lessee is not an "average" in court cases against oil firms.

He told the association's three-day annual convention of a case the organization financed and obtained a Supreme Court writ putting a lessee back in a service station that had been taken over by a company only four days before.

"It is the first time in our association's history, and probably of many other groups, that we have forced the landlord to give back a station to a lessee," he said.

U.S. Officials Study Ways To Boost Trade With Russia But Long-Term Credits Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials are considering a series of possible measures to improve trade relations between Russia and the United States in the wake of the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev said last week trade improvement could be considered one test of U.S. goodwill in promoting world peace.

Nevertheless, officials believe that any large increase in the exchange of goods between the two countries is out of the question.

WARY OF CREDIT

The reason given boils down to this: The United States does not need large volume of raw materials such as chrome and manganese which Russia would be able to sell, because it gets them from other sources. Nor will this country grant huge credits to Moscow to finance what it wants to buy here.

Russia is more interested in buying whole factories than it is in purchasing consumer goods or raw materials of immediate strategic importance.

It was learned that factories which could be put into production of primary consumer goods in the United States, it is understood, would be built up its chemical and plastics industries. And it wants long-term credits to pay for them.

INTENTIONS LIMITED

U.S. officials are thinking in much more limited terms.

Among developments under consideration is removal of embargoes on crab meat and a variety of furs which the Soviet Union has to sell.

There is also some talk among officials of narrowing the list of items which now are prohibited from shipment to Russia because they might directly contribute to Russia's military strength.

Typhoon Vera's Toll Exceeds Worst on Record

TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon Vera today was assessed officially as the worst storm disaster in Japan's history.

The Pyrrhic toll of known dead reach 3,174. The previous high—1,066 killed—was recorded in the typhoon Muroto in 1934.

In addition, 1,778 persons still are missing. Police said all casualty figures might be increased when full reports from areas are restored with devastated areas.

Today 2,419 injured have been reported.

Vera smashed into thickly populated central Japan Saturday night with 160-mile-an-hour winds.

Damage estimates so far have reached $261,000,000 and are still climbing. Vast areas of crops were ruined. Sea walls were breached, rivers flooded from the torrential rains, ships disabled, houses smashed and communications disrupted.

FOOD LACKING

Nagoya, Japan's third largest city, was left in wreckage. Officials there feared outbreaks of dysentery and typhoid and appealed for medicines, doctors and nurses. There was also a serious food shortage in the city.

Loblaws Face Stamp Charge At Winnipeg

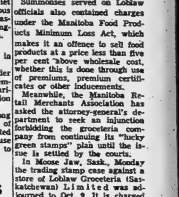
WINNIPEG (CP) — City police laid charges Tuesday against Loblaw Groceterias Company Limited under federal and provincial statutes forbidding the issuing of trading stamps.

Police said the provincial attorney - general's department gave the go-ahead Monday after studying a report by detectives who visited Loblaws supermarkets, purchased goods and received "lucky green stamps."

The stamps—one for every 10 cents worth of merchandise purchased—can be accumulated and exchanged by customers for specified "gifts."

Loblaw officials have said they do not think the scheme contravenes federal law banning trading stamps.

Summonses served on Loblaw officials also contained charges under the Manitoba Food Products Minimum Loss Act, which makes it an offence to sell food products at a price less than five per cent 'above wholesale cost, whether this is done through use of premiums, premium certificates or other inducements.



Meanwhile, the Manitoba Retail Merchants Association has asked the attorney-general's department to seek an injunction forbidding the groceteria company from continuing its "lucky green stamps" plan until the issue is settled by the courts.

In Moose Jaw, Sask., Monday the trading stamp case against a store of Loblaw Groceteria (Saskatchewan) Limited was adjourned to Oct. 9. It is charged with issuing stamps in breach of section 369 of the Criminal Code.

In Toronto, David A. Gilbert, general manager of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada, Inc., said Monday he and other association officials met with Crown prosecutor Henry Bull Monday to discuss trading stamps legality.

Discussions are taking place concerning all major stamp plans but an announcement in reference to possible prosecutions would be premature, said Mr. Gilbert.

Foreign Investment, Upsurge In Exports Needed Report

By DAVID GANCIA
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Organization for European Economic Co-operation says Canada's further recovery from the recent recession now depends largely on the revival of foreign investment and an upsurge in exports.

In a 31-page report on economic conditions in Canada, the organization says this is because much of the additional demand for consumer goods is being met by imports and housing construction already is declining.

Both house building and consumer spending were important factors in the recent recovery.

The study released Monday is part of the OEEC's annual review of recent developments in member countries. Both Canada and the United States are specials members of the organization, dedicated to the task of progressively reducing trade barriers.

18-MONTH PERIOD

The survey "represents the agreed view of the organization as a whole" and covers the 18-month period ending in mid-1959.

The OEEC views as promising the outlook for both increased investment and higher exports.

"Although short - term variations in total investment spending and its major components can occur, non-residential fixed investment is building up strength in a wide range of industries," says the survey.

"With enlarged inventory and capital spending and the tight lending policy of chartered banks increased relief to the capital market could develop as the expansion proceeds."

Canada also was in a good position to increase exports. There was a significant expansion in the productive capacity of the country's basic export industries, such as petroleum, base metals and forest products.

EXPORTS TO U.S. UP

Exports to the U.S. began to increase during the current year and in recent months have fully reflected the earlier increase in American industrial production.

"As a result of rising activity in Europe and the progressive extension of dollar liberalization, Canada's exports to Europe—particularly in industrial materials—are expected to increase."

The survey says the expansion so far has been proceeding "in a relatively well-balanced fashion." Strengthening demand and production had developed in a growing proportion of industries, but inflationary demand pressures had not appeared.

The study notes that both the government and the Bank of Canada have taken action early to reduce the risk of inflationary pressures as the expansion proceeds.

In its review of the country's recovery from the recession, the organization highlights these points:

1. A reversal of the liquidation of stocks, rising consumer demand and a sharp increase in house building have been the main factors in the upswing.

2. Business non - residential fixed investment has continued decline.

3. Exports, so far, have not given a clear upward trend. There were significant declines in 1958 in the traditional metals, minerals and forestry products. These were offset by higher exports of beef, wheat (because of shipments under the Colombo Plan), uranium, agricultural implements and aircraft.

4. Imports have been rising strongly since the last quarter of 1958.

5. Economic policy, which contributed significantly to alleviate the recession, recently has been modified to reduce the dangers of re - emergence of inflationary tendencies at a later stage.

6. Steps have been taken to reduce the size of the budget deficit and government borrowing; the period of monetary expansion has ceased and interest rates have been allowed to rise.

WITCHCRAFT MURDER

LOSAITH, Bechuanaland (Reuters) — Two Africans were charged Monday with murdering a nine-year-old girl and distributing parts of their victim to be used as medicine by people who watched the killing. The trial is the first of four in which a total of 19 tribesmen will be charged with a series of medicine murders involving four victims.

Crosby Show Disappointment But Writer Liked Moore Hour

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — People camers with two very funny sequences.

who enjoy, watching Bing Crosby sing had a golden opportunity Tuesday night—almost a solid 60 minutes, in fact—as that well-known golfer and parent made one of his occasional television appearances.

But The Bing Crosby Show was a disappointment largely of such hard-working, talented guests as Frank Sinatra, Peggy Lee and Louis Armstrong. Crosby seemed indifferent and tired. The sets were ornate and dowdy — and what conversation there was seemed pretty tired stuff. Bing's age and his money, Sinatra's lean frame. The songs, however, were pleasant, mostly old familiar ones.

Infinitely more entertaining was the opening Garry Moore show on CBS. Moore had great comedy help from Carol Burnett, Durward Kirby and Marion Lorne. There was Vic Damone and Jane Powell, both in excellent voice—and a sow feature, Allen Funt and his candid

The premier of CBS-The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis had the misfortune to turn up at the moment when, on ABC, the Braves and the Dodgers were tied in a critical extra-inning game.

I don't buy shoes from my butcher, and I don't need comedians to supply my enlightenment and uplift. Let Steve Allen, Jack Paar and — yes, Dave Garroway — stick to chuckle-making and leave the lecturing to others.

Allen's curious exhortation in the middle of an alleged comedy show that we all buy and read The Conduct of Life was oddly out of context. And I resented his suggestion that if I didn't like the book that I "turn in my head."

Cliff Arquette was accidentally stuck in a guillotine during the taping of his first Charley Weaver Bobby Lobby, and the result was so funny, the producer thought, they've left it in tonight's ABC show. . . . Some memorable talk should be created on a forthcoming Small World show (CBS) when Jackie Gleason, Irish playwright Brendan Behhn and John Mason Brown hold a three-way conversation. . . .

Recommended tonight: The Lineup, CBS, 7:30-8:30 EDT—expanded and revised version of the police action show; Charley Weaver's Hobby Lobby, premiere, ABC, 8; Men into Space, premiere, CBS, 8:30—rockets, orbits, spaceships and William Lundigan; Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 — season debut with Walter Brennon and Peggy King; Wichita Town, premiere, 10:30—Joel McCrea in still another western series.

Shurlock and Aides Likened To Supreme Court Justices

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In Hollywood, they Started With a Kiss, Debbie Reynolds hops in to bed nude with Eddie Fisher, an air force general (Fred Clark) thinking he is her sergeant-husband Glenn Ford.

The scene evokes guffaws at every performance, as well as some raised eyebrows. Such risque baldry could never have been shown in a Hollywood movie until the last year or two.

"I think sex is all right when it's shown in an amusing manner and not done sensationally," argues Ford.

Apparently the production code office agreed, for it okayed the scene. It has been approving a lot of things that never would have been passed in the time of Will Hays. Even such words as bitch (Anatomy of a Murder) and whore (A Farewell to Arms) and subjects like abortion (Blue Denim).

THE FINAL WORD

But though moral attitudes change, the code office still functions the way it did when movie czar Hays handed Joseph Breen censorial reins over Hollywood. Breen's successor, Geoffrey Shurlock, has virtually the final say-so on what can and cannot appear in films.

Shurlock and his aides have been likened to supreme court justices. The code is their constitution. They interpret it in keeping with the times—"steering between sensation - seekers and prudes.

"I think Shurlock might have let us use the word 'abortion' in Blue Denim," says Frank McCarthy, 20th-Fox contact with the code office. "It is certainly seen in newspapers and the front covers of family magazines like the Saturday Evening Post and Reader's Digest. But because the word was specifically banned by the code, Shurlock had no choice but to make us use 'illegal operation' instead."

Shurlock's advice is available from start to end of a film project, and even those who oppose any censorship praise his help. A studio considering a story property might ask his opinion of Cat on a Hot Tin Roof or Compulsion.

His reply wool be that the works were unacceptable in their original form because the subject of homosexuality is forbidden on the screen. The studios still might buy the stories — and did—figuring they could lick Shurlock's objections.

Producers generally send drafts or shooting scripts to the code office. If objections are raised, producers may submit, or else shoot the scene two ways, hoping the more daring one will win approval.

The actual product is the final test. A racy scene may have been saved by the good taste of the director. In it stays. The neckline of the leading lady may plunge too perilously. Out it goes.

The Shurlock office word is final, unless the producer wants to appeal to the presidents of all the companies. But that cumbersome process is seldom used.

Leafs Shade Sudbury 2-1

SUDBURY (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League scored two goals in the final eight minutes to defeat Sudbury Wolves of the Eastern Professional Hockey League 2-1 Tuesday night before 3,991 fans.

The Wolves were nursing a 1-0 lead from early in the first period before Frank Mahovlich and Bob Pulford scored late in the third period to give the Leafs the win. Toronto and Detroit Red Wings jointly sponsor the Sudbury team.

The Wolves borrowed five regulars from the Leafs for the game, defencemen Marc Reaume and Allan Stanley and the forward line of Ted Hampson, Gary Edmundson and Johnny Wilson.

Sam Pollio, former National League with the Boston Bruins, scored Sudbury's only goal.

The Leafs outshot the Wolves 34-21. It was Toronto's sixth win in its current exhibition tour. The club has lost one and tied once.

Mahovlich's goal continued his current scoring streak. It was his fourth goal in two nights. He scored three times and assisted twice in Toronto's 11-1 win Monday over Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds of the EPHL.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

The "Brooklyn" Dodgers sheathed in California sunshine, smog and Los Angeles uniforms, are just as daffy on the coast as they were along the banks of the "fragrant" Gowanus, but out there they call it "amazing."

Call a rose by any other name, if you will, the fact remains these "Amazing Bums" pulled a sensational upset yesterday by defeating the Milwaukee Braves 6-5 in 13 innings and now combat the Chicago White Sox in what might be baseball's richest world series.

And pitch-wise Manager Walter Alston of the Dodgers figures he is'alting pretty insofar as the important first tilt goes for he has a pitcher named Roger Craig, currently the hottest mound artist, ready and rarin' to go. A veteran Dodger hand, Craig was almost forgotten until this season when he became an ace in the Bums' drive for the bunting.

With a nice new contract calling for the highest salary ever paid a White Sox manager or player, Senor Al Lopez, of the Chisox has an ace ready to match the foemen. He will likely start aging Early Wynn, 39, who topped the major leagues with 22 victories and was the only 20-game winner of the American circuit.

The first two games will be played in Comiskey Park, Chicago, with the championship then shifting to Los Angeles for the third, fourth and if necessary, the fifth games. If needed the sixth and seventh will be played in Chicago with a day of travel interrupting play when the clubs shift parks.

The Los Angeles Coliseum which seats 90,000 could make this the richest series of all time. Comiskey Park has a seating capacity of 46,550.

The Chicago games will start at one p.m., Eastern Daylight Chicago time, or 2 p.m. here, and four p.m. EDT in Los Angeles or five p.m. here, allowing for the hour's difference in Chicago time.

The playful Bums, agitter and agles, the only club to win the National League pennant after finishing seventh the year before, dropped into Chicago today for a workout. Milwaukee dropped into the beer metropolis wondering what happened.

As far as the White Sox are concerned they welcomed, in a way, the one-day delay because of their walking in standard condition for the important series. Relaxed, but with a brissed hand. With Wynn, it could be different. He goes best with three days' rest. Four may make a difference. Southpaw Billy Pierce could be a likely starter in the second game, which would give young Bob Shaw, young righthander with an 18-6 record, the assignment for the third tilt.

The boys who make the odds in these year-end baseball classics are reported to have figured the Dodgers if they win the National League playoff as 11-10 underdogs against the Chicago White Sox and the Braves, if they copped the loop pennant, the same odds over the Windy City gang.

The B-B boys apparently pay no attention apparently to the records of the former series, for they reveal that the odds have been 4-1 on a team that's a runaway winner in its own league meeting up in the world series with an opponent that has had a tough way to go, will keep right on winning the honors.

The advantage of going into the world series well rested apparently overcomes the disadvantage of any physical or psychological let-down that might set in during an interlude between an early pennant clincher and the series opener.

The strength of a team able to win practically in its stride in its own league, usually is more than sufficient to stand off the momentum of a challenger that has just come through a gruelling down-to-the-wire fight in its own circuit.

It is somewhere about fifteen teams that have taken the field well rested and faced opponents who had to go down to the last week, and in most cases, the last days, to gain the right to meet them. - And of the 15 well-rested teams all but four went right on through to the world title. These were the 1906 Chicago Cubs, the 1916 Cubs, the 1946 Red Sox and the 1957 Yankees. The teams that beat them—teams that had to fight to a finish in their own league—were the 1906 White Sox, the 1918 Red Sox, the 1946 Cardinals and the 1957 Braves.

Dodgers Grab Flag From Braves In 12th Innings

Milwaukee Blows 5-2 Lead As 'Bums' Tie It in Ninth; Single, Error Decides Game

LOS ANGELES (CP)—Los Angeles Dodgers, one of this year's most bewildering baseball puzzles' scampered into the world series Tuesday with an astonishing 6-5 victory over Milwaukee Braves.

A 12th-inning infield single by Carl Furillo and a wild throw by Felix Mantilla gave the Dodgers a two-game sweep of the National League pennant playoff.

The Dodgers, who finished the regular schedule tied for first place with Milwaukee, won the first playoff game 3-2. They meet the American League champion Chicago White Sox in the world series starting at Chicago Thursday.

It was truly a great comeback for the Dodgers, a team that established seventh after reeling through the 1958 campaign like a gang of crippled roller skaters. But with largely the same team this season they pulled an incredible stunt, although nobody knows precisely what kept them up in the race.

LAST-DITCH RALLY

Trailing 5-2 and shackled by Lew Burdette's pitching mastery Tuesday, the Dodgers chased the Milwaukee righthander by tying the score in the bottom of the ninth inning.

Each team loaded the bases in the 11th, but it remained for the 12th inning to touch off a real explosion by the slim crowd of 36,528 at Los Angeles Coliseum.

This was the situation just before the four-hour, six - minute struggle ended.

Stan Williams, sixth Dodger pitcher, relieved Bob Trish. Williams struck Burdette out, then pitching as though they expected to stay all night. The lights were on in the score stood at 5-5.

Wally Moon, Dodgers' leadoff hitter, popped out. Williams, who threw two hitless and scoreless relief innings, filed out.

THEN THEY STARTED

But Gil Hodges walked and catcher Charley Neal also singled to left.

Furillo, 37-year-old outfielder, hit a pitch sharply through the box toward second base. Mantilla, the second baseman who replaced Johnny Logan at shortstop in the seventh inning, raced behind second to make a play.

His throw to first was low to first baseman Frank Torre and bounced away. Hodges, who had held up at third, raced home with the winning run.

The Dodgers thus became the first National League club to finish seventh one season and win the pennant the next.

Teammates mobbed Hodges as he scored to give them their 11th pennant.

MANTILLA WEEPS

Mantilla, with tears in his eyes, explained his throwing play:

"It was the only play I had. I was off balance when I grabbed the ball. I had to get rid of it."

His look over a shortstop after Norm Larker winded Logan during a slide.

Milwaukee manager Fred Haney refused to criticize Mantilla.

"Give the other club credit," he said. "They came from behind and beat us fair and square. I'm not ashamed of my ball club. They played good ball and got beat, that's all."

GREATEST SEASON

Commented Dodger manager Walt Alston: "No season gave me more of a thrill than this one. It was Don Drysdale in the first inning and continued to peck away at Johnny Podres and Roger Churn.

Burdette, a dignity workman who won 21 games for the Braves, suddenly weakened.

Three straight singles by Moon, Duke Snider and Hodges loaded the bases with nobody out in the ninth, touching off a furious master-minding duel between Alston and Haney.

STARTS FITCHERS' MARCH

Haney called for Don Mossi, right-handed reliefer, to replace Larker. Larker lined a 1-1 pitch off the left-field screen, scoring Moon and pinch-runner Bobby Lillis.

Haney then called on Warren Spahn, his 39-game winning veteran southpaw, to pitch to Roseboro, a left-handed batter.

Alston replaced Roseboro with Furillo, who filed out and scored Hodges from third with the tying run.

Almost overlooked was Mathews's 46th homer with nobody on in the fifth, giving him the league home run title.

They Took It Gamely In Milwaukee

By F. H. BORDMEN

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The man tried gamely to keep his upper lip stiff enough to down a bit of the stuff that made Milwaukee famous.

But you could see that it was only a gallant masquerade to hide a broken heart and the aforesaid lip quivered as it met the foamy collar on his stein.

"So we lost the pennant," he said in a choked voice which he tried to make casual and carefree. "The Dodgers beat us in the twelfth. Okay so we lost. That's nothing to cry about."

He bent his neck forward for another gulp but the effort was too much. He straightened and wiped his eyes with a knuckle of his drinking hand.

"Caught cold in the ninth when somebody left the door open," he explained. "Makes my eyes water. Looks like we're gonna have an early frost."

He paused and managed a gook-aided swallow before a fit of coughing racked his shoulders mightily.

"Like I said," he continued after the spasm, "We got nothing to cry about. It's just a game, sins it? Sure. And we've had the series here for two straight years and that's enough for any town. We should share things in the good old American way."

His shoulders shook again and he wiped his tears away with a somewhat damp handkerchief.

He stumbled to the door. At the threshold he paused in reflection and turned around slowly as if a great light of truth was dawning.

His voice was firm and strong carrying authority as of old, as he said:

"Say I just got thinkin', Red

Los Angeles Whooped It Up After Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles whooped it up Tuesday in noisy celebration of the Dodgers' National League pennant victory.

The crowd in the Coliseum erupted into prolonged cheering when the winning run came across for a 6-5 victory over Milwaukee to win the best-of-three playoff 2-0, in the 12th inning.

Thousands of automobiles, their horns blaring, stopped in the downtown interchange where three freeways converge. They remained at a standstill for at least three minutes of boisterous honking.

Streets screamed on Skyroad Street outside the plastered Hilton Motel, playoff headquarters. Inside, fans yelled and toasted the victory.

President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers, with three boxes of cigars under his arm, paraded out of the lobby, headed for a victory celebration.

The winning run brought roars from bars jammed with television watchers and from office buildings where work had gone by the boards all afternoon.

Pedestrians strolled the street with transistor sets glued to their ears.

A steel worker at a plant on strike didn't miss a pitch. He carried a portable television set while marching the picket line.

Aaron, Mathews Finish Tops In Batting

NEW YORK (AP) — Hank Aaron of Milwaukee won the 1959 National League batting championship Tuesday with a .355 average. It was his second batting title. He won it with a .328 average in 1956.

Aaron, who paced the senior circuit batsmen from the opening week of the season, collected two hits in four official tries Tuesday as the Braves bowed to Los Angeles in the second and final playoff game for the pennant. Aaron wound up with a 10-point lead over Joe Cunningham of St. Louis.

Eddie Mathews' sixth - inning homer in Tuesday's game gave the Braves' third baseman the home run championship with 46.

A crowd of 4,300 watched the British team, known as the Lions, dominate every aspect of play as they roared to a half-time lead of 31-0.

Eastern Canada got on the scoreboard in the second half with a 35-yard penalty goal by Jim Adam, Montreal Westmount, and scored a try near the end of the match by Connor McGeenaty, Montreal Irish centre. Adam missed an easy convert.

It was the last game of a long tour for the British team, on their way home after playing in Australia and New Zealand.

U of T Blues Appear Cinch To Repeat in Intercollegiate

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Unless the other three clubs have some surprises up their sleeves this year, the University of Toronto Blues probably will have little trouble winning their second straight senior intercollegiate football title.

That's the opinion of observers after a month of preseason training and a few exhibition games.

The schedule, reduced to 12 from last year's 14 games, opens Friday night when Blues play host to Montreal's McGill University Redmen. The other two teams get into action Saturday afternoon at Kingston when the University of Western Ontario Mustangs visit Queen's University Golden Gaels.

Coach Dail White, drawing from a vast supply of talent, has apparently succeeded in filling the 20 holes created when players left the team after last year's undefeated and untied record.

GOOD REPLACEMENTS

White lost his first-string offensive backfield but has come up with some promising replacements such as Nick Sopinka at quarterback and halfbacks Jim Murchie, Joe Foreman and Bobby Dann, a holdover who didn't see much offensive duty last year.

Among those returning to the Blues are the Ball twins, Sandy and Malcolm, Trevor Eyton, Morgan Dever, Waldee Theodorn, Mike Chykaliuk and John Evans, all linemen.

Milt Jewell has the task of filling in for all-star Curt Russell, who graduated last spring.

Most of the Toronto players are hometown boys. Among the others are Chykaliuk, a native of Edmonton, and Pete Potter of Niagara Falls, Ont., who will do the punting and placement kicking.

UWO STRONG

Mustangs rate as Blues' strongest opponents. Coach Johnny Metras has 19 holdovers from last year's second-place team. In an exhibition game, however, the Londoners showed little in the way of speed as they dropped a 25-7 game to Toronto.

One of Mustangs weakest spots appears to be at the corner linebacking position. Metras will probably be forced to use his twin fullbacks, holdovers Mero Pulin and Lionel Conacher, in those positions.

Frank Cosentino appears to be strong enough at quarterback to give Mustangs a good passing attack.

The rest of the backfield seems set with George Shepherd of Port Colborne, John Sloan of Cornwall, Lorne Fortner of Burlington, back from last year. In addition John Wydarency and Brent Mundy both products of London's Medway High School, showed plenty of promise in training camp.

Along the line Metras has a fair wall of holdovers, Bill Mitchell, centre, Jim Edgar, John Partington and Jack Barclay, guards, and Dennis Bradley and John Humphrey, tackles, are back. Metras' son John is expected to have centre duties with Mitchell.

McGILL DOUBTFUL

Coach Bruce Coulter of McGill isn't overly hopeful of beating Toronto for the championship but he figures his club has an outside chance of finishing second.

Coulter says his team is lighter than last year. He plans to operate from wider offensive formations. In 1958 the Redmen stuck mainly with a tight-T.

Although short of depth, Coulter has some fine linemen in all-star Paul Harrisimenczc, tackle Tom Stoll, a first-stringer with University of Maryland two years ago, and centre Leo Konyk.

One of Coulter's other few bright spots is halfback Carl Hagen, a native of West Hampton, N.Y., who missed last season because of torn knee ligaments.

The biggest vacancy to fill on the club will be Dick Carr's quarterback position. Carr, a passer for three years, graduated. John Roberts is expected to take Carr's place.

GAELS BETTER

Coach Frank Tindall's Golden Gaels appear somewhat stronger than last season when they won two games but lost three, both in terms of a championship.

"Another year, another quarterback," he said wistfully.

His charges are going into their fifth straight season with a new quarterback.

"I'm getting used to it now, but it would be nice to have the same guy around a couple of years so I don't have to start over each September," he said.

FOUR TRYING OUT

He has four potential pivots.

"Right now I can't say who'll start Saturday," Tindall said. "In any case all four will probably be dressed and will see action in defensive roles."

Bidding for the job are Terry Porter, a converted fullback; Dave Fritchs, 24, who undertudied the regulars for the last two seasons; Kent Plumley, up from the intermediate Comets, and Gary West, a newcomer with Queen's last season.

Coach Tindall has to defeat Mc-Gill's Redmen 6-4 in an exhibition game.

Dick Pasicki, 190 - pounder from Western Canada is slated to replace the injured Dudley. Veterans Mike Wickham and Robin Ritchie are returning and Mike Pettitt and Brian Todd are also potential first stringers.

Gaels still suffer from a lack of depth, however.

Pitts Leads Western Scorers

WINNIPEG (CP) — End Ernie Pitts of Winnipeg Blue Bombers tops the scorers in the Western Interprovincial Football Union without a close rival although he went scoreless in his only game of the last week.

Pitts, the Bombers' most consistent pass catcher, took the ball for good gains as his team downed Edmonton Eskimos 13-10 Monday night, but didn't score and still has 13 touchdowns for 78 points.

Winnipeg quarterback Jim Van Pelt, 17 points back, moved into second place by picking up seven points during the week for a total of 55.

Placement specialist Doug Brown of Calgary Stampeders moved into third place ahead of another kicker, Vic Kristopaitis of British Columbia Lions, Brown now has 33 points compared with 30 for Kristopaitis.

Argos Waiver Johnny Green

TORONTO (CP) — Johnny Green, 21 - year - old rookie quarterback from the University of Chattanooga, may go to Pittsburgh Steelers if nobody wants him in Canada.

The young ball player was placed on waivers Tuesday by Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Football Union. At the same time, tackle Nick Mumley from Toronto Argos to Philadelphia Eagles, was released.

Pittsburgh, of the U.S. National Football League, "has been after Green since early in the season," said manager Lew Hayman of the Argos.

"Coach Buddy Parker believes he has a future, just as we do. But it will take time and teaching. At Pittsburgh, he'll have the teacher in Bobby Layne."

Baseball Leafs Sign Agreement With Indians

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs have signed a full-season agreement with Cleveland Indians, good until the end of the 1960 baseball season, Leaf owner Jack Kent Cooke said Tuesday night.

Leafs, of the International League, will be the senior farm team for the American League club and will train at Florida's Daytona Beach, home for Cleveland farm teams.

Cooke, returning from a business trip, said the deal was sealed after Frank Lane, Cleveland's executive vice - president, made overtures to me in Los Angeles."

"I was very keen on this agreement," said Cooke. "It ensures us a first-class club for our last year in the International League and enables us to devote more time to gathering a group of players capable of performing in the Continental League of 1961."

Cooke holds the Toronto franchise in the Continental League, scheduled to operate as a third major league in 1961.

Leafs will have first choice of players demoted by the Indians. The agreement replaces one the Indians had with the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League.

Toronto has had no major-league tie-up since the agreement with the old St. Louis Browns was dissolved in 1952.

SAY HURRICANE

the hurricane is an arc north eastward.

"The only place she'll touch land is Cape Cod," Sullivan said sometime Thursday afternoon, but she'll be much weakened by then," a weather office spokesman said. "It won't be a hurricane."

For the area of Hazel's depredation, the official forecast was for rain this afternoon which "should follow up the St. Lawrence valley."

Winds of 20 to 30 miles an hour are forecast for the Great Lakes region—"hardly a hurricane."

SEARS IN HARBOR

St. John's, Nfld., reported about 40 Portuguese fishing boats which sought shelter from bad weather on the Grand Banks during the weekend were still there. They won't move until all danger from hurricane Gracie is past.

Gracie's training Minister Nickie Tuesday warned civil defence organizations and conservation authorities to be on guard until the hurricane danger has passed.

"Weather reports should be watched carefully," he said.

The Canadian Army Central Command at Oakville was also put on the alert in case Gracie made an unforeseen move.

Weather office spokesmen said early today Gracie seems to be diminishing quickly as a threat to Canada.

However, with the hurricane season reaching toward its peak, they were keeping close watch on Gracie and on another young lady following in her footsteps from the Bermuda area. Her name is Hannah.

BURY CITY

LONDON (CP) — There are nearly 18,000 more unfilled jobs than unemployed in the London area, making it the best employment centre in Britain, says the ministry of labor.

THE PAW THAT UNDRESSES — Robert Smith, 47, of Buffalo, learned that the leopard's paw wasn't the only thing offered as a sign of friendship. The beast tore Smith's left sleeve off and inflicted head and arm lacerations. Smith ended up with his own cage—30 days in Kire County jail—on a vagrancy charge. The picture was snapped by an amateur photographer at the leopard caught Smith's sleeves. (AP Wirephoto).

High School Activities

September being nearly over, the Public Section of BCIVS have settled into the daily routine. New clubs are being organized, teams have been formed, and the old clubs have begun a new year. Grade nines are being initiated into the mysteries of Out Slips, Late Slips, Detention Slips, Excuse Slips, Health Room Slips, and Admit Slips, — and speaking of Grade nines, what has happened? When your reporters enquired as to the glamour of Grade eight to the embarrassment of Grade nine, we were horrified to find that we were all wrong — our clothes, our hairdos, our lack of make-up, our "gee whiz" and all branded us as squares. This year, meandering around the classrooms and halls in the splendid aura of Grade twelve and thirteen, we notice that the Grade nines are all lipsticked, squash-heeled, and curly headed — or, in the case of the other sex, hair tonized, crew necked, and brush cut. Our pedestal of superiority crumbles under us, as we realize that the Grade nines this year are a group of which BCIVS may be proud.

The first weeks of school have been busy ones. The Students' Council, under the direction of Martin Hughes, with his able executive: Frances Dickens, Donna Anderson, Alan Bradford, Ruth Slavin, and Peter Annis, held its first meeting at noon Thursday. The newly - elected class presidents and club representatives were present at this meeting and it looks like a really good council.

The Girls' and Boys' Hi-Y and Key and Keyette Clubs have been beating the drum and tooting the horn for new members. These will be initiated at the Boys' Hi-Y Dance at BCIVS on October sixth. Skull and woolly ceremonies at the dance will climax a week of embarrassment for the initiates.

A few BCIVS students, (one of these reporters included), recently spent a wonderful trip to Stratford with a whole army of students from the School across the river (QCSS). Buses took the visitors up and back and loud cheers for each school were heard through the windows in every town. Arriving at Stratford, the voyagers were lucky to have really good seats for the marvelous play "As You Like It". The performances gave all who saw it a new interest in and appreciation of Shakespeare, and we are sure that all the BCIVS participants would like to thank QSS for this opportunity.

Turning to sports, more than 500 enthusiastic fans cheered both Senior and Junior teams to victories over the highly - rated Moira Secondary School squads. The games, played on the QSS field, resulted in a 12 to 1 score for the Juniors, while our Senior boys squeaked powerfully through with a score of 8 to 7. The members of both teams played outstanding games and got the football season off to a great start.

School spirit was very much in evidence at the great majority of the spectators used their lungs to the best advantage. The cheerleaders were assisted in their work by a group of grade nine girls and thirteen students including Paul Yanover, Marils Hughes, Pete Annis and Colin Box. These and others formed an unofficial Pep Club awl stirred the crowd to cheer for our team.

The cheerleaders had a busy week. Chosen by a panel of judges on Monday, they were joined consisting of Julie Bradford, Glenys Dickey, Elizabeth Linscott, Ruth Slavin and Trinia Janitch, and the Junior team, made up of Helen MacArthur, Vivie Skelly, Helen Walsh, Toni Porter, Patti Bradford, and Heather Dunno, appeared in assembly Wednesday, and were out in full force at Thursday's game.

The students' council undertook their first project last Wednesday when they sponsored the "Kick-Off Caper". This Tea Dance was well attended by students from all five high schools, and everyone enjoyed themselves greeting old friends and re-hashing summer romances.

The Girls' Hi-Y began their schedule of projects when several of the members went apply-picking on Saturday to raise money for their service work.

The Keyette Club has also been busy. At the beginning of the school year, they staged a "Used Book Sale", and B.C.I.V.S. students welcomed this opportunity to buy and sell books. Keyette also relived wonderful memories of last year's grade nine days when they saw the movie "South Pacific" hero in Belleville.

The Girls' Athletic Society, under its executive, Phyllis Walsh, Betty Wallbridge, Joyce Smith and Pat Miller, is currently engaged in revising the constitution. When completed, the new constitution will enable the society to be a more effective directorial body of B.C.I.V.S. girls' sports.

Early September students look forward eagerly to the first Friday night dance — and this year was really worth the anticipation. Moira Secondary School held its first dance in the B.C.I.V.S. gym last Friday night, and it was the best first dance we remember. The decorated gym was packed with high school students and everybody had a good time.

Congratulations M.S.S. for such an outstanding dance.

French Assembly Tests Electric Voting System

PARIS (AP)—The national assembly in the old Palais Bourbon Monday took the least-controversial vote in its long and tumultuous history. Deputies called in 480 assembly employees to play the role of deputies in order to test a new electronic voting system. Each desk has three buttons to vote yes, no or abstain.

In the past, deputies walked down to a big urn and dropped in black or white balls signifying yes or no, or voted by a show of hands—often leading to hours of haggling and violent argument.

Monday's vote was inconclusive. Technicians said a few tests will be made before the machines can be entrusted to the deputies.

by a huge wave kicked up by the storm.

All over the Carolinas and in border Georgia areas Tuesday, balmy Indian summer dissolved into heavy rain and cool, strong winds. Several inches of rain fell, threatening floods in some rivers.

Homes, farm buildings and crops were damaged in Gracie's path through inland South Carolina. At Charleston, an insurance company spokesman said probably four out of every five houses were damaged at least $200 or so each.

As much as 75 per cent of Charleston was without power at one time or another.

Meanwhile, another hurricane, Hannah, was being tracked out in the Atlantic. She was located Tuesday night about 1,000 miles east of Palm Beach, Fla., with peak winds of 100 miles an hour. If Hannie reaches forecasters said she likely will hit the mainland a few days from now, perhaps in this same are.

State militia were called out in Georgia and other battered South Carolina communities to discourage looting and help in cleanup operations.

Australia made a start on growing a commercial soybean crop in 1938, with the planting of 1,500 acres.

Hoffa Will Not Move to Oust Three Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa says he won't bring union ouster charges against three Teamsters chiefs named to the union's court-named overseers.

The Teamsters president also told reporters Monday he can appeal the five Teamsters officials disqualified by criminal records from holding office under the new United States labor control law. He said they will be eligible again in January and have been given on leave of absence until then.

The law forbids a man from holding union office within five years of a criminal conviction. Hoffa explained that bonding requirements under the new labor law will cost his union labout $350,000 instead of the $74,000 for which he said the union has obtained the same coverage against mishandling of funds.

The monitors, named by a federal court to check on Teamsters affairs, had recommended that Hoffa bring ouster trials against Jozy Gilmore, Chicago local local chief; Harold Gross, a Minneapolis, and Anthony Provenzano, head of the New Jersey joint council.

All had been involved in Senate rackets committee testimony about alleged payoffs and misuse of union funds.

"We have answered every one of the monitor charges in writing based on statements from the individuals involved," Hoffa said.

The monitors met again with Hoffa Monday night in trying to iron out other mounting conflicts. Half a dozen court actions are in the works seeking to get Hoffa's compliance.

One of these seeks the ouster of Hoffa on charges by the monitors that he mishandled over $600,000 in funds of Detroit Local 299.

"But I'm not being extravagant burning the electric heater all day, darling. It's not our heater —I borrowed it from next door."

General Tendencies:— Until midafternoon fine for whatever has to do with making a fresh new start to get everything in perfect condition and working order. Be very detailed and accept delays philosophically. Late afternoon, evening not very important. Think out what does not suit you in dealing with others and make preparations to eliminate by placing better plan in effect.

Aries (March 21 to April 19) — From morning till the middle of the day is excellent for operating more efficiently under the guidance of an expert authority. Later steer clear of higher-ups with an eye to grind and spend time with good friends. Relax, have fun.

Taurus (April 20 to May 20) — Morning is fine for being with one who means much in your life right now. Come to real meeting of minds. Later, remain steady and true. Don't go bouncing off with new-found friends. Also, take whatever treatments you need for better health.

Gemini (May 21 to June 21) — Affairs at home or in some personal, business relationship can best be resolved by getting advice from intelligent associate whose judgment is excellent right now, and has wise ideas to proffer. P.M. avoid one who is feeling upset.

Moon Children (June 22 to July 21) — Hours are just fine for making calls, selling, buying, having meetings with important persons, etc. Also good for research work. P.M. be certain you incorporate the finest order in home duties, files, etc. Retire early and restore energies.

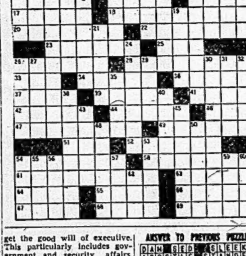
Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21) — A close tie is the one to be consulted now for best ideas concerning any problems or ideas you may have in mind, particularly with regard to finances. Then tonight be sure you find more efficient methods of doing your regular work, chores.

Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 23) — Learn home early so that you can get outside obligations met. Then get letter writing, records out of the way, put one in better working order, plan any trip you may have in mind. P.M. make your hobbies far more operative; plan them well.

Libra (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) — This is the day to make minute plans so that benefits will be far greater than anticipated or have been in the past. Also see that all is in working order in better working order, plan any trip you may have in mind. P.M. fix budget and look after health.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — One who is an expert at detail now understands your creative and practical ideas and gives you boost in the right direction, shows you how to distribute them down to workable size. Co-operate fully. P.M. take care driving, talking, etc.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — It is possible now to have a secret talk with a very progressive and efficient person in your field of endeavor. Then emulate his, or her, methods. P.M. be with cultured persons to increase happiness and prestige.



Capricorn. (Dec. 23 to Jan. 20) An influential person can now be contacted and entertained so that you get the benefit of some wise advice and advance information. Later, take ideas to backer or one who can co-operate with you in carrying them out successfully.

Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Take care to attend to all practical and important affairs to best of ability today so that you get the good will of executive. This particularly includes government and security affairs. P.M. be kind to loved one.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among them sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous Scientific Institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed applicators! Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.
